The churches of the city were well represented at the union meeting of the young people's societies, held at the Baptist church last Sunday evening. Miss Maude Saunders conducted the meeting. The subject of the evening was "Faith" and the articles read by Mrs. Rindom, Miss Root and Mr. Townsend were excellent. The short talk by Mr. Kirkpatrick was very touching and also helpful. The High School double quartette gave one selection and the solo "The Mission of the Rose" was sung by Miss Bryant.

Did you ever notice the difference in the actions of a person when he is prosperous, has money in his pocket and the world looks bright to him, to what they are when he is in debt and his pocket book is empty and he is down at the heel. The difference is something wonderful. This summer when it was known that the wheat crop was a failure, the hot winds were sweeping over this country and the prospects for broom corn and feed crops appeared mighty slim we have seen men enter the general store here, with bowed head, with set and determined face, paying no attention to any one else, hunt up the proprietor and in a low tone of voice ask to buy some groceries on time and after procuring them slip out of the store like he had done something wrong. But the broomcorn and feed crops came out all right and the last few days we have seen the same men drive up to the store on a broomcorn rack, or return from market, stop the team with a resounding "whoa" as if he wanted everybody to hear him, jump of the wagon with the spryness of a ten year old boy, with head erect, a smile on his face, enter the store, cheerfully greeting everyone he passed, walk direct to the proprietor, and pulling out a fat pocket book and say, "I want to settle my account," and after doing that turn to one of the clerks and purchase groceries and other supplies unstintedly, all the time pleasantly chatting with those in the store. Prosperity is surely a joy giver in every sense of the word.
