

45 Years Before the Public.
THE GENUINE
Dr. C. McLANE'S
LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the Liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia, and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

ACQUE AND FEVER.
No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking quinine.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.
The genuine are never sugar-coated. Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression, McLANE'S LIVER PILLS. Each wrapper bears the signatures of McLANE AND FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine Dr. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by FLEMING BROS., Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane's, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

states. The governor elect, Hon. A. G. Porter, made a gallant and able canvass, appealing with irresistible logic to the intelligence and reason of the people. The eloquent voice of Gen. Ben. Harrison was also heard in all parts of the state. The gallant republican leaders were also assisted by Senator Conkling, Secretary Schurz, Senator Blaine, Postmaster-General Maynard and others, who deserve great credit for their unanswerable arguments in favor of a free, honest government. The victory is grand and glorious, and marks a most important epoch in our country's history. And on behalf of southern republicans, we desire to thank Hon. John C. New and his associates, for their patriotic zeal, their steadfast devotion to principle and their manly courage displayed so brilliantly and effectively in this memorable contest. They have proven themselves worthy successors of the invincible Morton. The fruits of their labor will be enjoyed years to come, not only by them and the people of Indiana, but by all the people of this peerless republic.

"CAN'T STAND IT ANY LONGER."

The following extract from a letter written by an insurance man to a gentleman in Nashville, we find published in the American of October 14th:

"You ask me to tell you how I view the political situation. You know I used to be a democrat years ago, but the fact is I am the biggest sort of a staid republican. I advised several of my friends to buy Tennessee bonds several years ago when they were paying their interest, and now they are mighty near worthless, with a better prospect, so far as I can learn, of being worth still less. Several other friends of mine hold Louisiana and North and South Carolina bonds issued before the war, which are repudiated entirely or stand in a fair way of being so—all of which I think nobody questions, is due to the democracy. It is mighty tough for a man who has been raised a democrat to admit these things, but I can't stand it any longer."

There is a world of truth in this paragraph and we thank the American for giving it publicity. It shows in a nut-shell the democratic position on the question of sustaining the public faith. And it shows that business men are beginning to appreciate that party's record on this great question. Everybody knows that the strength of the democratic party lies in the solid south, and every one who knows anything at all about the financial history of the country, knows that the leading politicians have made a bitter and unrelenting fight against sustaining the public faith. We are persuaded that there are thousands of honest business men in the country, who, like this insurance man, have their eyes open to the real situation, and who, like him, "can't stand it any longer." The grand republican victories just achieved in Indiana and Ohio, and the large republican gains in West Virginia, shows that there are thousands there, who "can't stand it any longer."

The Cincinnati Enquirer takes it very hard. In its issue of the 14th inst, it had the following headlines:

Captured—And Carried Into the Enemy's Camp—"Mother Is the Battle Over"—Even the Hoosier State has Gone Glimmering—And the Misguided Republicans Are Apparently Still Fighting—While the Democracy are Hunting—Around for Somebody to Blame It On—A Growing Conviction That the Democrats were Poked by Reason of Too Much English—The Republican Margins is Not Large, But It is Not Do! Democracy "Buck-eyed" in Ohio by About Twenty Thousand Majority—In a Total Vote of Over Seven Hundred Thousand, Being One Vote to Every 3.29 of Population—Which Shows Ohio is Still Ahead. He is the national leader whom the Foot-Than Any Other Nation on Earth—But All is Not Lost, We Get 'Em in Glorious West Virginia by a Large Majority—Which, Let Us Remark in Conclusion, is Glory Enough For a Party Which has Been So Long Out of Mea.

The Cincinnati Enquirer gives three reasons why Indiana went republican. They are such good ones that we must reproduce them. They are:

"First, the prostitution of the supreme court to defeat the will of the people on the constitutional amendments just before the Cincinnati convention. Second, the Cincinnati platform, which was in itself a blunder. The tariff resolution turned every manufacturer in Indiana against the party, because they knew it was the work of a southern man, and that sag being agricultural expected to be benefited by a low tariff or free trade. Third—The failure of the democrats to endorse De La Maty for congress. He is the one national leader whom his people will follow, and he notified the democracy of what they might expect, and did it openly. These are the three reasons why the democracy lost Indiana."

Our young friend Mr. Sam. McKinney has hard work in his canvass. At his appointment at Hardin's valley school house there were present besides himself and 'Square Smith, who was to speak also, two solitary men. Couldn't Sam. canvass the county with McLemore, so that Tommy could draw a crowd for him?

REPUBLICAN RALLY IN ROANE.
A Grand Day at Bethel Church.
Three Hundred Men in Procession on Horseback.
More than One Thousand Persons Present.

Thursday was a grand day for the gallant republicans of Roane, Loudon and Anderson counties. A few weeks ago, at the suggestion of Dr. R. P. Eaton, an appointment was made for speaking at that place, by Hon. J. M. Thornburgh, the editor of the CHRONICLE and others. We left Knoxville Wednesday forenoon, in company with Col. Thornburgh, Mr. A. S. Prosser and Alex. Reeder, Esq. Arriving at Seabro, we found that an appointment had been made that day for us to speak at Seabro that night, which we did, our party dividing and partaking of the hospitality for the night of Henry Holloway, Esq., and Mr. E. Seabro. Speeches were made by each one of the party.

Thursday morning we started for Bethel church, and were met two miles east of that place by a procession on horseback, numbering by actual count, a few over three hundred men. All along the long line, the stars and stripes were displayed, there being more than seventy-five flags in the procession, great and small, some of them very fine ones. The procession was headed by Dr. Eaton and sheriff Foster, of Loudon county, in a buggy, who carried large pictures of Garfield and Arthur, and by a band of music.

The speakers were then escorted to the church, where a stand had been erected and seats provided for the very large audience that had collected. The procession was one of the best arranged and best managed we have ever seen, reflecting great credit upon the efficient corps of marshals that had it in charge.

First, we had an elegant lunch with Capt. Van and his estimable wife, which we were in condition to enjoy. After which the editor of the Chronicle was introduced and made a speech of one hour and thirty minutes, and was complimented with the most respectful attention. He was followed by Mr. Prosser in a thirty minutes speech, who made some good hits that were well appreciated.

Col. Thornburgh was then called upon. When he arose some one proposed "three cheers for the little giant," which were responded to with great enthusiasm. He proceeded then for nearly an hour to discuss political questions. His remarks were interspersed with frequent outbursts of applause. He was cut short, much to the disappointment of the large audience, by a shower of rain. Capt. "Wash Diggs" introduced the speakers, and acted well his part as master of ceremonies.

It was a grand day for the republicans in that locality, and they will roll up a good majority for Garfield and Arthur, Honk and the whole republican ticket.

J. P. Carr, Esq., a prominent lawyer, of Augusta, Ga.: "Tut's Pills have been used in my case (Torpor of the Liver), and in my family, with marked success. I believe them superior in all billary derangements of any pills ever made. It is the only remedy that has, in my experience, proved effectual for nervous headache. They never fail."

Present to Hon. A. A. Taylor.
Memphis Ledger.

Hon. A. A. Taylor has good cause to thank well of West Tennessee and especially of Haywood county. On his last visit there his republican friends made him a present of a splendid saddle mare, which recently took the premium at the Jackson fair. The donors told him that they understood that the people of East Tennessee had generally to move from place to place on horseback or on foot, and that they desired their eloquent representative to both ride and run well. As Mr. Taylor could not reach his appointments in West and Middle Tennessee on horseback, the animal was shipped to Johnson City.

CLARK'S O.N.T. MARK SPPOOL COTTON.

(WOUND ON WHITE SPOOLS)
GEORGE A. CLARK,
SOLE AGENT,
400 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Since the introduction of this Spool Cotton into the American market, its success has been unprecedented. No other brand of thread has ever met with the same amount of public favor in the same space of time.

The "O. N. T." manufacturers were the first to recognize the importance of the Sewing Machine and to make a six-cord cotton, which has ever since been the recognized standard for machines.

All the improvements in machinery that the inventive genius of the nineteenth century has produced have been adapted by the manufacturers of "O. N. T."

At all the great International Fairs of the world, "O. N. T." has been awarded the highest honors.

The "O. N. T." factories at Newark, N. J. and Paisley, Scotland, employ 3,200 operatives—make sufficient thread daily to go around the world four times.

Consume 140 tons of coal daily.

The manufacturers of "O. N. T." are the largest manufacturers of Spool Cotton in the world.

A full assortment of this Spool Cotton can be had at wholesale and retail at
