FIZZLE! FIZZLE!

The Mass Meeting of the Unwashed a Roaring Farce.

Marcus Aurelius Gets off Plenty of Wind but no Logic.

A Great Many Converts Made for C. C. Bean.

Generals Miles and Crook, the Zulick Administration and the County Ticket Entirely Ignored.

Last evening the court house was comfortably filled by republicans, curious to see what kind of a man had courted overwhelming defeat by entering the campaign for Delegate to Congress.

Here and there throughout the audience some well known democratic countenances could be observed wearing a sort of "I told you so" expression which as the circus proceeded, gave way to dejection and disappointment.

The meeting was called to order by Hon. W. A. Rowe, who, in a neat introductory speech, presented Mr. Smith.

The would-be delegate spoke for about an hour, using well rounded sentences and pleasant rhetoric, but his talk was conspicuous for its original ideas.

He started in by saying that he did not propose to discuss the Indian question, nor national issues. We were not surprised in the least to find that he took last year at Tombstone, against raising money and militia to warn and protect settlers from Indian atrocities, that he preferred to avoid this question, although it seemed a little strange that he did not mention, even by inference, the eminent services of Gen. Miles.

He said that democrats alone were responsible for restricted Chinese immigration, when everybody knows that Blaine's position on that question, carried California for him in 1884, by a very large majority.

In criticizing the work of Mr. Bean, in Congress, he said, he had not succeeded in getting an appropriation, and assumed that he (Smith) would, if elected, be more successful. He labored hard to misrepresent D-legate Bean on the land grant question, when the truth is that Bean did the very best thing that could be done, in view of the withdrawal of the bill for the confirmation of the Tres Alamos grant, and assisted the Senate in passing the Edmunds bill to place all disputed grants and titles to land in the U. S. Courts, the only feasible and proper plan for quieting titles and correcting abuses of the land question.

He talked a great deal about artesian water, water storage by reservoir system, propositions which have been discussed and recommended by republican officials.

He laid great stress upon the importance of the delegate being in accord with the administration, and made spread-eagle pledges of what he would accomplish if elected, immediately contradicting himself by saying, that without a voice on the floor of Congress and a vote, a delegate could do nothing, and without allowing them such voice and vote it was taxation without representation, the same principle that our revolutionary fathers fought for. This has long since become a chestnut with Arizonans.

Cochise county and Tombstone's most highly flattered at the following statement of Mr. Smith: "I have no money now; I had saved some, but when the mines played out in Tombstone, and the bottom fell out of the place, I gave up all I had in helping dead-beat people out of the country." Pretty rough on the southern mining interests.

Then he delivered the most caustic criticism on Gov. Zulick's notorious Indian proclamation, that we have ever seen in print or listened to. He said: "While in the east some time ago, an old school-mate of mine, a member of Congress, called me to one side and asked: 'Are the people of Arizona such lawless, bloodthirsty fiends as I have heard, and do they make rails upon the peaceful Apaches on their reservation?'"

This from a democratic campaign orator must be a bitter pill for Zulick's admirers to swallow. But the most remarkable thing about his whole harangue was that he completely ignored the much vaunted Zulick administration, never referring to it in any way, neither had he a word of kindness or praise for Generals Miles or Crook or the democratic county ticket.

He was followed by C. M. Strauss, whose speech was perhaps the best of the evening on account of its brevity. He referred to his record as Mayor of Tucson, said he was a democrat because he was born one, (a common reason for democracy.) Said he was going to "get there" and would do the best he could for the educational interests of the territory. To the ladies he said: "there is nothing small about me, nothing at all," and if elected he said he would do all he could for their little ones.

Mr. Strauss was followed by Hon. J. C. Herndon, who declined to talk about the county ticket on account of modesty, but confined himself to advocating the election of Mr. Smith on the ground that he is in sympathy with Mr. Cleveland's administration.

Judge John A. Rush was then loudly called for, and although he was expected to speak for the county ticket he had nothing to say for it beyond the fact that he thought the entire ticket would be elected. He had considerable to say about the Atlantic & Pacific land grant and he gave the non-partisan advice to his hearers to weigh all questions before them well, regardless of party affiliations and vote for the best men.

Taken altogether, the meeting, from a political standpoint, was a wretched failure, the result of which will be to insure the election of Col. Bean and the entire republican ticket of Yavapai county.

David Archibald was brought here yesterday, from Tip-top, by Geo. C. Cary and James M. Lane, for medical treatment, and by order of Probate Judge Hawkins was admitted to the County Hospital, and late in the evening was carried to the residence of his family on Granite street, by his wife.

Cowardly Scandal. Some contemptible coward who is beneath the notice of honorable citizens, has prepared and distributed a malicious lying and abusive circular attacking the character of W. O. O'Neill, the Republican candidate for Probate Judge. The authorship of the dirty effort is being traced, and the person who wrote it will be forced to eat every word of his lying calumnies.

A thing in human shape who will stoop to such vile and characterless means of injuring any member of the community even in the heat of a political campaign should not be tolerated in a civilized town, and we believe that in this case the villain will meet with the punishment he so richly merits. Although the scrub is too cowardly to sign his name in our opinion he will be discovered and properly dealt with.

We have seen the circular in question and unhesitatingly declare it to be a tissue of falsehoods from beginning to end, conceived in malice and born of a cowardly sneer. It is signed "a committee of stockmen" for the purpose of deceiving. Stockmen do not lend themselves to such contemptible methods. It will act as a boomerang upon its authors, and elect W. O. O'Neill Probate Judge of Yavapai County, by an overwhelming majority.

Track laying will now progress more rapidly since the graders have cleared the bluffs, and are out into open ground again.

The graders have gotten out into open ground now near Clearwater's ranch and will have smooth sailing for the next thirty miles.

A force of men under that veteran railroad builder J. W. Colgan are piling up the grade at the crossing of Granite creek, below Whipple, at a lively rate.

The engineer corps, under the direction of Assistant Manager C. W. Beach, run the line through the military reservation at Whipple yesterday.

All hands connected with construction are confident that the whistle of the locomotive will be heard in Prescott by January 1st, 1887.

Ex-Governor Tride, Vice President of the P. & A. C. R. R., went out to Whipple today with profile of route for the road through the Military Reservation to request General Miles to get permission of General Sherman and the War Department to grant permission for its construction through the Reservation.

In answer to telegraphic summonses from Mr. Bullock he will tomorrow go out over the line of the road to inspect the fourth ten mile section which is now nearly completed.

The district attorney is the legal adviser of the county board of supervisors. In his capacity as such Col. Eggers, because he failed to so interpret the law, as to favor a certain institution in this county has drawn against him an objection which is certainly unjust. The district attorney, in giving his opinion and advice in the matter simply did a conscientious duty as a faithful officer. As the opinion was not only in accordance with law, but was one of vital importance to every tax payer, he should be sustained by the voters, and as an appreciation of his faithful services should be redacted by a larger majority, this year, over the assistant district attorney than he received two years ago over the then district attorney.

If Sheriff Mulvenon received a percentage for collecting delinquent taxes, it was because the Board of Supervisors and District Attorney, as well as that gentleman himself, knew that he was entitled to it.—(Courier. Sheriff Mulvenon retained $1,154.53 out of delinquent taxes collected by him, without asking leave of the Board of Supervisors or District Attorney. He still retains it and suit will be instituted by the Board for its recovery.

"OLD GRIZZLY"

Expresses his Opinion Rather Forcibly of Some Democratic Candidates.

Serious Charges Against Sheriff Mulvenon for Charging Exorbitant and Illegal Fees.

The announcement that Hon. A. W. Callen, better and more familiarly known as "Old Grizzly," would speak on the political issues of the day and more particularly on the respective merits and demerits of the opposing candidates to the two county tickets, last evening, had the effect of attracting a good audience to the court house.

At 8 o'clock the speaker appeared, and in true frontier style, drew off his coat, asking the audience to excuse him, saying that he expected to not only "warm up" during his talk but also "WARM UP" SOME OF THE CANDIDATES.

He announced himself as a republican but an independent one, saying he could not support a number of candidates on the ticket.

Before proceeding to the business of the evening, he said it had come to his ears late in the afternoon that he was charged with being an enemy of ex-Gov. Tride, and took occasion to deny it as false in every particular. That he believed him to be a man of the strictest integrity and he would support him for any office in the gift of the people if he were a candidate.

He said there are TWO WAYS OF CHANGING VOTES. In a political campaign. One is to convince voters of the superiority of the principles of the opposing party, the other is to convince them of the superiority of the candidates on the opposing ticket. The former was a slow and tedious process, and he proposed to deal only with the latter.

Referring to the candidates on the republican ticket for representatives to the territorial assembly, he recommended them to the consideration of voters, as being superior in every way. He spoke particularly of C. W. Beach, who has been a resident of this county for eighteen years, during which time he had labored with muscle and brain, with pen and printer's ink for the material advancement of the territory and of Yavapai county. He has his property all here.

A HEAVY TAX PAYER. And is as much interested in good government as any man in the county.—From his long residence in the county and territory he is familiar with their wants, and by experience and otherwise is well qualified for the position. Democrats who want good laws enacted by their man can well afford to scratch any man on their ticket for Charlie Beach. He said it was unnecessary to go through the entire list but that the same was true of every other man on the legislative ticket.

Mr. Callen spoke for an hour and a half and while space will not permit of even a synopsis of the entire talk, his remarks in reference to Sheriff Mulvenon, will be read with special interest by tax payers.

He had he said taken the trouble to investigate the records and had found that THE SHERIFF HAD, IN HIS OPINION CHARGED ILLEGAL FEES.

For mileage. That officer is allowed a salary of $8,000 per year and twenty cents per mile for each mile actually traveled. He found that he had taken ten prisoners to Yuma, making two trips in doing so but that he charged $1,579 mileage for ten trips. He also found that in one case he had gone to Flagstaff and served subpoenas on three witnesses, actually traveling the distance once, but charging for three separate trips.—In another case he had expended A TWO CENT POSTAGE STAMP.

Which the county paid for to send a subpoena to Calico, California, to be served on a witness there and had received the return by mail but had charged the county mileage for 900 miles for simply walking from the court house to the post office to post the one and receive the other letter.

Other instances could be shown but this was enough to illustrate the system of constructive mileage under which he ran his office. He also referred to the fees of $1,154.53 he had charged and which he retained for the collection of delinquent taxes, expressing the opinion as a lawyer, that they were illegal. As for his opponent,

JOSEPH M. MYERS, He had known him for years. Had known of him holding office in Kansas and in this territory and never yet has heard the breath of suspicion against his integrity or honesty. The only objection he ever had heard against him was that he was too old for the position. This is not only fallacious but ridiculous absurd. "Old as he is," he said, "he is vigorous and strong and there is not a man in Arizona who he cannot arrest" and "Old Joe Myers," he said was honest and he believed that even if by any interpretation of the law the system of constructive mileage, as practiced by Sheriff Mulvenon could be explained as legal, that he WOULD NOT CHARGE IT AGAINST TAX PAYERS.

Mr. Callen, who is himself a pioneer of this county, said he believed that E. J. Cook and "Uncle Billy" Wilkerson had held offices long enough and if they were not willing to let go that voters should compel them to do so by the election of W. C. Bashford and W. O. O'Neill. As for assessor and recorder, he considered L. P. Nash and Dan. L. Robinson as infinitely superior to their opponents for the positions.

TAXPAYERS READ THIS.

The people of this county are more interested in good government than they are in party politics in county affairs. That is to say, the independent voters of both parties, who hold to these views control the balance of power.

Good government is scarcely attainable by the election of men to office who use corrupt means to secure their nomination and election. This is a proposition which must be apparent to all. That such means were used to carry the democratic primary in Prescott the interest of E. J. Cook and W. J. Mulvenon is notorious.

Money was spent right and left and it is estimated that not less than $1,000 or $1,200 was spent for that purpose. Not stopping here, the same rule of purchase was applied, to secure the votes of the delegates on the assembling of the democratic convention, for at least one candidate. Tammany in its palmy days was not more open in the use of a corruption fund than was practiced on this occasion. It is notorious fact that a cent in delegate pledged to a cent in candidate succumbed to the influences of an opposing candidate and cast their vote for him.

That the basis of this change was the influence of coin is an open secret, or rather no secret. The candidate to whom they were pledged was given openly to understand that such was the case. So much for the prospect of good government by the election of the ticket placed in nomination by the democrats.

On the other hand, on the day of the republican primary in Prescott we doubt if $25 all told was spent. Voters were permitted to exercise the freedom of their choice for delegates and good representative delegates were elected. Such was the case in every precinct in the county. Delegates came to the convention entirely unpledged and with one single purpose in view—the nomination of a ticket which would be to subvert the interests of taxpayers. There was no bargaining or selling, no swapping of favor; candidates and the result was that a ticket was nominated which is composed of the best men in the party—not men with the most radical republican tendencies probably, but staunch, reliable citizens. Now it is our belief that the intelligent voters which ticket promises the best for taxpayers.

The one nominated through corruption and purchase or the one nominated through the free choice of representative citizens?

This is a very pertinent and important question and it seems capable of only one answer. Let voters answer it to their own interests on November 2d. It is reasonable to expect that a man or men who are willing to spend almost, if not entirely half of the entire salary they will receive if elected, simply to secure their nomination, to say nothing of the payment of the legitimate expenses of the campaign afterwards, will have the same care and interest for the welfare of the people as those who are placed there from free choice? It certainly is not. From a strictly non-partisan standpoint as well as in the interest of good government therefore the duty of voters is plain—that is to vote for the ticket placed in nomination by the republican convention.
