COLONEL E. W. Cole, in an interview with a representative of the Atlanta Constitution, states that the company has completed at Memphis one of the highest elevators in the South. We have always understood that the elevator was built by Memphis merchants—(Appeal, 26).
And we understand that the Memphis & Charleston railroad lessees, in their individual capacity, hold a bare majority of the stock in the elevator.
This branch of the Southwestern Benefit Guild at Asheville, North Carolina, came up promptly with its indebtedness to the central office here the other day. Two new members were also added. The amount remitted, less cost of collection, was about $340, which, when received, was as usual added to the general fund in bank. When the Secretary called Judge Sneed's attention to the entry, a broad smile is said to have spread all over his countenance. The Judge first saw the light in North Carolina, and only two or three years ago he spent part of a summer at Asheville, which only increased a mutual admiration that had long existed.

MANCHESTER, Coffee county, has a new paper, the Times, and it is opposed to the 100-3 inquiry. This makes forty-four papers in the State on that side. The LEDGER is not so lonesome as it was last year. "The cry is, still they come," but we have yet to hear of a new paper or old one going to the aid of that notorious piece of legislation. It is just as certain to fall to the ground by some means or other, as the little sickly apple that ripens first under a June sun. It is wrong in every sense and will be so adjudged by the people, who make and unmake legislatures. Even if it is technically constitutional it will be set aside, and rendered void and inoperative. The people have come up manfully and paid their taxes. The bondholders organs take this as an evidence that the 100-3 is approved. They are either greatly mistaken or guilty of gross misrepresentation. The low tax counties in Middle Tennessee and other parts of the State have paid as promptly as the counties that were carried for John V. Wright or Hawkins. Why? Because (1) they are law-abiding, and (2) to avoid the heavy penalties. The LEDGER advised this course months ago, and the people in every county fell into this way of thinking. It does not follow that they will elect men who endorse the 100-3, and will raise the rate of taxation to sixty or seventy-five cents in order to meet the interest demanded by the bondholders. We take it for granted, without any fulsome argument on the other, that the Supreme Court as now constituted will do its duty. The members individually are understood to be State Credit men, but we are not aware that they are committed to any particular scheme or method by which the name or the true intent of State credit is to be maintained. The 100-3 act, should it ever come before them, will doubtless be viewed in the cold, calm light of law. Whether the case will be advanced or permitted to take its course, we have not the slightest idea or intimation; nor do we give that matter any particular thought. The mere fact of the measure being found constitutional would not make it just, practicable or endurable. Many a constitutional law has been repealed, and many that exist un-repealed are dead and inoperative. If the people condemn this settlement it is already a dead letter, and such we hold is the case.

Mr. John M. Patrick, an honored, old citizen, who dropped out of the active pursuits of life about five years ago, died peacefully and painlessly at half past ten o'clock last night at his residence on Union street. From a sketch prepared by himself, to be read before the "Old Folks at Home Society," we find that he was born near Jefferson, in Jefferson county, Georgia, January 29th 1804. He was, therefore, nearly seventy-eight years old. He was removed with his father's family to Giles county, Tennessee, in 1810. In 1825 he became a clerk in a store, and in 1830 he married a Miss Massey. In 1835 he became a partner with his brother-in-law, E. M. Massey, and so continued for two years. Afterwards he conducted business alone very successfully for several years. The panic of 1837 found him with many debts owing him. He was paid off in bankrupt notices and considerably crippled. Mr. Patrick removed to Memphis in 1841 reaching here on the 9th of October. He formed a partnership with John S. Clayton, whom he had partly raised. They opened a dry goods store on Exchange Square on Poplar street opposite the old Exchange Hotel, then kept by General Mackin, the famous hotel man. They afterwards sold out to John and Sam Martin with whom Mr. Patrick engaged in the cotton and commission business. This was mutually profitable. Afterwards he was engaged in business on his own account, and some years handled as high as 25,000 bales of cotton. He was a large and successful operator, but had his ups and downs like other men. When the war came on he became a member of the vigilance committee that existed for a time. When the Federals entered Memphis he went South, and located at Cahaba, Alabama, where his wife died during the war. He was at one time an Alderman, and it is said that he was the first Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. In early days he was a member of the volunteer fire department. In all the relations of life he was a true man, and was always regarded as a public spirited and leading citizen. He was not a member of any Church, though a regular attendant at the Second Presbyterian Church for many years. His private life was irreproachable, and it is said that he was never known to utter an oath or to do an act not within the strictest bounds of morality. After the war he re-engaged in business, but never recovered his lost fortune. A year or two ago he was injured by a fall and ever after had to walk on crutches, though this was not the cause of his death. Only a few weeks ago he was on the streets. His funeral will take place from the Second Presbyterian church at three o'clock to-morrow afternoon. Peace and honor to his memory.

ADDITIONAL COTTON.
The market for cotton to day is strong, holders asking higher prices and buyers offering to buy above official quotations, which offers, as far as heard, were declined, in anticipation of the market ruling still higher. Several of our most prominent cotton buyers are of opinion that the value of the staple is destined to advance materially at an early day, and they are inclined to the short crop estimates, ranging from five to not exceeding five and a half millions of bales. The indications all point, they declare, to an unusually early marketing of the entire crop. While at present receipts keep well up, they do not expect them to continue so much longer. Indeed, it is confidently believed that the receipts will very soon exhibit a marked decrease, and that the supply will be inadequate to the demand. Whether or not this is the correct view to take of the future of prices, it is very certain that the picking season is almost over, even in the richest valley lands, and that as soon as the cotton is ginned and baled it will all be ready for market. This is much earlier than the picking season has closed in many years, and while the crop has been harvested in better condition than ever before, yet it is certainly from one-fourth to a half less in quantity than either of the two previous seasons. There was an active demand in this market to day, but factors were stiff and generally above buyers' views. The tone at noon was very firm, prices being advanced as follows: Low ordinary, 7; ordinary, 9; good ordinary, 10; low middling, 11; middling, 11 1/2; good middling, 11 1/2; middling fair, 12. LIVERPOOL, November 26, 2 p.m. Cotton hardening, and 1-164 higher. Uplands, 4 1/2-154; Orleans, 6 1/2-164. Sales to-day, 10,000 bales. Receipts, 13,500 bales; American, 12,600 bales. Futures opened firm and closed very strong, 4 1/2 to 3-164 above yesterday's closing prices. NEW ORLEANS, November 26, 11:30 a.m.—Cotton firm. Middling, 11 1/2. Receipts to-day, 8,275 bales. Stock, 247,064 bales. NEW YORK, November 26, 12:40 p.m.—Cotton opened firm, now quiet. Ordinary, 9 3/4-164; good ordinary, 10 1/2-164; low middling, 11 1/2-164; mid-ling fair, 12 1/2-164; fair, 12 1/2-164. Futures are steady at little change from last evening's closing prices.

Next Wednesday is the anniversary of St. Andrew, when the order in honor of the occasion will hold their annual banquet. After that Christmas comes in as the next festival.
A Proper Estimate of Guitau.
NEW YORK, November 26.—Dr Samuel G. Armor, Dean of the Faculty of Long Island College Hospital, Brooklyn, says in reference to Guitau's condition: "The world is full of Guitau's illy balanced mental monstrosity, compounded of badly arranged intellectual forces, feeble moral faculties and enormous self-conceit. Such people are kind of 'missing links' between a low and irresponsible animal type of brain and a supreme ideal of perfect humanity. If such persons are pronounced irresponsible for their deliberately planned purposes of murder, society has no longer any safeguards against the worst element of its population. Compared with such characters, insane people are comparatively harmless, for they are usually confined."

WALL STREET.
Stocks Irregular But Firmer at Noon.

The Gould-Huntington Contract and Alliance Ripened.

Foreign Demand for Bonds Increasing.

NEW YORK, November 26.—Stocks somewhat irregular but in the main firm, upon the renewed talk of the trunk line troubles and the probability of the government purchase of bonds. Keene is said to have been a large buyer of stocks yesterday. The Gould-Huntington contract forming an alliance between the Southern Pacific and the Southwestern system was signed yesterday. A firm of bankers have given President Jewett proxies for 48,000 shares of Erie. Jewett favors the payment of a dividend on Erie preferred. Buffalo, Pittsburg and Western will have a through line to Buffalo by the middle of January. Insiders continue to be large buyers of St. Paul. Foreign demand for good bonds is increasing. A morning paper says certain capitalists are ready to buy control of the Southern Pacific at a reasonable price, but will not touch it as long as the present pool exists and the stock is manipulated. 11 a.m.—The stock market opened generally firm and higher, but prices soon fell off to the latter. Wash and Pacific common, at first board, a firmer tone prevailed, and a recovery of 1/4 to 1/2 ensued. Wheat is moderately active and 1/2 higher.

BY CABLE.

LONDON, November 26.—The Russian Ambassador at Constantinople a short time ago proposed to the Porte territorial arrangements by which the payment of war indemnity might be extinguished, but the Sultan was unwilling to give the proposition favorable consideration.

LONDON, November 26.—The committee of Confederate landholders state that their programme is, primarily by steady and persevering appeals first to the public and then to the Legislatures of the United States to bring about the opinion that the time has come when the restrictions imposed by the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution should be removed so far as it prohibits the Southern States from effecting an equitable settlement of their debts legally contracted. The committee repudiate the idea of embarking in litigation to recover Confederate property in Europe. Elie Schomouff, for many years chess champion of Russia, is dead.

DUBLIN, November 26.—Phillips, accountant of the Land League, who was arrested yesterday under the Coercion Act, recently had a fainting fit in the street, and while he was unconscious the papers in his pocket were abstracted. It is believed that these papers were forwarded to the Castle officials, hence his arrest. Although he is not a member of the League, it is stated that Phillips has acted as paymaster since Dr. Kenney's arrest.

At the municipal election the Mayor of Drogheda, who was a candidate for re-election, was defeated by Mangin, a "suspect," confined in Dundalk jail.
At a meeting of the managers of the Cork Savings Bank yesterday, it was stated that the amount lodged in the bank the present year is the largest since the famine years.
The Court of the Queen's Bench has issued a writ of certiorari, removing into the Queen's Bench Division all depositions concerning the death of Mansfield at Ballyragget, County Kilkenny, regarding which a verdict of willful murder has been returned by the Coroner's jury against Sub-inspectors O'Brien and Boucher, who commanded the police on the occasion of the riot there.

ST. PETERSBURG, November 26.—A youth, under the pretence of urgent State business, obtained audience to-day at the Ministry of the Interior with General Terehivie presiding over the Commission for Mitigating the Sentences of Exiles. As soon as he was admitted he fired a revolver at the General, but the ball passed harmlessly between his arm and side. The General secured and disarmed the youth, who said that he was merely the instrument of another person.

PARIS, November 26.—It is stated that the government has decided to withdraw the decree prohibiting the importation of American pork.

ANOTHER FAILURE.
The Memphis Coopers and Manufacturing Company Makes an Assignment.

An assignment entered as a deed of trust was made this forenoon by the Memphis Coopers and Manufacturing Company. J. A. Hayes is made trustee. The creditors are as follows:
Due Stockholders.....$2,500
St. National Bank.....1,500
J. W. Cochran.....1,000
M. Davis.....615
Total.....$5,615
Besides which are several other claims, the amounts of which are not given. The amount of assets is not stated. The deed provides that the Trustees may sell the property of the company to the highest bidder for cash, and appropriate the proceeds to the settlement of the indebtedness, provided the company fails to pay off said indebtedness prior to December 1st.

POLICE POINTS.
Five arrests in the last twenty-four hours.

George McKune was fined $25 for being drunk and using obscene language. Three unruly citizens were forced to bend their way inlandward, because they had not the cash with which to liquidate their fines.

The stores recently put up in the City Prison make a decided difference in the state of the atmosphere these frosty nights. The place is now tolerably comfortable. Other repairs are being made.

Early this morning officer Plummer was called on by Steve Campbell, colored, to arrest his grown up step-daughter, but as the origin of the difficulty was hard for the officer to get at he arrested both. The story of their woes was related to the Judge, who fined the stepfather $5 and discharged the girl. She had been slapped because she failed to get out of bed when he did.

A Murder and a Pardon.
ST. LOUIS, November 26.—At Holden, near Warrensburg, Mo., yesterday, David McCormac was stabbed and killed by a man named James Satterwhite. Satterwhite escaped, as McCormac was a hard character, having served a term in the penitentiary for horse stealing. Governor Crittenden has pardoned John Sweeney, of Mississippi county, who was sentenced on the 11th of June, 1875, to the penitentiary for 20 years for murder in the second degree.

A New Factory for Nashville.
We take pleasure in announcing that a mammoth domestic bag factory is to be started in our city about the 1st of January next by Messrs. J. B. Morgan, at present general manager of the Empire Coal Company, and J. O. Hamilton, at present with the hardware house of J. M. Hamilton & Co., both well known in the business circles of Nashville. They have leased the handsome and commodious building on Church street, now being erected for their factory by Mr. Van L. Kirkman. Mr. Hamilton will leave in a few days for Cincinnati, Baltimore and New York to purchase all necessary machinery and stocks. In addition to the manufacture of domestic four bags they will also handle at wholesale a large stock of paper bags, wrapping paper and twine. They will operate the largest factory of the kind in the south, which their unequalled facilities will enable them to do. Such a factory is much needed by the large number of flouring mills in the south-west. We wish the firm abundant success.

Guitau's Divorced Wife.
Special to Standard Commercial.
WASHINGTON, November 24.—Mr. Dumire, the present husband of Guitau's divorced wife, evidently has a keen eye for business. He says he has a photograph of his wife and Guitau, which he proposes to send for and have copies made for sale. He thinks nearly everybody will want to see it, because it shows how badly the lady looked after experiencing the cruel treatment at the hands of Guitau. Mr. Dumire also has some mining stock which he would like to dispose of. He thinks the government ought to buy it for his time, and for the substitute he is compelled to employ to do his work at home. Mr. Dumire is small and slender of stature, with dark hair, a prominent nose and blue eyes. After her divorce from Guitau in New York she came to Washington, and for a year she found employment in the Treasury Department. Mr. and Mrs. Dumire are accompanied by their two children, a boy aged three years and a girl of thirteen months. They are stopping at a quiet boardinghouse. Mr. Dumire seems to be confused about the testimony his wife will give. He says she will testify for the prosecution, and that Guitau is crazy. Mr. Dumire's mother was once a servant in the family of Mr. Scoville, which accounts for Guitau's acquaintance with her.

A Betrayed People.
Jackson Dispatch, 25.
The voice of a deceived and betrayed people is now, what shall we do to be saved from the wickedness of pledge breakers and bribe takers, in the passage of their infamous 100-3 bill, party platforms were violated and the most solemn promises and pledges broken by faithless party leaders. This was all done for personal gain. They have also attempted to enslave the people of this State for ninety-two years against their will. This is the most high handed outrage that has ever been attempted before in the history of this proud commonwealth, it would be cowardly in the extreme for the freemen of Tennessee to submit to such an outrage. There is no question but what the iniquitous measure was passed by fraud and corruption. It is a child of the lobby and official corruption, and therefore it should be repudiated by all good people.

Immigration from Tennessee.
Meritrees Free Press, 25.
While high taxes are pushing many families out of Tennessee into Texas, Arkansas and elsewhere, the position in which the last Legislature placed the State is evidently an impediment in the way of those who would otherwise settle within her borders. The condition of the State in this regard is calculated to frighten capitalists away. Capital will seek investment where it can operate with the least cost and to the best advantage; the capitalist knowing that if his taxes be high his profits will be proportionally small. Taxes might be made so high as to become prohibitory to immigration. These declarations like treasuries commend themselves to the common sense of every one, and require no argument.
