A MAN OF DEEDS.

Arizona is soon to vote on the candidacy of a man who, when governor, devoted extremely little time to palaver, and still less to pulling the wool over the eyes of the labor unions, but a great deal to action. He is former Gov. Joseph H. Kibbey, candidate for the United States senate, who prevented one great labor strike by telling each side in short words exactly what to expect, and who "intervened" in Mexico with no fuss but with great effectiveness.

Gov. Kibbey's act of "intervention" is little known, comparatively. On June 1, 1906, the Cananea strike developed in which several thousand Mexicans, lead by Gutierrez de Lara and Manuel Diegues, now a Carranza general, left their employment, and in their effort to close down the entire mining works, began rioting which Col. Bill Greene did his best to check and in which two Americans lost their lives. A real reign of terror followed. The Mexicans, while rioting, declared their intention of driving every American out of camp. There were many hundreds of Americans then in Cananea, by far the larger number unarmed, and from June 1 to June 3 they were in great peril.

Word of their plight reached the American border and at Bisbee a posse of 600 men was organized to go to their relief. Capt. Tom Rynning of the Arizona Rangers was chosen to head the force, but before accepting he felt bound to consult his superior officer, the governor of the state. Capt. Rynning wired Gov. Kibbey for instructions and was ordered to make all possible speed to the rescue of the Americans.

The band of Americans entered Mexico at Naco, very much against the will of the Mexican officials there, and they went right down the railroad to Cananea. Their coming put an immediate end to the rioting, and they held the camp until Mexican control was restored. It so happened that Col. Emilio Kosterlitzky, who was in command of the Sonora rurales, and whose chief job was sitting on the lid at Cananea, was absent with most of his men when the rioting broke out. Otherwise there would have been no rioting, for evil inclined Mexicans were more afraid of Col. Kosterlitzky than of Gen. Torres himself, and Gen. Torres meant Diaz in those days. Kosterlitzky came back to the camp in a hurry, and Capt. Rynning and his men turned the situation over to the rurales. The posse sold their guns to the American population and returned to Bisbee, and the trouble was over.

Gov. Kibbey deserved, by reason of his decisive stand, to share the credit with Rynning and his men. His whole record has been filled with deeds quietly accomplished. And yet it is possible that a man of words, rather than one of action, may be elected to the senate—El Paso Herald.

SOME QUESTIONS FOR SENATOR ASHURST.

In striking contrast with the honest and fearless manner in which Governor J. H. Kibbey and Tom Campbell squarely met all questions from the rostrum by answering them in a straightforward manner, Senator Henry F. Ashurst has been dodging a number of pertinent questions that were first asked him at Tucson the other evening. It is claimed that the democratic candidate for re-election is afraid to make reply to the questions and his taciturn attitude corroborates this claim.

On the other hand Democrats in nearly every Republican meeting have "planted" someone to ask Governor Kibbey or Tom Campbell some pointed questions. Every question has been answered by the republican candidates while Ashurst has failed to make a reply to a single one.

Here are the questions asked Senator Ashurst at Tucson which he was afraid to answer:

1. Are the McNamaras still innocent?
2. How much did you reduce the cost of living?
3. Where were you when the Indians captured half of Pima county?
4. Where is that public building you promised Tucson five years ago?
5. Do you think it is right to make the taxpayers pay your campaign expenses?
6. Do you think Bryan made a good secretary of State and did you approve of his course in coddling Villa?
7. Do you approve of President Wilson's course in recognizing Carranza?
8. Do you endorse without qualification the administration of Governor Hunt?

It has also been suggested that Senator Ashurst might answer the following questions if he wants to appear in a fair light before the people of Arizona:

Did you come out for Hunt before the primaries?
 Why are you waiting until after election to appoint a registrar of the land office at Phoenix?

Do you still contend that "William R. Hurst is the greatest and best man the world has seen since Jesus trod the shores of Galilee?"

While he could be asked many more direct questions, claim republican leaders, it is thought that the voters of Arizona would like to hear the democratic aspirant for re-election answer these questions frankly and honestly.

Has he the courage to do so?

BETTER MAN COULD NOT BE SELECTED.

If there is one man in Yavapai deserving unstinted praise and credit for the part he has taken in the upbuilding of the county, that man is R. H. Burmister, candidate for treasurer on the Republican ticket.

The name of Burmister is a household word in every city, town, village, hamlet, farming and mining community. For many years Mr. Burmister was in the general merchandise business in Prescott and his liberal policy is responsible more than any other agency, for the present development of our resources. The number of people he cheerfully and willingly aided, runs up into the thousands. That they will not forget him when election day comes is a certainty.

Throughout the years Mr. Burmister's faith in Yavapai and her future has never faltered and he has backed that faith with more than words—his time and money and the backing of many enterprises which have contributed essentially to our present prosperity. The county owes him much and until now he has not asked anything of it.

Aside from his public spirit Mr. Burmister is fully qualified and competent to fill the office of treasurer. The Journal-Miner in common with thousands of citizens of this county takes great pleasure in unhesitatingly recommending him to the voters of this county for their support, Tuesday, November 7th.

Think of anyone's putting up a $250,000 building without a properly equipped person to look after the job! That is what Yavapai county is doing today with its new court house. It is one of the reasons why J. A. (Jack) Jaeger should be elected as supervisor. He is a veteran engineer. During the 20 years he has lived in Yavapai county he has checked up and supervised big construction work for the Santa Fe that amounts into the millions. He is needed as supervisor now. He is an expert on roads and particularly on how not to build them and his special training will be worth thousands to Yavapai if he is elected.

C. E. (Brownie) Gentry was elected assessor two years ago largely because the people of Yavapai knew that he had been Tom Campbell's first lieutenant for many years and they felt they could trust him to continue Mr. Campbell's policies. During the past two years, Mr. Gentry has more than made good. He is going to be re-elected on Nov. 7th. This time it will be because the people know him thoroughly and want a continuance of his policies as assessor—an assurance of a fair deal for everybody, equal consideration to all and an economical administration.

Glenn W. Persons was superintendent of schools of Yavapai county in 1911 by appointment. He has taught in the schools of Jerome and of Prescott with uniform success, and has a wide experience as a teacher in the rural schools in other States. He knows the needs of Yavapai's schools and as a taxpayer and the father of a family he is practically well equipped to insure a satisfactory administration of the office of superintendent for Yavapai county. He is making a strenuous fight and has many backers in almost every school district.

The fact that E. J. Mitchell, although a Republican has served nearly three years as city attorney of Prescott during a Democratic administration is certainly high testimony to his ability as a lawyer. He promises that, if elected county attorney, he will cooperate with and support whoever may be chosen as sheriff to the end that the laws of Arizona may be enforced without the great extra expense that has been forced on the county during the last two years. Capable and fearless Mr. Mitchell will undoubtedly keep his pledges.

"Roy" Smith is known throughout Yavapai county as a shrewd business man and a kindly neighbor. His acquaintance and vast number of friends is going to help him materially in his fight for the house of representatives. Mr. Smith has studied Yavapai county affairs for many years. He would be of real value to the county in the legislature.

A week from Monday night at the Elks theatre Tom Campbell, candidate for governor, will address the people of his own home county. Go and hear the message of this big, broad, brainy man, who will be occupying the gubernatorial chair after the first of next year.

HIS CANDIDACY DAILY GROWING STRONGER

The campaign of Ben W. Mowday, Republican candidate for sheriff is gaining popular momentum every day. His decisive stand on questions of public interest is earning him scores of friends and supporters in every town he visits, for the voters realize that he is the kind of a man who means every word he says, and his promises will mean something when he is in office.

In an effort to stem the tide in Mowday's favor, some of his enemies are resorting to despicable politics. They have circulated a story to the effect that he was a candidate for sheriff in Maricopa county two years ago, and was a resident of this county only long enough to qualify for the primary election in September. With those who know Mr. Mowday and are familiar with his long residence in this county, extending over a continuous period of the past thirteen years, the story is regarded as ridiculous, but others it seems, have placed some credence in it. Two years ago Mr. Mowday was elected justice of the peace of Humboldt precinct and will hold that office until January 1st next. He has been and is very much of a resident of this county, and not only that, but will be the next sheriff of Yavapai.

His platform of strict enforcement of all laws without fear of favor and an economical administration means much more than appears at first glance. Mr. Mowday in a speech at Seligman explained his position in a way that could not be misunderstood. "When I say" he remarked in addressing the crowd "that I am in favor of law enforcement I mean all laws, including the prohibition amendment. The office of sheriff involves disagreeable and also pleasant duties but I am prepared to perform them. However, I believe the force of deputies allowed by law is sufficient for the purpose and I will not increase the tax burdens of the people by importing detectives or "spotters" at great expense to the treasury. My idea of a sheriff is one who gets into the field with his deputies and keeps after criminals until he catches them, not sitting in the office playing cards or whiling away the time in other forms of amusements. If my idea of a sheriff is your idea of a sheriff I want your votes for that office, Tuesday, November 7th."

A plain candid appeal, pregnant with good sense and not promising more than is easily capable of fulfillment, such as is voiced above by Mr. Mowday, should entitle him to the votes of the people of this county.

Eli S. Perkins of Crown King will take to the State Senate a life-long business training and a full supply of shrewdness, and fairness. There is no excuse for sending to the upper house of our legislature an individual who can do Yavapai county no good. Our representatives in the senate should be men who know what Yavapai county needs and who have sufficient force and shrewdness to be able to help get it. Eli S. Perkins will be a power at Phoenix if his friends and neighbors send him to represent them in the senate.

As a mining county, Yavapai needs men like N. H. Getchell in the State senate. As a matter of cold-blooded business it is foolishness to take the chances of having our biggest business hampered by unwise laws fathered by young attorneys who have only professional training. Mr. Getchell's record as an employer of labor is particularly good. He has never had any troubles with his men because he has always been fair. A vote for him means a vote for real representation of Yavapai.

Tom McLoughlin is known and liked by practically every citizen of Prescott. Honest, unostentatious, straightforward and anxious to be obliging, he would bring the board of supervisors a long business training and a desire to do the best possible for the county. If elected Mr. McLoughlin can be depended on to safeguard the interests of the county at every point to the best of his ability.

W. E. Glenn is making a strong fight for the lower house of the legislature. He has many friends in different parts of the county who are interested in his success and his force as an orator will help him to win many votes.

Yavapai county will show its confidence in its favorite son, Tom Campbell, by rolling up an immense majority for him, November 7th.

A Yavapai county man, Tom Campbell, will be the next governor. Let us all help swell his majority on November 7th.

A vote for Tom Campbell for governor is a vote for sane government.

ROOSEVELT IS GIVEN HEARTY WELCOME

(From Sunday's Daily)

The Roosevelt reception yesterday morning at the early hour of 7:30 was not large but a most pleasant affair. After the close of a ten-minute talk, Hon. E. S. Clark introduced many of the crowd of about 100 to the Colonel and in true Rooseveltian style, he gave each a hearty greeting and a word or two in reiteration of the short ten-minute address in which he had shown briefly that if the nation had been controlled by the Buckley O'Neill type of statesmanship, in our dealings with Mexico, that the whole affair would have been settled in 90 days.

The stop had been scheduled as a ten-minute affair and the special train bearing the party started out before the colonel was through with his friendly chat with the individuals of the crowd. Several young men in the party had a lively run to swing onto the rear of the train as it pulled out, as they had alighted to fill their lungs with some of Prescott's famous ozone.

The colonel is very much in earnest in his opposition to the backbones administration of the school master president, and seems to be in the best of spirits, and sanguine of the success of Mr. Hughes.

ANDERSON HEADS THE YAVAPAI CLUB

(From Wednesday's Daily)

Attorney LeRoy Anderson will head the Yavapai Club of Prescott for the coming year, being elected as president on Monday evening. Associated with him will be Geo. M. Colvocoresses as vice-president; Geo. D. Morris as secretary, and H. H. Linney, treasurer. The new board of directors is as follows: W. A. Drake, Jas. A. Hope, F. S. Viele, E. J. Mitchell and Dr. R. N. Looney. Mr. Morris enters on his seventh year as secretary. The club has prospered during the past year.

FIRST HOME NOW IN THE PRODUCING CLASS

(From Friday's Daily)

Arrivals yesterday from Poland brought the information that the First Home mine, which W. H. Worthington and associates of Los Angeles acquired two months ago from Ed. Block, is now in the producing class. The higher grade ore is being loaded at Block's station and shipped to El Paso smelters, while the lower grade is being milled on the ground, in which flotation is the main process of treatment. The mine and mill operations are lively, and from the big tonnage developed the old property is awakening to a splendid record ahead. The principal values are silver and lead. After cleaning out the old workings the new operators purchased the Oriental mill, which has been re-modeled and flotation added.

ROUTE OF MOTOR-CYCLE RACE IS CHANGED

START WILL BE MADE FROM SPRINGVILLE; SPEED DEMONS WILL PASS THROUGH HERE.

PHOENIX, Oct. 23.—The recent activity of our old friend Villa has put a quietus on the motorcycle road race from Hermosillo, Mexico, to Phoenix. This race was framed with the thought that the spirit of sportsmanship entering therein would heal some of the little fractures of friendship which sundry actions of our aforementioned friend Villa has caused. But one cannot possibly be friendly with a chap who shoots first and then asks questions, so, upon the advice of several well informed Americans and Mexicans the taboo was put on any race that took the racers onto Mexican soil.

Then some one had the brilliant idea of increasing the interest in the northern portion of our own State and the wires were at once used by Secretary Shaughnessy of the State Fair Commission to find out what cities of the north wished to extend help in making the road race a success. He wired Craig Pottinger, of Flagstaff, asking if Flagstaff could raise $300 if that city were made a night control station and it only took a very few minutes for Pottinger to answer that Flagstaff not only could but would raise the necessary coin.

Then the starting point was talked of and Springville was chosen so thus the race that was to have been the Hermosillo-Phoenix has changed its cognomen to the Northern Arizona Springville to Phoenix classic.

This is a good thing for Northern Arizona as every motorcycle paper and magazine will report the race and thus the towns along the way as well as the National Old Trails Highway will come in for their meed of publicity.

All of the motorcycle factories best riders will be in this event and it will be watched by every motor enthusiast in the country.

The route to be followed will be as follows: Springville, start, November 9th, St. Johns, Holbrook, Winglow, Flagstaff, night control. Start, November 10, Flagstaff, Williams, Ash Fork, Prescott, Congress, Wickenburg, Phoenix.

That will bring the boys into Phoenix on the afternoon of the 10th and give them a sufficiency of time to fix up their machines for the big track races to be held at the fair, Monday, the 13th, the crowning event of which will be the open international one hour championship, held under the auspices of the Federation of American Motorcyclists. This is the first time Arizona has drawn one of the three big yearly events of the F. A. M. and it will mean a race such as has never been seen in the State before. Riders from all over the world are eligible and doubtless some of the most famous drivers in the world will come to Arizona to compete.

ESTIMABLE WOMAN IS CALLED AWAY
(From Saturday's Daily.)

George and Lester Ruffner, of this city, were advised by telegram yesterday of the death of their mother, which occurred at Mason, Ill., on Thursday night, after a brief illness. The news came as a sad surprise to them, and to the many friends of this estimable woman in this city, her passing away will be learned of with much sorrow. She will be remembered as a visitor to Prescott with her husband two years ago, and her lovable disposition made her many warm friends.

Mrs. Ruffner had reached the age of 83 years, and when the summons came she passed away without any suffering whatever. She is survived by a husband, four sons and two daughters. She had resided at Mason for 57 years, where she enjoyed the esteem and good will of everyone.

AN OLD-TIMER

(From Saturday's Daily)

John Brannen, of the Pioneers' Home, celebrated his 46th year Thursday as a resident of this county. He arrived in Prescott when it had a population of less than 300, and east of Cortez or west of Montezuma streets were classed as suburban regions. Mr. Brannen is nearing his 75th year, but his physical bearing would indicate a person in the sunny sphere of the forties. He was the champion billiard player of Arizona in early days.
