WASHINGTON.

ANOTHER CAUCUS OF REPUBLICAN SENATORS.

Mr. Frelinghuysen Nominated For Secretary of State.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 10.—The President to-day informed the committee appointed by the Republican caucus of the Virginia Legislature to wait upon him, that on general principles he was always in favor of a Republican, but the coalition for men in Virginia changed the state of affairs there, and he declined to interfere one way or the other.

Mr. McPherson, Clerk of the House of Representatives, to-day promoted John Bailey, late disbursing clerk, to be chief clerk in his office.

WASHINGTON, December 12.—The Republican Senators this morning held a caucus of a very brief duration, at which a report of their committee on the subject of revising the Republican membership of some of the Senate committees, was read, explained and accepted without any controversy. It provides for making Senator Windom chairman of the foreign relations committee; Senator Miller, of California, chairman of the committee on revision of laws; and Senator Sewell, of New York, chairman of the committee on enrolled bills. Senator Windom will also be placed on the committee on patents, education and labor and transportation routes to the seaboard. No comprehensive resolution on the subject will be submitted to the Senate, but various changes will be made from time to time separately. A caucus also this morning adopted a resolution providing for the creation of a Senate committee on the rights of woman. Senator Lapham will be chairman of this committee, with Senators Anthony, Fry and Dawes as its other Republican members.

The Chair submitted a memorandum from the legislature of Minnesota for an appropriation for the improvement of the Mississippi River from St. Anthony's Falls to New Orleans. The paper was read to determine whether it should be referred to a special committee on improvement of the Mississippi as desired by Senator Cockrell, or to committee on commerce as suggested by Senator McMillan. It states the importance, commercially and in point of revenue of the region drained by the Mississippi and its navigable tributaries, which produces 90 per cent of corn, 73 per cent of wheat, 83 per cent of oats, 64 per cent of tobacco, 77 per cent of cotton and 66 per cent of value of the fine stock of the whole country. Referred to the special committee on Mississippi river improvements.

The President has to-day sent to the Senate the nomination of Fred T. Frelinghuysen to be secretary of State.

WASHINGTON, December 12.—The President to-day accepted the resignation of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Upton, to take effect December 31.

The Senate confirmed Frelinghuysen as Secretary of State unanimously, and without discussion.

A lady postmaster was among the nominations sent to-day.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, December 12.—Senator Hampton appeared in his seat for the first time this session.

A communication was received from the Secretary of War, transmitting the reports relative to the proposed building for a pension office in Washington. Referred to the committee on appropriations.

Bills and petitions were introduced and referred to appropriate committees, as follows:

Senators Edmunds and Hampton: Petitions for the abolition of the tax on bank checks.

Senator Miller: California, To ascertain and report the losses to citizens of Arizona from Indian depredations.

Senator Sawyer: Re-establishing the Court of Commissioners of the Alabama Claims, and the distribution of unappropriated balance of the Geneva award.

By Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania: For the relief of the officers and crew of the steamer Mohawk, which participated in the action against the ram Merrimack in 1862.

By Senator Harrison: For the delivery to the society of the Army of the Cumberland condemned cannon not to aid in the erection of a statue for Gen. Garfield.

By Senator Jones: That the Secretary of War grant the temporary use of the United States barracks at Baton Rouge to the State institution for the blind.

By Senator Butler: Making an appropriation for continuing the improvements of Charleston harbor. Also, appropriating a portion of the proceeds of the sale of public lands for educational purposes.

By Senator Morgan: A request granting the right of way over public lands in Alabama, and granting the Chicago Air Line Railway Company the privilege of use of the same.

Senator Pugh submitted a resolution upon which he said as it related to a matter of great national importance, he would ask for prompt action. He requested the President to communicate to the Senate, if not incompatible with the instructions sent to our Minister in London, in regard to the modification of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. The resolution, to read, as modified at a suggestion of Senator Edmunds, "It is his opinion, it was not incompatible," &c.

It was agreed to without discussion.

GUITEAU

Introduces a Horse Doctor to Prove his Insanity.

Some One Creates a Sensation in Court.

The Jailor Warned Against a Dynamite Explosion.

WASHINGTON, December 12.—In the Guiteau trial this morning Dr. Spitzka, of New York, testified that he examined Guiteau yesterday and was satisfied that he is insane. Cross examination was quite pointedly directed to the witness's practice and standing as an expert, and enquiries were made as to witness's position as a professor at the veterinary school.

Scoville objected to the questions as not pertinent.

Davidge replied.—The attainments of this witness have been paraded by the counsel on the other side, and we think it decidedly pertinent to the cause to discover what opportunities for professional acquirements witness has enjoyed.

Scoville noted the exception.

Witness had no reason to feel ashamed of his sphere of duty in that connection. The branch of inquiry pursued by him, had also engaged the attention of Cuvier and other noted scientists.

Dr. Davidge.—"Yes." "But your treatment at that time must have been confined mostly to horses, and these gentlemen, then, are what are known as horse doctors, are they not?"

Witness (reddening and with some excitement).—"My treatment has been confined to asses; when an ass with two legs asks me a stupid question I endeavor to treat him as he deserves." (General laughter at the expense of counsel.)

Without concluding the cross-examination, recess was taken for an hour.

After recess Dr. Spitzka again took the stand. Before he had a chance to speak, Guiteau broke out with the statement that "there are a good many people dogs in the newspaper business, and I won't express my utter contempt for poodle dogs. I am going to notify the jury that the lighted press are saying that it would be a stain on the American people to hang a man in my condition." As he concluded some person in the crowd shouted, "Shoot him now," causing great excitement, but the party offering the suggestion could not be found and the excitement subsided.

Spitzka testified to the belief that Guiteau was born insane. Spitzka was still on the stand when the court adjourned.

Warden Crocker has received several anonymous letters advising him to remove everybody else from the wing of the prison where Guiteau is confined, so that in event of a dynamite explosion, no one but Guiteau may be hurt.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1875 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went round that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I got a bottle, when, to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better, and today I feel in better spirits than I have in the past three years.

"I write this hoping every one afflicted with Disordered Lungs, or Consumption, will try Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED." Sold by druggists.

A Horrible Death.

An old man named Higgins from Bristol, Tennessee, met a horrible death near Dalton, on the Selma, Rome and Dalton railroad, on Tuesday. The Western and Atlantic and the Selma, Rome and Dalton tracks run parallel out of Dalton for nearly six miles, and are informed that it is the rule for the engineers of the respective trains to race, and that sometimes they race at a fearful rate of speed. Our informant is that the trains were having their usual race on Tuesday, and the Western and Atlantic train was several car-lengths ahead of the Selma train, when Higgins, who was on the Western and Atlantic track, stepped the train, and, seeing no other train, stepped aside to the Selma track, but hardly had he reached it when the train came thundering along and struck him with such force that his body was thrown over the smoke-stack and mangled into small bits. The coroner's jury returned a verdict exculpating employees of the road from any blame, as the accident was unavoidable.

He will remain a few hours in Lynchburg, and go thence to Knoxville, spending Tuesday morning in that city.
