

GIRL KNOCKED DOWN, BADLY HURT BY CAR

John Stephens of Burnt Ranch Unable to Stop Machine in Miller Lane in Time to Save Little Dorothy Pickerill.

Struck squarely by an automobile driven by John Stephens of the Burnt ranch and hurled to the ground, later to be drawn from beneath the rear wheels, Dorothy Pickerill, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Pickerill of Miller Valley last night lay severely injured, an arm and a leg broken, and numerous bruises and cuts about the face and body. The accident occurred at 7 o'clock about midway through Miller lane.

Dorothy had alighted from a car to enter the little store for a few purchases. She passed around one car proceeding slowly along in front of the store, and a second later, Stephens' car moved up, with the driver applying the brakes, but apparently unable to stop in time. The radiator was said to have struck the little girl, knocking her under the wheels. The car was described as having swayed from side to side, striking the child and finally coming to halt with one of the rear wheels resting on her right upper arm which was broken. The right ankle also was broken, or at least badly strained.

Dorothy was taken from beneath the wheels after the car had been backed a little way, and hurried to her home near the Miller Valley school. Her father drove into town and took Dr. Carmichael to the house.

Pickerill last night stated that he had many times called the attention of officers and citizens to the practice of motorists of making a speedway of Miller lane, but said nothing had ever been done to curb the practice. He could not say how fast Stephens had been driving when the accident occurred, he said.

"Drivers get out on that road and because there is half a mile of good smooth highway, they want to see what old John J. Engine can do. So they whoop it up and drive recklessly through a section almost as thickly settled as suburban Prescott. They disregard the rule that a school neighborhood should be driven with great care, and sometimes hit the curve near the Miller Valley school so fast they have to straighten out the turn to keep from going into the fence."

Dorothy was said last night to be severely, but apparently not seriously, hurt, although it was not time yet to say whether internal injuries had been suffered.

HEAVY BOND FIXED FOR COLORED MAN HELD FOR ASSAULT

Held under bonds of $10,000 on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, J. Evans, colored, was lodged in the county jail yesterday afternoon after having been brought to Prescott by Deputy Sheriff John Monds of Clemenceau.

Evans was bound over to appear in trial in the superior court, at a preliminary hearing of the charges against him before Justice of the Peace D. L. Robinson of the Clemenceau precinct Wednesday afternoon. He is charged with having entered the home of Gerald McDonald in Clemenceau, picked a fight with him and fired three shots at him. None of the shots took effect.

PARKER CAFES DUST "SCABS"

Restaurants Close Rather Than Serve Two Men, Declares Local Roadmaster; Placard With "Anti-Scab" Signs.

(From Friday's Daily) Rather than serve an officer and an employe of the Santa Fe railroad worker sent to take the place of a sick worker, restaurants in Parker have temporarily suspended business, according to W. P. Arntz, roadmaster of the Phoenix district of the Albuquerque division, Santa Fe coast lines.

A federal agent was stationed at Parker, Mr. Arntz said yesterday, and a man was sent up from Prescott by the railroad authorities here to replace a Santa Fe worker who had taken ill. The sick worker to be replaced was not a striker, he said.

When the officer and the railroad worker entered successively the only four restaurants in Parker, continued Mr. Arntz, the restaurant owners, refused to serve them, under the belief that the railroad man was taking the place of a striker, and when the two prospective customers protested, the four restaurants closed their doors.

"All four restaurants placed placards in the windows reading, 'We are not feeding scabs,'" said Mr. Arntz.

MAYO SIMPSON STARTS JOURNEY TO LEAVENWORTH

(From Saturday's Daily) Mayo Simpson, convicted in the federal district court here on six counts in connection with the possession and selling of narcotics and sentenced to six terms of 25 months each, to be served concurrently, last night left Prescott for Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., in custody of Joe Dillon and Onas Jett.

The two special deputies and three prisoners departed on the 11:30 train. The other two prisoners were Ivan Ray Carter, who had pleaded guilty to violation of the Mann white slave act and was sentenced to serve two years, and Robert E. Mills, convicted of passing counterfeit coin and sentenced to a year and a day.

Mrs. Kate Simpson, mother of Mayo Simpson, visited her son at the county jail before his departure to serve out the 25 months. She was visibly affected, but strove to hide her emotions as much as possible before the officers. But the fortitude she had shown previous to her son's conviction and sentencing was gone. Mrs. Simpson and Lemuel Simpson, her other son, who were also charged with violation of the Harrison narcotic act, were dismissed after Mayo's conviction.

When Mayo Simpson was arrested, morphine valued at $18,000 was confiscated by agents of the department of justice.

TOM COLLINS LEAVES AFTER LOOKING OVER VERDE CENTRAL MINE

(From Saturday's Daily) Development work is going forward at the property of the Shea Copper company in Jerome with 18 men on the job, according to Chas. T. Joslin, secretary of the Verde Central Mines company, who returned yesterday from Jerome in company with Thomas H. Collins, prominent mining man of Pasadena, who is interested in the Verde Central. Reports from Jerome last Tuesday were to the effect that Mr. Collins is interested in the development of the Shea.

With the Pasadena mining man, who is well known here, Mr. Joslin visited the property of the Verde Central at the loop on the Jerome highway, for several days following Mr. Collins' arrival from the coast the first part of this week. The workings of the mine were gone over and samples of schist showing 7 per cent copper were examined. Mr. Collins left for Pasadena yesterday afternoon, after expressing his satisfaction with the way in which development is being carried on at the mine.

N. A. FAIR TO NAME BUREAU CHIEFS TODAY

Heads of Departments to be Picked and Other Preliminaries Seen to at Meeting of Ass'n at 3 o'clock Today.

(From Saturday's Daily) Heads for those departments with-out such will be selected at a meeting at 3 o'clock this afternoon of the Northern Arizona State Fair association. Hed Aitken, president of the association, issued the call for the conference which will be held in the chamber of commerce.

There are a dozen or more divisions and bureaus under the fair management. Most of the department heads are perennials, but some must be replaced this year.

It is going to be a good fair, according to every indication. Despite a season scarcely remarkable for its productiveness either in the farming or livestock departments, the producers are eager for a chance to offer their best for this year's prizes. Exhibits of everything from pumpkins to chickens will compete. As in past years, every department of the fair will be open and will have exhibits.

The Northern Arizona State fair, an institution supported in part by legislative appropriations and managed entirely by volunteer and non-paid workers from Prescott, is intended to gather at a central point, the agricultural, livestock, mineral, educational and other products of the five northern counties of Navajo, Apache, Coconino, Mohave and Yavapai, so that the best of them may be selected and sent to Phoenix for competition with other sections of the state at the fair there. Needless to recall to readers of this paper the number of agricultural trophies the northern counties have annexed at Phoenix by picking their exhibits at the N. A. fair.

The dates for the fair this year have been fixed—October 19, 20 and 21.

BETTER POSTAL SERVICE ASKED BY CROWN KING

(From Saturday's Daily) A petition requesting the establishment of a star route mail service traveling to Crown King three times a week was presented to the chamber of commerce yesterday by residents of that town. The petition bore the signatures of 100 Crown King people. This action followed an announcement of the chamber of commerce recently that it would support the efforts of residents of the Bradshaws to secure more frequent mail service.

It is asked in the petition that the present star-route service maintained at Venezia be continued 23 miles to Crown King, thus affording mail service for residents of the intervening territory. Rapid expansion of the Crown King district, not only in the town itself but in outlying regions, is given as one of the reasons for the request that mail service be changed from the railroad to a star route and be extended to three times a week. Another reason given is that there is danger of the present twice-a-week service being reduced to one day a week by the Santa Fe.

The chamber of commerce has announced that it will seek to secure favorable action by the postal authorities. The petition reads in part: "We, the undersigned patrons of the postoffice at Crown King, Ariz., being given to understand that the Santa Fe railroad company desires to eliminate its Saturday motor car mail service between Crown King and Middleton, thus reducing the Crown King postoffice to one mail weekly, and inasmuch as such action would cause an unmerited and unwarranted injury to all patrons of the office, desire and strongly protest against any action to further reduce the mail service to this point, as even under present conditions our mail service is wretched."

"Considering population, no office in Arizona is so poorly served. Wagoner with certainly no more patrons, has a six-times-a-week service, and Venezia, with less than half the patrons, has service tri-weekly. Both of these offices are on star routes established to serve these offices especially."

YOUNG ITALIAN VICTIM OF NEW LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Remembering Plentiful Supply of Wines in Italy, Young Man Sees Easy Profits of Bootlegger and Starts to "Make It."

(From Sunday's Daily) Despido Severeno, 27, who came from Italy about 18 months ago, underwent a rapid process of "Americanization." After some journeyings around the country, he missed the casual ease with which Chianti could be secured in his native land, he told officers yesterday; and found many who cared more for bootlegger's profits than for the sanctity of the law engaged in "making their own." So when he settled down in Yavapai county some time ago, he determined to have a drink and to secure some of those visionary profits. He is now in the Yavapai county jail, awaiting arraignment on a charge of manufacturing alcoholic liquor.

Severeno was arrested yesterday afternoon at his cabin near the old slaughter-house on the old Senator road. Undersheriff Joe Furst and Deputies Grant Carter and Bill Poulson piled into a car and went out three miles on the Jersey Lily road, then turned on the old Senator road until they came to the slaughter-house. They alighted and inspected Severeno's place. No one was home. Grant Carter squeezed in through the loose door and found on the inside a still dripping liquor, three barrels of mash and about nine gallons of finished product.

Just about this time the officers became aware that Severeno, hidden in the background, had seen them come up. Messrs. Furst and Poulson got into the automobile and drove away, and presently Severeno, thinking the officers had gone, came up to the cabin. He entered it and began to inspect his illicit property, when Officer Carter made his presence known and arrested him. About 150 gallons of mash were found in addition to the still and liquor, the latter being brought to Prescott. Three gallons of liquor were accidentally broken on the road, Undersheriff Furst said.

FEDERAL PRISONER EXTRADITED; WILL FACE OHIO CHARGE

Although he offered to plead guilty to transporting a stolen automobile and take a four months' sentence in the local jail, in order to avoid extradition to Ohio to face charges of burglary and larceny for which heavier sentences would be imposed, E. J. Kelly was refused permission to do this and yesterday started on the journey to Cleveland, where he will face trial on the Ohio charges. He was accompanied by two Ohio officers who appeared armed with extradition papers signed by Governor Davis of Ohio and Governor Campbell of Arizona.

Kelly, who carries the alias of Frank Sullivan, was arrested with E. T. Knight in Arizona for violation of the Dyer act by transporting a stolen automobile from one state to another, and brought to the Yavapai county jail recently to await trial. When the two men appeared before Judge Sawtelle in the federal court, Knight pleaded guilty and was fined and sentenced. Kelly pleaded not guilty, and pending his trial it was learned that he was wanted in Cleveland. Permission to change his plea was denied by Judge Sawtelle, and Kelly will have trial in the east on charges which, if he is found guilty, will result in a heavier sentence than would probably have been imposed here.

GRACE TAKES ON A JOB AS A REPORTER

The chamber of commerce signed up yesterday as a reporter. Experienced in dishing up news, it now has a regular job at it. Miss Sparkes has taken on the job of putting out road information bulletins about Yavapai county for the United States weather bureau, which distributes the information all over the country. The news service centers in Phoenix, where the bureau has its chief Arizona station. From that point the road information, as well as the weather data, goes to all points served by that office.

PRISONER FLEES WHEN ARRESTED

Running "Gun-Fight" Through Cedar Glade Lends a Little Pep to Job of Prohibition Enforcement Agent.

(From Sunday's Daily) That activities of federal prohibition enforcement agents in this county are beginning to give rise to thrilling episodes worthy the typewriter of a Zane Grey was suggested by the dramatic pursuit and capture yesterday of Pedro Flores and Gavino Soto at Cedar Glade, in which the atmosphere of that hitherto peaceful community was rent by shouts and cries punctuated by revolver shots and the spat of bullets. The only casualty was the death of a dog who in a brave effort to defend his master, tore the trousers of Deputy Sheriff Grant Carter and was shot down by a bullet from the officer's six-gun.

Information came to the ears of the officers that the two seniors arrested after so much commotion were engaged in the manufacture of liquids proscribed by law, and two enforcement agents set out in company with Deputy Carter to bring 'em in. They did; but only after a breathless chase. They called at the residence of the two men, and there found 10 gallons of liquor and 50 gallons of mash. The mash was buried in a pig-sty. About a mile and a half up a nearby canyon another 100 gallons of mash was found concealed.

The two men were placed under arrest, and while the officers were gathering as much of the evidence as could be brought in to Prescott, Flores seized the opportunity to escape. He sprinted down the road with one of the enforcement agents in hot pursuit. The other agent climbed into the automobile and joined the chase.

While this was going on, Flores' dog, full of canine faithfulness, decided that his master was about to be harmed, and set upon Deputy Carter, inflicting several rips in Mr. Carter's clothing. A shot from the trusty weapon silenced Towser.

Flores ran down the road and through the settlement of Cedar Glade, the officer following behind and directing about a dozen warning shots after the fleeing offender. Finally, somewhat breathless, he sent a bullet close to the heel of his escaping prisoner. The bullet spat, the dust rose, and Flores' speed increased by about 200 per cent. But it was too late. The motor caught up with him and he was again in custody. Accompanied by the evidence and his partner, Soto, he was brought in to the county jail to await arraignment on the charge.

DECLARE JAILED MAN A SPECIAL OFFICER OF R.R.

(From Saturday's Daily) Refugio Molino was brought down from Ash Fork by Deputy Sheriff Bill Murray and lodged in the county jail to serve out a sentence of 30 days for carrying concealed weapons. Shortly after his incarceration, the sheriff's office was visited by representatives of the law offices of Norris & Norris, who declared Molino was a special officer for the Santa Fe railroad at Ash Fork and therefore had a right to carry weapons. Such was the status last night of Molino's case.

Molino was arrested at Ash Fork when he was seen within the incorporated limits of the town of Ash Fork, carrying a revolver stuck in his shirt. He was held before Justice of the Peace Seymour, the charge was read to him and he pleaded guilty. Justice Seymour fined him $20 and sentenced him to 30 days in the county jail.

The prisoner was questioned yesterday evening by Undersheriff Joe Furst in the presence of Herndon Norris, and denied that he was a special officer, according to the undersheriff last night. "He said he was a car-whacker. He was shipped in to Ash Fork from Albuquerque just a few days ago," Furst told a representative of the Journal-Miner. "He was arrested for breaking the law by carrying a concealed weapon within the town of Ash Fork, pleaded guilty to the charge, and was sentenced by Judge Seymour."

The Journal-Miner job department produces up-to-date commercial work at short notice and at reasonable prices.

FIRST APPEAL IN WATER CASE

Wid Sawyer Asks Court to Review Norveil's Decision on His Application for Reservoir Permit in Date Creek Valley.

(From Sunday's Daily) One of the first appeals to a court of law to reverse a decision of the Arizona state water commissioner, was started on its way here yesterday when Wid T. Sawyer sued W. S. Norveil, water commissioner, and the Alamos Land and Irrigation company a protestant to Sawyer's application for a reservoir permit.

The entire file of proceedings of record in the Sawyer application, which was disallowed by Mr. Norveil, accompany the complaint and make it a fairly bulky document. The issues attempted to be joined in the present action, originated on January 6 last, when Sawyer filed an application for the reservoir site on Date Creek. R. G. Langmade, secretary of the Alamos company, wrote a lengthy letter to the water commissioner, protesting the application. Then on March 8, a hearing was held on the disputed site, and Norveil decided against Sawyer.

Sawyer and the Alamos company have engaged in several notable court battles over irrigation matters in the Date Creek section. Now, Sawyer petitions "upon appeal from the decision of the state water commissioner," and asks the court to declare that the commissioner's findings of fact were faulty, and his judgment should be reversed.

Russell & Stack represent Sawyer.

FAIR IS OFF TO A STRONG START

(From Sunday's Daily) A start was made yesterday afternoon toward the formation of the organization that will conduct the Northern Arizona State fair. President Hed Aitken conferred with department heads and outlined the work of the year.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Aitken said that they were off in a cloud of asphalt, and would have the usual fine fall festival this year.

RECEPTION OF CORD TIRE INSTANTANEOUS

No new line of tires brought out in recent years has met with the instantaneous reception that was accorded to the cross-rib cord tire recently placed on the market by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company as a companion line to its famous all-weather tread, reports Floyd Williams, Goodyear local dealer.

"Every motorist wants the dependability and wear and easy riding qualities of cord tire construction," he said. "A good cord is the last word in tires. A good cord is the best tire that can be built. No factor in this business has been more pronounced than the way that cord tires have come to dominate the quality market within the last few years."

"However a good cord tire of standard reputable make costs a little more than the fabric tires. The Goodyear company recognized the need for a quality cord tire that could be built at a price that would enable the thousands of motorists to whom first cost is important, to still avail themselves of the advantage of correct cord tire construction."

"And so the cross-rib cord was brought out at popular prices and is proving a boon to thousands of car owners."

WOMAN INJURED IN AUTO TURNOVER ON COPPER BASIN HILL

Injured when the car in which she and her husband were traveling to Prescott over the Copper Basin hill yesterday morning, a woman whose name was said at the Mercy hospital to be Mrs. A. L. Ellison, was taken there yesterday. Her injuries were not serious, it was said.

The accident occurred when Ellison turned the car into the bank in order to avoid going over the slope on the other side. The car was driving rapidly down the grade and the brakes would not hold.

OLD TRAILS ROAD TO BE COMPLETED WITHIN TWO MONTHS

(From Sunday's Daily) That part of the National Old Trails highway which runs through Yavapai county will be completed within two months, it was declared yesterday by County Engineer Joseph McCarthy upon his return from a trip over the highway from Ash Fork to a point beyond Seligman.

Grading of the highway in Yavapai has been going on by state highway department crews working with county money and federal aid, and should be completed within the next couple of weeks. Following that, surfacing will be commenced and should be done by the end of September, the county engineer said.

"As soon as the Old Trails highway in this county, which comprises about 50 miles of road in the north, we hope to swing down to Prescott on the Ash Fork road," McCarthy said.

DUTCH TREAT HOUSE BUY ENDS IN SUIT

Peter Tonelli and Virgil Selma joined to buy some disused houses from the United Verde Extension Mining company. They picked out the houses they liked, told the man to wrap up half a dozen and send them to the house. The bill was $1,100.

Tonelli, in a complaint filed yesterday, alleges that the agreement was to divide the purchase price evenly, and further that he had paid his $550 this being a Dutch treat sort of transaction. But Selma, he says, failed to put up the necessary money, and appealed to the plaintiff to help him. Which Tonelli says he did to the extent of $412.50. Now he wants that money back, and that's the why of the lawsuit.

Cantaloupe Season Is Equal to Last Year's Is Railroad's Report

The cantaloupe season this year equalled that of last season and was moved more rapidly, according to W. P. Arntz, roadmaster of the local line of the Santa Fe.

"The yield of cantaloupes in the Salt River valley this summer is said by our traffic agents at Phoenix to have equalled that of last year," said Mr. Arntz; "and we got the shipments through in much shorter time." He was unable to say how many carloads had been shipped out of the valley over the various roads.

"As far as the strike is concerned," he continued, "we are organized nicely, so that we can handle our ordinary business without the least trouble. Phoenix, if anything, is better fixed, than Prescott. They are about 90 per cent effective, while Prescott has a 70 per cent effective force."

TWO RAILROAD MEN INJURED SAME DAY

Two local men were injured in mishaps on the Santa Fe Wednesday afternoon. They were Paul R. Ashcraft, Santa Fe fireman, who was injured when the motor car he was driving jumped the track near Ludlow, beyond Parker, and C. L. Johnson, switchman, who fell from a freight car on the local line.

Ashcraft, formerly a resident of this city and an employe of the local Santa Fe line, was picked up unconscious and considerably bruised, according to meager details obtainable yesterday, and will arrive in Prescott today to be treated at the Mercy hospital. The cause of the accident could not be learned.

Johnson, it was said at the local railroad offices, slipped from the rungs on the side of a traveling freight car and fell, bruising his shoulder and breaking his jaw. Reports that the accident had occurred through breaking of one of the rungs were denied at the Santa Fe offices.

DRAIN DELLS POOL

The swimming pool at Granite Dells was drained Sunday night and yesterday morning fresh water was flowing into it. The pool was drained after the evening, and all of Sunday night spent in cleaning it thoroughly. It will require about three days for the pool to be refilled.
