The eyes of all Southern Illinois are now turned toward Carbondale.—[Carbondale, Illinois.]

Quit "outing up," then, and Southern Illinois will quit watching you.

SAM FRANKLIN has espoused the waning cause of Bill Anderson. Among the many who are congratulating Judge Marshall, on this score, we beg to be numbered.

MR. GREGORY B. LONGSTAFF, of Mound City, is the newly elected Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of the State of Illinois.—[Peoria Democrat.]

Beg your pardon, Mr. Dowdall. We have a very vivid impression that George E. Lonsberry, of Cairo, is the man.

The question: "Shall township organization be abandoned?" will form an issue at the coming election in Johnson county. The Vienna Yeoman shows that the expenses of the county under township are less than they were under the old system. The experience of other counties, however, has been directly the reverse.

THE SOUTHERN ILLINOISIAN is the name of a medical weekly which made its first appearance in Carbondale, last Wednesday. It is, excepting our own, the newest paper, typographically, published in Southern Illinois. The editorials are sharp, pungent, stinging. Sam Barton—aided and abetted by the ubiquitous and invincible John, is the editor.

THE SOUTHERN ILLINOISIAN, the new Carbondale paper, hoists the name of Col. Claiborne Winston for the Legislature, in connection with those of Thorp and Incester. This is magnanimous—the manifestation of a willingness to concede a number to each of the three counties—to yield unto Caesar "his things," etc.

OUR correspondence from Montgomery, honestly portrays the whys and wherefores of the alleged disturbances in Alabama. The writer is an Illinoisian, known to prominent citizens of Cairo as an honest man, and a non-partisan. He knows whereof he speaks; and can verify every statement. We invite a careful perusal of his letter, especially by those who would know the origin and purpose of the much-talked-of "outrages" in Alabama.

SAMUEL GLASSFORD is fairly in the field, in 51st district, as a candidate for the State Senate. The efforts of Kuykendall and the other old boys who, from time immemorial have sought to control the politics of Johnson county, failed to get him off the track; and now look out for a warm canvass. Glassford is popular, and his friends are active. Ferrill amounts to nothing on the stump; but among the cob-pipe smokers; the log-rolling, house-raising, corn-shucking savages, he is inimitable and invincible.

BARTON says that Hartzell's horn-blowers, THE BULLETIN and Gazette, have labored industriously to "rally the boys," but the boys won't rally worth a cent. Our very cautious and exact contemporary forgots, most likely, that the largest and most enthusiastic meeting of the campaign was that held by the Opposition in this city two weeks ago. That was the rallying signal that awakened the Mound City boys, the Metropolis and Pope county boys—the blast, in fact, was heard all over the district. The multiplied echoes we now hear are music to Hartzell's ears; but doleful sounds in the ears of those who cling to Clements—the "willie" little cuss" who is unwilling to openly and boldly declare his position on the Civil Rights bill.

THE DEMOCRACY of the 19th Congressional district is gathering strength for a vigorous battle on the 3rd prox. Marshall, the Democratic nominee for Congress, is manifestly determined that, if he fails at all, he will fail with his face to the foe. Witness the contemplated demonstration at Equality next Monday week. Prominent features of the programme are these: A regular old-fashioned barbecue—roasted hogs, hogs, calves—an outdoor table—cider and ginger-bread—speeches from Governor Palmer, Judge Allen, Sam Marshall, Joel G. Morgan—all without money and without price. The Democracy of Gallatin promise to be there in such force as to show Bolters, Radicals—all who seek to overthrow the Democratic party in the 19th district, and Sam Marshall with it, that the army that will meet them at Phillippi may be "too many for them."

MILLINERY, TRIMMING and FANCY STORE—Miss Burnside desires to call the attention of the ladies to her full and complete line of millinery and fancy goods just opened in the Athenaeum building on Commercial avenue. Her stock consists of a full assortment of fall hats, java canvas and patterns, a full line of zephyrs, all colors, feathers, French flowers, ribbons, and a general assortment of fancy articles, such as are kept in a millinery store. 321-10-7-1m

JOE HONERER is now in full control of the Washington bakery, and having learned the wants of the public, is prepared to supply on call all demands for French loaf, Boston, Brown and Graham bread, and everything else ordinarily found in a first-class bakery. He maintains a full stock of confectioneries, and can, as well as any other dealer in the city, fill all orders in that line.

An Honest Showing by a Northern Man.

Southern Outrages.

THE KIND AND THE CAUSE.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 12.

EDITOR CAIRO BULLETIN.—Having business in this State, I left Cairo on the 26th of Sept., and arrived in this ex-capital of the Southern Confederacy on the 24th.

Being a resident citizen of Illinois, and having heard so much, especially recently, of the condition of the South, I have concluded to let you know how that condition strikes one while in its midst, in contrast to the impressions made while at home by unauthenticated and sensational reports in many Northern papers, from their professional correspondents. Being entirely free from political prejudice and bias of any character whatsoever, I will endeavor to give you the true state of facts as they exist, and as seen, and not as they are reported.

Having formed an opinion of affairs in this state from sensational reports, such as L. M. Jay's letter from this place to the Washington Chronicle, and the celebrated letter of Congressman Case, of this state, to Gov. Hawley, of Connecticut, besides many others of similar character and import, published in different Republican papers, I was prepared to witness on my arrival here the most terrible condition of affairs, socially and politically.

As a man from the North, I expected to receive a harsh welcome. I expected to find the negroes in a state of terror, and the recipients of all kind of ill treatment and brutality. I expected to see Republicans maltreated, insulted, and persecuted for their political opinions. I expected to find society in a miserable chaotic confusion; and terrorism and despair reigning supreme throughout this once rich and prosperous sunny clime. In behalf of truth, I am constrained to say that Alabama is grossly slandered by unfounded and false reports.

The exaggerations of outrages, and the unblushing lies manufactured for political purposes, and sent north for publication, by which the truth is perverted and a great and law-abiding state seriously injured in all its material interests, is, to use the mildest term, a disgrace to journalism and the civilization of which we so proudly boast.

Since my arrival here I have conversed freely with men of both political parties, and have observed closely, and I find the disposition, especially among the Democrats, to treat all immigrants and visitors from the North with kindness and respect, and are anxious to have men of capital come among them and help develop the exhausted resources of the State. They also extend a hearty welcome to men without means, but with energy and enterprise. Honest men who come here to help build up the material interests of the state, will receive a welcome, hearty and honest, not to be exceeded by any community or State in the Union, North or South. But Northern men of the carpet-bag stripe, who come here to ride into office on the backs of the negroes, and who, to accomplish that unworthy object, resort to all kinds of artifices and dishonest means, such as inflaming the passions of the negroes against the whites, creating an unnatural distrust and prejudice, thereby disturbing and destroying the mutual confidence and dependence that should and would exist between the negroes; but for the malicious interference of these carpet-baggers, these men, I say, are not received kindly, nor are these much abused people to be blamed for ostracizing that class of wicked interlopers.

The many outrages that are reported, dissolve before a fair and impartial investigation like the mist before the sun; and those that do really occur are traceable to the mischievous teachings of designing Radical politicians.

The murder of Billings, in Sumpter county, about which there has been so much said in the Northern press, is now confidently believed to have been perpetrated by the two negroes who testified against the three white men, who were arrested and carried to Mobile in chains, and who, on their trial, proved a complete alibi by many respectable witnesses, both white and black. Some very strong circumstances connect them with the deed, which will be rigidly worked up. And yet this "outrage" has been circulated in every county in every Northern State, where an election is to take place this fall, as an evidence of the persecution visited on Republicans by the klu-klux Democracy. It is true Billings was murdered. It is also true he was a Republican; but there are grave doubts in the minds of all honest men as to whether he was killed by Democrats or by the two negro witnesses, at the investigation of some white Radicals, who are strongly suspected by both Democrats and Republicans, and not without strong grounds.

Ivey, a colored mail agent, was murdered in Sumpter county while in the discharge of his duty; but who the outlaws were that committed the deed is unknown. No clue, as yet, to the perpetrators. Or it may have been done by Democrats; or it may have been done by some rival enemies. Yet, notwithstanding the uncertainty that veils this vile deed, I see that it has been heralded all over the North as another evidence of klu-kluxism and Democratic intimidation and murder.

The Democratic press of this city, and, indeed, of the whole State, are outspoken and severe in its denunciation of these two and all acts of lawlessness whatsoever.

The Montgomery Advertiser, the acknowledged organ of the Democratic party of this State, has never failed to denounce crime and lawlessness wherever or however committed; and has, in every instance in which crime has been committed, whether negroes or whites were accused, called on the Governor, in the name of the people, to use his power and authority to vindicate the law.

Just here let me state that I am informed that, notwithstanding the many reports of outrages in the State, the Governor has never, to judge by his acts, put enough credence in the reports to remain at his post at the capital. He has been absent from here since the last of August, engaged in canvassing North Alabama, he having been renominated for Governor by the convention held in this city about two months ago.

To sum up the reported outrages that have been so industriously circulated north, principally by the celebrated letter writer, Charles Hays. After a thorough investigation, the two murders, Billings and Ivey, appear to be the only stock in trade. Proofs and affidavits of respectable and responsible citizens of both political parties have shown all other reports of outrages to be base lies, manufactured for political purposes, doubtless under special instructions. As to lawlessness and intimidation, let me tell you how matters are in this (Montgomery) county. I confess I was never more astonished in my life to find that, in a place where reports alleged crime and intimidation practiced on the poor negroes by klu-klux Democrats, the negroes and white Republicans were the real klu-klux and intimidators. The Republicans have a majority of 4,500 in this county, and have a split in their party, with two tickets in the field. The animosity existing between these two factions is far greater than that between the Republican and Democratic party. The Democrats have no ticket out for county offices, as they could not elect it, even with a split in the Republican ranks. They therefore hold aloof and let the negroes and their white allies fight it out. And now the scenes that almost daily occur between these Radical factions are so perfectly ridiculous and lawless, that it is necessary to be seen to be believed. I will give two or three instances of the many of their doings.

The two factions have their meetings in the different beats in the county, nearly every night; and to show strength is what they conceive is necessary to win the negro. Their tactics, therefore, are to break up each other's meetings, and in the face of law, enforcement acts, or what else, they go resolutely to work. At Mr. Moriah, a few days ago, while one faction was holding a quiet meeting, a large number of the opposing faction suddenly appeared and charged them; and after a considerable fight, the attacking party drove them off and became masters of the field.

Still later, about ten days ago, the same faction tried the same game on the other, at Wilson's station, in this county. They made the attack while one of the speakers was on the stand speaking. They cursed and insulted the speaker in every conceivable way, and finally pulled down the stand from under him, when a general melee ensued, resulting in one negro being instantly killed, and black eyes, smashed noses, &c., and a scattering generally. Last night a meeting was announced to take place at Old Elm, about five miles from the city, by one of the wings. Shortly after the speaking commenced they were interrupted as usual; a general fight commenced, a number of pistols fired (negroes here all go armed), knives, bludgeons, &c., were freely used. No very serious damage is reported this morning.

Knots of negroes can be seen all over the city—some cursing because their side was whipped out; others boasting what a neat job they made of it. Both of these factions of the Republican party are composed of nine-tenths negroes and one-tenth white men (office-seekers). The large majority of the negroes are ignorant, superstitious, full of prejudice, and predisposed to idleness and lawlessness. The city is crowded with hundreds of them out of employment, but kept in town by the candidates until after the election, when they are sent adrift to care for themselves.

The white people, all of whom, except the office-seekers, are Democrats, have nothing to do with the disgusting political squabble for county offices. They never go about their meetings, but conduct themselves in a quiet manner, attending to different avocations. There has been at least one hundred clear violations of the enforcement acts committed by the negroes and their white allies, in this county; but, of course, it is not in the Radical tactics to let the world know about it, and the Democrats, who compose the respectable portion of the population, look upon the disgusting scenes with such contempt that they will have nothing to do with them, not even to prosecute. In fact, their sympathy is with the deluded negro; but the influence of the scawlaw and carpet-bagger is so great that the white man is powerless to do them any good, by instruction or advice.

No fair man, however prejudiced he may have been against the South, can come among its people and see for himself, without being convinced that a mighty wrong has been heaped upon them; and I further declare that no honest Northern man can come here and affiliate with the Republican party.

The Republican party in the South and the Republican North, in all essential principles, are as different as day is from night.

What I have written is the result of an impartial and unprejudiced view of affairs as they are seen while among them. I have no political prejudice, and in my heart I have a deep sympathy for the oppressed people of the South—a sympathy engendered since I have come among them, and have been an eye witness to the wrongs and slanders heaped upon them. Unless a different policy is pursued by the general government towards the South, a great and powerful section of this country will be paralyzed and lost to us, with serious loss to our political power and commercial interests.

I pray God that charity and wisdom, and not hatred and revenge, may guide the government in its future policy towards this fair, sunny land.
