

Pious and Charitable.

The Nashville Christian Advocate "an exclusively religious journal" according to the solemn declaration of one of its editors a few weeks ago to Secretary Chase, in last February published this humane and pious paragraph:

THE BISHOP OF NASHVILLE.—A statement published in one of the city papers yesterday morning, says the Nashville Gazette, 19th inst., represents that the Catholic Bishop of this Diocese, who left here recently on a visit to the United States, has turned traitor to the South, and given important information to our enemies. We hope, and rather think, there is some mistake about this matter. If disappointed in this hope and opinion, the statements referred to turns out to be substantially correct, we have simply to say if the reverend Bishop ever comes this way again, no better or more deserving subject for a Southern gallows could be found. It would be an entertaining sight to see the Bishop's unpriestly conduct.

How refined and Christian-like for Reverend Doctor McFerrin, author of the Confederate Primer, and head of that "exclusively, eleemosynary and charitable institution," the Publishing House, to advise the hanging of a man, if it should turn out that he was loyal and faithful to his country! It would be an "entertaining sight" to see the Bishop's unpriestly conduct!

Blackwood's Magazine.

We have received from LEONARD, SCOTT & Co., New York, Blackwood's Magazine, the Edinburgh, North British, and the Westminster Reviews, and the London Quarterly. These celebrated reprints of British Periodicals have for near half a century been welcomed by men of cultivation and reading, as containing the cream of current literature, and discussing with wonderful learning and ability the political issues of the day. No man of general information, no student, no politician, can afford to be without these great Magazines. The Quarterly before us has an article on "The Merit and the Monitor," in which the revolution in maritime warfare being produced by these American prodigies, is extensively discussed. The price of Blackwood and any one of the Reviews is $5, or the four Reviews and Blackwood for $10.

M. M. BRIEN, candidate for Circuit Judge, will address the citizens of Nashville this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock, at Dan Ward's, on the corner of Cedar and Spruce streets. He respectfully invites Turner S. Foster and Judge Baxter to be present. The public are respectfully invited to hear him. Come out, lovers of liberty! come out, enemies of Rebellion! come out all who are opposed to King Harris and his edicts, and hear a true Union man, and give him your hearty support.

The Memphis Argus, in an article on gunboats, says: "Thus far it must be confessed our attempts with the gunboats on the river have been a disgusting fizzle. The people know it, and so does the Government."

A correspondent of the Memphis Argus says that 33 per cent. of Bishop Polk's army was killed and wounded at Shiloh!

We are much indebted to a friend for some valuable information he furnished us recently. We have handed the information over to the military authorities, believing that this course would be more advantageous to the public than a publication at the present time. The matter will be attended to.

After a season of heat and dust, the May showers have come in with their watering-pots, and said to old Mother Earth, "Down with your dust, Madam!" Once more the air is pleasant and fragrant.

The attention of our readers is directed to an advertisement for a furnished house in another column.

How do the people like Turner S. Foster's platform, which we publish to-day? Will his Confederate passes pass current at the polls?

Lunch for the thousand, at the White House, on Deaderick street. Daily at 10 o'clock.

Get Your Passes! We advise every one who intends to vote for Mr. Foster to-morrow to go to that individual immediately and get his pass signed to the polls.

The Nashville Patriot a short time ago, in noticing General Mitchell's speech in Cincinnati, in which he spoke of going South to quell the rebellion, said:

First, he will never get a brigade to agree to make the experiment; and second, if he did, his brigade would be whipped in less than two minutes, and he would be made to see the stars again.

Since that prediction was made in the luminous columns of the Patriot, the invincible Mitchell has swept through the very heart of the South without meeting one obstacle worthy of the name. What prophets these rebel editors were!

A correspondent of the Louisville Journal, in speaking of Gen. Dumont's recent gallant fight at Lebanon, refers to "Mr. Peace." The compliment is well deserved, but the Journal has misprinted the name. It should read "Wm. Spence," one of the most prominent and influential citizens of Rutherford county, who has been loyal to the Government "during the war."

Communication.

NASHVILLE, TENN., May 19, 1862. MR. S. C. MEROER,

Editor Nashville Daily Union: DEAR SIR:—Although a stranger to you personally, I am not to your widely circulated and interesting paper. I hope you will not pass I may say this imperfect note into oblivion, as it is through true love of Freedom and National Independence that I transmit it. At the same time congratulating you in your noble and patriotic undertaking in establishing in our midst a paper so well adapted to the advancement of our cause and protection of the rights and privileges of the Union men of this city and State, which have been so unmercifully maltreated by those damnable rascals and hell hounds of Secessionists who now infest this city.—Thank the Almighty we are now under a Government so much endeared to and appreciated by every true and sincere lover of Freedom and civilization. I feel proud to read your valuable little paper, and will circulate it among my friends and acquaintances. I hope I will have the pleasure of announcing to you in a short while the formation of a Union club in this city to assist you in the perpetuation of your worthy paper. Yours respectfully,

EDITORS NASHVILLE DAILY UNION:

I noticed a short time since a piece in your paper concerning the families of rebel soldiers in Edgfield. There was a benevolent society formed in Edgfield for the benefit of the rebel soldiers' families. Zachary Payne, of Edgfield, Justice of the Peace, was the treasurer of that association. I do not know how long the association agreed to keep this up, as I understand it was a monthly donation. Inasmuch as Squire Zachary Payne failed to attend to the duties that were imposed upon him, I ask that he be required to furnish a list of all the names of persons who donated money for that purpose. We would also call your attention to the extra tax imposed upon the people of Davidson County by the County Court, for the purpose of assisting soldiers' families who have been left here by their sons, fathers and brothers, who had been told their families should not suffer. We would also refer you to the records of the County Court for further information. We have a good many wealthy rebels in this place who told the poor men of this city, if they would go off and fight for the Southern Confederacy, under the Stars and Bars, that their families should not suffer. A good many men of this city went, and their families have never received one cent since their husbands, fathers, and brothers went off to fight for the Southern Confederacy. CITIZENS.

EDITOR NASHVILLE DAILY UNION:

In answer to questions proposed by "CITIZENS," in your issue of yesterday, I have to say:

1st. If elected, I shall apply for a commission to Governor ANDREW JOHNSON and his Secretary of State.

2nd. If elected, I will take the oath to support the Constitution and Government of the United States and of the State of Tennessee.

I will add, that I consider the two terms system adopted by the last Legislature a nullity; and shall, if elected, hold three terms of the court per annum. MANSON M. BRIEN.

An Admirable Article.

The New York World has compiled some highly important facts with reference to the National debt and National credit which are of the utmost interest to all. Several points are clearly demonstrated.

First, That public credit has advanced within the past fortnight rapidly, and that the funds of 1861 are selling at par.

Second, That the three year's loan Bonds have gone up to 104 1/2 per cent and interest.

Third, That the U. S. Treasury notes, in amount over $100,000,000, circulate at par.

Fourth, That all this has been done without one dollar of foreign aid.

Fifth, That the Public Debt, instead of being $1,000,000,000, as stated by the late address of the Buchanan Democrats, is only $400,000,000. But we must give an extract from the World's article:

The Public Credit has advanced rapidly on the Stock Exchange within the past fortnight. On Saturday week the sales of the Public Funds of 1861 at par at the Board of Brokers, was deemed an event so suspicious and gratifying as to induce an exchange of congratulations between the President of the Board and the Hon. Secretary of the Treasury. These Funds, in the darker days of the rebellion in the summer of 1861, were awarded from the Treasury as low as 85 per cent, and fell at one time on the Stock Exchange to 80 per cent, the accumulated interest being thrown out of the account.—Another award was subsequently made to the Associated Banks of the three Atlantic Cities at 89.32 per cent, to the extent of fifty millions of dollars, and so fearful were some of the Banks that this operation might prove a losing one that they accepted the first offers of the public, through the Stock Exchange, to relieve themselves at cost and interest. It was not until late in April that the market advanced materially above 92 or 93 per cent, and under all these circumstances the unexpected pressure expressed at the first sales in May at the par value of the Stock is not to be wondered at. This pressure is now increasing by the circumstance that on Saturday last the same Stock sold at 100 per cent.

Again: The patriotic people of the loyal States were appealed to soon after the disaster of Ball Run to subscribe to a loan, of three years' date, in Treasury Bonds bearing the rate of 7 3/4 per cent. per annum interest, or two cents per diem on the $100. The Banks advanced the money to the extent of $50,000,000, and the public subscriptions came in promptly to relieve this advance.—The Banks subsequently subscribed for a like amount for their own account, as a matter of further assistance to the Government; rather than expected profit, and most of this sum was afterwards distributed without loss by re-sales to the public. Both the original subscribers and the Banks are now rewarded for their timely responses to the appeals of the Treasury by seeing these Bonds go up to the price of 104 1/2 per cent, and interest.

Another class of public debt, in the shape of a National Currency of United States Notes of Circulation, proves equally successful. They find universal currency through the wide extent of the country, and are accepted as legal money, not only without loss or inconvenience, but with a pleasure which is heightened by the complete triumph of this measure over the opposition and apprehension of an influential class of financial people, who wrote and warmly remonstrated against it last winter. Over one hundred millions have been put in circulation, and received with such favor that the difference against these Notes, as compared with Gold, is about two per cent. less than when the law making them a legal tender, was passed in February. An auxiliary aid to the Treasury, in the shape of six per cent. Certificates, having twelve months to run, has proved equally acceptable, and the Certificates are readily made available by the public creditors, to whom they are paid out at their par value.

These things have occurred to the public credit; these various means have been brought to the support of the Public Treasury, through the trials of a civil war of gigantic proportions and cost, without the first dollar of foreign aid, and against the predictions of failure and bankruptcy, and sneers of contempt of the most influential journals in Europe. Not only so; but this success is in spite of the most exaggerated and persistent misrepresentations, at home and abroad, of the sums total required for the war, and the progress and immediate extent of the Public Debt. The fair and honest estimates of the Secretary of the Treasury in his annual report of December, have been either thrown aside or utterly discredited, and members of Congress, within a week past, have put their names to an appeal to the people against the integrity and economy of the Administration, in which it is falsely asserted that the Public Debt has been swollen to one thousand millions, in place of four hundred millions as it actually stands, in place of $17,000,000 as the Secretary estimated to the 30th June next in his report; and in place of $600,000,000, the outside calculation of the Department, from the present look of the matter as the amount will stand in the month of July next.

A FIT REBUKE.—A correspondent of the Northampton Gazette and Courier, writing from Fort Warren, says:

General Tilghman had sent to him, a few days ago, by a Union lady in Kentucky, a large and beautiful bunch of flowers, that grew on the grave of his grandfather, who fought in the Revolutionary War for the freedom we have so long enjoyed. She also sent a request that every time he looked at the bouquet, he would remember his patriotic grandfather, and how he has dishonored his name, by trying to tear down that fair Government which his grandfathers had labored so hard to build up.

It has been raining all day, and prospect for rain to night.

DR. COLEMAN'S PRIVATE DISPENSARY.

THE attention of citizens, strangers, and others visiting Nashville, requiring medical aid, is respectfully called to this office, No. 21 Deaderick street, second floor, between Cherry and the Square. Dr. COLEMAN is an old practitioner of medicine; his almost unlimited experience and flattering success for many years past, in the treatment of private diseases, has induced him to devote his undivided attention to all diseases of this nature. Many cases of the most inveterate character have promptly yielded to his improved method of treatment. Primary Secondary, Tertiary and Hereditary Syphilis, Gonorrhoea, Gleet and all diseases of the genital and urinary organs, meet with no resistance to his remedial.

A female irregularities and functional derangement of the womb, and the disease arising from Gestation and its managed parturition. Every case of Mole and Retention, and of Pilon, and Protrusion of the Rectum, and most cases of Fatale, can be cured by a process nearly painless. If either of the latter cases is undertaken by Dr. Coleman, a cure is invariably secured, as a careful examination always presents the necessary indications of success or failure by his improved method of operating. Persons of either sex applying in person or by letter (answering cases) on the first symptoms of any acute specific disease, can be cured, in most cases, by the abortive method, in forty-eight hours. Struck colds, prompt attention, and moderate charges, will govern him with his patients. No mercury used in the treatment of venereal diseases, as he believes (in most cases) it produces a worse disease than that it is given to cure. Office hours from eight in the morning till nine in the evening. Jan 10, 1862-ly
