

FOR PLEASURE OR HEALTH.

Prescott affords a variety of inducements for summer tourists either health or pleasure seekers. Recent medical authorities place it second on the list in the United States for its beneficial influence in cases of pulmonary and throat troubles. It is probably unexcelled for relief of asthma, although it is not infallible. Not every case of asthma which comes here is cured, but there is probably no place in the United States where as large a proportion of patients are permanently benefited as in Prescott. In pulmonary cases the same may be said. Different patients are affected differently. While in summer particularly, a very large proportion of cases are favorably affected by the climate and we have numerous instances here of people being cured, who came here expecting to die, there are a few cases which require a lower altitude. These cases, however, are very rare. The atmosphere is dry, the temperature mild, the days not being excessively hot and the nights being comfortably cool, while the ozone from the pine trees surrounding the town is peculiarly health giving.

But to the pleasure seeker, who loves the beauties of nature's handiwork, and who can climb mountains, and who is possessed of the energy to do so, there is a never ending variety of scenery to be found around the town.

The ride up the mountain grade to the Senator mine, discloses a panorama of almost unequalled beauty. The road winds in and out of gulches, around the points of mountain spurs, a distance of 200 or 300 feet above the Hassayampa. With a lofty mountain towering above one for a back ground, the valley of the Hassayampa and its tributaries for a stretch of twelve or fifteen miles in length and widening out from a quarter of a mile, to four or five miles in extent, the entire face of the country being covered with a dense forest of beautiful green pine trees, the picture is one which defies the skill of the landscape artist to produce.

Once on top of the Senator hill, another magnificent view can be obtained. A stretch of country taking in the Prescott basin, Miller valley, Point of Rocks, Lonesome and Little Chino valleys, and still further on can be seen. After tiring one's gaze at the beautiful panorama presented from this point of view, the sight seer can continue his journey to Mount Union, the second highest distinct peak in Arizona being 10,500 feet above sea level. The ascent can be made on animals to the very summit of the mountain and by buggy to within a short distance of the summit. Passing along the divide, between the Hassayampa and Crook Canyon, on the way to Mount Union, another grand view of mountain scenery is presented. Crook Canyon, wild and rugged, though picturesque and beautiful, with its stately pines, lies beneath one's feet. A short distance beyond, the Turkey creek mountains and divide between Turkey creek and the East Fork of the Hassayampa. To the left the rugged and barren Big Bug mountains, while away off in the distance can be seen the Bradshaws, one of the treasure yields of Arizona.

From the summit of Mt. Union, a view is obtained in every direction, limited only by the range of vision of the eye, and one can remain there for hours and enjoy it.

The Senator mine is only twelve miles from Prescott and Mt. Union is about a mile and a half from the Senator hill.

A trip to the Bradshaws, from twenty-five to thirty-five miles from Prescott, furnishes a constantly new and ever changing scenery, as beautiful as can be found almost anywhere.

But in case one does not care to go so far from town, in quest of scenery, a six miles ride in one of our electric cars to the base of Thumb Butte, and a scramble and climb to its top, over 1,000 feet higher than the town, would amply repay him for his trouble. A trip to the Point of Rocks, six miles north of Prescott, and a day or two spent in exploring these wonderful structures of nature, would be full of interest. A trip by rail to Jerome could be made in a day and a half, with an afternoon and a night's lay over in the greatest mining camp in the United States, and would be pleasantly remembered the remainder of one's life.

In fact, there is practically no end to the points of interest and attractions to be found around Prescott. Scenery and climate are two valuable adjuncts to the mining interests which are possessed by this section. Good hotel accommodations can be had in the town, at prices ranging from $1.00 to $2.50 per day, while the beautiful shady pine groves near town, afford pleasant and tempting camping locations.

The Hawaiian Islands contain 1,200 lepers now. San Francisco talks of taxing bicycles twelve dollars a year. Gold bugs call it Coin's Financial Fool, but they will not fool any one by it.

Nobody has yet claimed to have been hypnotized into doing a good action.

Kid Thompson the Roscoe train robber has been sentenced to be hanged.

Prescott should have 10,000 people within her borders on the Fourth of July.

Flagstaff is moving right along with her Fourth of July celebration arrangements.

California now refuses admission to consumptives as students in her normal schools.

The gold bugs are getting their work in all the democrats papers possible in the country.

The Carnegie steels works have decided to advance wages ten per cent June 1.

Southern California editors will visit Flagstaff early in June, and will visit the Grand Canyon from there.

Albuquerque is looking forward to a big time during her territorial fair and irrigation congress. All Arizona is invited to attend.

Lots of democrats are growing round shouldered through their efforts to carry gold on one shoulder and silver on the other.

Gov. Altgeld shouts for free silver, but his tenants are required to sign a lease agreeing to pay their rent in gold, if he demands it.

Col. Cockerill may be right about Japan being prepared for war with Russia, but it's brick houses to hay ricks that the two nations do not fight.

The Journal-Miner's Washington correspondent gave such a golden hue to his correspondence, that we were compelled to stop his salary, and then he quit writing.

Bourke Cockran, now in England, is said to desire to become an English citizen. There will be no protests from this side, if he realizes the desire.

That little office thrown to Fitz Lee by Mr. Cleveland seems to have prevented the nephew of his uncle joining the Virginia free silver democrats. Great is the power of a pap!

A Riverside man writes that people in his town are feeling pretty good this year. They have shipped out about 2,400 car loads of oranges and have about a million of dollars jingling in their pockets.

Flagstaff has a new fire department. Why not organize a running team, go into training and come down and compete for Prescott's $1,000 cash prize on the Fourth of July.

The Arizona Press Association will meet in Prescott on the second Monday in July, which will be the eighth of the month. Arizona editors should arrange to come a few days sooner and attend our patriotic carnival.

Democratic newspapers which desire it can now have their editorials written and set up and plates furnished free by the National Reform Club, of New York City, which is to boom the Cleveland gold standard movement.

There is a wide difference between the opinions of the late Hon. Simon Cameron, of Pennsylvania, and those entertained by Mr. Cleveland on the art of letter writing as applied to politics. Senator Cameron's motto was "travel 500 miles to see a man rather than write to him."

Secretary Carlisle threatens to bolt the democratic ticket and vote the republican ticket if the democrats pronounce in favor of free silver. He will find little consolation in the republican camp on that question, as the next republican national platform will contain a free silver plank.

Here is a pointer for the Arizona Democratic Kicker who is in doubt about the democracy of certain alleged democrats. A Stockton California telegram says that Pool, democratic nominee for Superintendent of Streets, has brought suit to compel the City clerk to eliminate the word "Democrat" from the ballot opposite the name of Edwin Phillips, candidate for Mayor, as Independent Democrat. Judge Budd sustained Pool's contention.

Senator Gorman, when asked to support a man he did not wish nominated for governor by the Maryland democrats has the gall to say that he thought the nomination ought to seek the man this year.

"Twas a slick answer, but it failed to work, and the other fellow ex-Congressman Rayner, is now openly fighting Gorman and trying to head off that nomination. If present conditions continue the next governor of Maryland will be a republican.

First Assistant Postmaster General Jones, who hails from Illinois has joined Mr. Cleveland's letter writing brigade. He wouldn't, for the world, try to influence the Illinois postmasters on the silver question. Oh, no! Not he! Still, no postmaster is likely to misunderstand him when he writes to them: "But I will not believe that they would deliberately use their influence at home to injure the administration under which they are holding office."

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder World's Fair Highest Award.

Silver was recognized as a money metal the same as gold for about 4,000 years of the world's history. The human race seemed to prosper, civilization advanced and the population increased during all these years. There is no reason why history would not repeat itself again.

Mr. Cleveland says the democratic party will be defeated, if not disintegrated, if it does not follow his single standard gold ideas, which is perfectly true; but it is also true that the party will be defeated if it does. In fact, the democratic party has reached the stage in which defeat is certain, no matter what it does or leaves undone.

Public Printer Benedict discharged a man employed in the government printing office for having, in a newspaper paper letter over his own signature, referred to Mr. Cleveland as a "grand old rascal," and accusing him of being as "full of perfidy as a snow ball is of water." The man was a democrat, too. Now this is stating the case pretty strong, but there are hosts of democrats all over the country, who will think this printer told the truth.

Benjamin Rush Davenport, who is organizing an anti-trust league, (or, he says, purely philanthropic reasons, would have inspired more confidence had he withheld the information that Hoke Smith, who has just collapsed a $40,000 corporation fee, was his first cousin. Mr. Davenport may be all right, but his relationship will raise many suspicions.

Will the advocates of monometallicism kindly inform an inquisitive public why the dire disaster they claim will attend free coinage was not experienced in the world's history from the time that Abraham bought a burying ground for 400 shekels of silver, 1800 years before Christ, down to A. D. 1873, during all of which time silver was on a parity with gold?

The editor of the Flagstaff Democrat is trying to crawl back into his hole and pull the hole in after him, on account of the bad break he made in regard to decrying the merits of Prescott as a summer resort. The little fellow accuses the Journal-Miner of indulging in various vulgar comments upon his inferior personal appearance. He must have had an attack of night mare when he wrote this accusation, as nothing of a vulgar nature appeared in this paper concerning him. He must learn, however, if he has sufficient intelligence to grasp the idea, that the way to build up a town is not to belittle another one, or to decry its advantages. He will learn that "comparisons are odious."

The Los Angeles Times is the best newspaper on the Pacific Coast, outside of San Francisco, and a man who wants to get the news of the day, without having it dished up with a whole lot of sensationalism on the side, will pronounce it superior to the "Frisco" dailies even, but its editor, Col. H. G. Otis, does possess the happy faculty of getting on the wrong side of about nine questions out of ten of public interest. The Times is an out and out gold "bugger" of the most rabid type. In fact, a feature of Col. Otis' editorial administration, and one which challenges one's admiration, whether he agrees with his aim or not, is that it is always pronounced. He always makes it unmistakably known just how and where he stands, and the man who dares him for opinions not agreeable to him cannot but admire him for his frankness.

And now comes St. Johns to the front. The Herald of that place says: "All that St. Johns needs is a railroad to make her the best town in northern Arizona. We have the land and water to raise not only all that we consume, but will have a surplus for export, and all that is lacking is transportation facilities." All Arizona seems to be forging ahead on the highway of prosperity.

The Mohave Miner speaking of this fact says: "Never before in the memory of the oldest employees of the road has the Atlantic and Pacific done such a business as it is at present carrying for. This is a sight that should give more than usual encouragement to all classes of business men, for if the merchants, farmers, fruit growers, stockmen and all other classes of business are dead and doing nothing, the railroads, of a necessary result, do nothing, as has been clearly proven by the experience of the past two years, when it has been more than desperate fight on the part of the heaviest corporations to keep out of the hands of the receivers. This and these signs should make the people of the west and southwest more than jubilant, when they also realize that the most of these cars are filled with their own goods and products."

Tucson Wants That Base Ball Prize. Prescott will select a base ball team from her local club and also members from the Whipple Bar-ber's club, and pit it against any club in the territory caring to cross clubs with them during the great 4th of July celebration. A purse of about $2500 will be awarded the champions by the committee.

Phenix base ballists have made up a club from the crack players of the Salt River valley, and will try for the prize. The Tucson club, however, has decided that the prize is worth winning and will go up and take it when the time comes. They are now at work on the preliminaries to the battle.—Tucson Star.

MINES AND MINING

Some Interesting Doings in the Various Districts Surrounding This City.

What Old Producers are Doing and Notes From New Discoveries.

John S. Jones has ordered the melting of the ten stamps which will add to his Little Jessie mill in Chapparral.

Two hundred and eleven ounces of gold reached Denver last Tuesday, from Lynx creek, near Prescott.

Henry Lang has deeded the Monopolist mining claim to the McCabe Mining Company.

The Emmett mine, in the Black Hills, is opened up in good shape now, and has a good grade of shipping ore in sight.

A deed has been filed for record from the Oro Bella Mining Company by the Sheriff to R. S. Barnes et al for the Oro Bella mines.

A big mining sale was closed here yesterday and the first payment on the property was made. The sellers were the owners of the Waters mine in the Santa Maria district. The purchaser was Chauncey D. Clark and the price paid was $40,000. The property is pretty well opened up, the vein is large and the ore is of good quality. Mr. Clark will erect a twenty stamp mill at once.

The gold mining interests in Arizona are the leading and most important mining industry of the territory, and it is producing more wealth than all of the other mining interests combined. It is rapidly increasing its production so that it is quite safe to predict that within the next year our gold output will equal in value the entire output of silver, copper, cattle and agricultural product. This is one of the results of the mine agitation, as there has been a wonderful revival in prospecting and developing our gold mining interest. The gold output this year will not fall short of $8,000,000.—Star.

A. C. Gilmore, one of the owners of the Zero mine, the great silver producer, was in town to-day. He says the main shaft is now down to a depth of 100 feet and they expect to commence drifting soon to strike the ore chute at that depth. At the seventy foot level they have a fine body of ore and if it holds out, as it is expected to and as indications are, at the 100-foot level they will have a large amount of ore to take out. They are taking out ore now and expect to make another shipment soon. Only three men are at work in the mine all of them being owners in it.

The following mining item is clipped from our contemporary: M. S. Hildreth and J. E. Edelin arrived in Prescott yesterday with a ten pound piece of rich gold quartz as was ever seen in this section; this ten pounds of rock was assayed and found fifty pounds of ore taken from a ledge two feet in width. The ledge is located 100 miles from Prescott and five miles from the Sandy river, in Mohave county. The rock brought in pays out four dollars in gold to the pound. Messrs. Hildreth and Edelin, Shultz and Adams have six months working bond on the mine, which is the property of Judge Logan of Mohave county.

The main shaft of the Congress mine is now down to a depth of 1,400 feet and a fine body of ore is exposed at that depth. This is as deep as they can sink with the present hoist. The old shaft will be sunk to an equal depth when the two shafts will be connected by a drift, which as General Manager Gage remarked to-day they will have enough ground opened up to keep them at work until the present hoist is worn out. The company is now employing nearly 300 men. A cyanide plant of 100 tons capacity, which the cyanide agent, Mr. Hant says will be the first in use in the territory, is approaching completion, and will be used in working the old tailings. Another large plant will be erected soon to work a certain class of ore found near the surface and of which there are thousands of tons. The permanency of the Congress camp, it can be seen, is assured for years to come.

WAS IT SIMPLY A BLUE?!

An associated press telegram, yesterday to the effect that British officers had boasted that the occupation of Corinto by the British, was solely for the purpose of putting the Monroe doctrine to a test, seems more like bragadoecio than truth. While the act looked very much as if it were intended for that purpose the peculiar feature of it is that officers should admit it. An exchange referring to the Nicaragua affair says:

"Mr. Cleveland will be compelled by the Senate to make a full explanation of the somewhat erratic course the administration took in that Nicaraguan business. This is not a guess, but a positive statement of a fact announced from trustworthy sources. It has been known from the first that the republican senators would demand this information but now a sufficient number of democratic senators have pledged their co-operation to make it certain that a resolution calling for all the documents will be put through the senate with a rush.

"And that isn't all. It is on the program for the senate to reaffirm the Monroe doctrine, as the people, not the lawyers of the Cleveland-Gresham stripe, have always understood it. European hands off American governments; and there is little doubt that the republican house will promptly adopt the same. Whether the administration will be allowed to go with the tacit rebuke carried by a congressional reaffirmation of the Monroe doctrine, will depend upon the nature of the explanation it sends with the Nicaraguan correspondence."

President F. M. Murphy, of the S. F., P. & P., and his chief clerk, went up to Ash Fork to-day.

LATEST TELEGRAMS!

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The California Powder Company's works, at Pinole, were blown up at 10:40 o'clock this morning. No details have yet been received, and it is not known the extent of damage done or loss of life that attended it. The shock was felt at Vallejo, across an arm of the bay from where the works are located.

LATER.—It has just been learned that three men were killed. Adjoining the nitro-glycerine department was the packing house in which two hundred Chinese and three white foremen were at work. This building was completely destroyed. It is reported that eighteen Chinese men are missing. Great confusion followed the explosion.

DENVER, May 21.—With Denver as the base of their operations and the entire west for their market James Corbett and a gang of counterfeiters have been making and uttering base coins on a scale seldom or never attempted in this country. Corbett and his brother-in-law, Geo. Wallen, have been bound over to answer to the grand jury. Their wives' sisters and a third sister Miss Millie Hyland, are also under arrest awaiting a hearing. Miss Hyland lives in Butte, Montana, and has made frequent trips to Denver. She carried much counterfeit money to Butte to place it in circulation.

PHENIX, ARIZONA, May 21.—The grand jury has found three indictments against R. E. Dages, the late president of the defunct Bank of Tempe, for embezzlement. His bail was fixed at $6,000, but the amount of alleged embezzlement was not stated. Rumor has it that others connected with the bank at the time of its failure have been indicted also by the grand jury. Its final report has not yet been made public and sensational disclosures are promised when it is.

NEW YORK, May 21.—An Ottawa dispatch says that it is settled that the Pacific cable will be essentially British. The Fanning Island route will be adopted, and as this is a British possession, England will have entire control of the line.

PHENIX IS COMING.

The Newspaper Fraternity Will be Found in the Procession.

The Phenix Review has the following to say in regard to Prescott, its newspapers and its patriotism: "The city of Prescott is peculiarly blessed in its newspaper feature. It has two daily papers, one a morning, the Courier, and the other an evening, the Journal-Miner. One is an honest democrat and the other a consistent republican. The reader knows where to find E. A. Rogers and Col. Martin from a political standpoint. Both are for Prescott and Arizona, and always join hands in advancing and promoting the general welfare. An instance of the good will and laudable American patriotic sentiment that Prescott entertains toward its neighbors in the territory cannot be better illustrated than in its efforts to inaugurate a Fourth of July celebration that will be a relief of the unalloyed patriotism that burned in the breast of Americans when, in days of yore, barbecued beef could be snuffed from afar. The spirit of '76 can only be revived by instituting a carnival that will mark the occasion as a period of "feast of reason and flow of soul" and full of patriotic impulses. Phenix will be there.

MEMORIAL DAY PROCLAMATION. TERRITORY OF ARIZONA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE.

For more than a quarter of a century it has been the custom of our people to observe May 30th as Memorial Day, and in harmony therewith national and territorial legislation has established this as a public holiday, dedicated to the memory of those who wrought out through the vigor of battle the principles that all men are born free, that the states are members of an indestructible union, and that this Republic shall not perish from this earth.

This should be a day of patriotic sentiment and love of country, a day which will be the oil of gladness to the wounds caused by the terrible conflict, and if there be those who would keep acrimony engendered by the war, let our invention be, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."

May all minds be inspired and all hearts pulsate with sentiments of reverence and love. "No more shall the war cry sever Or the winding rivers be red, They banish our anger forever When they leave the graves of our dead. Under the sad and the dew, Waiting the Judgment day, Love and tears for the gray, Tears and love for the gray."

Now therefore, I, Louis G. Hughes, Governor of the Territory of Arizona, in view of the day and its purposes, do hereby recommend that the people observe the same in a befitting manner, joining with the surviving members of the Grand Army of the Republic in their memorial service, and in strewing flowers on the graves of their departed comrades; thus encouraging reflection on the duties of patriots in time of the country's peril, and animate the spirit of charity and reconciliation in time of peace, that every section of our country may be "one and inseparable."

Done at Phenix, the Capital, this 15th day of May, in the Year of Our Lord, 1896. By the Governor, L. C. HUGHES, C. M. BACCE, Secretary of Arizona.

A GOOD TOWN.

A Remarkable Display of Patriotism and Enterprise for a Small City.

The fact that a town the size of Prescott has raised $5,000 by private subscription in three days for a Fourth of July celebration speaks well for Prescott. Most of this money was voluntarily subscribed in a few hours from the time the committee started out. Nothing now remains but the arrangement of program, apportionment of prizes and preparation to receive and entertain visitors. The business men of Prescott are awake, and as a result they will built a city. Phenix might go to the Fourth of July and learn something.—Phenix Saturday Review.

Some time since the JOURNAL-MINER made mention of a new enterprise, under way at Temple Bar, on the Colorado river, whereby the current of the river will be used to run pumps to force water up to wash gravel beds with. The Mohave Miner has the following to say concerning this enterprise: "W. G. Rifenburg and J. W. Downes came in from Temple Bar Wednesday evening. Mr. Downes is exhibiting a nice lot of coarse gold from the placer ground owned by the company. The gold was taken out with a dry washer and shows the ground to be very rich. The hydraulic machinery will be in place and ready for work in about six weeks. There is about seven hundred acres of placer ground now located, and a great deal more will be taken up in a short time. No place in the United States gives promise of a brighter future than Temple Bar, and before many months roll by, we expect to see quite a rush to that place."

Letters of inquiry are coming in daily now to the Fourth of July committee asking in regard to the various events to come off during the week. There promises to be a good attendance of race horses.
