Two New Cases of Yellow Fever Developed in Memphis Yesterday.

YELLOW FEVER.

MEMPHIS, July 17.—Five new cases of yellow fever were reported to the Board of Health this morning. The cases consist of the members of two families named Hester, residing under one roof at numbers 84 and 86 Clay street, in the southern portion of the city.

The new cases of yellow fever are members of the families of Robert and James Hester, two brothers, whose residences are in the same neighborhood as Judge Ray's house. The following persons are prostrated with the disease: Robert Hester and wife, Mrs. James Hester and her two children. Mrs. James Hester has been sick four days. Her children were taken on Tuesday, as were also Robert Hester and his wife. The yellow fever symptoms were not fully developed until this morning, when Mrs. James Hester had black vomit and at noon was dying. The two brothers are river men, James Hester being night watchman on the R. E. Lee wharf boat, and Robert Hester, ship carpenter. There will be another exodus of citizens to-night.

message does not appear. The foregoing is the latest official information from the seat of war. The balance of opinion seems to be in favor of the belief in a speedy peace and the submission of Cetyway. One report which lacks the confirmation, however, even represents that King Cetyway would come forward personally to trial for peace. General Wolseley has instructed Colonel Laneyou not to recommence operations against Secconi, and to retreat his expenditures. Gen. Sir Garnet Wolseley had received instructions to send the Prince Imperial home at the first opportunity. Fort Ch'ensford and Fort Crealock were abandoned so as to enable the troops garrisoning them to join in the advance.

G. AMORY STEVENS.

Movements of the Man who is Pushing the Railroad Suits.

New York Correspondence Philadelphia Record.

The suit of the Tennessee State bondholders against the railroads is being pressed by Mr. C. Amory Stevens, who has charge of the case on the part of the plaintiffs. Mr. S. has been before the Bar Association for three days, and is very hopeful regarding the result, though efforts have been made to dissuade him from the prosecution of the case. He says, however, he will never give it up until beaten in the court of last resort. The railroads take the matter comparatively easy, and appear to dislike more the vexations that usually attend such suits than any fears they have of the result. This is particularly the feeling of Mr. Wilson, who represents several of the roads interested. At the same time the railways are now engaged in taking testimony, so as to meet the case fully equipped. That it may last for years is not unlikely, as it is believed the roads will fight it as long as there is anything to fight. There is nothing on the face of the bonds of Tennessee against the various Tennessee railroads will be heard by Judge Stone, at the request of Judge Swaine, who was to have heard them, but who has gone to Europe.

Tennessee Bonds.

NASHVILLE, TENN., July 15.—Attorneys for holders of Tennessee bonds have filed a bill against the Nashville and Decatur Railroad, praying for an injunction to restrain the Louisville and Nashville and Great Southern Railroad from paying interest on the stock of that road, as they are pledged to do by lease until the case is disposed of. The suits of the Northern holders of Tennessee bonds against the various Tennessee railroads will be heard by Judge Stone, at the request of Judge Swaine, who was to have heard them, but who has gone to Europe.

The Normal School.

CONCORD, July 17.—Mr. Editor: Last night we were favored with another exhibition which so far surpassed anything we have had that we feel that a somewhat detailed account might be of interest. After the opening exercises we had an oration by Mr. W. G. McCall, of the 14th district, on "The effect of education on the destiny of the Nation," which would compare favorably with many speeches we have heard from those who make greater pretensions. The next was a vocal medley, "The Pensive Old Piano," by Mr. J. S. Fowler, which was heartily appreciated and applauded by the audience.

The Old Story.

The morning sunlight looked in through the slits of the curtains, lighting the room as with an angel's smile, and suddenly enveloping the face of its occupant with a strange brightness and transforming her pale brown hair into waves of glistening gold. Said the sunlight: "Maiden, I missed you from the garden where I used to find you every morning, and I came here to seek you. Summer will soon be here with her roses almost as bright as your cheeks. Are you ill?" "O, no!" responded the maiden, warming her thin, bloodless hands in the sunbeams, "only a little weak; I shall soon be out in the garden to greet you—how I should arrange my flowers this year, when you peeped in. Are my things yet?" "Yes, your things are up; I have just been warming them. I have lived you," said the sunlight, as he noticed the wily drooping eyelids; "I will come again to-morrow through the soft rays of the sun, and sit with you, leaving the fast slumberer alone in the gloom. A few hours later the moonlight set a scintillating through the slits of the curtains, which were gently rustling in the night breeze. How colorful and beautiful the light, as she touched the pallid brow, and then gently laid her hand on the pulseless heart. "Died!" she shudderingly whispered, as she withdrew through the softly rustling curtains. How she flatters her victims at morning with hope's honied words, and at evening makes them the prey of the spoiler! Statist! show that one third of mankind die of this disease, and of this, far the greater part are young persons between the ages of fifteen and twenty-five, in the dawn of manhood and womanhood. For many years, consumption was generally believed to be incurable. But medicine in her triumphant march against disease has already added consumption to her list of conquered. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures this deadly disease if reported to in time. For a full consideration of this disease and its rational method of treatment, read the article on Consumption in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, the most reliable popular work upon Physiology, Hygiene, Diseases and their Remedies yet published. Price $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Anderson County Notes.

From Mr. H. T. Cooper, of the Knoxville legal profession, who returned yesterday from attending court at Clinton, we learn that at a called meeting of the County Court of Anderson county, Prof. E. F. Taylor, of Andersonville, was elected Superintendent of Public Instruction for that county instead of H. M. Bonham, who was killed in the recent unfortunate tragedy at Clinton.

Sam. Shippe, the young man concerned in the killing of Bonham is getting along very well with his wound and will likely get well. He is under guard. The other two are still in jail, and no application has yet been made for bail.

Colored Normal School.

MR. EDITOR: Although little has been said about this school, nevertheless it has been carried on efficiently, under the excellent management of Prof. W. P. Hastings, of Maryville. The school opened on July 7th, in the most pleasant and airy school room in Knoxville, with about twenty, but the number has steadily increased until there are now nearly forty on the roll. The school is divided into sections, and each student is detailed to teach each division, thus giving each student an opportunity of teaching as well as of learning.

Lost His Leg by a Thresher.

Horace Keener, son of Joseph Keener, who lives up the river a few miles from Knoxville, while oiling an eight-horse power thresher on the General Brooks farm Thursday, made a misstep and had the ankle of his left leg crushed in a fearful manner by the levers and cog wheels. Dr. J. P. Park, our city physician, was called, and found amputation necessary. He performed the operation successfully, taking the leg off just above the ankle, with the assistance of Dr. McCauley. Young Keener was resting as well as could be expected yesterday at last accounts, and there was every reason to believe that he will get along all right.

A Remarkable Spring.

Between Blue Springs and the residence of Calbreth Self, and about nine miles west of Greeneville, there is a large and bold spring of flowing water, enough to turn a mill, and in fact a short distance below this spring there is a saw mill run by the water flowing from the spring. About two weeks ago without any previous indication of drying up, this spring suddenly ceased to flow. It remained in this condition for twenty-four hours when it again commenced and still continues to flow as before. What is more remarkable, the oldest inhabitants say that sixty years ago, at about this time in the year, the same thing occurred, and of the same length of time. Can this be explained on scientific principles?—New Era.

THE Way Vanderbilt Succeeded.

When Commodore Vanderbilt was running steamboats, he beat all rivals by crowding on steam to the utmost, and even running down his enemy if necessary, to accomplish a triumph. When he went into railroading, he adopted a much shrewder and more successful way, by uniting vast lines and their tributaries under his own management, thus capturing all rivals, by sharing with them the immense pool of profits that were made by his skillful manipulation. Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., accomplish a much greater success in stock operations by their new Combination Method of dealing. By this system the orders of thousands of customers are pooled into one vast sum and co-operated under the most experienced management, thus giving to each shareholder all the benefits of large capital and best skill. Profits divided monthly. Any amount from $5 to $25,000 can be used with great success, $15 will make $75 profit, $80 would return $720 or 9 per cent. on the stock during the month, according to the market. The new circular (mailed free) has "two startling rules for success" and full explanations, so that any one can operate profitably. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. THE New York Tribune observes:

"Now it appears that the yellow fever was brought back to Memphis through the saving graces of a Mrs. Mulbrandon. Some friends of hers died of yellow fever last summer and she inherited their clothes, which she carefully packed away. The germs of the Black Death, as our readers will remember, were introduced into Russia by a shawl which a Cossack soldier brought home to his sweet-heart. In the case of the Mulbrandons, the woman probably was poor, and she could not bring her mind to waste the coat, she put it on her husband, ran the risk, and trusted to luck. He died the next day. Just as American engineers patch the leak in the boiler with lead, to save the expense of a new one, or our city governments leave sewers putrid with decaying garbage, and drain trapezes, out of the same wise economy, knowing that death may take a hand in the game, or not, any minute, just as he pleases. He generally does please, and finishes it. But the money is saved."

THE Cleveland Herald, a staunch Republican and State credit journal, strikes vigorous blows for the fifty-and-four proposition. When wielded a vigorous pen, and when he talks every one knows just what he means. He always talks to the point.
