

The Star Spangled Banner.

O say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming;
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd, were so gallantly streaming;

And the rockets red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there;
O say, does that Star Spangled Banner yet wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

On the shore, dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze o'er the towering steep,
As it fitsly blows, now conceals, now discloses?

Now it flutters, and now it sinks in the stream;
In full glory reflected, now shines in the beam;
And the Star Spangled Banner, O long may it wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

O thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between their loved homes and the war's desolation;
Blest with vict'ry and peace, may the heav'n rescued land
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation!

Then conquer we must, when our cause is just,
And this be our motto, "In God is our trust";
And the Star Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

The following letter on this subject will be interesting to our readers, who copy it from the Working Farmer, a well-known periodical published in New York by Charles V. Mapes.

DEAR SIR:—Since you and many other cultivators of the Tomato, have expressed your surprise and satisfaction on examining some of my Seedling Tomatoes and a desire to know their origin and proper treatment. I will with pleasure comply with your request.

Until within a few years, very little was known in this country about the Tomato. It was grown as an embellishment in some corner of a flower garden, and called the Love Apple. Now it is an article of daily food; and in a few years it will be in common use in almost every part of the globe. Its culture and use will everywhere extend, just in proportion as reliable and exact information on the subject is spread. It does not take long to scatter facts. The human race is coming near together, and all facts concerning our common welfare should be freely disseminated. I have grown the Tomato, and watched its culture in many of the climates and countries of Europe and America, and I will furnish my little quota of observation and practical experience, hoping thereby to draw out valuable information from others. Every body knows something of the value of the Tomato as a fruit, and how we should raise it if it could be raised no more. But very few persons know how easily and abundantly it can be grown in perfection, how cheaply it can be preserved for future use in many forms, nor its valuable medicinal properties as conducive to health and vitality. I will speak only on two or three of these points.

1st. The best Kinds and Varieties.—Six years ago I began a more thorough system of experiments than I had ever practiced or seen. I prepared my beds for growing Tomatoes, and the analysis of the soil corresponded very closely with the chemical components of the fruit. I then germinated ten or twelve of the finest varieties I had, or could get, and obtained large, vigorous plants of the same kinds from our New York gardens. One of each was planted by itself, where it could not hybridize. In another bed I planted all the varieties together, to make them hybridize, and multiply new kinds.

keep the fruit from touching the ground which delays ripening, creates mould, invites cat-worms, and always gives the Tomato an earthy taste. Try for only one cluster, (the first that blossoms) and cut everything else gradually away. This will give you Tomatoes in perfection in the latitude of Buffalo, four or six weeks earlier than they are usually ripened in our climate. If you wish late Tomatoes, pull up each plant by the root (just before the frost comes) and hang them up on the south side of a building, top down with a blanket to roll up days and let fall nights. When ice makes, hang them up in any room that does not freeze, or in a dry cellar, and you will have fresh Tomatoes all winter—some what shrivelled but of very fine flavor.

Having thus brought this Tomato to comparative perfection, I wish to have the seed scattered as widely as possible. This last season I saved, with great care, some of the seed from the most perfect fruit in my garden, and I have left it with Mr. Charles V. Mapes, (at his Agricultural Warehouses in Nassau street, New York) to whom any communications on this subject may be addressed.

Most Respectfully,
C. EDWARDS LESTER.
Strawberry Culture.

A writer in the American Farmer gives a few plain rules which he says, if followed to the letter, will prove themselves good rules. They are: 1st. Never have the beds so wide as to require the gatherer even to lean on them. 2d. Never use animal manure. 3d. Keep the beds clear of weeds and grass. I find that any time from August to the blooming season will answer for transplanting. The first requisite is to have the beds in good order. Lay them off five feet wide, then spread evenly over them a good coating of well rotted wood-pile manure or woods-mould, which is to be deeply spread in. During a moist or rainy spell set the plants in three rows and from 12 to 24 inches apart in the row. I never permit the runners to take entire possession of my beds, but keep them back by pinching in the spring, and a full weeding. By this treatment my beds are pretty well covered without being matted. After the fall weeding, the beds are sowed over with wood ashes, and during the early winter, as there are opportunities, they are covered over with wood-pile manure or spent tan. During the early spring, when the beds are covered with young green leaves, they are well dusted with plaster or shell lime, and when the blooms show themselves, they are again sowed over with ashes. These sowings are always made in damp weather. This comprises the entire culture required to ensure this fruit in perfection.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla
A compound remedy, designed to be the most effective Alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the disease Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, Nephritis or Dropsy of the Kidneys, Rheumatism, GOUT, AND INDIGESTION, ERYTHESMA, ROSA OF ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Malignant can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this purgation of life disorders, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this purgation of life disorders, and your feelings will tell you when.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral
has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

They are sugar-coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Price 25 cents per Box; Five boxes for $1.00.
Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent persons, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of these remedies, but our space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below have given it a fair trial, and all full descriptions of the above complaints, and the treatment that should be followed for their cure.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations that make more boast of Demands, and take no others. They say, "I want the best there for them, and they should have it." All our remedies are for sale by N. B. Holster and Asa Huntington, and by Druggists generally.
