Interpretation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law Does Not Interfere With Honest Business

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and its nineteen subsidiary companies were declared today by the Supreme Court of the United States a conspiracy and combination in restraint of trade and it was otherwise held that its monopolizing of interstate commerce was in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The business world, since the decree of the Federal court of Missouri, had been hoping that the Supreme Court would decide the law and not interfere with "honest business."

Tonight this interpretation of the court is taken as an answer to the prayers of the "Business world."

The opinion of the court was announced by Chief Justice White and contained more than 20,000 words.

A brilliant array of attorneys were present to hear the decision. None, however, of the Standard Oil Company were present.

It is expected on May 29th as the last decision before the summer adjournment of the court.

By far the greater part of the opinion was devoted to a justification of the court in requiring that the "rule of reason" be applied in restraints of trade before they are held violations of the Sherman law.

FEDERATION LEADERS OUT OF SHADOW OF JAIL

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—Samuel Gompers, President. John Mitchell, Vice-president and Frank Morrison, Secretary of the American Federation of Labor stepped from the shadow of the jail today when the Supreme Court set aside their sentences of imprisonment imposed by the District of Columbia court and remanded the cases.

Justice Gould, of the District Supreme Court issued the injunction prayed for by the company. An appeal was taken to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia but before that court could pass upon the validity of the injunction.

The charges of contempt against President Gompers, Vice-President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison arose out of a bitter labor war between organized labor and the Buck Stove and Range Company of St. Louis, Mo.

The St. Louis concern had come into the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia to prevent by injunction, the American Federation of Labor and its officials boycotting its own products or the business of those who dealt with it.

"unfair" to labor. The head of the company was J. W. Van Cleave, president of the National manufacturers' association, which had often come into conflict with the Federation.

Justice Wright found them guilty and sentenced President Gompers to one year in jail; Vice-President Mitchell, to nine months; and Secretary Morrison, to six months.

The alleged violations consisted of utterances and acts in furtherance of the boycott. It was charged that Mr. Gompers had rushed out the January number of the American Federationist, the official organ of the American Federation of Labor so as to evade the decree which went into effect the day after most of the magazines were out of his hands.

In a public address in New York in April, 1908, Mr. Gompers said, it was charged: "Of course in the case of the Buck's Stove and Range Co., was still etaoi nshrdl etaoi etaoi ronize," or "Unfair" List. It was also alleged that a number of copies of this magazine were sent out after the decree became effective.

It was further charged that in the succeeding number of the Federationist, Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison joined in an appeal to organized labor for funds to carry the injunction case to the higher court.

Another charge was that in the March Federationist Mr. Gompers published an editorial, in which it was said:

"It should be borne in mind that there is no law, ay not even a court decision, compelling union men or their friends of labor to buy a Buck's stove or range. No, not even to buy a Lowe hat."
