

NOTED LEADERS TO TALK BEFORE A. I. CONGRESS

Albert W. Atwood Among Those Added to Industrial Congress Program for Next Week; A. A. Johns to Handle Livestock.

PHOENIX, Dec. 14. — A famous writer, a vice-president of one of the country's largest railroads, another high railroad official, and a noted mining man were added to the program of the annual convention of the Arizona Industrial congress, in Phoenix next Tuesday and Wednesday, in announcements sent out today.

Albert W. Atwood, financial writer for the Saturday Evening Post, will attend the convention from Tucson, where he is spending the winter, and speak on "Business Ethics and Industrial Development." Mr. Atwood is one of the best known authors on business and financial subjects in the country.

F. O. McCormick of San Francisco, vice-president of the Southern Pacific system, will appear on the public utilities program Monday afternoon, his subject being "Next Year." Mr. McCormick is rated among the leading railroad men in the west.

Fred P. Cruick, until a few years ago assistant general freight and passenger agent for the Santa Fe, stationed in Phoenix, will give an address on "Arizona as Viewed from Within and Without." Since leaving Arizona Mr. Cruick has been general colonization agent for the Santa Fe, with headquarters in Topeka, and now is assistant general freight and passenger agent for all the Santa Fe lines, with headquarters in Los Angeles. As he knows Arizona thoroughly and has had much experience in interesting others in this state, his talk will be particularly timely and interesting.

J. F. Callbreath, secretary of the American Mining congress, is coming from Washington, D. C., to take part in the mining session of the convention. His subject has not been announced, but his familiarity with the mining industry of the world and his close study of conditions are assurances of the importance of his message. Nationally-known speakers who already have been announced for the convention include James R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Fred H. Bisby, president of the American Livestock association, and W. A. Schoenfeld of the United States department of agriculture. Among the leading Arizonians who will appear on the program are Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, new president of the University of Arizona; Senator Mifford Winsor of Yuma; former Senator A. A. Johns of Prescott; Chief Justice Henry D. Ross, who will be chairman of the opening session; Frank R. Goodman of Flagstaff, state engineer after January 1st, and other notables.

MELVIN WILL BE TRIED HERE FOR ALLEGED ROBBERY

(From Friday's Daily) Bernard Melvin is under arrest for robbery in Los Angeles, on a warrant issued from the Yavapai county sheriff's office, and will be brought back here to stand trial. Deputy Sheriff Bill Fitzgerald last night left for the coast armed with authority to take Melvin into custody and return with him to Prescott.

Melvin is charged with having robbed his wife, Mrs. Gabrielle Darly of $2,000 at the point of a revolver, and of having cashed her check for that amount here and gone to Los Angeles with the proceeds. The complaint was sworn to by Mrs. Darly—as she is known.

A suit for divorce against Melvin, filed by his wife, is pending in the superior court. The suit was filed last week.

SHERIFF'S LEVY

A sheriff's levy of execution on the property of the Boone County Mining company was filed yesterday in the county recorder's office. The property will be put up for sale to satisfy a judgment of $2,775 obtained by Dave S. Bruner in the superior court last week against the Boone county company. The property consists of a mine and premises, known as the "Kivans" mining claim, and of a considerable amount of mining and camp equipment.

OVER 13,000 AUTO VISITORS

Prescott Camp Facilities Well Patronized During 1922, According to Figures Presented by Chairman Byrns of C. of C.

Thousands of automobile visitors who spent from a night to three or four months and many thousands of dollars in and around Prescott, are the subject of one of the most interesting reports to the chamber of commerce this year. Chairman Bob Byrns of the camp grounds committee presented these illuminating figures and comments:

"It being impossible to make a complete and actual tally of all of the visitors we had, a very conservative estimate has been made which shows that during the 1922 summer season a total of more than 940 cars, averaging three passengers each, camped within two miles of Prescott at the following points:

- Pine Dells 412 cars
- Norris tract 250 cars
- Foot of Alto street 35 cars
- Old Ball park 30 cars
- Jersey Lily road 75 cars
- Paradise Valley ranch 138 cars

"These figures do not include the campers at Groom Creek, Granite Dells or below Fort Whipple. The above figures only cover the count of new arrivals and, as many of the cars were here 90 days or longer, such cars were only counted once.

"As there was located here during the three summer months an average of more than 35 cars daily, which cars remained here during that time, we believe there were at least an average of 15 more cars of campers, that we termed as transients, only remaining from 12 to 48 hours. These figures make a total of 1,500 cars per month or a total of 4,500 cars during the summer season, in addition to which are the cars that came through this section, both in the spring and during the fall seasons, which are not included in our estimates.

"Using the actual check made by the Pine Dells company, as a basis, which showed 1,237 passengers in the 412 cars reported by them, we believe we had during the summer season at least 13,500 one-night camp visitors, plus those in the 42 permanent tents located at Pine Dells, who paid over $3,000 in rentals and which on a basis of $1 each per person per day would bring the total to approximately 17,000 camp visitors, averaging more than 12 hours each in this section of the county.

"Your committee would urgently suggest that the chamber of commerce arrange to make provisions for one, and one only permanent camp ground, as close to the city of Prescott as possible, and that all campers be concentrated at such a location, doing away with the campers being scattered in various places, as in the past. That it be so located that our visitors will have the benefit of gas, water and electricity, all of which we know the great majority of visitors will appreciate and will be more than willing to well pay for.

"El Paso, Tucson and various towns and cities in California and other western states have provided such grounds and not only find them profitable but also find that they stand as splendid and permanent advertising mediums to the communities establishing them.

"When it is fully realized the amount of money that is annually spent by our visitors in this community, we believe the business interests will see that by increasing the conveniences for their use, we will rapidly increase the number of visitors, all of whom leave money in Prescott and adjacent towns."

PRESIDENT'S CUP PRESENTED HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

(From Saturday's Daily)

The University of Arizona is not so much a group of buildings housing a faculty and a student body, as it is an idea implanted and flourishing in the consciousness of the people of Arizona. Further, this idea in the minds of the people is brought to fruition only by the conscientious application of the university student. Such was the message of Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, president of the University of Arizona, in talks before the Prescott High school student body yesterday morning and the Prescott Rotary club yesterday noon.

Dr. Marvin yesterday appeared before the high school students in the auditorium and presented, Prescott with the University of Arizona President's cup for 1922, in recognition of the success of seven Prescott High school graduates in making the highest scholastic record in the freshman class of 1921-1922 of any group of freshmen students from any other Arizona city. On the cup are engraved its name, the date, and the following inscription: "Won by the Prescott High School," followed by the names of the seven students who won the cup for Prescott High: Elizabeth Angel, Wells Heap, Dorothy Hill, Mollie Merritt, Elizabeth Randall and Anita Weil.

Dr. and Mrs. Marvin and Mose Drachman of Tucson, a member of the university board of regents who accompanied Dr. and Mrs. Marvin, were accompanied to the high school by Dr. J. W. Finn, chairman of the Prescott school board, and Senator-elect Howard Cornick, a member of the school board. Dr. Marvin was presented by Prof. S. H. Martin, superintendent of Prescott schools, who was presented by Miss Virginia Coleman, principal of the high school.

All efforts of the educational system are useless without the individual effort of the student, who can expect little benefit from a university course if he is unwilling to put the best of himself into his work. Dr. Marvin told the high school students. He then presented the President's cup, which was received for the high school by Miss Coleman.

The program at the high school, presided over by Miss Coleman, consisted of two selections by the high school orchestra, a vocal solo by Miss Ethel Robinson, instructor of music, accompanied by Miss Lillian Hawkinson. Following the presentation of the cup, Joe Heap, cheer leader, led the student body in 15 hearty ralls for Dr. Marvin. After brief talks by Judge E. W. Wells and Mose Drachman, university regents, the program closed with singing of a Badger song by the student body.

MRS. H. C. HARRIS IS WANTED IN JEROME; HER HUSBAND IS ILL

(From Sunday's Daily)

If Mrs. H. C. Harris, whose husband is a traveling man, see this notice, she is requested to immediately get in touch with long distance at Jerome.

Her husband is very ill at a hotel in Jerome and all efforts of the M. States Telephone company, the chamber of commerce, the Arizona Bus company and others to locate Mrs. Harris, who is supposed to be stopping with friends by the name of "Mayfield" or "Mayfield" or some such name (her husband being too ill to pronounce the name so it could be understood), failed up to last night and the Journal-Miner is glad to offer its assistance this morning.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY PLEASURES LARGE CROWD

(From Saturday's Daily)

"Thirteen Soap" proved unlucky for dirt at the high school junior class play last night, and the junior class players' acting proved unlucky for gloom. The curtain hadn't been up three minutes before the little black-capped devils invented by Powers were nowhere to be seen. They were chased out by a troop of Joys.

The Journal-Miner's dramatic critic last night informed this paper that out of the entire cast, "by gosh, I wouldn't know who to select as the best actor. It was a pretty close draw between Tom Bate, Marion Ross and Norman Fain among the boys, and Esther Devin and Dora Rosenblatt for the girls. The whole show was put on in a very creditable manner."

The amusing situations and clever lines of George M. Cohan's Broadway success, "It Pays to Advertise," lost nothing of their vivacity as portrayed and spoken by the juniors. Particularly effective were the French lines of Dora Rosenblatt as the Comtesse de Beaurain.

The story related the fantastic adventures in love and business of Rodney Martin, son of Cyrus Martin, the soap king, upon whose success his father had laid a wager of $30,000 with John Clark, father of Ellery Clark, Rodney's business opponent. Tom Bate proved himself a young Cohan in his portrayal of Rodney. Clair Scholey was an effective foil as Ellery Clark. Rodney and his advertising man, Ambrose Peel (played by Norman Fain), with Mary Grayson, the secretary, invent the clever advertising phrase, "Thirteen soap—Unlucky for Dirt," and carrying on an extensive advertising campaign without manufacturing the soap, clean up when they sell the name to Rodney's dad, who cheerfully forks over the half million price of his son's success and his own bet, that Miss Grayson cleverly extracts. Miss Grayson also cleverly puts Rodney to work and it works out that he leads her to the alter.

Esther Devin made a thoroughly modern secretary and an efficient Miss Grayson. Rodney's dad was well played by Marjorie Ross. Ned Yount was good as William Smith, a friend of the Martins, and LeRoy Smith should apply for a job with Marshall Field & Company, whom he ably represented. Johnnie Lee Parsons as Miss Burke was a demure office clerk. Alene Dickson played the part of the maid at the Martin home in good style.

Much credit is due the coach, Miss Lillian Savage, for the very effective direction and setting of the piece. The high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Lillian Hawkinson, provided an excellent musical program for the entractes. Arthur Davis, Jr., played a pleasing violin solo, and Sally Hall played a saxophone solo. Both these numbers were enjoyed.

An audience of all the auditorium could seat witnessed the play, and went away congratulating the juniors and their coach on the success they achieved.

SUPERVISORS AT COUNTY FARM

Pet Institution of Board Receives Formal Visit on Occasion of Last Meeting; Institution Has Prospered During Term.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Now that the year is about over and a new board of supervisors is to come into power in a few days, the old board at the last official meeting of the year, commencing the third Monday in the month, took occasion yesterday to pay a visit to the county farm, one of the pet institutions of the board.

Major Midgley and Members Stucky and Coldwell went to the farm prior to Mr. Stucky's departure for the good roads meeting at Phoenix, of which he is a director. The county farm has become a real institution under the management of Superintendent and Mrs. Fred Campbell, aided and abetted at every turn by the three supervisors. A great deal of improvement has been done in the way of refurbishing the buildings and constructing new ones, the grounds have been cultivated, a long stride made toward increased water supply and some fine crops of produce and farm livestock taken premiums at the fair.

MARVIN TALKS AT ST. JOSEPHS

President of University, Delayed by Late Train, Takes Luncheon at Academy and Speaks to Prospective 1923 Graduates.

(From Friday's Daily)

Immediately after the arrival of the north-bound train yesterday afternoon, President C. H. Marvin and Mrs. Marvin, accompanied by Dr. E. Lee Howard and Mr. Herbert Drachman of the board of regents, drove to the academy, where they were met by Father Girard and entertained at luncheon.

The members of class 1923 were presented to the university president who spoke a warm welcome for the prospective students at U. of A. next year.

To the assemblage of high school students in the auditorium, President Marvin made a happy talk, interspersed with valuable advice as to the making capital of the strenuous and complex problems that face the high school students both in their school work and in the development of character.

President Marvin expressed his delight in the equipment and appointments of the academy and promised the sisters and students that he would visit them again before the close of the current school year.

The faculty and student body of the academy appreciate the kind interest of Dr. Howard in arranging this pleasant visit of President and Mrs. Marvin.

FIRST REHEARSAL OF PHILHARMONIC GROUP HAS EVERYONE THERE

(From Tuesday's Daily)

The Prescott Philharmonic orchestra last night held its first rehearsal, with twenty members present. The members of the new organization entered into their work with considerable enthusiasm, with the result that a very successful rehearsal was held. The orchestra is now waiting for the arrival of music it has ordered, but is losing no time meanwhile. Light scores were practiced last night and the orchestra will enter upon the rehearsal of heavier works immediately the music arrives.

The next rehearsal will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the Community house, the same hour and place as that of last night; and every member is urgently requested to be present. The orchestra still has available places for 'cello, bassoon and French horn and will be glad to consider any applicants who play these instruments.

XMAS TREE NOW IS UP: CITY'S PROGRAM GROWS

Many Organizations Working Together to Make the 1923 Community Free and Christmas Eve Program Worth.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

The Prescott community Christmas tree yesterday was raised to a commanding position in the plaza, at the right of the central walk from Gurley street on the north side of the court house. The tree is as high as the Buckley O'Neill monument, which it faces; and when Bob Connell and his decorations committee and all the others who will help in the community Christmas program get through with it, the tree will look a million dollars to the eyes of all the Prescott kiddies who will gather around it on Christmas eve.

With the help of Bert Savage, Chairman Connell will string electric wires and cover the tree with tiny colored electric light globes, to be lighted for the community program. Meanwhile, local organizations of every sort will join in decorating the tree with all the goodies and gifts they can get together. Among those who will take part in this work will be the Rattlers club, the Fellowship Bible class, the Young Women's Christian association, the Boy Scouts, and many others. All organizations or individuals who want to help with this work are asked to communicate with the chamber of commerce.

A big community Christmas program will be given on the plaza Christmas eve, when the tree is lighted. This program, which is now being arranged, will be under the chairmanship of Prof. S. H. Martin, superintendent of city school. The basket committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Richards is preparing a plentiful supply of baskets full of good things and serviceable, for distribution at the tree, and the membership of Good Fellows club which is helping with this work, is daily increasing. Ben Powers is in charge of the financial end of this work, and any contributions to swell the fund will be appreciated.

TRIED AGAIN FOR A COUPLE OF DAYS BUT THEN DESERTED WIFE

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Stanley Montoya deserted his wife five weeks after they were married, remained away three months, came back for two days and then disappeared again.

That is the substance of a complaint for divorce filed by Antonia M. against Estanislado Montoya through A. L. Hammond, Mrs. Montoya's lawyer. In addition to absconding himself thus unusually and without permission or consent, Montoya has failed to support his wife, the complaint alleges. Mr. and Mrs. Montoya were married at Phoenix July 15, 1921, and it was on August 28 that year that the man left his wife. He returned the first of December, but cut his visit to two days, and this time, his absence has grown into a year, time for the law to take its course and enable the wife to plead desertion and abandonment as a basis for divorce. There are no children and the couple own no property in common.

HIGH GRADE ROCK ENCOUNTERED AT DOS ORIS GROUND

(From Sunday's Daily)

Attention of mining men yesterday was turned to the Jersey Lily district when word reached the city that the Standard Metals company of Denver, who are operating the Dos Oris ground under lease and bond from Burmister & Hill, had encountered an eight-inch streak of argentine which Jersey Gilmore, when the ore was shown to him, declared will run from 500 to 2,500 ounces of silver.

This streak of high-grade rock was opened up at a depth of 150 feet on the lower level of the mine. It was encountered Friday, and samples were brought to town by E. Nutter, general manager of the company, who is directing operations at the Dos Oris. Nutter left samples with Otho R. Hill, and returned to the mine, coming back to town yesterday with more ore. Samples from the full width of the vein will be assayed tomorrow. The ore was found on the footwall side of the workings.

An 18-inch streak of lead and silver ore is being explored by the crew of five men at the mine, in another part of the workings.

DOS ORIS ORE VALUES LARGE

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Indications that the showing of high-grade silver ore encountered at the Dos Oris mine last week will confirm the hopes of those interested in the property were forthcoming yesterday when samples which E. Nutter, general manager of the property, declared were taken from the full width of the eight-inch vein were assayed and found to give the following results:

A sample from the middle of the streak of argentine which it was declared would run between 500 and 1,000 ounces in silver ran $12.40 in gold, $1,320.60 in silver, making a total value of $1,333. A sample from the south part of the streak ran $16.52 in gold and $1,043 in silver, a total value of $1,060.13 to the ton. Assays of samples from the black sulphide streak laying alongside the richer argentine deposit assayed $18.60 in gold and $51.10 in silver, a total of $69.70 to the ton; and of a sample of lead ore laying on top of the argentine streak, the assay was 28 per cent lead and eight ounces of silver to the ton.

The Dos Oris was recently taken over from Burmister & Hill by the Standard Metals company, formed by a group of seven Denver capitalists for that purpose. Manager Nutter will continue exploration of the eight-inch argentine streak immediately after the holidays.

PATS TO MEET TEMPE TONIGHT

The opening guns in Prescott's campaign to put its town team in a conspicuous position on the 1922-1923 Arizona basketball map will be fired this evening when the Pats with their green lettering step onto the high school basketball court to meet the Mesa town team. Indications are that the locals will show all their Irish to good effect.

This opening game tonight is one of a series which Billy Craig, manager of the Prescott Alumni team, is arranging with other quintets in the southern part of the state as well as in the north. If the public patronizes the game well, and it appears that it will, it is possible, Manager Craig has indicated, that teams may be brought here from El Paso or possibly Los Angeles.

A lively contest will probably be seen tonight, for while the Tempe town players are a fast five, the locals are considered as fast and have been practicing steadily for some time past. The game will start at 7 o'clock and will be refereed by Coach McKeck and umpired by Harry Southworth, Jr. The deciding game in the Badgerettes interclass championship will be played off before the Prescott-Tempe game, with Miss Nelson refereeing.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS HAYS IS ANNOUNCED

The many friends of Miss Kathryn Hays, who was formerly the stenographer in the local Santa Fe freight office, will be interested to learn of her engagement to Robert J. Yorksh, the cashier of the M. & M. bank at Needles. Miss Hays is the daughter of former Chief Dispatcher Hays of the S. F. P. & P., and she was not only a favorite in social circles but commanded the highest esteem of her employers here on account of her exceptional ability and agreeable disposition. She is now the personal record clerk of Superintendent Christie of the Needles division of the Santa Fe. The wedding has been set for New Year's day.

EMPLOYEES SUE FOR WAGES ALLEGED DUE

Suit on assignment of wages alleged due to 16 employees of the Sharp & Fellows Construction company was filed in the superior court yesterday morning by W. P. Mattick and H. Bifidick, who allege they with 16 others were employed by the defendant company between April 11 and October 14 of this year, on construction work for the Santa Fe railroad between Crozier and Truxton stations, and that neither they nor the 16 others received wages due them for this work. The suit is for $13,000, the total amount alleged to be due the 18 men, the claims of the 16 other employees have been assigned, the complaint recites, to the two plaintiffs, who are represented by Struckmeyer and Jennings.
