

PASSAGE OF THE HOTEL BOUQUIN.

It is with extreme gratification that we report this week the passage of the proposition giving a bonus for a first-class hotel. The inducements are now strong for some capitalist to come in and take hold of the work. There is enough local business to make a good hotel pay, without considering the patronage of tourists, invalids and parties from abroad coming on business or pleasure. Adding to this the bonus of twelve thousand five hundred dollars presents an opportunity for a paying investment such as is seldom found.

But this much may as well be said now as ever. No person need apply who does not know how to "keep hotel." As our people are disposed to be liberal, they are also exacting as to the character of the hotel for which they are giving this aid. It must be first-class in every particular. It is this kind of a hotel which is demanded, it is this kind which will pay, and it is this kind which will be satisfactory to the public generally.

The emphatic majority by which the proposition was carried, in the face of a persistent opposition, gives undeniable evidence of the spirit and determination of the people of St. Cloud. As the necessities increase, they rise equal to them. They fully recognize that the future of the place rests solely in their hands; that they can make it either a city which shall rank not less than third in the State, or they can allow it to languish and sink into a mere pleasant village. They have taken all the steps necessary to secure good schools—these we have, or will have as rapidly as money and energy can erect the buildings. The next and most pressing need was a hotel. This they have done all they could to provide for, and there is every reason to think that this bonus will be eagerly seized upon, and that a hotel will soon be built. Railroads come next in order, and they will put their shoulder to this wheel. A branch to Lake Superior, or rather to Chagwagan, connecting with the St. Paul and Lake Superior Road—is the first requiring attention, and with the liberal land grant and the bonuses which the people are ready to give, its construction cannot long be delayed. Railroads up the Sauk Valley, to Minneapolis and to the Minnesota River, for the building of which a Company is already organized, will follow in due time.

We cannot see why St. Cloud is not on the highway to prosperity. Let our citizens but continue as they have commenced, encourage home manufactures and enterprises of all kinds and extend all possible aid to those who wish to establish desirable works in the town, and our success is assured.

THE GOVERNORSHIP. SAUK CENTRE, May 1st, 1869. EDITOR JOURNAL.—The St. Paul papers are, I see, discussing the coming Republican nomination for Governor. A number of names have been suggested. The Republican ticket, almost to a man, would be glad to designate Donnelly our standard bearer in next fall's contest. We believe him to be the ablest man in Minnesota. What is the Journal's position on the Governorship?

Yours respectfully, REPUBLICAN. We believe we can assure our correspondent that Mr. Donnelly will not permit the use of his name as a candidate for Governor next fall. That he could obtain the nomination, if he desired or would accept it, there is no doubt, and a general feeling of regret will prevail that he should feel called upon to decline to serve.

It is difficult at this early day to even surmise who will be the candidate, but it is generally conceded that he will be taken from the southern portion of the State. Senator Wakefield and Lieutenant-Governor Armstrong have been most prominently mentioned. The "position" of this paper will be to advocate, as it has always done, the selection of the best and most capable man, let that man be who he may.

AWAY DOWN EAST. The dwellers in Minnesota, who are enjoying weather gotten up after the fashion of June, will be prepared to see their condoleances to the people of Pennsylvania, who, on Saturday last, were visited with a heavy snow storm. Which is the "hyperborean region?" Since the above was written the following has been received, showing that New York has not been overlooked in this distribution of sky favors:

ENGLAND, May 4.—There was a snow storm here last night; the hills are covered with snow as in winter. There have been eight storms in a row in the north-west. Vegetation in the Banquhan and Chagwagan Valleys was quite forward, and it is feared that damage will result from frost.

UGH! what a country! Tax St. Paul Dispatch has secured Chas. H. Sweetser, lately of the New York Mail and Round Table, as one of its editors. Mr. S. has come to Minnesota for his health. His pen will add greatly to the spice and interest of the Dispatch.

The Mankato Record thinks that but little wheat yet remains in the hands of the farmers in the south-western counties of the State—not more than one-eighth of the crop. The Farmington Telegraph, speaking of Dakota county and the adjoining section, says there is scarcely more wheat than will be required in seeding.

Leaves claim that there were no better spring wheat to the acre than any other State in the West. Except Minnesota. The Western Progress is the title of a new paper started at Brownsville, in this State. It is an eight-page sheet, and is "devoted to literature, science and art." It is quite readable.

DOWN THE MISSISSIPPI.

ST. LOUIS, April 25, 1869. EDITOR JOURNAL.—I promised some notes of travel. They must be brief, for there is nothing to my taste, on a boat with its continued bustle, provocative of ill writing.

DAVENPORT. Just passed, in, as you are aware, one of the thriving cities of Iowa on the river. I had time to look at it, and was on its principal streets. I notice great improvements since my last trip down four years ago. It has all the signs of a busy and active population, as well as much wealth. The "Citizens Cornet Band" came on board at this city, and discourse sweet music on the way.—They went to Burlington. They are a set of fine looking young men of polished manners, all dressed in full uniform, and of course greatly admired by the ladies aboard.

ROCK ISLAND. Just across the river, rivals Davenport in costly evidences of wealth, but falls far below in population. Davenport numbers 26,000, and Rock Island but 16,000. The great R. R. bridge is a very handsome structure, and being on the way to the Pacific road makes these two cities proud of their location and of their future.

MUSCATINE. thirty miles below, is also one of the finest looking towns I have seen, and to my mind is more attractive than either of the others. It is situated on a commanding eminence and abounds in forest trees on all its streets. Our old Indian agent for the Winnebago, it will be remembered by the pioneers, came from Muscatine. I mean Gen. Fletcher.

We have an insane man on board from Rock Island, going to Mount Pleasant Insane Hospital. He has been doing nothing but singing. On inquiry, I learn his misfortune has been brought on him by religious excitement. The last phase of his belief is, that he is a Camanche Chief, and stands at the glass in the barber's room trying to fix his hair after the fashion of the red man, but especially bringing his hair up to the top of his head in the shape of a cone. Having done this, he then goes into the middle of the room and sings; first in French, then in German and lastly in English, keeping excellent time with his foot as he proceeds. On the whole, melancholy as in the spectacle, he is interesting, and I can't help with the others laughing at the queer performance.

The boat is loaded down full and still they come. I was fortunate in securing good stowage at St. Paul in advance.

It is so well known that a word of it will suffice. All in all, this is the most commanding and aristocratic looking town between Dubuque and Quincy. The streets are wide and viable through from the river's edge to the remotest house back. Here our band in their gay uniforms leave us, and with the good wishes of all, but especially the girls—all the pretty girls on the "Jasper."

KEOSAUQUON, an old town of two thousand inhabitants, fast falling into decay, deserves notice only for one thing, namely, to show what railroads can do and undo. It is one of the oldest places in Iowa, a thriving town when Davenport, Muscatine and Rock Island were not. Wm. Gayle, its founder, predicted its future to be second only to St. Louis. The railroad runs around on all sides but never touches it, and it was left to wither and die. Even the old trees planted so long ago, seem to feel neglected and are beginning to grow into gnarled and uncomely shapes; and the rich old mowers in the place grow against their more prosperous neighbors with many interspersed damnsations.

DALLAS, a little town of 1500, built mostly of brick, stands close by the shores of the muddy Des Moines, which divides the two great States of Iowa and Missouri. Here we looked out upon three States: one, Illinois, Missouri and Iowa. On the other side stands Warsaw, a tiny institution of the first named State, but with a rich country around it.

always was and always will be a prosperous, ugly looking place, with nothing to commend it but its wealth and houses, mud and dirty streets.

ABLE now to look out upon the level, broad lands of Missouri, I see the trees in leaf and the meadows covered with green grass, the herds lazily grazing, and the birds winging their musical flight up into the morning air. I seem suddenly to have come into the middle of spring—translated from March winds to the gentle soft breezes of May. The May Queen, with her garland of roses and sweet breath, seems unexpectedly to have welcomed us into her charming and lovely presence, and we go out and crown her with our benedictions.

I close these imperfect "jottings by the way," tread in the din and hubbub of a crowded steambot, at the mouth of the Missouri river, the vast volumes of whose muddy waters here are poured into the littlerote clear, blue tide of our own upper beautiful Mississippi.

—Within less than six years 25,000,000 forest trees have been planted in Iowa. The Minneapolis Tribune and other papers which a year or two ago were ridiculing Mr. Donnelly for having urged the planting of trees in order to secure a greater regularity of rainfalls, are now discussing the importance of the project with as much earnestness as though it were an original thing with them.

In Newark, N. J., on Tuesday a runaway trunk ran over and instantly killed two little children. The driver was arrested. The mother of the children attempted suicide through grief.

LAWN NEWS ITEMS.

—Ole Bull is 59 years old. —On Saturday Gen. Lee called upon Gen. Grant at the White House.

—Minister Washburne sailed for France on Saturday. —It is authoritatively stated that Mr. Motley goes to England without instructions in the Alabama matter. —Senator Sumner thinks England will pay the amount of our claims rather than go to war. —England has demanded of the Spanish authorities in Cuba the restoration of the brig Mary Powell, and an apology for her seizure. —A boy of fifteen, Frank Cheney, in North Andover, N. Y., shot himself on Monday, because his father compelled him to apologize to his teacher for truancy. —The President has notified Consul Brink, in reply to a dispatch from Rosecrans, that the Government was not anxious for acquisition of territory, where it would involve an expenditure of money. —Mrs. Mary Stover, widow of the late Col. Stover, and daughter of ex-President Johnson, was married in Greenville, Tennessee, on the 20th ult. to Mr. William Brown, a prosperous merchant of that place.

—The London papers of Friday morning contained editorials on Senator Sumner's recent speech in the Senate on the Alabama treaty. The Star, John Bright's organ, expresses amazement at the demands of Mr. Sumner, and says it is Mr. Motley's instructions are couched in a similar spirit, his mission will be fruitless. The Times considers the speech worthy of Mr. Sumner, and says it deserves impartial consideration, though passionate and one-sided. The Standard thinks the United States Senate opposed to an amicable settlement of the difficulty.

—The London papers of Friday morning contained editorials on Senator Sumner's recent speech in the Senate on the Alabama treaty. The Star, John Bright's organ, expresses amazement at the demands of Mr. Sumner, and says it is Mr. Motley's instructions are couched in a similar spirit, his mission will be fruitless. The Times considers the speech worthy of Mr. Sumner, and says it deserves impartial consideration, though passionate and one-sided. The Standard thinks the United States Senate opposed to an amicable settlement of the difficulty.

—The house of R. Ennis, at Glendale, says the Mansfield Express, was burned with its contents; supposed incendiarism; insured for $500. —The Gloucester Register says that Thos. Amerson, of Helen, who became insane from over exertion, has been taken to the asylum. —Dr. D. Pyle, member of the last Legislature, has received the appointment of physician to the Chippewa Indians. —The Fairmont Atlas gives an account of the drowning of Walter Decker and Priest Bennett, who were crossing Tuttle's Lake in a skiff.

—A Mrs. Jones, of Winona, was fined $5 for cruelly abusing her little daughter, a beautiful child of four years. It should have been imprisonment. —The body of a man was found in the river near Minoieks last week. In his pocket, was an express envelope addressed to Mrs. W. E. Wayne, Herkimer, N. Y., from Wm. Wayne, Hastings, Minn.

—From the Rochester Post: T. H. Converse, of Farm Hill, accidentally shot himself in the ankle. Mortification and death ensued. —An old man, named Deleb Coo, fell down stairs during the night and was found dead next morning. —The Minnesota Independent urges the issuing of $250,000 in bonds to aid in building a railroad from that place to the Minnesota river country. St. Cloud intends building a branch in that direction before long. The lumber trade of that region would be very desirable.

—On Saturday while C. L. Wood, ticket agent of the St. Paul and Milwaukee Railroad was crossing the St. Paul bridge with $7,000 in exchange and $6,000 in currency in his hand, he struck his toe and fell, the package of money falling into the river, where it fount a watery grave. —A lad named Fred Davis, of Quincy, says the St. Charles Herald, while hunting drew his gun, muzzle forward, toward him. The charge exploded, entering his right arm. Mortification, gangrene, erysipelas and death followed. —Fred M. Howe, while attempting to jump from a train of cars in motion, had his leg broken.

—E. M. Mix, who returned last week from Lake Traverse, 100 miles west of Sauk Centre, informs the St. Paul Pioneer that the destination among the Sisseton and Wahpeton Indians has been greater during the past season than for years before. Teams are now engaged in breaking land for their use. Mr. M. has been assisting Gen. Barrett in surveying the reservation for these Indians.

—Dr. Wm. P. Duval, a quack who made quite a sensation throughout the State, last year, was arrested at Janesville, Wis., on the 30th ult., on the charge of poisoning his wife. He was married to her at Owatonna, in this State last fall, and she was his third wife. The shooting of Roesech at a charivari given Duval will be remembered. —We mentioned last week the finding of the body of a child near St. Peter, and the suspicion that its father, Leasing, was the murderer. This man has since been arrested and brought to the State. By a singular coincidence his wife, who had some time ago left him, met her husband at the West St. Paul station. She was returning to St. Peter from Missouri with her children and he was being taken in irons to the same place. She had herself suspected that he had been guilty of the murder of her child, though she knew nothing of the finding of the body nor of his arrest until they met in this strange way.

—A. T. Stewart's new model dwelling is rapidly going up in New York. It is to be entirely of iron and brick, eight stories in height, enclosing a court 100 feet square. It is to contain an elevator, a steam-heating apparatus and a water tank, and be furnished with sleeping apartments for 1,500, restaurant, bath-rooms, laundry, kitchen, &c. It will cost over $3,000,000, and it is calculated will afford the working-men, for whose benefit it is erected, lodging, food and washing at a cost of two dollars a week.

—A 13 year old son of J. H. Harris, of Vermont, Vt., was found on Monday hung by a strap around his neck, in his father's barn, and quite dead. On the same day another little boy was discovered dead and hanging in the same way. No cause is assigned, and great excitement prevails.

—The Cincinnati Enquirer (Democrat) hopes to see some time when government bonds will be used to paper kitchens with.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

—M. S. Wilkinson returned from Washington on Friday. —Ole Bull and the Minstrels took $3,000 in cash from St. Paul last week. —Minnesota is receiving considerable immigration from Canada. —Work is progressing steadily on the Hastings and Dakota Railway. —A cheese factory, three stories high, is being put up at Owatonna; Good idea. —Two dredge boats will be kept by the government at work on the Upper Mississippi this year. —Philip Bayer, of the regimental band, was drowned at Fort Snelling on Saturday. —On Saturday twenty thousand dozens of eggs from Iowa were received in St. Paul. Why import eggs? —The Argus reports the mysterious disappearance of a Swede who came to buy land. Fool play is suspected. —A stone building in St. Paul fell on Tuesday. The inmates fortunately escaped. —Over half a million dollars worth of freight for the Hudson Bay Company, is at St. Paul awaiting shipment by the St. Paul and Pacific R. R. —A number of children at Winnebago were poisoned from eating roots gathered in the woods. They all recovered. —The house of R. Ennis, at Glendale, says the Mansfield Express, was burned with its contents; supposed incendiarism; insured for $500. —The Gloucester Register says that Thos. Amerson, of Helen, who became insane from over exertion, has been taken to the asylum. —Dr. D. Pyle, member of the last Legislature, has received the appointment of physician to the Chippewa Indians. —The Fairmont Atlas gives an account of the drowning of Walter Decker and Priest Bennett, who were crossing Tuttle's Lake in a skiff. —A Mrs. Jones, of Winona, was fined $5 for cruelly abusing her little daughter, a beautiful child of four years. It should have been imprisonment. —The body of a man was found in the river near Minoieks last week. In his pocket, was an express envelope addressed to Mrs. W. E. Wayne, Herkimer, N. Y., from Wm. Wayne, Hastings, Minn. —From the Rochester Post: T. H. Converse, of Farm Hill, accidentally shot himself in the ankle. Mortification and death ensued. —An old man, named Deleb Coo, fell down stairs during the night and was found dead next morning. —The Minnesota Independent urges the issuing of $250,000 in bonds to aid in building a railroad from that place to the Minnesota river country. St. Cloud intends building a branch in that direction before long. The lumber trade of that region would be very desirable. —On Saturday while C. L. Wood, ticket agent of the St. Paul and Milwaukee Railroad was crossing the St. Paul bridge with $7,000 in exchange and $6,000 in currency in his hand, he struck his toe and fell, the package of money falling into the river, where it fount a watery grave. —A lad named Fred Davis, of Quincy, says the St. Charles Herald, while hunting drew his gun, muzzle forward, toward him. The charge exploded, entering his right arm. Mortification, gangrene, erysipelas and death followed. —Fred M. Howe, while attempting to jump from a train of cars in motion, had his leg broken. —E. M. Mix, who returned last week from Lake Traverse, 100 miles west of Sauk Centre, informs the St. Paul Pioneer that the destination among the Sisseton and Wahpeton Indians has been greater during the past season than for years before. Teams are now engaged in breaking land for their use. Mr. M. has been assisting Gen. Barrett in surveying the reservation for these Indians. —Dr. Wm. P. Duval, a quack who made quite a sensation throughout the State, last year, was arrested at Janesville, Wis., on the 30th ult., on the charge of poisoning his wife. He was married to her at Owatonna, in this State last fall, and she was his third wife. The shooting of Roesech at a charivari given Duval will be remembered. —We mentioned last week the finding of the body of a child near St. Peter, and the suspicion that its father, Leasing, was the murderer. This man has since been arrested and brought to the State. By a singular coincidence his wife, who had some time ago left him, met her husband at the West St. Paul station. She was returning to St. Peter from Missouri with her children and he was being taken in irons to the same place. She had herself suspected that he had been guilty of the murder of her child, though she knew nothing of the finding of the body nor of his arrest until they met in this strange way. —A. T. Stewart's new model dwelling is rapidly going up in New York. It is to be entirely of iron and brick, eight stories in height, enclosing a court 100 feet square. It is to contain an elevator, a steam-heating apparatus and a water tank, and be furnished with sleeping apartments for 1,500, restaurant, bath-rooms, laundry, kitchen, &c. It will cost over $3,000,000, and it is calculated will afford the working-men, for whose benefit it is erected, lodging, food and washing at a cost of two dollars a week. —A 13 year old son of J. H. Harris, of Vermont, Vt., was found on Monday hung by a strap around his neck, in his father's barn, and quite dead. On the same day another little boy was discovered dead and hanging in the same way. No cause is assigned, and great excitement prevails. —The Cincinnati Enquirer (Democrat) hopes to see some time when government bonds will be used to paper kitchens with.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

ELECTION NOTICE. FOR ALDERMAN. An election will be held in Ward No. 6, on Saturday, the 5th inst., to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Leonard Gorton, Esq. The polls will be opened at 9 o'clock a. m., and continue till 5 o'clock p. m. Per order of the Common Council. NATHAN F. BARNES, City Clerk. St. Cloud, May 5th, 1869.

TUBE WELLS AND LIGHTNING RODS. I am putting down the best Tube Wells in use. They are WARRANTED NOT TO FREEZE. PROTECT YOUR LIVES AND PROPERTY. LIGHTNING RODS PUT ON YOUR BUILDINGS. I am agent for the COPPER SCROLL and COPPER STRIP ROD, which will put up anywhere. Call on or address, J. R. CLARK, St. Cloud, Minn. St. Cloud, April 27, 1869. n111

Proposals for STATE PRINTING. OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE, St. Paul, May 7th, 1869. In pursuance of an act of the Legislature of the State of Minnesota, approved July 25, 1868, entitled "An act to amend chapter five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eleven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter twelve of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter thirteen of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fourteen of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fifteen of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter sixteen of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seventeen of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eighteen of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter nineteen of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter twenty of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter twenty one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter twenty two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter twenty three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter twenty four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter twenty five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter twenty six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter twenty seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter twenty eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter twenty nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter thirty of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter thirty one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter thirty two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter thirty three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter thirty four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter thirty five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter thirty six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter thirty seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter thirty eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter thirty nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter forty of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter forty one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter forty two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter forty three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter forty four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter forty five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter forty six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter forty seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter forty eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter forty nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fifty of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fifty one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fifty two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fifty three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fifty four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fifty five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fifty six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fifty seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fifty eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter fifty nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter sixty of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter sixty one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter sixty two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter sixty three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter sixty four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter sixty five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter sixty six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter sixty seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter sixty eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter sixty nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seventy of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seventy one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seventy two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seventy three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seventy four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seventy five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seventy six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seventy seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seventy eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter seventy nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eighty of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eighty one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eighty two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eighty three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eighty four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eighty five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eighty six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eighty seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eighty eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter eighty nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter ninety of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter ninety one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter ninety two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter ninety three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter ninety four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter ninety five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter ninety six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter ninety seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter ninety eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter ninety nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred five of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred six of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred seven of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred eight of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred nine of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred ten of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred one of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred two of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred three of the General Statutes, relating to the printing of the laws, and to amend chapter one hundred four of the General Statutes,