That old wagon may not hold. Better be sure of it and buy a new one.

THE MOLINE WAGON

Will stand the haul; it's built that way—right in every part, from ton to tip to end-gate, from spring seat to wheels.

Moline wheels have oak hubs of ample size into which the spokes are driven, after being dipped into hot glue up to the shoulder. They cannot possibly get loose or rattle, especially when further held by oak fellows of extra depth which hold the end of the spokes securely, because the tenons are longer and larger. Then the tire is put on in such a way that it binds the whole wheel solidly at just the right dish. This wheel will carry the load, and every other part of the wagon is built just as carefully. Come and see it. The price is an object too.
