From the evident harmony and general concurrence of opinion, it was apparent to every one present that the Republican party is out this autumn for a sweeping victory.

But One Contest. In the entire course of the day but one contest developed in the picking of the ticket, a friendly vote for the two supervisors.

Next came the report of the committee on Permanent Organization and Order of Business, read by Leroy Anderson, the chairman. At the conclusion of the reading the temporary officers were made permanent and the routine business formally approved.

Robert E. Morrison for the committee on Platform and Resolutions read a draft of the platform. It reads: The Platform. The Republicans of Yavapai county in convention assembled renew their allegiance to the Republican party and reaffirm their devotion to its doctrines as expressed in its platforms and carried into successful execution by the Republican national administrations, and especially those of McKinley and Roosevelt.

We congratulate the people of this nation upon the nomination and assured certainty of election of William H. Taft, our candidate for president, and James S. Sherman for vice president. We direct attention to the achievements of the present territorial administration and commend its able, economical and progressive conduct of territorial affairs.

The nomination of Ralph H. Cameron as the Republican candidate for delegate to congress is receiving the approval of our citizens regardless of party, and gives every assurance of his ultimate victory at the polls, and the Republicans of Yavapai county hereby pledge to him their enthusiastic and loyal support, confidently believing that his election will secure separate statehood for Arizona at the approaching session of congress.

committee consisting of seven members, who should also act as a campaign committee. After discussion by Delegates Anderson, Clark, Campbell and others, as to the number of central committee-men and executive committee-men, an amendment was offered by R. E. Morrison to the effect that the number of executive committee-men should be made eleven, including officers. The motion as amended was adopted.

Jack Forest then moved that each delegate should appoint a committee-man during the session whose name should be handed to the secretary. This motion was adopted. Following this action T. E. Campbell moved that each delegate should propose three names as election officers, including one inspector, one judge and one clerk; and that these names should be handed to the secretary before the session closed. This motion was adopted.

Routine Accomplished. Routine business having been accomplished, the important work of nominating was in order, so Chairman Smith announced he would entertain names for the nomination to councilman to the territorial legislature. At once A. W. Edwards placed the name of George U. Young before the convention. After a motion had been seconded and carried to the effect that the nominations be closed, it was moved, seconded and carried by the convention that Young's nomination be made unanimous.

The nomination of three assemblymen to the territorial legislature on the motion of A. W. Edwards was deferred until later. Nominations for two county supervisors being in order, Barney Smith of Prescott was placed before the convention by T. E. Campbell; Charles Willard, of Verde Valley, by J. M. W. Moore, and A. S. Haskell of Jerome by A. W. Edwards. Ballots were prepared to select two of the three nominees. The result was, Barney Smith 69, A. S. Haskell 61; C. D. Willard, 11.

A motion was seconded and carried to make the nominations of Barney Smith and A. S. Haskell unanimous. Following this ballot, the nominations for assemblymen to the territorial legislature were made. Smith Nominated. When nominations for sheriff were called, James Smith of Octave was put before the convention by Robt. E. Morrison in a ringing speech. Morrison said: "I rise to present the name of a respected citizen who two years ago made a gallant race for office and who came within an ace of winning, Jimmy Smith. I nominate him for sheriff first of all because he has the unqualified respect of every citizen of the county, second because he is a man fitted in every way for the office and last because I know that if he is nominated he will win this time he elected."

Amid an outburst of applause the nomination for sheriff was closed, and Smith's selection made unanimous. The new candidate responded with a neat speech of acceptance. For district attorney, Jack Forest's name was placed before the convention by T. E. Campbell and the nomination made unanimous. Forest delivered an acceptance speech.

Mr. Lamson in an able address accepted the nomination. Telegram from Cameron. At this juncture, a telegram was received by the chairman. It read: "Chairman Republican Convention, Prescott, Arizona. I congratulate Yavapai Republicans on flattering prospect of the success of the entire ticket."

"RALPH CAMERON." It was moved and carried that the nomination for superintendent of schools be temporarily passed. No nominations for this office were made. In the nomination for county surveyor, E. S. Clark named W. H. Merritt. The nominations were closed and Merritt's nomination was made unanimous. Smith of Jerome was selected as chairman of the county committee and Chas. Raible secretary. Mr. Smith will come over to Prescott on Wednesday and establish his campaign headquarters here. T. E. Campbell, the retiring chairman, will work for the success of the ticket on the outside.

YAVAPAI MINERAL DISPLAY MAKES SENSATION (From Sunday's Daily) ALBUQUERQUE, Oct. 3.—In the great mineral display at the meeting of the National Irrigation Congress, closed today, the Yavapai exhibit, which took away two prizes, one for the best county exhibit and the other a $500 cash award for excellence regardless of class, will long be remembered by those who attended the great gathering.

The great copper mines and smelters of Senator Clark, located at Jerome, Arizona, were well represented, one section being set apart for samples from there. There were two large bars of copper bullion which run over 99 per cent fine. The Yavapai exhibit was the largest in the mining building, and represented some one hundred and thirty properties, most of which are working today. There was a large lot of samples from "The New Copper Country," as it is called, a section in Yavapai county and Yuma county along the A. and C. railroad.

This country is just now attracting much attention because of the very rich surface showings. Many of these samples on exhibit run from 20 to 40 per cent in copper and are rich in gold. This exhibit also contained many rare specimens of onyx, marble and granite, all the products of Yavapai county. This section is the oldest mining section of the southwest, and has proved a rich producer for many years. The original settlers here were attracted to Prescott and the Hassayampa River district by the gold strikes away back in the '50s.

The exhibit to the St. Louis World's Fair from Yavapai county was awarded the gold medal for the best display of mine ores and many of the specimens exhibited there are now in the Yavapai exhibit. In addition to the minerals, there is also a barrel of the famous Hassayampa water, of which, it is claimed, if a man once takes a drink he will never again tell the truth.

GOOD PROSPECT IN BIG BUG. Huge Vein Located by S. R. Sands That Shows Rich Streaks. (From Sunday's Daily) Elated over the returns of samples from his Boot Jack mine, assayed here yesterday, S. R. Sands stated to a Journal-Miner representative last night that he is confident that his property will prove with development among the largest producers of the Big Bug district. He has a shaft thirty-five feet deep on a vein sixty feet across, that samples $1 a ton in gold. Streaks of the deposit carry high grade values in gold. The ledge is associated with a granite and porphyry contact, running northeasterly and southwesterly. Sands has five claims.

The group is located half a mile south of the properties of the New England Arizona Mining Company, now under development under the management of J. H. Farrell. WARNING NOTICE. Notice is hereby given that the undersigned owners of the mines known as the Lute, Comromise, Black Man, Artee, Gold Note, Iowa, Maine, Olympia, Vesuvius, Surprise, Center and Oregon, and tools located thereon, all at and near Richinbar, Yavapai County, Arizona, will not be responsible for debts of any kind contracted for labor supplies or improvements on said property or any of it, while it is being worked under a contract and lease, and that said property is now being worked under such contract and lease granted to C. W. Mitchell. Dated this 1st day of March, 1907.

The Social Mirror

(From Sunday's Daily) Quite the largest and one of the most pleasant affairs of the week was the five hundred party given Monday afternoon by Mrs. James R. Lowry and Mrs. Sadie Oberbeck at the latter's home on East Gurley street. After the serving of delicious refreshments, prizes were awarded Mrs. A. L. Smith for the high score, and Mrs. J. J. Fisher and Mrs. William Lloyd each having the same number of progressions had to cut for the prize, which was won by Mrs. Lloyd. Mrs. Francis L. Wright and Mrs. F. M. Bailey each had the same number of slams, and on cutting Mrs. Bailey won. All the prizes were very handsome hand-painted plates. Those who thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon were Mrs. H. E. Armitage, Mrs. E. S. Clark, Mrs. C. A. Peter, Mrs. H. D. Ross, Mrs. F. M. Bailey, Mrs. J. W. Milnes, Mrs. B. G. Beatson, Mrs. O. H. Tucker, Mrs. Arthur Robinson, Mrs. A. A. Johns, Mrs. J. M. Aitken, Mrs. Amy Hill, Mrs. Rudolph Baehr, Mrs. Charles Raible, Mrs. T. C. Job, Mrs. R. E. Sloan, Mrs. Robert H. Burmister, Mrs. Francis L. Wright, Mrs. Hugo Richards, Mrs. C. C. is visiting in Prescott, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Meany. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Norris have gone for a ten days' visit to St. Johns and the Petrified Forest.

The Monday Club. Tomorrow the Monday Club will hold the first meeting of the year 1908-1909, in the Kindergarten room of the Public School building. The Advisory Board will meet at 2:30 p. m. and the president, Mrs. J. B. Cleveland, will call the Club to order at 3 o'clock. A full attendance is earnestly requested. The Section work for the year, which forms an interesting and important feature of the Club work, is under the efficient supervision and earnest support of the several Sections upon which the interest, success and life of the Club so vitally depends.

The Literature Section, under the direction of the well-qualified chairman, Mrs. Dixon Fagerberg, has undertaken for study this year "Current Events," and a glance at the program is enough to insure a large attendance at these popular meetings. As the Monday Club derives much of its pleasure and entertainment from the Music Section, it is a satisfaction to note that this Section has secured so enthusiastic a chairman as Mrs. Ed. Wright. Their subject for study will be "Modern Composers" of instrumental and vocal music and current events in the musical world will form a part of their attractive program.

It ceased to be a mystery that so many names were added to the list of membership to the Art Section when it was learned that Mrs. W. D. Baker had been elected chairman. Dutch Art with some history leading up to and concerning the time, will engage the attention of this Section. Surely the outlook for the year gives promise of much success in Club work, and all feel that congratulation should be equally divided between the president for having been fortunate enough to secure such a list of energetic workers, which by the way, should include the name of each Club member, and to the Monday Club, whose wise vote elected so able a leader.

Mrs. Francis L. Wright was a hostess Wednesday afternoon at a very delightful sewing party and had as her guests Mrs. Hugo Richards, Mrs. Fred W. Foster, Mrs. Thomas G. Norris, Mrs. H. A. Cheverton, Mrs. Edward A. Sturges, Mrs. John Mason Ross, Mrs. O. Longacre, Sr., and Miss Harriet Jean Oliver.

At the close of a pleasant afternoon prizes were awarded Mrs. Leroy Anderson, a silver candle shade for the high score; Mrs. Dixon Fagerberg received a two vase for the most slams, and Mrs. Paul Burks was given a white and gold cup and saucer for the consolation. Miss Fredericks was assisted by the Misses Winnifred Fredericks and Ann McKensie. Miss Fredericks' guests were Mrs. Fred W. Foster, Mrs. Leroy Anderson, Mrs. Francis L. CURRENT CAMPAIGN IS BITTEREST IN YEARS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Politicians of all parties and all shades of belief are agreed on one proposition, that the present is the bitterest presidential campaign for more than twenty years. It is necessary to go back to 1884 to find a year when the personal element entered so largely into the struggle for the presidency. The Cleveland-Blaine campaign of that year will long be noted for its acrimony. There were not great issues between the parties and the campaign descended into one of personalities. By 1888 Cleveland, with his tariff message to congress, had vitalized that issue and in succeeding campaigns the differences between the parties were sharply defined and the country was spared the deluge of personalities.

It seems to have been the rule of American politics that campaigns should be most bitter when there was least at stake, when the parties were most nearly agreed in advocating the same policies of government. History does not record a more exciting contest than that of 1840, the "hard cider" campaign. There were no vital differences between the parties and the Whigs did not even adopt a platform but with the cry of "Tippecanoe and Tyler, too," they roused the country to a frenzy of excitement and swept everything before them at the polls.

In times past the personal feuds and animosities of party leaders played a large part in campaigns, and the followers of a popular idol were ever ready to make his quarrels their own. This is not true to nearly so great an extent today, but we still find that personal feeling is not absent from the utterances of even those most highly placed. The indignation of President Roosevelt for Senator Foraker's alleged shortcomings no doubt was accentuated by the president's personal dislike of the Ohio senator, and we find that Mr. Bryan does not hesitate to castigate those who have fallen under the ban of his displeasure.

But it is doubtful if the public cares seriously about the personal likes and dislikes of either President Roosevelt or Mr. Bryan. That both have their own infirmities will be admitted by the most ardent partisans of both, something that never could have been true of former generations of partisans. In the earlier days a popular idol was either a demigod or a villain, and there was no such thing as calm appraisal of his merits. And so, while the present campaign of personalities is something of a check to those who had taught our politics had advanced beyond that stage, feeling is not likely to be carried to the extent it might have been fifty or even twenty-five years ago. With the growth of newspapers, in numbers and circulation, the people are doing more of their thinking for themselves and they are likely to regard some of the happenings of the present campaign more in the light of entertainment than as serious reasons why they should vote for one candidate or the other.
