Local Notes and Other News.

Remember the speaking at the Opera House Friday night by the candidates for State elector. Turn out and hear them.

The Holston Methodist mentions that Rev. D. W. Carter, missionary to Mexico, is on his way home. He will be at the Conference at Bristol.

On last Sabbath services were held in all our churches, except the Lutheran, with good attendance, which speaks well for the morals of our town.

The Southern Methodist church has been newly shingled. Pastor Simpson, himself, put in a couple of days of good service at the work. The church will be otherwise repaired and improved.

The revival which has been so well attended at the Baptist church in this place, conducted by Dr. Feasdale, has closed. We trust that much and lasting good was accomplished.

We notice that the Baptist Church, colored, on Cumberland street, has been remodeled and will, when completed, be a very comfortable place for worship.

The telegraph reports a general shake up at work from Iowa to West Virginia, but with no loss of life reported, and but little damage.

A little boy named Gilbert, engaged in feeding a cane mill at Chattanooga, on the 19th, in some way his head was caught between the lever and the mill frame, and the boy was decapitated in an instant.

Wm. J. Llewellyn, of Knoxville, a mail agent running from Jellico to Louisville, died in his chair while at supper at Jellico on the evening of the 18th. His remains were interred at Knoxville.

Lookout for Goodson & Blair's Fall Opening! The day will be announced in the next issue of THE GAZETTE. This is to be the largest display of dress goods—millinery and fancy goods—ever before opened in Morristown. Come and see.

Maj. A. H. Gregg and family returned from Transylvania, New York, Saturday night, where they accompanied the remains of their late son, Arthur S. Gregg. An account of the funeral and other reference to the sad event is published in another column, from the Transylvania Sentinel.

The Supreme Court at Knoxville, on the 17th, affirmed the case of the State vs. Jesse Fain, and sentenced him to be hung on Friday, October 31, 1884. Fain perpetrated the deliberate murder of a section boss on the Cincinnati Southern railroad, near Emory Gap, Roane county, Tennessee, some time since.

The Chicago Iron Fair, at Chattanooga, one of the largest and finest in the South, was blown out on the 17th. The officers say they will resume operations in four weeks. The suspension is attributed to the low price of iron rather than on account of necessary repairs, as claimed by the officers.

The gross earnings of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad for the year ending June 30, 1884, were $4,124,495. Operating expenses, $3,474,188; interest on bonds and car trust, $1,302,995; taxes, $18,616—total, $5,220,704. Excess receipts for year, $247,700, which was absorbed in the purchase of equipment and steel rails.

The Little Rhodens Dramatic Company will give two performances in this place next week, on the 29th and 30th inst. The company is first-class in its entire make-up, and the managers of the Opera House claim that it will be the most attractive yet presented to a Morristown audience. Those who appreciate theatricals should not miss the engagements of the Rhodens.

The peanut crop this year promises to be 4,000,000 bushels, against 3,000,000 in 1881, which is the largest ever yet grown. The bulk of this crop will be raised in Humphrey's, Perry, Wayne, Benton, Decatur, Hickman and Dickson counties, Tennessee, and in Southampton, Nansemond, Isle of Wight, Surrey, Prince George, Gloucester, Princess Anne and Norfolk, Virginia.

The Louisville and Nashville and the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad companies have applied to the Federal court for an injunction to restrain the Comptroller from collecting the taxes assessed against them by the Railroad Assessors for 1883-4. The motion has just been heard before the Hon. Stanley Matthews, at Cincinnati, who now has the case under advisement.

Mrs. Barbara Kuhn, of Chattanooga, had a narrow escape from death on the 14th. She was sick and had two prescriptions to take, one being yellow jaundice, a rank poison, of which she was to take twenty drops, and the other a tonic, of which she was to take two spoonfuls. By mistake she reversed the dose, and it was only by the united efforts of four physicians, after six hours work, that she was saved.

Gov. Hendricks had a miraculous escape from death on the 17th. He was passing on the Illinois, Bloomington and Western railroad, when near Farmer City, a broken rail, was struck near two other rails, and the baggage car was derailed and demolished. Seven passengers were seriously injured, and ten or fifteen others received slighter bruises. High authorities in the country had reported the highest confidential positions with business men.

The cholera epidemic, we are glad to note, continues to abate in Italy. There is a marked decrease in the number of daily deaths. At Naples, the daily bulletin of cholera in Italy was reported as 432 new cases and 263 deaths on the 17th.

It seems the present scandal about James G. Blaine was a live issue in Maine as far back as 1857 and 1858, and that he began two libel suits at that time, but has not yet got far to trial. If he loses with the Indiana Appeal, Senator Col. Shoemaker's heirs may feel safe.

Mrs. Talitha Black Watterson, wife of Hon. H. C. SAM'L, died at the residence of her late named gentleman at Louisville, Ky., on the 13th, in the seventy-third year of her age. The deceased left many friends in many different States, besides two sisters—Mrs. Justice Stanley Matthews, of Washington, and Mrs. Judge Vizer, of Paducah, Kentucky.

Speaking of the theatrical troupe billed for McFarland's Opera House, in this place, Monday and Tuesday nights of next week, the Johnson City Comet, that has had an opportunity of knowing whereof it speaks, says: "An excellent theatrical troupe has been at Bristol this week giving entertainments each night of the fair. The same troupe has been induced to give entertainments during the Johnsons' fair. Don't fail to go, for it's the best troupe that has ever been in this part of Tennessee."

Hon. John Franklin Denwick died at his residence in Jonesboro, September 11, 1884, in the 79th year of his age. He had been for forty years in the public service, twenty-seven as clerk and master of the chancery court at Jonesboro, and thirteen as clerk of the Supreme Court at Knoxville. He was the idol of his own household, and will be missed from the haunts of men, for his pure and honorable life was a doctrine. For many years he had been a member of the Presbyterian church.

Black dress goods, an immense stock, all new styles; send for samples. McNulty & Borches.

The Cleveland and Hendricks Club was addressed last Friday night by Hon. Wm. McFarland. He began by promising that no very great difference between party platforms is apparent, but that the Republican party's claim to be continued in power is based upon what is herefore done. He then, from the facts of history, framed such an indictment against that party as we have rarely listened to. His speech was listened to with intense interest by the audience, and was pronounced by all from whom we heard an expression one of the best and most statesmanlike speeches yet heard in Morristown during the campaign. We beg to suggest, as we have heard many others suggest, that the Congressional Committee could not do a better thing than to induce Judge McFarland to make and fill a list of appointments.

The latest and fanned suitings, the latest. McNulty & Borches, Knoxville.

The hand-woven collection of lady's handwork, probably, that has ever gone abroad for exhibition from this place, is that of Mrs. Capt. J. C. Hodges, which will be sent to the Greenville Fair this week. The following articles are embraced in the collection: Point lace linen hand-made handkerchiefs; point and honiton lace linen collar; one piece black silk point lace; one piece point lace and crochets; silk; one case zephyr and feather flowers. Besides these there are a number of other fancy articles, all handsome in design and beautifully worked. Mrs. Hodges will complete for the premium to be awarded in this kind of work, which, we believe, is a lady's gold watch. With her rich specimens of genuine art, she will present a very formidable competitor, and it would surprise us a bit if she carries off the watch. We hope she may. Those who attend the Fair should see Mrs. Hodges' exhibit.

The Congressional judges of the recent primary election between Taylor and Pettibone met at Jonesboro on the 15th, and after an examination of the returns from the various counties, declared that of the entire vote cast Pettibone had received 7,000 votes and Taylor 5,532 votes, giving Pettibone a majority of 2,569 votes. Through Mr. Pettibone was notified of his nomination. W. P. Brownlow, of Washington, and W. D. Kenner, of Hawkins, were put in nomination for permanent chairman of the Congressional committee, and Brownlow was elected. The names of J. F. Hale, J. T. Campbell and A. A. Taylor were placed in nomination for elector. Col. Tommy Reeves expressed a suspicion that A. F. Taylor would not support Pettibone for Congress, and at his instance a special committee waited on Taylor to probe him on that matter. Taylor informed the committee that he "was not seeking the position." Thereupon Mr. J. F. Hale, of Hamblen county, was elected.

A Boston letter in the Philadelphia Times gives a graphic picture of James Mulligan, the involuntary author of Mr. Blaine's undoing. We have room only for a single paragraph: "James Mulligan is a singular individual. He has lived in this city for more than thirty years, and always occupied positions of trust and responsibility. In all of them he has shown himself an exemplary citizen, and his name stands higher than his. This fishman occupies a peculiar position in this community. He came from the north of Ireland years ago, and joins in the Protestant rather than the Catholic faith. With a stubborn idea of integrity, he is known as a man whose word is as good as his bond. No one in this city or elsewhere could charge him with an untruth or with bad faith and he believed. Ever since he landed in this country he has occupied the highest confidential positions with business men."

On Saturday last Mr. Louis R. McWhorter, of Nashville, visited our city. He is on a tour through the different counties of East Tennessee in the interest of the World's Industrial and Cotton Centennial Exposition, to be held in New Orleans, commencing December 1st, 1884, of which his father, Col. A. J. McWhorter, is the United States Commissioner for the State of Tennessee. He is well pleased to see the united interest taken in this important matter by the citizens of Claiborne, Hancock, Grainger, Hawkins, Hamblen and Cooke counties, comprising the "Morristown and Cumberland Gap Mineral, Timber and Agricultural Belt of East Tennessee. He says that the boom for this Morristown Mineral Belt has already stimulated other counties, and that the mineral and timber resources of this Belt of East Tennessee will be the most attractive exhibit he believes, that there will be in New Orleans, and that they already have letters from England and other localities in the continent asking if the mineral and timber resources of East Tennessee will be largely exhibited at the World's Exposition. Our citizens of the rich mineral belt must not let this boom die out. Let every citizen feel that he will be personally benefited, and let him put his shoulder to the wheel. Bring in your specimens as soon as possible to the vice-presidents of each of the counties comprising the Morristown Mineral Belt. For any and all information apply to the vice-president of the Association. By our united effort we will make such a display that will bring outside capital to this belt and utilize our mountains of mineral deposits.

While First Congress, Sept. 11. On last Sabbath in the Presbyterian church at this place we listened to a thorough going, soul stirring sermon, on Sabbath breaking and irreverence for the sanctuary of God, by Rev. Harry Smith, of Morristown. A large audience was in attendance, which he held spell-bound for more than an hour. He firmly maintained that to remain at home on the Sabbath day rather than to attend preaching when convenient, making preparation for the purpose of carrying out a kind of work on the Sabbath that could have been done some other day of the week, ministers deferring going to their appointments until Sunday morning and then making long rides on the Sabbath in order to reach their appointments, the practice of postponing going for the doctor when one is complaining, until Sunday, also the custom of doctors attending such cases and the practice of druggists filling prescriptions of this kind are all very grievous sins.

STATE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION. C. S. Douglas, A. M., president of the Tennessee State Teachers' Association, has issued a circular letter stating that the twentieth anniversary of the association will be held at Paris on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 2nd, 3rd and 4th. By invitation, the Tennessee and other states have been invited and are expected to participate in the meetings. All persons will be permitted to take part in the discussions. Hon. Thomas H. Paine, state superintendent of public education, is doing all in his power to make the meeting a grand success, and will be present and expects a large attendance of teachers from all portions of the state. W. B. Van Cleave, Jr., of Paris, superintendent of public instruction for his county, has all his commitments at work, and the teachers from home and abroad may feel satisfied that ample and complete arrangements will be made by the hospitable citizens of Paris for their entertainment. The circular advises all who expect to attend from abroad to communicate at once with the secretary of the association, Prof. Frank Goodman, Nashville. The president urgently invites all teachers of the public and private schools, colleges and universities to be present and help make it the best and most interesting meeting yet held by the association. Citizens and professional men, as well as teachers, are most cordially invited to attend, and especially the ladies.

OUR EXHIBITION.

WHAT THE MORRISTOWN BELT PROPOSES TO DO.

PREPARATIONS FOR A GRAND DISPLAY OF OUR MINERAL, TIMBER AND AGRICULTURAL RESOURCES AT NEW ORLEANS.

At a meeting of the delegates appointed by the citizens of the counties of Claiborne, Grainger, Cooke and Hamblen to perfect a permanent organization for the purpose of unitedly making an exhibit of the mineral, timber and other resources of the several counties, at the World's Industrial and Cotton Exposition, to be held in New Orleans, La., on December 1st, 1884, the following business was transacted:

The meeting was called to order by Wm. Van Hous, chairman of the citizens meeting of Hamblen county.

On motion of T. G. Fulkerson, of Claiborne county, it was unanimously adopted that the name of this organization shall be the Morristown and Cumberland Gap Mineral, Timber and Agricultural Belt Association of East Tennessee.

On motion of Judge W. McFarland, the chair was instructed to appoint a committee of three to report a program for the permanent organization of this district. The chairman appointed Hon. W. McFarland, T. G. Fulkerson and W. J. McSwain as said committee.

The committee made the following report: "We your committee appointed to report a program and plan of permanent organization beg to make the following report:

- 1. That this organization elect a president, and one vice president from each county, a secretary and a treasurer.
2. That the vice president from each county shall act as the president of his respective county, and shall proceed at once to call a meeting of their citizens and elect a secretary and treasurer.
3. That a general meeting of the vice presidents from each of the counties, shall constitute an executive committee, for the transaction of all business when a full meeting of the organization can not be had; and they shall constitute an auditing committee to audit all accounts of every character and report the same at the regular meeting.
4. That each county (that has not done so) shall appoint a committee of one or more, from each district, to memorialize their county court to make an appropriation for the purpose of carrying out the objects of this organization; and that each member of said committee be requested to be present at the October term of said county court and use their endeavors to secure from their respective counties the necessary appropriation.
5. That a committee be appointed by each of the counties in each district to obtain signatures of the citizens praying the county court to make an appropriation for the purpose of carrying out the objects of this organization, and to lay the same before the county court.
6. That each citizen of the respective counties be requested to procure specimens of the different minerals, timber and agricultural products that they may have and deliver them to the vice presidents of their respective counties, the specimens to be marked plainly the name of the State and county, also giving the name of the exhibitor and their post office address, with the name of the article exhibited.
7. That a general meeting of the appointed take charge of all specimens from the several counties and collect them together in Morristown, preparatory to sending them to New Orleans.
8. That the secretary of each county be requested to frequently communicate with the secretary of this organization, at Morristown, Tenn., as to the progress they are making in their respective counties.
9. That the following form of petition be printed and distributed to each of the counties at once that the citizens of the counties may have an opportunity of signing them prior to the October term of court:
To the Worshipful County Court of — County:
The undersigned citizens and taxpayers of your county would respectfully represent to your worshipful body as follows:
Most of the States of the South, as well as other States and nations, are taking active steps to exhibit their several resources at the World's Exposition, to be opened at New Orleans, Dec. 1, 1884. Many States, through their legislatures, have made appropriations to that end. Tennessee, as a State, has made no such appropriation. Many counties are moving in that direction, and to that end have already made appropriations. A number of citizens of the counties of Cooke, Hamblen, Grainger, Claiborne, and other adjacent counties are taking active steps to prepare proper exhibits jointly of the mineral, timber and agricultural products of that belt of counties, to the end that the hundreds of thousands of visitors to that exposition may be to some extent made acquainted with the untold wealth of our section and induced to invest their means in its development.
To that end some means will be absolutely essential, and as the enterprise is one tending to the promotion of the general welfare, we most respectfully beg your honorable body to appropriate of appropriating out of the county treasury such sum as you may deem proper, to be expended in collecting and placing upon exhibition such specimens as will properly exhibit our resources.
10. That no bids or vouchers shall be paid by the treasurer without the approval of the president.
11. That the president, in the absence of a quorum of executive committee, shall have the power to carry out the objects of this organization.
On motion of Col. T. C. Cain, the report of committee was adopted and committee discharged.

The meeting then proceeded to the election of officers.

Capt. T. S. Newcomb was elected president, Maj. S. L. Campbell secretary, and Wm. McFarland treasurer.

The following vice-presidents were unanimously elected: T. G. Fulkerson, Claiborne county; Judge James T. Shields, Grainger county; Col. T. C. Cain, Hamblen county; Col. J. B. Stokely, Cooke county.

Capt. J. C. Hodge then moved the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the secretary be instructed to correspond with L. M. Jarvis, commissioner for Hancock county, and R. L. Blevins, commissioner for Hawkins, asking if the citizens of their respective counties are desirous of uniting with the counties in making this unit-d exhibit; and should these counties express themselves favorable, that the above-named commissioners be appointed vice-presidents of their counties under the same instructions given the vice-presidents of this organization.
On motion of Col. T. C. Cain, the following commissioners appointed by Col. A. J. McWhorter, State commissioner, be asked to co-operate with this organization, etc.
Miss Sadie V. Helms, Miss Mattie Carmichael, and Capt. J. C. Hodges, for Hamblen county; W. S. Shields and Miss Lucy Tomlinson, for Grainger county; Mrs. Dr. B. F. Hall and Mrs. W. J. McSwain for Cooke county.
On motion of ————, the president was instructed to prepare and have printed an address to the citizens, explaining the kind of exhibits and manner in which to be prepared, and furnish copies to each of the vice-presidents for general circulation.
On motion, the meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the president.

FROM THORN HILL.

THORN HILL, Tenn., Sept. 16. To the Editor of THE GAZETTE:
The prospect is very flattering for a new road across the Clinch mountain at this place. The new road will be east of the old one, and will run through the famous Kunkles' track, now owned by C. C. Smith, Esq., of Rutledge, containing about 1,400 acres, all timbered land. The road is marked, surveyed and graded, and will not be over a 6-degree road; from top to foot will be about three miles on the South side and one on the North. The road is to be built by the militia of the 10th, 11th and 34th districts, assisted by contributions.

Rev. Gilbert Adkins, assisted by H. Hawks, Joe Hammer, Farmer Oliver and Pat. Collins, have just closed quite an interesting religious meeting at this place, resulting in the conversion of 19 souls and 18 accessories to the church. They are at the Iron Jacks or Hardshell farm.

Our estimable friend, Mr. Moore, whose aspirations are among the legislative halls at Nashville, is with us. He is at present making his home in Cracker's Neck, in this county, among the "darlings."

About two thousand fine saw logs are placed on the banks of Indian creek, near here, ready for Chattanooga when the tide comes. More logs will be shipped down Clinch this year than any previous year.

A heavy rain and hail storm passed through a portion of this and Claiborne county last Wednesday, doing much damage. Lightning struck a barn belonging to Mrs. Farmer, setting on fire the hay which it was filled and destroying the barn.

Capt. R. Bondren has just returned from the Kentucky markets, where he has been for some time, with a fine lot of short-horn and "cutlers," accompanied by a few Southdowns. The indications are that Mr. B. did well, as he is now clad in a new Winchester suit.

C. P. Cartwell, of this place, sold to Mr. McNew, of Abingdon, Va., 20 head of young steers at $34. Mr. C. is an enterprising farmer, and will ere long be a rich man.

SPECIAL EXCURSION TRAINS TO THE GREENVILLE FAIR.

Special excursion trains will be run from Knoxville to the Greene county Fair on Thursday and Friday of next week. These trains will leave Knoxville at about 7 a. m., and arrive at Greenville about 10:30 a. m. They will leave Greenville about 6 p. m., and arrive at Knoxville about 10 p. m. Special trains will also leave Greenville going East on Thursday and Friday of next week at about 4 o'clock p. m., arriving at Bristol at about 10 p. m. The excursion rate on the Fair on all the roads is only 3 cents a mile for the round trip. A large attendance is expected from all points on the lines of the railroads.

THE WORLD'S CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION.

The ladies of Morristown and Hamblen county will please meet at the Opera House in Morristown, on Thursday, Sept. 25th, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of organizing a ladies' department for the exhibition of their handwork at the New Orleans Exposition. Similar organizations will be made by the ladies of Claiborne, Hancock, Grainger, Hawkins, Hamblen and Cooke counties, on Saturday, Sept. 27, at their respective county seats. The following ladies are appointed by Col. A. J. McWhorter, U. S. Commissioner for the State of Tennessee, as commissioners for their respective counties, viz:
Hawkins county—Mrs. S. V. McJohnson.
Hamblen county—Miss S. V. Helms, Miss Mattie Carmichael, Grainger county—Miss Lucy Tomlinson.
Claiborne county—Mrs. D. Morrison.
Cooke county—Mrs. W. J. McSwain.

DEATH OF ARTHUR S. GREGG.

From the Transylvania (N. Y.) Sentinel, Sept. 17. Having indefinite particulars, our last issue made brief reference with regard to the death of Arthur S. Gregg, but authentic information since received permits us to mention such details regarding the sad event as will be of interest to the many friends of the deceased. As is well known, Mr. Gregg has, during the past few years, represented the firm of Gregg & Co. in important positions which have required his presence, each season, during the several months in the Southern States, and particularly in Morristown, Tenn., where a branch office of the firm is located. Some time since, as was customary, he adjusted affairs here so as to be absent several weeks, and he was accompanied by his wife and two children, as well as a number of several weeks might be advantageously employed in the interests of the Southern Agency. With that view Mr. Gregg proceeded South some two months since, leaving his wife and children in the charge of his partner, Mr. B. B. Blevins, who is a well known and respected citizen of Morristown. Mr. Gregg was riding on the forward car of the train, which is run by gravity, the car being controlled by a system of brakes, but through some cause unknown the brakes failed to operate promptly, and the forward car derailed, Mr. Gregg being hurled from it, his head coming in contact with the wheel and frame of the car following. While he was otherwise injured, the fatal wound was that of the head. Every available attention was given him, but without favorable results. Death was almost instantaneous; for while evidence of life remained some two hours following the accident, consciousness was lost immediately. His parents, residing at Morris-ova, Tenn., were promptly notified of the disaster, and immediately were taken to reach their son with skilled medical attendance, but all trains having passed for the day, it was as a helpless and hopeless effort. But with a sympathy stronger than all personal interest, and with all of his praise and gratitude the officers of the Railway cleared the road and gave the relieving party the right of way. But as the journey was being accomplished, on the distant mountain, attended by rugged men with horny hands but tender, sympathetic hearts, the son dying, and his father's heart broken, the deceased arrived here on Thursday evening, Sept. 11th, many friends being at the depot on his arrival. The funeral services were held on Friday, Sept. 12th, and were largely attended. Rev. R. H. Van Pelt officiating.
