WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 22.—The indications for thirty-six Iowa, commencing Thursday, August 23, at 7 a. m., are as follows:

For Missouri: Fair; warmer winds, becoming southeasterly.

For Kansas: Fair, except light local rains in western portion warmer; southeasterly winds.

THURMAN AT PORT HURON. ST. CLAIR SPRINGS, Mich., Aug. 22.—After leaving the hospitable club house at Green Point, the Thurman party had an experience which will probably not soon be forgotten.

The wind had been fresh and soon as the Pickett cleared away from the wharf it became evident that a rough passage was to be had. Twenty miles off the sailing was rough and the little steam yacht seemed almost ready to be swallowed up in the big waves making an evening of it.

The boat drenching them from head to foot. The steaming little vessel rode the waves like a cork and scarcely any one suffered from seasickness although one reporter lost his supper and a hat.

After two or one half hours the canal at the St. Clair flats was reached and from there on smooth sailing was enjoyed. Judge Thurman enjoyed the trip greatly and seemed not at all inconvenienced by the storm.

Passing Marina City the party received a midnight reception although no stop was made. Chinese lanterns had been tastefully hung along the deck, red, white and blue lights were burned and a small cannon spoke the welcome. The electric light of the Oakland house was a welcome sight to the party.

Congressman Whiting this morning received a message from Postmaster General John M. Dickinson stating his inability to be on hand and sending his greetings and good wishes.

At 12:30 the Pickett will start on its twelve mile trip to the north. It will be made. Congressman Hatch, of Missouri, Outwater, of Ohio, Sherry, of Indiana, and Whiting, of Michigan, and others of prominence were present.

A parade will be had this afternoon and in the evening a grand torch procession. PORT HURON, Aug. 22.—Port Huron's population greeted the arrival of Judge Thurman and party at the wharf today, and an ovation was given him on the route to the grove.

After complimenting President Cleveland, he entered upon the question of the tariff, beginning by defining it and by referring to the surplus of $115,000,000 and to the Democratic policy of reducing this surplus by reducing the tariff taxes, contrasting this policy with the course advocated by the Republicans.

He said that the tariff is a tax on the goods that are imported into the United States. For it is a curious fact, and one of the worst things about this tariff tax, that while the government gets $1 resulting from the tax the domestic manufacturers get $5 as it is best estimated that never goes into the treasury at all.

For it is a curious fact, and one of the worst things about this tariff tax, that while the government gets $1 resulting from the tax the domestic manufacturers get $5 as it is best estimated that never goes into the treasury at all.

Mr. Thurman then quoted from John Quincy Adams, President Arthur, President Garfield and other Republicans in support of his argument. He then said: "Well, now, so far from this being a free trade, the most striking thing about the Mills bill is that it is the most moderate reduction of tariff duties that has ever been attempted under the present tariff."

A TERRIBLE COLLISION IN SAN FRANCISCO BAY.

The Steamer Oceanic Runs Down the City of Chester, Sinking Her at Once.

The Unfortunate Vessel Cut Entirely in Two—The Officers Leave the Passengers to Their Fate.

Forty Persons Supposed to Have Been Lost in the Awful Collision—Statements of the Two Captains.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—One of the most terrible marine disasters that ever occurred on the Pacific coast happened in the bay of San Francisco a short distance from Golden Gate, about 10 o'clock this morning. The steamer City of Chester left her dock here at 9:30 and started on her regular trip to Eureka on the northern coast of California. An unusually large number of passengers stood on her decks and waved adieu to friends who had gathered on the wharf.

The Chester proceeded cautiously on her course until off Point, when the hoarse sound of another whistle floated across the water. Captain Wallace answered the signal and gave proper warning to the stranger to pass on the port side. This was evidently not understood, for in a moment those on board saw a huge prop of the occidental and oriental steamer, Oceanic, emerge from the fog. The Oceanic had just started on her regular trip to Eureka and was moving up the bay to her dock. The huge steamer was so close to the Chester that there was no possibility for either to avoid the collision.

The collision was a most terrible one. The two vessels struck each other with a force that was almost incredible. The Chester was struck on the side of the hull, and the Oceanic was struck on the bow. The result was that the Chester was broken in two and sank in a few minutes.

The Oceanic was also damaged, but not so severely. She was able to continue on her way to Eureka, but she was delayed for several days by the repairs that were necessary.

The loss of the Chester was a great one. Forty persons are supposed to have been lost in the collision. The bodies of many of the passengers were recovered, but many others were never seen again.

The cause of the collision was not clear. It is supposed that the Chester was in the wrong, but it is also possible that the Oceanic was in the wrong.

The two captains gave their statements of the collision. Captain Wallace of the Chester said that he was in the wrong, and that he was sorry for the disaster.

Captain Wallace of the Oceanic said that he was in the right, and that he was not responsible for the disaster.

The disaster was a great one, and it was a warning to the shipping industry. It showed that the ships were not safe, and that the passengers were in danger.
