

ACTIVITIES UPON U.A. CAMPUS AREN'T CONFINED TO STUDY

(From Friday's Daily)
Mr. Plummer, who used to write the Badger Notes for the Journal-Miner, is still alive, and, as he puts it, snoring. That all is not dull class-work, or even politics on the University of Arizona campus, is attested by the following letter from Paul, discussing in a characteristic solemn way, the events of the Wildcat domain:

Knowing that you are deeply interested in astronomy, I will try to enlighten you on several facts regarding the universe. We have a monstrous big Bertha telescope down here, that reveals practically nothing. Through it the moon looks like the bald-face of a Texas steer after a bull fight. In spite of the exaggeration of this instrument, Prof. Douglas managed to discover a new universe that looks even larger than ours.

The week ending November 4th was a darkening week for us. We have lost two games of football and had piled up no victories; consequently the No Victory-No Shame club was out seeking members. The student body council passed a ruling that no student would be permitted to shave, until our team of Wildcats grabbed the long end of a score. As the days rolled by our faces grew darker and darker, and those that tried to spread a little sunshine by shaving were immediately introduced to the fish pond. Our victory over the New Mexico Aggies like to run the hardware companies out of business; for they simply couldn't scare up enough lawn mowers to crop our flowing beards.

Hallowe'en night was a red-letter day for the sophs. They managed to pick up about 12 loose frosh, give them a ride, and then let them hoof it back about 10 miles to the U.

As no other holidays were near at hand, the frosh decided to celebrate the following night, called freshman Hallowe'en. By 1 o'clock p. m. in the morning a grand total of 18 sophs were laboriously treading their way across the desert, in a powerful effort to get back to the U. in time for breakfast.

No armistice was signed, but peace reigned until Saturday morning. Some time between the wee hours of 1 and 3 o'clock Friday morning the frosh had shinned up a 90-foot flag pole and placed a green beanie on the ball, and tied an eight by four green flag to the pole. Shortly after breakfast Saturday morning, three attempts were made by the sophs to take the flag down, but none of these attempts brought down the banner of '26. In desperation, the head of the sophomore traditions committee dived himself in a short skirt outfit and slid up the pole. He managed to get the flag but not the beanie. When he had dropped to within ten feet of dame earth, he gave the following speech: "I want this flag as a love token from the frosh, so—" He said no more. He was taken down and sat on by the frosh; they grabbed their banner, and started to beat it, but we were stopped by the onrush of a sophomore gang. War was declared, and the battle began. (Right in the heart of a cactus garden.) After about 30 guys had been sent to the infirmary, the upper-classmen stopped the fray. A plea was put in by the museum, for the possession of the flag. We turned it over to them, with our best wishes. When they saw the one by three inch stripe (all that was left of our banner), they decided that it ought to be sent to the Smithsonian Institute.

This war was the third of an unlimited series of combats that are unscheduled for the next several months. As it is only eight hours till bedtime, and time for me to hoist out a few more cactus spines, I beg your permission to ring off.

MOVE AGAINST NEW M'MURCHIE HEARING

A motion to strike out a petition of Homer R. Wood for retrial of disbarment proceedings against Robert M'Murchie, democratic candidate for county attorney, was filed in the state supreme court yesterday by O'Sullivan & Morgan, counsel for Mr. M'Murchie. Following dismissal of charges against Mr. M'Murchie, Mr. Wood filed with the supreme court a petition for retrial. The motion of O'Sullivan & Morgan contends that the petition should not be allowed on the grounds that it is "frivolous, scandalous, irrelevant and a sham."

NEIGHBORS OF LA GRANGE ON WITNESS STAND

Bert Roland and Clint McLaren Relate Circumstances Bearing on Alleged Slaying of Walter Steinbrook Two Years Ago.

(From Friday's Daily)
Walter Steinbrook started for Prescott on horseback from his ranch near Blind Indian creek shortly after dark December 26, 1920, carrying a quantity of ore samples and a pocket-book, according to testimony given by Bert Roland yesterday at preliminary examination of Franklin La Grange, accused of Steinbrook's murder. The examination was conducted by Justice Clyde B. Jones of Jerome.

Steinbrook's horse was later brought to Clint McLaren's place by La Grange, who said Steinbrook had left the horse with him, according to McLaren, the second witness called. Two roads led to Prescott from the camp where Steinbrook and Roland lived, one of which passed the La Grange place. Roland was unable to say which of these roads Steinbrook had taken.

La Grange put his ranch up for sale soon after, declaring Mrs. La Grange was ill and had to be taken to California, McLaren testified. The ranch was sold to Clark Elmer, but La Grange reserved a claim which he said he wanted to work later. McLaren visited the La Grange place on December 31, 1920, and found La Grange had a fire near the barn in which he declared he was burning malt.

Meanwhile, Steinbrook had disappeared. Accidental discovery of dismembered parts of a human body in an abandoned prospect shaft near Blind Indian creek led to the belief that the old prospector had been slain. This was in the summer of 1921, McLaren said. The discovery led to further investigation, chiefly by Frank Wilson of Mayer, Steinbrook's nephew, which resulted in the discovery of charred bits of bone and metal on the La Grange place. It was these circumstances which led to filing of murder charges against La Grange and his wife.

The introduction of testimony yesterday occupied the forenoon and part of the afternoon. Judge Jones continued the hearing until Monday, at which time the prosecution will introduce two new witnesses, Deputy County Attorney Westervelt said. Joe First represented the defendant.

ASHURST AND ELLIS SPEAK FOR VETERANS

Men and women who served in the great war—as many in uniform as possible—the Boy Scouts and the various fraternal orders, will make up the Armistice day parade tomorrow morning. Forming at the high school at 10:30 o'clock and proceeding to the plaza, the marching organizations will then deploy around the speakers' stand for the 11 o'clock program, which is in charge of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in cooperation with the Disabled American Veterans.

Invitations have been extended to Senator Ashurst and Judge Ellis to be among those addressing the crowd, at the plaza. The program opens with the national anthem in which all will sing. The Rev. E. A. Watts will invoke the divine blessing. There will be addresses by Judge Ellis and Senator Ashurst and a reading by Mrs. Southworth. The final number will be a song by Miss Robinson.

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD MEET HERE MONDAY

Democratic county candidates were leaving for Jerome yesterday afternoon. A good meeting was held, according to Judge McLane, and was followed by a dance at the opera house. Paul C. Keete, formerly speaker of the house of Representatives, presided. Tomorrow night the democrats will hold their rally at the Elks theater here, and expect a good turnout. Among several state candidates who are expected to speak at this meeting are Senator Ashurst and Judge Ross. Senator Ashurst spoke at Kingman last night and will return to Prescott today or tomorrow. The full court ticket will be represented at to-

YAVAPAI SCOUTS WORK OUTLINED

(From Friday's Daily)
Work of the Yavapai district scout council was outlined at a series of conferences yesterday attended by Charles N. Miller of San Francisco, regional scout executive for the twelfth district, and local scout officials.

Meeting at scout headquarters at 11 o'clock, Prescott ministers conferred with Executive Miller and Andrew R. Groenink, Yavapai district executive, in regard to co-operation between the scout organization and Prescott churches. A plan was outlined whereby ministers will co-operate with the scouts by getting in touch with boys not members of scout troops, while the scout organization will encourage Sunday school attendance among the boys.

Ministers present at the conference included Rev. A. C. Watts, Christian church; Rev. E. C. Yorke, Methodist Episcopal church, South; Rev. W. P. Bristow, First Baptist church; Rev. O. M. Andrews, Methodist Episcopal church; Rev. Alfred W. Nicholls, St. Luke's Episcopal church; and Dr. E. Lee Howard, Congregational church.

Members of the finance committee of the Yavapai district council met at the Yavapai club at luncheon with Executives Miller and Groenink, and decided that the scout budget this year will be the same as that of last year.

The executive board of the district council will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon, at which time they will consider the budget adopted by the finance committee, and will discuss a proposal to change the name of the district from Yavapai to Yavapai-Mohave. Members of the finance committee are Lester Ruffner and Dr. Southworth, and of the executive board, Dr. Looney, Dixon Fagerberg, M. B. Hazeltine, Dr. Yount, Tom Bate, LeRoy Anderson, Howard Cornick, Lester Ruffner, Prof. Martin, Joe Morgan, Richard Lamson, Geo. Nilsson, J. K. Wade, Dr. Southworth, Harry Heap, A. H. Favour, H. D. Aitken.

At 11:40 this morning Executive Miller will speak to the high school in a meeting at the auditorium. At noon he will address the Rotary club, and this evening will speak before the Jerome Elks lodge at a "Boy Scouts' night" planned by that lodge. This meeting will be held at 8:30, following business of the lodge, and will be attended by many Elks from Prescott.

PASTOR DEMING DIES AT DELLS

(From Friday's Daily)
The Rev. C. W. Deming, former pastor of the First M. E. church of Prescott, passed away at his home at Granite Dells yesterday afternoon. For a long time, Mr. Deming had been an invalid. He was stricken with paralysis one Sunday morning while preaching to his congregation in the Methodist church at Jerome, where he had been called following his tenure in Prescott. Since that time, the minister has been living on his farm near the Dells.

Three sons and a married daughter, who lives in Los Angeles, survive the deceased. The daughter has been summoned and will attend the funeral Sunday afternoon at the church in which the Rev. Mr. Deming was pastor. He was a member of the local Masonic lodge.

ROTARIANS TO HEAR SCOUT EXECUTIVES

(From Friday's Daily)
Prescott Rotarians will have a Boy Scout program at their regular meeting at the Owl at 12:10 today, at which time Charles N. Miller, regional executive of the scouts, will speak on the work of his organization.

The meeting will be in charge of Dr. Looney, and will open with singing of "America" played by the scout orchestra. Following another selection by the orchestra, Andy Groenink, Yavapai district scout executive, will speak on "The Scouting Profession" and will tell of his attendance at the national bi-ennial conference of scout executives at Blude Ridge, N. C., and of his visits to Rotary clubs en route there and back.

Another selection by the scout orchestra will be followed by a talk by Harry Southworth, Sr., on "Local Scouting" and by Executive Miller's talk. The meeting will close with a selection by the orchestra.

THROUGH ROADS IS STATE NEED

North and South Highways Traversing Entire State from Flagstaff to Nogales Backed by Good Roads Association.

(From Friday's Daily)
Completion of a through north and south state-highway from Nogales to Flagstaff and of two east and west highways in the northern and southern parts of the state, were advocated by members of the Arizona Good Roads association at Phoenix last week, according to Supervisor C. C. Stucky. Mr. Stucky, who is a member of the board of directors of the association, attended the meeting.

"What Arizona needs is a through highway," Mr. Stucky declared. "Not a paved road necessarily, but a good surfaced one, which will stretch from one end of the state to the other. A north and south road is especially what Prescott needs. The meeting decided to work for the completion of such a road, which will go through Prescott, and either Ash Fork or Flagstaff on the north. It will probably be Flagstaff, to connect with the Old Trails highway."

In the southern part of the state, a movement is on foot to bring about construction of a through cross-state highway which will connect southern Arizona with San Diego.

The north and south highway will open up, in northern Arizona, one of the unique spots of the United States, a region in which there are to be found seven natural wonders, including the largest pine forest in one section in the world, in Coconino county, Supervisor Midgley declared. A second meeting of the association will be held in the southern part of the state December 14.

BANNING DAM WILL BE FINISHED SOON

City Manager and Councilman Visit Damsite and Report Work More Than Third Done

Three months more are allowed for completion of the Banning Creek dam and irrigation project, in a conservative estimate made public Wednesday by City Manager Robinson after a trip to the damsite with Councilman William Byers. The two officials when they went out to Banning creek Tuesday afternoon found the dam about 35 per cent completed, and estimated that if winter storms do not intervene too much the job will be completed within 90 days.

Excavation at the damsite is all done. Contractor S. P. Gillis' crews are now working at the big job of pouring concrete into the forms which span the creek to a height of 65 feet, and sink a depth varying from one to nine feet to bedrock. About 25 men are employed at this work. Five trucks are being kept busy hauling gravel for the concrete mixers. The work at present is going along smoothly and satisfactorily, Robinson said.

HONOR MEMORY OF PRESCOTT PIONEER WHO DIED IN EAST

(From Friday's Daily)
Funeral services will be held in Indianapolis today for Mrs. Willemina Raible, a member of one of Prescott's earliest families and mother of Charles M. Raible of this city. The Owl Drug & Candy company, of which Mr. Raible is a member, will close its doors from 2 to 4 o'clock in deference to Mrs. Raible's memory. Mrs. Raible will be buried in the Crown Hill cemetery of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Raible passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward H. Knight, after an illness lasting eight months. She was stricken with paralysis 10 days ago. Mr. Raible hurried to her side and he and his two sisters were with their mother until her death.

There were but three houses in Prescott when Mrs. Raible came here as a bride in 1873, following her marriage in New York. From that year until 1899, when Mr. Raible died, she and her husband witnessed and contributed to the early growth of the city. Mr. Raible designed the territorial governors' mansion. Mrs. Raible left Prescott about ten years ago to make her home with her daughter in Indianapolis. She is survived by her three children, Charles M. Raible, Mrs. Edward H. Knight and Mrs. Mallotte Fletcher.

B. Y. P. U. MEMBERS ENJOY HALLOWE'EN

Members of Baptist Young Folks' Organization Guests at Spook Party in Miller Valley

Forty-five members and guests of the Baptist Young People's society enjoyed a Hallowe'en party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Cruikshank in Miller Valley Tuesday evening. Hallowe'en stunts and games contributed to the merriment of the party. Jack o' lanterns were hung from trees and a ghost seven feet tall ushered the guests into the house where decorations of cornstalks, black cats, witches, skulls, pumpkins and festoons of orange and black crepe paper provided a spooky atmosphere. Candles and hooded lights gave a dim orange glow.

The fortune-teller proved popular with the young people, disclosing weird futures for those who questioned her, gathered about her booth, the girls wearing aprons and the young men overalls. "Witches' brew," hot coffee and gingerbread were enjoyed after the games. The committee in charge of the affair comprised Misses Ruth Wiley, Caladonia Burton, Virginia Johnson and Edith Yeomans.

BACK FROM EAST

Oliver Lindblom, formerly a patient at the post, has returned from a trip to Minnesota, during which he visited relatives and friends.

ROSS FAMILY HAS 2 JUDGES

Both Supreme and Local Justice are Decorated With Members of Well Known Yavapai County Pioneer Lawyer Family.

There is a judge at both ends of the Ross family, and there is a Ross at both ends of the Arizona judiciary. In other words, J. W. Ross was elected justice of the peace of Prescott Tuesday and his father, Henry D. Ross, elected justice of the supreme court of the state.

Ross defeated Poulson by something less than 75 votes. According to a tabulation at the Journal-Miner office yesterday, he was 53 ahead of his republican opponent, Bill Poulson.

The vote was: Poulson, 1,489; Ross, 1,542.

SOME REPUBLICANS CHOSEN IN MOHAVE DESPITE THE SWEEP

Bill Mahoney was returned to the sheriff's office in Mohave county. The county that was so frankly conceded to the democrats long before the election, reversed itself, however, to elect Maybelle Le Clair, republican, as school superintendent; Ross Blakely, a republican, as county attorney; Supervisor Myers of Oatman, a republican, and Sam Miller, republican, justice of the peace at Kingman.

Among others who won in the election are W. A. (Jake) Neal for supervisor and George Ayers, re-elected to the board.

BRUNER SUES BOONE CO. MINING COMPANY

A suit to foreclose a laborer's lien for $900 and a promissory note for $2,500 was brought in the superior court yesterday by David S. Bruner against the Boone County Mining company, an Arizona corporation owning and operating properties in the Big Bug district and at Huron. The action was filed by O'Sullivan & Morgan.
