EXECUTIVE SPEAKS AT NATIONAL GRAIN DEALERS' CONVENTION ON IMPORTANT QUESTIONS FACING BUSINESS MEN.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25.—President Wilson delivered a speech almost devoid of politics before the National Grain Dealers' convention here today. He said that through the new tariff commission, trade commission, Federal reserve act, and shipping bill he expected the business men of the country to open a new trade era for the nation.

Speaking of Latin-America, he said his chief concern had been to see that nothing had been done that would show other than friendship and good faith on our part. This statement was greeted with prolonged applause.

President Wilson discussed the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce and said it was an admirable circumstance that brainy men were willing to serve this commission and the government for less than a third of what they could earn elsewhere. He discussed the non-partisan tariff commission and outlined the aims of that body. Wilson endeavored to eliminate politics from the occasion but was greeted by a great demonstration when he entered the hall.

He said the courts have nothing to do with the questions of policy and legislation and that only questions of constitutionality come before the courts.

Commenting on Wilson's declaration that the eight-hour principle was not arbitrable, Hughes said that 18 years ago an act provided for the arbitration of hours of labor with other things and that this was re-enacted in 1913.
