BROOMCORN

Heavy Shipments.

There were 77 caes of broom-corn shipped from Liberal last week, making the total for the season of 1911 162 cars. There were also 40 cars shipped the first three days of this week, so it is probable that a little more than half of the crop has been marketed here. Estimates from the best posted men in the business vary from 400-550 cars for Liberal this year, but the addition of more warehouse room has made it an inducement for the buyers to contract their corn delivered at this point. Brush is still rolling in at the rate of 70-100 loads a day, and the price is sure to make most of the brush come in as soon as it is ready to deliver.

The Warehouses.

The congested condition condition of the warehouses has been somewhat relieved the past week, by the ability of the Rock Island to furnish cars to move the brush ordered out. Tom Deane is still laid up, but the work is moving along very well, and his many friends hope to see him on the job in the near future. It is thought that they will be able to handle the rest of the crop in better time than during the past week, as the rush of corn is said to be about over.

Baling Wire

The shortage of baling wire has kept many from marketing their brush at the prevailing high prices, but it is the general idea at this time, that there will be no marked decline within the next two weeks. The car of baling wire ordered by the Liberal dealers is expected here every day now, and should at the latest, be here by Saturday.

Topped The Market

Messrs Ross and Taylor of Floris were pleasant callers at the Democrat office Thursday morning. Down in their neighborhood, they have what appears to us to be a mighty good scheme for handling their broomcorn crop. As soon as they have the brush ready for market they put it in one man's charge styled this year, Ross Brothers & Co., and market it as one crop. This morning they marketed ten loads aggregating 76 bales at $200, the top for the week and season. Their corn was as well handled as any which has been brought in to the market here this year, and that is saying a great deal, for the crop in general is delivered in much better condition than ever before. The advantages of selling so much brush at one time is that the buyer who makes the purchase has enough in the one deal to sell with a good profit. It saves time and expense in buying, and from the same neighborhood, of the same grade, the brush is generally more valuable to the manufacturer, and also to the buyer as well as the producer. They estimate this year that their putting the crops together for sale has netted them at least $10 per ton more than they would have otherwise procured. The corn was bought by C. D. Gassoway.

General Prices

The general trend of prices this week shows little change from last week. The demand Monday and Tuesday seemed to be not quite so good, and the first of the week little corn went over the $160 mark. If there was organization to depress the market it did not have any serious influence on the market, because Wednesday and Thursday saw prices and demand up again, Thursday being the top again at $200. As long as prices remain at from $150 to $200 for the better grades, considerable of the brush will be brought in. However, there are a few who will wait a while to see if it will pass the $200 mark.

Affecting General Business

The general business of the town shows a decided improvement in the past two weeks. The deposits of one bank show an increase of $90,000 in the past two weeks, and the other bank is about the same. Fall trade in all lines of business is showing a good increase. While there will be little lavish buying this fall, yet there is a great deal of money in the country, and most of the farmers will be put on their feet in fair shape for the coming year. Wheat prospects have been materially improved by the rains which have visited every section of the territory the past week, in amounts varying from 15-2 inches. Some of the wheat has been injured by grasshoppers, but a great deal of this will be sowed again, and much wheat will be planted in the next two weeks.
