MR. DONNELLY AT BARK CENTRE.

The people of Bark Centre should remember that Hon. I. Donnelly will address them on the political issues of the day, on Monday evening, October 29th. It needs but this announcement to secure a large meeting.

THEIR REACTIONS.

Nothing could be more gratifying than the result of the recent elections in Pennsylvania, Iowa, and Indiana. The most heroic efforts had been made by the President to buy over to his policy "doo" districts.

IN OHIO THE MAJORITY IS FORTY-FIVE THOUSAND.

With a loss of one Union Congressman. In Indiana, with a Union majority of fifteen thousand, one Congressman is lost. The Legislature is largely Union. Iowa has gone all one way—every county Republican and the popular majority is thirty-five thousand.

THIS IS GLORIOUS!

It cheers the friends of the Union in Minnesota and the States soon to give expression to their condemnation of the President's policy; it is the "battle cry of Freedom," soon to be chanted by the people of these western prairie States, and by the loyal States of the Atlantic. It makes us shine before the world the unshakable, incorruptible material of which the American people is composed. It crowns them as independent, free-born men, equal to self-government, and beyond the sway of the One Man power bordering on a monarchy.

ACCORDING TO THE FORTHCOMING REPORT OF SENATOR McCOLLUM.

The receipts of the United States for the fiscal year will be $244,000,000. And the expenditure of the Government for the same period $315,945,337.70.

EVERYTHING NEW IN THE WAY OF LIVING IS HIGHER IN THE UNITED STATES THAN IN ANY OTHER COUNTRY.

Why is this? Simply because for the past year the government has been in the hands of a President who is determined that his own mad schemes shall prevail over the country he ruled. He has shaken the nation, financial and political, to its center, and as a consequence, we see an unsettled market, goods and gold advancing, and a state of uncertainty in all business circles.

THE OREGONIAN HAS QUOTED DOWN THE LOSS OF THE SERRA FERRIS HAVING BEEN DISAPPEARED.

DO NOT FORGET!

The people of this District should not forget that it was during Mr. Donnelly's first term, as a Member of Congress, and by his aid, that an appropriation of $1,250,000 was secured for paying the sufferers by the Sioux raid.

Those who are familiar with the railroad legislation of a year ago, know that Mr. Donnelly, by the most strenuous exertions, saved the Lake Superior Railroad grant for St. Cloud, when an effort was being made to carry it a hundred miles above us.

Neither will the active exertions of Mr. Donnelly in favor of a Northern Pacific Railroad be forgotten by the people of Minnesota. He was on the Committee on Railroads in the last Congress and did as much or more than any other man in favor of that great measure.

Mr. Donnelly was most untiring in his efforts to secure the passage of the bill creating a Bureau of Immigration, and made the only speech in its behalf that was delivered in the House. This Bureau is already producing excellent results; and its advantages will not allow the Germans, Swedes, Norwegians, Irish and other inhabitants of foreign countries now here, to forget Mr. Donnelly for his efforts to assist their friends to come to this State where they may have homes merely for living upon them.

COLVILLE'S NOMINATION A CHEAT.

The nomination of Colville was a cheat upon the honest masses of the Democratic party. What members of that party, in their primary meetings and County Conventions, ever supposed in selecting their delegates, that a renegade Republican would be the candidate foisted upon them? Not one.

They thought that some staunch and well-tried Democrat, such as Henry M. Rice, Capt. E. M. Wilson, Col. Roberts, or Capt. C. Nash would have been the nominee. Such a candidate would have inspired them with some enthusiasm. But now they find themselves called upon to vote for a renegade who but one year ago was loudly declaiming in the Legislature for negro suffrage in Minnesota; who is now holding an office to which he was elected by Republicans; who is without ability, energy or political honesty.

Most of these Democrats also know that his nomination was the work of Norton, made to give the appearance at Washington of an important defection from the Republican ranks. They know that it is purely a personal matter with Norton, and something in which their interests are not taken into consideration in the slightest degree.

As a consequence, hundreds of honest and consistent Democrats—finding that their old party name has been given up; that they have no candidate of their own; that their leaders have taken up with a renegade of no ability—have determined to vote for a man who, though he may not reflect their political principles, has been consistent, is honest, and ranks as one of the ablest men in the country. They have resolved to further the material interests of the State by voting for IGNATIUS DONNELLY.

The Johnson leaders are painfully aware of this disaffection in the ranks of the old Democratic party, and are endeavoring to stay the current. An evidence of this can be found in last Saturday's Pioneer. It says: We support Johnson after his test record in Tennessee. Why not Colville? We support Edward ever, after his infernal sinking of that little boat, because he is right now. Why not Colville? We support Dan Norton, the choice of the Radical, negro suffrage, blacks of Minnesota, for Senator over Wilkinson and Windon, why not Colville? This is no time for squeamishness.

Ab! but you cannot stuff down honest men's throats a candidate who has disgusted them by his vacillation. The President's friends in this District had thought that by nominating Colville they could weaken the Republican party; they now find that it will require their utmost labors and most skillful misdeeds to keep their own party friends together.

It is no use, gentlemen. Colville's defeat is a foregone conclusion. It is merely a question as to whether Mr. Donnelly's majority shall be two thousand or three thousand.

There is a gold mine in North Carolina that is thought to be the richest in the world. A company with $500,000 capital is organized to work it.

FRESH, CHANGE!

Up almost to the day the Republican nominating Convention met in St. Paul the Pioneer rung the changes on Mr. Donnelly as a "Jesuit." "A Jesuit!" "A Jesuit!" howled that paper, and the air was made to resound with its denunciations. Since Mr. Donnelly's nomination, a new tack has been resolved upon, and he is now transformed into a terrible "Know Nothing"—one of those frightful, mystical creatures who paraded around 'nights with a dark lantern under his arm, and like a roaring lion "seeking whom he might devour somebody." It is so much like breath to talk of consistency in the Pioneer; that paper is like the Honorable Daniel S. Norton; it doesn't care whether it has been consistent or inconsistent.

But in the present case we will make a brief statement of facts with regard to this charge of that paper. In 1865, when Know Nothingism was at its height, Mr. Donnelly resided in Philadelphia, and was, we are reliably informed, a nominee of the Democratic party for the State Legislature. In the same year, he was selected by the Democratic party of the County, to deliver their Annual Oration in Independence Square, and in that oration he took strong grounds against Know Nothingism.

So much for this statement of the Pioneer's, which is equally as true as the majority of assertions found in its pages. In 1866 Mr. Donnelly came to Minnesota, and with the organization of the Republican party became one of its most active and influential members. He has ever since remained consistently with that party, and the large majority which awaits him next month will bear witness to the confidence the people have in his ability and integrity.

RESIGNATIONS.

A short time since, Hon. Isaac N. Arnold tendered his resignation as Auditor of the Treasury for the Post Office Department. He was one of President Lincoln's most intimate and trusted friends, but he finds that he cannot endorse Mr. Johnson's policy and be faithful to the friendship entertained for and the principles endorsed by President Lincoln.

More recently, Mr. D. N. Cooley, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, sent in his resignation because he could not sympathize with the President's effort to reinstate rebels in power. And here is a style of resignations that find their way to the President and his advisers. It is an extract from a letter to Postmaster General Randall, the chief of the Bread-and-Butter Brigade, written by William H. Scott, postmaster at Friendship, Allegheny county, New York. Here is what a crippled soldier writes:

I feel, therefore that I am not your man, and cannot meet your wishes, and being too honest to cheat and betray you, as you have cheated and betrayed, and are now cheating and betraying the loyal people of the country, I present you the opportunity of again seeking for your man.

We were a little surprised to find the following paragraph in the Pioneer of last week. That paper, having been violently Copperhead during the war, is strongly devoted to Mr. Policy and Colville. Perhaps they had been celebrating the action of the Congressional Convention. Here is the item: As the door of the White House closed on Saturday night, the last sound heard was something like that: "Circle, round, alderman 'tition, people, thirty-six, 'umble individual, eleven, nation, nation, 'tition, hands of people, every office, gift of people, who don't yer hang, Shot Pouches and Bells, Game Bags, Pocket Compasses, Spy Glasses, Pocket Lanterns, Fishing and Hunting Knives, Fishing Tackle, and in fact everything in this line of business. CALL AND EXAMINE HIS STOCK."

LATE NEWS ITEMS.

A thief was shot by Mr. Potter in New York, who immediately surrounded himself, but was shot through the coroner's jury.

A Herald correspondent in Mexico says that Maximilian has virtually agreed to turn over his power to the Church party on the receipt of $250,000,000—Max. to be executed only.

New and rich mines have been discovered in Montana and Colorado, but the Indians are murdering the miners and driving them to the torts for protection. Out of a party of seventy-five in the Green river diggings, forty had been killed.

A defalcation to the amount of half a million dollars was discovered on the 12th in the accounts of a book-keeper in San Francisco, who has since fled to China.

The murderers of Otero, the Cuban, were hung on the 12th in Brooklyn.

A paymaster's train on the Louisville railroad was thrown off the track by robbers who removed a rail, and then robbed a car of $11,000.

The Evening Post is getting more and more emphatic in its renunciation of the Democratic conspiracy to seize the Government.

The Country holds with Gen. Grant, who said in our hearing, not long ago, "The rebels we whipped as it was our duty to do. They fought better, and for one, had no spite against them. But the Copperheads and peace men in the North, the men who, during the war, reviled the aid, encouraged the enemy, and did their utmost to stop supplies and reinforcements to our boys in the front, such men I can't forgive. I will never forget them, or have anything to do with them."

It is but two years ago since the Copperheads in this District were running on war-is-a-failure platform. They were then reviling the government, abusing such men as Col. Colville, and doing their utmost to prevent the success of our army. Their principles are no better now than then. It is Colville who has gone over to the enemy, and not the enemy that has come to Colville. Soldiers! remember the words of Grant.

On February 19, 1866, IOWANNA DENZEL voted that the people of the United States are not entitled to the privileges of the writ of Habeas Corpus which has ever been considered the chief safeguard of individual rights and personal liberty.

Well; and Mr. Donnelly also voted frequently for the supply of men and money to put down the rebellion, measures which were of the same nature as the suppression of the writ of habeas corpus. These "men" interfered pretty considerably with the "individual rights and personal liberty" of a large body of Democrats assembled south of Mason and Dixon's line under charge of a certain Robert E. Lee, a Mr. Johnson and a Mr. Hood. No doubt the Pioneer thinks the course of Mr. Donnelly and our soldiers was very bad. So it was—for the Democratic party.

This is just one reason why the soldiers were a little surprised to find the following paragraph in the Pioneer of last week. That paper, having been violently Copperhead during the war, is strongly devoted to Mr. Policy and Colville. Perhaps they had been celebrating the action of the Congressional Convention. Here is the item: As the door of the White House closed on Saturday night, the last sound heard was something like that: "Circle, round, alderman 'tition, people, thirty-six, 'umble individual, eleven, nation, nation, 'tition, hands of people, every office, gift of people, who don't yer hang, Shot Pouches and Bells, Game Bags, Pocket Compasses, Spy Glasses, Pocket Lanterns, Fishing and Hunting Knives, Fishing Tackle, and in fact everything in this line of business. CALL AND EXAMINE HIS STOCK."

"Who has sacrificed more than I have?" asks the President, in his speeches. After a careful review of Andy's present position with that he once occupied, we are constrained to answer, "Nobody!"

Norton and Colville are doing their best to reach the President's standard in that line, but as they have not much to sacrifice, the operation will soon be effectually finished. Colville's case will be effectually disposed of next month.

MORE "BREAD AND BUTTER."—Captain J. B. Hawley, appointed by President Lincoln postmaster at Rock Island, has been removed and a "bread-and-butter" gentleman put in his place. Captain Hawley was a brave officer in the war, but not being able to swallow "my policy," his services in the cause of his country against the rebels must go for nothing.—Missouri Democrat.

"MY POLICY" IN KENTUCKY.

Brevet Major General Jefferson C. Davis, Assistant Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau, for the State of Kentucky, in his report to the Commissioner, dated October 8, gives an account of the outrages committed by a lawless organization, lately sprung into existence in that State, known by the name of "The Regulators," and states that there were sixty-six cases of violence reported during the month of August, for which only eight arrests were made. These outrages generally consisted of robbing and whipping negroes, and were usually perpetrated at night, by white men in disguise, and styling themselves regulators. The inability of the sufferers to identify by name under oath the persons who committed the crimes and the want of Cavalry to make arrests the regulators being generally mounted and well armed. In some of these cases there have been any action reported of the State civil authorities arresting and punishing the offenders.

NEW DRESS.—The Minneapolis Daily Chronicle appeared last Sunday in a new dress and tending, presenting a beautiful typographical appearance. It is a printed on a Taylor Power Press, similar to that used in the JOURNAL Office. The people of Minneapolis ought certainly to give the Chronicle a generous support.

The Watonwan Journal appeared last week enlarged to an eight column sheet, with a new and tasty head, and generally improved in appearance. It is a good paper and deserves a paying patronage.

The Albany Journal says that the Democrats control the Conservatives in the new Johnson party for the same reason the Dundreary's dog wagged his tail—"because the tail wasn't big enough to wag the dog."

THANKSGIVING.—The President has issued a proclamation appointing Thursday, November 29th, as a day of thanksgiving. A. J. himself will be in a frame of mind about that time to more consistently observe a day of humiliation and prayer, with sackcloth wrapped around him, and the news of the elections spread before him. The day of thanksgiving will be for the victorious people.

Do not fail to read the excellent speech of Senator Sumner on the first page. The appeal of Naby on the fourth page, will repay perusal.
