BEAUTIFY THE TOWN.

This is the time of year when the sower goes forth to sow. If you have a lawn that is dotted with brick bats, tin cans, rocks, etc., dig it up, rake it off, smooth it down, clean it out and seed it down with grass, plant flowers and trees and thus not only greatly improve your own home and enhance its value, and at a very little cost, but help to improve the looks of our beautiful little city. With the improved water system at very small outlay on each and some labor, and by each one taking hold and doing his part, many places that heretofore have been barren and desolate looking, could be made to blossom and bloom. There is nothing that so much impresses a stranger as he walks around and looks at the town as to see good side-walks, good fences, painted houses and green lawns, and how as the new era dawns for the greater Prescott let all our citizens catch the spirit of growth and improvement and push the good work in every line.

A VALUABLE PRESENT.

The public schools of Prescott are in receipt of a very novel as well as instructive present from James Pauline, manager of the Spool Cotton company of San Francisco, in the form of what is called a "process" case. This case contains samples of the material from which needles, spoons and thread are manufactured in every stage of the manufacture from the raw cotton, wool and wire to the finished thread in all colors, in shapes and sizes, the spool ready to be filled and the needle ready for the deft fingers of the seamstress, and gives a splendid idea of just how the work of producing these articles is done.

Mr. Pauline is a uncle of Miss Strang, who is a teacher in one of the valuable present was secured for the schools through her.

ENTERPRISE COMPLIMENTED.

The Journal-Miner has been the recipient of very many compliments on its improved appearance of late, and on account of the increased amount of its reading matter, all of which have been made possible by the use of its new linotype. Of course these kindly expressions are not only highly appreciated, but are also very encouraging. If friends of the paper will each constitute himself a committee of one to get some neighbor to subscribe for it this would enable us to make still further improvements.

Another way of benefiting it would be to send us any item of news which would be of interest. If you have a friend visiting with you let the paper know of it or if anything occurs which would be interesting to others apprise us of the fact.

The Tammany officials of New York are availing each other of disloyalty. When gentlemen of that character fail to agree the taxpayer generally gets his due.

AN EYE SORE TO PROGRESS.

The charred remains of the little frame building formerly occupied by the Chicago Bargain store, on Cortez street, which was partially destroyed by fire some weeks ago, should either be repaired or torn down and removed, as it is an eye sore to strangers as well as every body else, and one of the first things that presents itself when they arrive in the city and start up-town. The spirit of improvement and enterprise has fastened itself upon the property owners on Cortez street and that street will undoubtedly soon be lined on both sides with nice substantial business blocks, and the little shacks should be cleared away and give room for more valuable improvements.

SYMPATHY FOR HULL.

The Jerome News says that "There are many expressions of sympathy in the county for the Hon. G. W. Hull on account of his arrest in the east on a charge of perjury. The honorable gentleman has many friends in this territory who believe that when the time comes he will be able to clear himself from the charge upon which he was arrested."

SHE WAS A HUSTLER.

A young woman came up from Phoenix yesterday morning's train to get employment as cook in a private family. She was very bright and handsome, and applied to a local employment office for a position. She was given the names of three parties, who wanted help, and she visited each of the places and engaged to work for each of them, promising to return in the afternoon, just as soon as she could get her baggage from the depot. When the south bound train arrived she boarded it and returned to Phoenix, leaving three women in suspense awaiting her return to work.

CLOSING AROUND THE BORES.

London, April 18.—News from Robert's morning shows that the British are closing in on the Boers at Wepener. Their scouts report that the British are advancing on these places to the relief of Wepener and the burghers consequently are divided whether to remain or to retire. The majority of them desire to abandon the investment of Wepener.

A band of five Wyoming outlaws and train robbers passed through Arizona recently bound for old Mexico and left a bloody trail behind them. In Apache county they murdered Frank Lashour and Gus Gibbons, and in Coconino county killed George Scarborough. If Billy Siles, Bert Alvord and Brojo John join this gang they will add considerably to the toughness of the outfit.—Florence Tribune.

THE HOUSTON POST CELEBRATED ITS FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY RECENTLY BY ISSUING AN EDITION OF SIXTY EIGHT PAGES.

It was an issue which would do credit to a city several times the size of Houston. Prominent among the special articles was one giving sketches and portraits of some of the leading members of the trans-Mississippi congress. Some of the regular news features were omitted and many new ones were added. The anniversary number of the Post was one the publishers have good reason to be proud of.

WOMEN AND DRESS.

A Few Unpleasant Observations by a Man Who Thinks He Knows Something About It.

Authorities say there are more women than men in the world. Also, there are more varieties. Every woman is a different variety—in fact, but two are chief, those who know how to dress and those who don't.

A gentleman is defined as one who is superior to his clothes, but the lady is known by them. Lady, therefore, is the first of the above-named two varieties.

Now it does not follow that a lady is one who is given to wearing gay gowns and giddy garments. Fine feathers may make fine ladies, but a crowd would look awkward with peacock's tail.

The demure little lady with the pale complexion and dark lippid eyes and such a general air of sugar and simplicity knows that a plain gown of black or gray is just the thing she needs to complete the picture. Her frock will be plain to plainfulness—on another girl —but she knows what suits her. If she can only get one of those chuck-me-under-the-chin bonnets and look up inquiringly from beneath its brim she knows the picture is perfect.

By the way, what dog she inquires when she gives this glance? It may be, as Mr. Gilbert said, that she is wondering what on earth this world can be, but the chances are that she is silently and innocently inquiring if she isn't the sweetest thing in sight.

There are women who should always wear light and feathery, airy-fairy, purr creations in costume. These are usually the tall or medium-sized, willowy, blond type. Frills and furberlows are to them what fleecy clouds are to a summer sky.

As for the tailor-made girl, she is all right in the daylight, but not after dark.

Women are never vain. The one who stands half an hour before a mirror is merely looking for a chance to improve her appearance. She is never satisfied with herself five minutes at a time, and surely that is not vanity. Women are merely jealous or patronizing or covetous.

There are some women who can tell a dear sister that her dress or bonnet is a dream and then describe it as a freak to another, but that comes from envy. It all depends upon one's point of view.

There may be a little deceit in it, but what is more natural than to look up at a dress which is employed in the woman's department of a store. The average man looks for effects. A big hat may catch his eye, but he generally is critical as to what is beneath it. A flashy waist may stir his attention, but his remarks may not always be commendatory. If the chief aim or woman is to get a husband a knowledge of this is of considerable moment.

Now, that is what catches the average man. He does not go into the details of dress unless he is employed in the woman's department of a store. The average man looks for effects. A big hat may catch his eye, but he generally is critical as to what is beneath it. A flashy waist may stir his attention, but his remarks may not always be commendatory. If the chief aim or woman is to get a husband a knowledge of this is of considerable moment.

But then it isn't the clothes that make the woman any more than the man. Now, there's the woman's woman—two kinds of her, in fact, the one they get and the one they worship. The first is of the confiding sort, about whom everyone remarks: "Isn't she just the dearest little thing?" for she has a trick of smuggling her way into the affections of all women that they prefer her company to a man's—sometimes.

The other is the kind that invites confidence. She is usually of the large-minded type of whom all women must stand in awe. They do it as women do almost everything, intuitively. And then there is the "motherly" woman, whom women worship more devotedly.

The average man when he meets these types has his well-defined ideas knocked askew. He is even more vague than ever on the clothes question then. As I said before, he only gets general impressions, but there are times when even his well-planned ideas fall him. Incidentally he has planned them all by the last woman he has met. Of course, they are shattered when he meets the next one. When he begins to think it over he finds, as a general rule, that the maxim stands true; there are only two kinds of women—those who know how to dress and those who don't.—Home Life.

An Inexhaustible Subject.

Dr. Lewis James, one of the leaders of the Greenacre Chautauque in Maine, besides being a scholar is a good deal of a wit. Meeting a friend who was attending the recent summer session of the famous institution, he asked how he was enjoying himself. "Excellent, until yesterday," was the reply, "when I heard Prof. X—" "Didn't he lecture well?" asked the doctor. "Not at all," answered his friend, "the simply told us what he didn't know." "Ah!" queried the doctor, "then he is still talking?"—San Francisco Wave.

Those Inquisitive Youngsters.

"Papa, you took the scientific course in college, didn't you?" "Yes, dear; I spent two years on science."

"When you look in a mirror the left side of your face appears to be the right side, and the right side seems to be the left. The looking glass reverses it, doesn't it?"

"Yes."

"Then why doesn't it reverse the top and bottom of your face in the same way?"

"Why—er—ah!"—Trained Motherhood.

Governor Mendenhall of Indiana, refuses to recognize a resolution from "Gax-er" Beckham, of Kentucky, for the return of Charles Flavel, ex-secretary of state, indicted for embezzlement in the Goebel assassination.

The British finding the Boers near Warentona 1,300 and 1,000 new trenches, exploded some lydbite shells, following this up with Maxims. The enemy's advance was markedly observed on the spot.

United States Minister Irwin at Lisbon has reported to the department of state that the Portuguese government has made all necessary arrangements for the payment of the judgment in the case of $5,000 on account of the award of the Belmont bay arbitration.

A prominent democrat has written a letter to Admiral Dewey asking him to explain in a public letter whether he intends to go before the democratic convention as an avowed candidate. If he will stand by any platform adopted by the democratic convention, and if he will support the nominee of the convention provided he is not himself the nominee. He asks that his letter and Dewey's answer be given to the press.

Republican Territorial Convention. Tucson, Ariz., March 25, 1900. The republicans of the territory of Arizona are hereby called to meet in delegate convention, in the city of Phoenix, on MONDAY, APRIL 30th, 1900, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing six delegates and six alternates to attend and represent said territory at the National Republican convention, to be held in the city of Philadelphia, on June 19, 1900, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before said convention.

The basis of representation of the several counties in said convention will be one delegate for every 500 votes cast at the last general election for Alex O. Brodie, for delegate to congress, and one additional delegate for each fraction over 25. Such delegates shall be chosen not less than three days before the assembling of said territorial convention, either by primary election, or in such other manner as the county republican central committees of the respective counties may determine.

Upon the foregoing basis, the apportionment will be as follows:

Blood Troubles: Cancer, Scrofula, Old Sores, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, Chronic Ulcers.

As the blood contains all the elements necessary to sustain life, it is important that it be kept free of all impurities, or it becomes a source of disease, poisoning instead of nourishing the body, and loss of health is sure to follow. Some poisons enter the blood from without, through the skin by absorption, or inoculation; others from within, as when waste products accumulate in the system and ferment, allowing disease germs to develop and be taken into the circulation. While all blood troubles have one common origin, each has some peculiarity to distinguish it from the other. Contagious Blood Poison, Scrofula, Cancer, Rheumatism, Eczema and other blood diseases can be distinguished by a certain sore, ulcer, eruption or inflammation appearing on the skin. Every blood disease shows sooner or later on the outside and on the weakest part of the body, or where it finds the least resistance. Many mistake the sore or outward sign for the real disease, and attempt a cure by the use of salves, liniments and other external applications. Valuable time is lost and no permanent benefit derived from such treatment.

BLOOD TROUBLES REQUIRE BLOOD REMEDIES; the poison must be completely and permanently eradicated—the blood reinforced, purified and cleansed, or the disease goes deeper and saps the very life. Mercury, potash and arsenic, the treatment usually prescribed in this class of diseases, are violent poisons, even when taken in small doses—never cure, but do much harm by adding another poison to the already overburdened, diseased blood.

S. S. S., Nature's own remedy, made of roots and herbs, attacks the disease in the blood, antidotes and forces out all impurities, makes weak, thin blood rich, strong and healthy, and at the same time builds up the general health. S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and the only one that can reach deep-seated blood troubles. A record of 50 years of successful cures proves it to be a reliable, unfailing specific for all blood and skin troubles.

Free Medical Treatment.—Our Medical Department is in charge of skilled physicians, who have made blood and skin diseases a life study, so if you have Contagious Blood Poison, Cancer, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Eczema, an Old Sore or Ulcer, or any similar blood trouble, write them fully for advice about your case. All correspondence is conducted in strictest confidence. We make no charge for this service. Book on blood and skin diseases free. SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.
