The papers generally speak of Ben Hill's latest effort as an enigma on himself. Ben is good at blowing his own horn.

HON. THEODORE M. POMEROY is mentioned as the probable Republican candidate for Governor of New York, this fall.

WADE HAMPSON has been interviewed and says he wants no Southern man on the next Democratic ticket for the Presidency.

GEN. EWING appears to have succeeded admirably in bottling up Jongee Thompson, but Foster will bottle him up next October.

PROCTOR KNOTT's remarkable anti-vice proclamation suggests that the Democratic majority in Congress are trying to crawl out of their trouble through a very small "knot" hole.

From present indications there will be a large attendance at the commencement exercises of the University this week. The alumni of the institutions will be more largely represented than ever before. It will be a very interesting occasion. The railroads sell excursion tickets to persons desiring to attend. We welcome all, and hope to see persons here from all parts of the State to encourage the State University by their presence. Gov. Marks will be here, and we learn that Gov. Cobb, of Alabama, an alumnus of the institution, is also expected.

Alumni Meeting.
At a meeting of the Alumni of the University of Tennessee yesterday morning, several prominent members of the Board of Trustees being present, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted, viz:

WHEREAS, The Board of Trustees of the University will soon be called upon to elect an assistant or adjunct Professor of Mathematics, and perhaps fill other chairs in the University; and

WHEREAS, There is a number of the Alumni of the University in this and other States fully competent to take charge of any department in the institution;

Resolved, That we respectfully but earnestly urge upon the Trustees the propriety and justice of greater consideration for the claims of these gentlemen than has heretofore been given them.

It was also moved that a copy of the above resolution should be sent to the President of the Board, and that he be requested to read the same before the Board at its next business meeting.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14.

The morning hour having expired, the Mississippi Improvement Commission bill went over.

The Senate took up and considered in Committee of the Whole the supplemental Judicial Appropriation bill. Mr. Wallace explained the bill.

The Army Appropriation bill was reported back from the Committee on Appropriations with sundry amendments and placed on the calendar.

The Senate took up the Mississippi River Commission bill.

A long debate was had over the section relating to the method of drawing jurors and repealing the test oath, the points raised being substantially those discussed on the Bayard bill, lately passed, containing the same provisions.

Mr. Wallace, having charge of the bill, said he did not wish to force a long session to-night, and suggested the vote be taken at 1 o'clock Monday.

Mr. Conkling was opposed to the naming of an hour for closing the debate. There was no disposition to talk for the purpose of delay, but the debate should not be limited.

The debate on the jury clause was renewed. The Democratic argument was that while the present law provides that jurors in the United States Courts are to be chosen, as far as practicable, in the same manner as in the highest courts of the States, Federal Judges take advantage of the exception, "as far as practicable," to make the rules of the court on the subject to suit their own views, and Judge Bond was especially spoken of as one who invariably chose Republican jury commissioners, under his rule of the court. The other side argued that any abuse of the discretion rested in them exposed the Judges to impeachment.

At 5:10 the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

The House, as business of the morning hour, resumed consideration of the bill prohibiting political contributions by employes of the Government.

The morning hour was consumed in voting upon dilatory motions and bills relative to political contributions, which went over without action.

Mr. Buckner, chairman of the Banking and Currency committee, reported a bill requiring the reserve of the National Banking Associations to be kept in standard gold and silver coins of the United States in lieu of lawful money. Printed and recommitted.

The House then resumed consideration of the pneumo-pneumonia bill. The bill was recommitted to the committee on Agriculture.

Mr. Herbert, of Alabama, who had charge of the next business in order (Senate bill repealing the test oath) stated that after conversation with certain Republican members he would not press the vote on it to-day, but hoped to obtain a vote Monday.

Senate amendments to the Supplemental Post Route bill were concurred in.

Mr. Young, of Ohio, asked leave to offer a resolution for the appointment of a select committee to inquire into the cause and effect of the recent exodus from the Southern to the Western States.

Mr. Goode, of Virginia, objected on the ground that a committee had that subject already under consideration.

Senate bills, removing the political disabilities of Wm. N. R. Beale, of Missouri, and James S. Harrison, of Virginia, passed.

On motion of Mr. Johnson, of Virginia, the Senate bill, accepting from Prof. Edward Fontaine, of Louisiana, certain maps, &c., relative to the improvement of the Mississippi river, passed.

Adjourned.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The Senate Committee on Appropriations this morning completed the consideration of the Army Appropriation bill, and authorized Mr. Withers to report it back to the Senate with sundry amendments, all of which are merely verbal or otherwise immaterial, except the following: The committee have entirely stricken out the fifth section, which provides that each member of the graduating classes of the Military Academy of 1879 and 1880 may elect to receive $750 and mileage to his place of residence, and thereby become ineligible to appointment in the army, except in the event of war, until two years after graduation, and a clause is inserted in the bill by the committee to repeal the existing law which prohibits any promotion in the Corps of Engineers to fill a vacancy above the rank of Colonel. The sixth section (providing that no money appropriated in this act is appropriated or shall be paid for the subsistence, equipment, transportation or compensation of any portion of the United States to be used as a police force to keep the peace at the polls at any election held within any State) is retained in the bill without any change whatever.

The Committee on Privileges and Elections met this morning, when R. J. Brooks was recalled by agreement of the counsel of Spofford and Kellogg, respectively. In reply to Judge Merrick he said he did not make any affidavit in relation to his participation in the election of Kellogg, and did not state that he received $200 for his vote.

Judge Merrick said his information was that Brooks received such consideration and had made affidavit to that effect before the Notary Public of Lotoche and other persons.

Witness asked—At whose instance did I make affidavit?

Merrick—I don't know. You will have opportunity to ascertain when the sub-committee meet in New Orleans.

Kellogg to witness—Q. Were you a witness before the committee of the Louisiana House of Representatives, which investigated the subject of alleged corruption during my election? A. Yes. The committee held a public session, and I was regularly sworn.

Merrick said his information came from Walker, of New Orleans, that the affidavit, such as he had alluded to, had been made by Brooks, and that it had been mailed to him.

Mr. Kellogg said his only remaining witness was Pierre Mogloire, the Representative referred to in Murray's testimony. Mogloire had traveled one hundred and eighty miles on his way here, but, in view of what the chairman stated yesterday concerning the early closing of the examination, at this point he had telegraphed him not to come. He had read a telegram from Mogloire saying: "The evidence of Murray, regarding me, is false in every particular." The chairman asked what were the wishes of the counsel? After Messrs. Shellabarger and Merrick had stated their views, the chairman said: "We close the testimony at this point for the present."

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Longshoremen who resumed work on the Anchor, Freman, National and Green lines a few days ago at reduced rates struck again yesterday, alleging that the Companies refuse to pay them the extra prices agreed upon for night work. They also demand that the men engaged to fill their places during the strike be discharged, as they are unqualified and make the work harder for others. Steamship agents deny that they gave the strikers to understand that they were to receive extra pay for night work. They assert, also, that the new men will not be discharged, as the agents are under obligations to them. It is believed there will be no delay in the departure of steamers, and that there will be only little annoyance to the companies by reason of this new strike.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 14.—The fire at Point Breeze smoldered all night, but was completely under control. The loss by yesterday's fire is about $100,000, of which $30,000 will fall upon Warden, Fnn & Co., and a like amount upon the Atlantic Storage Company, although the Empire loss falls eventually upon the Standard Oil Company. The loss by both fires is half a million.

MICHIGAN.

DETROIT, June 14.—Manly Stevens, night watchman at Clark's saw mill, on Hunter's Creek, went home at an early hour this morning and found John House there. Suspecting him of criminal intimacy with his wife, he shot him, twice through the head and three times through the chest. He then shot his wife through the head and himself instantly. Mrs. Stevens and House are alive, but cannot recover.

CLOUDLAND HOTEL, June 7, 1879.
MR. EDITOR: Thinking a line from "above the clouds" might be of some interest to your readers, I write briefly. In company with another gentleman I arrived at the "Cloudland Hotel" to-day at one o'clock, p. m. We found the gentlemen and accommodating proprietor, Mr. Searle, and Gen. Wilder busily engaged with a force of hands in laying pipe for the purpose of raising the water from the springs, just below the summit, to the Hotel, and also to the new residence which Gen. Wilder is building for himself.

I had often heard of Roan Mountain, but any description falls far short of conveying anything like a clear conception of the beauty and grandeur of the scene. Standing on the summit, one can see the clouds floating hundreds of feet below him, while the sun is shining brightly from above. Then again the winds will sweep away the clouds hanging around the sides of the mountain and uncover the vast gorges lying beneath which are rarely trodden by the foot of man. The bald grounds are covered with grass, and stock in great numbers and in excellent condition, may be seen grazing on these natural meadows. General Wilder has here a herd of Angora goats. No doubt this would be a very profitable business, as there is no place in America better adapted to the production of grasses than the rich coves around the sides of this mountain.

The air on the top of the mountain is cool and bracing, even in the warmest part of the day, while at night it is necessary to have fires in the rooms. While I am now writing there is a bright, cheerful fire, made from the wood of the balsam fir, blazing on the hearth, and it certainly adds much to the comfort of the room.

If any of the readers of the CHRONICLE wish to visit a place where a beautiful scenery as the eye ever rested upon is spread out before them, and where they can enjoy the pure, fresh and invigorating air, and the coolness of the water, and excellent fare, and every attention to insure their comfort, convenience and pleasure, let them come to Roan Mountain.
