

THE FUTURE LIFE.

BY WM. CULLEN BRYAN. How shall I know thee in the sphere which keeps The disembodied spirits of the dead...

Will not my own meek heart demand in these That heart whose fondest throbs to me were given.

The love that lived through all the stormy past, And meekly with my harsher nature bore...

A happier lot than mine, and larger light, Await thee there; for thou hast bowed thy will In cheerful homage to the rule of right.

Yet though thou wear'st the glory of the sky, Wilt thou not keep the same beloved name...

Shalt thou not teach me, in that calmer home, The wisdom that I learned so ill in this— The wisdom which is love—till I become Thy fit companion in that land of bliss.

Knoxville Iron Co.'s Nails. We are pleased to learn that the demand for Company's nails has increased so that they have been obliged to put in additional machines, to enable them to supply the trade.

War News. The dispatches yesterday, excited Gay street somewhat, especially those citizens of foreign birth. Though some of the reported military movements lack official confirmation, yet as a change from the past two weeks of inactivity, it was welcomed.

Gen. Mabry's "Helmet." At the Nashville races on Thursday, Gen. Mabry's coat helmet, was entered for a purse of $500, dash of two miles, against Jennie June, Barney Williams and Charlotte. Jennie June won the dash by half a dozen lengths, Charlotte second, and Barney and Helmet pretty close together in the rear.

An Example Worth Imitating. The Clarksville Tobacco Leaf says: "Last October one year ago, little Jimmie Woods, of our city, having accumulated a few cents, commenced the news business on a half dozen papers. He now—in less than two years—has on deposit at the Northern Bank three hundred dollars. During the time he has clothed himself and sister and attended college fifteen months. This is what energy and economy will accomplish."

Who among the Knoxville news-boys has done, or will do, as well?

Charles Dickens in twenty-four works introduced to the world one thousand four hundred and twenty-five personages.

Ladies, just now, are anxious about the trimming of their fall bonnets: but it won't do to trim them much closer, or there will be nothing left.

A Miss Lucy Lee advertises in a Mississippi paper that she is of good birth and education, and is willing to marry an editor, believing herself able to support one.

The walls of Paris are a mile and a half from the outer boulevards, and the outlying forts are a mile from the walls, so the enemy's guns must take a position three miles.

Wiggins to Figgins.—"What shall you do this year, now you can't go up the Rhine?" Figgins.—"Take a cab to the Zoological Gardens, and see the Rhinoceros."—Punch.

Let your winter cabbages remain until freezing weather. They will grow in this latitude until some time in December. The best way we have ever tried for this winter preservation is to lay them heads down, and throw three or four inches of earth over the heads with a plough or spade, according to the number to be covered.

The Atlanta Constitution closes an editorial on Gen. Lee's death with the following sentence: "We have only space for a word more at this writing. We utter it in tenderest reverence, that the name of 'Southern rebel' will be everlasting luminous in glory from transcendent illustration by the great name of Heaven-born, Robert E. Lee."

When James Saxton, editor of the Canton Repository, the oldest paper in Ohio, heard of the battle of Sedan, and the capture of the Emperor, he wrote and published the account of the event in a column parallel with a reprint of the account he wrote and published in the same paper of the surrender of Napoleon at Waterloo in 1815. He is the only editor, probably in the world who has written of the exit of both Napoleons in the same paper.

DARLINS.—"Feed"—The first frost will destroy the foliage. Let the plants remain for the roots to ripen. If dug at once, they will be as brittle as glass. From the 15th October morning, having out away the stalks, take a fork and lift the roots without breaking, carefully attach a label to the remains of the stalk and secure it so that it cannot become misplaced. Let the roots dry all day, and toward night when they should be removed to the cellar. Any cellar that will keep potatoes well will preserve dahlias. They must not be too damp, or they will rot, nor too warm, or they will sprout. As near forty degrees as can be maintained is best for all plants of this kind.

HAVE THE HOUSE A GOOD BED.—Farmers waste food by not securing perfect ease and comfort to their fattening animals, and this remark applies as well to neatstock as hogs. The same grain fed to two pairs of spring pigs of the same litter and of the same number—the one lot having a clean yard and a comfortable nest, and the other lying in a mud-hole, and sleeping on the cold earth or on something more disagreeable—will in the course add in weight, at the least, twenty per cent more than in the other. Give the pigs a clean yard and a clean, soft bed, if you would get the worth of your grain.

THE Chicago papers are puzzled just now to understand the real political complexion of "Mack," late of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and now managing editor of the Chicago Republican. Some claim that he is Republican, while others hold he is Democratic.

THE Young Democracy in New York, headed by Sheriff O'Brien, have put in nomination Judge Ledwith for Mayor. The nominee is an upright, fearless man, and will give the regular Tammany nominee a hard run. The people of New York have been cursed with corrupt Democratic rule, and this movement of the honest Democracy promises to relieve them. New York City, where Democracy has reigned for many years, shows what Democracy will do.

The Legislature of Georgia has passed a joint resolution, inviting President Grant and Cabinet to visit the State next week. A joint committee has been appointed to meet the President and party at the State line. If he accepts, he will leave Washington on Tuesday.

The Postoffice. Five thousand seven hundred and sixty-two letters passed through the Knoxville postoffice during the quarter ending the 30th of September.

During the last week in September $187 worth of postage stamps were cancelled. The exhibits show a very appreciable increase in the business of the office.

Gen. Lee not to be Buried at Richmond. LEXINGTON, Oct. 17.—A Committee of the Virginia General Assembly, received no assurance that their request to bury Gen. Lee's remains at Richmond, would be granted.

Females. Old and young, who have so long been troubled with some female complaint, should not despair. Let us whisper words of comfort. You can be cured. You can be snatched from the monster which has so long prostrated and paralyzed your whole system.

Saddle and Harness Emporium. The undersigned having established himself in the manufacture of Saddles and Saddles of every description, asks the merchants and farmers of Tennessee and the South the very best article of goods in his line, all home made and warranted superior to the general run of Eastern made goods, while the prices are as low and in some cases lower, that the same goods can be bought in the East. Employing none but first-class, skilled workmen, we acknowledge no superior manufactures. Orders from any locality will receive prompt and careful attention and be filled with dispatch at satisfactory prices. I solicit a trial, and know that none who favor me with an order will have cause to complain either in regard to prices or the quality of the goods. THOS. O'CONNOR, aug 27-1c

A Card. KNOXVILLE, TENN., Oct. 14, 1870. To my Personal and Political Friends of Knox County: In reply to many inquiries and kind solicitations, and in order that there may be no misunderstanding, I beg leave to state that, in justice to myself and family, and for other good reasons, I am compelled to decline the race for Representative on the Republican ticket.

Grateful for your confidence and support in the past, and hoping that I may be able at some future day to serve you in any capacity you may desire, and tendering my support cheerfully to any good man you may select to make the race, I am your friend and obedient servant, JOHN L. MURPHY.

ASHES ON CORN.—Charles Carlisle, of Woodstock, Va., writes to the New York Farmers' club that he experimented last year with ashes on corn, to which he applied a shovelful of rotten manure on the hill. Fifty hills were left without ashes, a handful being put with the manure on the other part of the field. He weighed the product on the fifty hills unashed, and a corresponding number of hills with the ashes. The gain on the part ashed was estimated to be equal to a bushel of corn for each bushel of ashes used. He asks, is it not possible that the corn is benefited by the mixing, if we cover with the mellow soil to receive the liberated ammonia.

A BEAUTIFUL IDEA.—Far away among the Alleghanies, there is a spring so small that a single ox, in a summer's day, could drink it dry. It spreads unobtrusively away among the hills, till it steals out into the beautiful Ohio. Thence it stretches away a thousand miles, leaving on its banks more than a hundred villages and cities and many a cultivated farm, and bearing a half thousand steamboats. Then joining the Mississippi, it stretches away and away some twelve hundred miles more till it falls into the emblem of eternity. It is one of the greatest tributaries of the ocean, which, obedient only to God, shall roll till the angel, with one foot on the sea and the other on the land, shall lift up his hands and swear that time shall be no longer. So with immortal influence. It is a rivulet—a rivulet—a river—an ocean—and as boundless and fathomless as eternity.

It is related that some friends of Campbell, the author of "Hohenlinden," were leaving his room, after a late supper, one of the number had the misfortune to fall down a long flight of stairs. The poet, alarmed by the noise, opened the door and inquired to "What's that?" "The J. J.," replied rapidly, "was the immediate reply of his fallen friend."

Lysander swam the Hellespont, and by a ruse captured the Athenian navy, two thousand five hundred years ago! How heroic runs in the blood! The telegraph informs us that Lysander, a Prussian aviator, has, with equal togetherness, swam the air to Tours, replying to the German cannonade all the way, with a telling fusillade of proclamation!

The Roman Catholic population of France is 35,800,000; the Protestant, 1,501,139; the Jewish, 158,985.

The Chicago Times, one of the foremost Democratic newspapers of the West, does not entertain a very high opinion of the "Dutch" of this country as will be seen by the following: The Dutch of this country have proven a most stuporous nation. The recorder of the War Department at Washington shows one continued line of "Dutch generals" during our late war. Chancellorsville was repeated on a smaller scale wherever Dutch battalions were placed in battle array. They took just as they bought—on the side offering the most, larger beer and the most money. It is useless for the Democracy to ponder to the Dutch vote. It is a cure to any party.

THE London Times, in an article on the temporal power of the Pope, says: "Zealous Ultramontane Catholics have singular 'axioms' about temporal sovereignty being indispensable to the free exercise of spiritual supremacy. The Pope claims the earth as his kingdom; but out of so many millions of Catholics, Pius IX had only six hundred thousand Romans over whom he could exercise any other way than that of unarmed persuasion. Why can he not rule the Romans with the same spiritual scepter which controls the rest of the Catholic world?"

THE KNOXVILLE CHRONICLE Job Printing Office. WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED AN entirely new Job Printing Office, embracing the Latest Styles of Type and Presses, and are now prepared to do all kinds of JOB WORK, BOOK PRINTING. Executed in the neatest manner and at Lowest Rates. Proposals for Building Material. OFFICE OF SUPERINTENDENT U. S. C. H. AND P. O. Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 15, 1870. Sealed proposals will be received until 10 o'clock of the first day of November, 1870, at the office of the undersigned for furnishing and delivering on the site of the proposed new Court House and Post Office building at Knoxville, Tennessee, four hundred and fifty (450) cubic yards, more or less, rubble stone. Any species of stone, granite or limestone, rubble, or sandstone may be submitted, but it must be of a kind that can be broken and crushed into rubble. It must have a good bed, be thoroughly sound, split readily with the hammer, and make a square fracture transversely. No stone containing less than two cubic feet will be accepted, and one-quarter of the amount will be through or bond stone of the width of the walls, viz: Three feet, four inches, and two feet six inches in length, and not less than eight inches thick. About equal quantities of each dimension will be required. Also, 4,000 cubic feet, more or less, of granite footing stones—no stone to contain less than six cubic feet—one-fourth (1/4) of the granite to be one foot six inches long by one foot three inches long and one-eighth (1/8) to be one foot six inches deep by four feet six inches long. Also, four hundred and fifty cubic yards, more or less, of hard, durable stone broken to the size of hen's eggs for concrete. Also, five hundred (500) barrels, more or less, of the best Rosendale, Potomac or other cement equal in quality thereto—each barrel to contain not less than six cubic feet of cement. Also, six hundred (600) cubic yards, more or less, of clean, sharp building sand. Proposals will be received for the rubble, concrete stones and sand to be used for the granite footings by the cubic foot; and for the cement and sand, by the barrel. The Department reserves the right to reject any or all of the bids, if in its opinion for the interest of the Government to do so, and any bid that does not conform in every respect to the requirements of this advertisement will not be considered. Forms of proposals may be procured on application to this office. All proposals will require to be made on the printed form and accompanied by the bond of two responsible persons in the sum of three thousand dollars that the bidder will accept and perform the contract if awarded to him. The bond must be approved by the U. S. District Judge, or Clerk of the U. S. Court of the District in which the bid is to be opened. Payments will be made monthly upon the estimate of the Superintendent, deducting ten (10) per cent, until the final completion of the contract. The contract must be enclosed in sealed envelope addressed to the Superintendent, care of the office, and opened for the rubble stone, concrete stone, granite footings, sand, lime or cement, as the case may be, on the 15th day of November, 1870.
