

NASHVILLE UNION.

We take the following letter from an exchange. Here is a man murdered and his house burned by the rebels for talking with Northern soldiers! This is the return we get for misplaced clemency. Let it serve as a warning to us in the future:

A Zouave as is a Zouave—Terrible Virginia Justice.

SEVEN PAGES. Six miles from Richmond, May 30. An incident of adventure characteristic of the Anderson Zouave, and of rigorous barbarism characteristic of the blood-earnest warfare of these rebels. On picket yesterday, Henry Oehl, of Company G, Anderson Zouaves, with a comrade, went forward to a distant farm house, to get information and enlarge his topographical knowledge of Virginia. The farmer came into the yard, and conversation sprang up between the three. "Suddenly," said Oehl, "twenty rebel soldiers rose like ghosts from the edge of the woods just beyond the house, and rushed towards us, calling to us to surrender. Not being much in that line of business, we raised our pieces and let fly at them. They returned the fire. A ball struck Oehl's right hand, knocked his musket out of it, and entered the abdomen at the centre, and went out at the left side. To run had now become a duty. Oehl doubled the corner of the house, and made for the nearest recesses of the White Oak swamp via a corn field, and the bushy covers of a line of old rail fence. The chase was keen one Oehl's coolness, cunning and courage saved him. Embosomed in the swamp, he watched his own hurt, and plugged the wound through his abdomen with his fingers. Soon he saw his pursuers return to the house, talk a moment with the farmer, and gesticulate forcibly to the fumed man. Some seized him, and some entered the house. The hidden Zouave was near enough to the building to catch the sounds within of the shrieking of children. Immediately these rushed out of the door, followed by smoke, and soon by flame. The ruffians burned the Virginian's house over his head for the crime of talking with northern soldiers who entered his yard, and Oehl says he feels sure that they killed him beside.

Are these people barbarians, or are they only earnest in carrying on war? While this tragedy of Virginia justice was in performance, at the house adjoining, Massachusetts soldiers were buying hoe-cake for twenty-five cents a piece, eggs at fifty cents a dozen, and butter at seventy-five cents a pound, and playfully sustained the abuse of the virago on the profitable side of this commerce, who gnashingly informed the soldiers that they would "catch falling fits" in a few days.

I saw Oehl's wounds dressed in the hospital near here, and I think he will get well.

Omens.

The New York Times has become a disserter of Omens, and beholds the sure destiny of the rebel leaders in the disastrous fortunes of their navy.

OMEN NUMBER ONE.

The first auspice adverse to the rebels was when the pirate ship, Jeff Davis, was dashed against the rocks, and went to the bottom of the sea. Immediately after it the tide turned against him, his kingdom began to break up, and now his ship of State is dashing among the breakers, and will inevitably sink to the bottom of the bloody sea on which he launched it.

OMEN NUMBER TWO.

The word "Sumter" at first was a name to conjure with; for at Fort Sumter the first success of the rebellion was achieved; but the vessel which the rebels soon driven in disgrace from the high seas by our cruisers, and is now skulking in the harbor of Gibraltar, under the protection of British guns.

OMEN NUMBER THREE.

Manassas was their next great success, and after it they named their tremendous iron ram, but in the naval engagement below New Orleans the ram was shivered to atoms and consumed by the fire of the Union guns.

OMEN NUMBER FOUR.

The latest sign of the fate awaiting the prominent rebels of the Southwest, comes in the news of the great naval battle on the Mississippi river, which we give this morning. In that engagement, the General Beauregard was blown up and burned—arguing a fearful doom for the little Creole.

OMEN NUMBER FIVE.

General Sterling Price had "one wheel carried away." Poor Gen. Price!

OMEN NUMBER SIX.

The Jeff Thompson was set on fire and blown up—a fit fate for the cutthroat and marauder of the Missouri swamps. Thus nearly every prominent rebel has had his doom foreshadowed; and in every case the event is following close upon the heels of the sign. Will not the deluded rebels see that even the gods are against them.

BEAUREGARD has rewarded one of his soldiers with the Cross of Honor. We don't believe that the rebel breed can be improved by any such cross.

The Sober Truth.

The Liverpool Post of the 19th ult., in an article which treats the Rebel cause as "gone up," thus speaks out: "We said, a few weeks ago, that the Secessionists had been used badly. Their apparent friends were their worst enemies. The British and the French Governments encouraged them in the belief that at least their independence would be recognized. The wish being father to the thought, the restoration of the Union was pronounced impossible. The Foreign Secretary said so in the British Parliament, and the representatives of the South were told that, if they achieved an assigned position, diplomacy would take action. This was the abiding sentiment of our Government, and only a few weeks since Mr. Gladstone in Manchester affirmed the foregoing conclusion. France was in accord with England. The French Minister at Washington was an avowed advocate of Secession; and if Lord Lyons did not agree with M. Mercier, the Southerners certainly believed that he did. The English press, with half a dozen exceptions, indulged in Southern "proclivities;" for journalists being generally ill-qualified to judge comprehensively of public affairs, are merely echoes of the Times, and the Times was dead against the North.

The people of this country pay very little attention to the foreign policy of the Cabinet, and they are therefore generally content to obey generous impulses, or a sacrifice to national prejudices, and in consequence the Southern element in force in Liverpool had no difficulty in giving an early direction to public opinion in favor of the South. Naturally enough, the Secessionists derived encouragement from all this, and fondly suffered themselves to be deceived. But the dark slave-spot was upon their cause, and European Governments dared not face the popular indignation that was sure to be evoked by anything stronger than sympathy for the South.

In the meantime, the North put on her giant strength, and drew a cordon of iron round the South. Wholesale prophecies of Federal deicide have been utterly fulfilled, while the predictions of Southern triumph have been proved equally untrue. A recognition of statistics and the application of common sense would have prevented these hurtful delusions. Few, however, had courage to utter truth, though the many have now come round to the convictions of the few.

DR. COLEMAN'S PRIVATE DISPENSARY. THE attention of citizens, strangers, and others visiting Nashville, requiring medical aid, is respectfully called to this Office, No. 21 Deaderick street, second door, between Cherry and the Square.

Dr. Coleman is an old practitioner of medicine; his almost unlimited experience and flattering success for many years past, in the treatment of various Diseases, has induced him to devote his undivided attention to all diseases of this nature. Many cases of the most inveterate character have promptly yielded to his improved method of treatment.

Primary, Secondary, Tertiary and Hereditary Syphilis, Gonorrhoea, Gleet and all diseases of the genital system, meet with no resistance to his remedies. A female irregularity and functional derangement of the Womb, and the disease arising from Gestation and its managed parturition. Every case of Retention of Urine, and of Piles, and Protrusion of the Rectum, and most cases of Fistula, can be cured by a process nearly painless. If either of the latter cases is undertaken by Dr. Coleman, a cure is immediately effected, as a careful examination always presents the necessary indications of success or failure by his improved method of operating.

Persons of either sex applying in person or by letter (describing case) on the first symptoms of any acute specific disease, can be cured, in most cases, by the abortive method, in forty-eight hours. Strict confidence, prompt attention, and moderate charges, will govern him with his patients. No mercury used in the treatment of venereal disease, as he believes (in most cases) it produces a worse disease than that it is given to cure. Office hours from eight in the morning till nine in the evening. Jan 16, '62-1y

Stop the Horse Thief.

FIFTY DOLLAR REWARD will be paid for the apprehension and delivery of the man and a Brown Horse that was stolen on Friday night, the 24th inst., from the stable of John M. Winsted, living in Williamson county six miles east of Franklin. The horse is the property of Mrs. Mary A. Patterson. He is a dark bay, 7 years old; a good Buggy Horse; a heavy tail, holds it rather to one side; trots and paces tolerably well; carries himself quite gay, his head up; he is newly shod all round. He is very noted by unobscuring himself when left standing in the stable. The man who stole him is supposed to be a deserter from the Federal Army. He is a small man, some 25 years of age, with bushy head; had on a light blue coat. He has been in the neighborhood several weeks. He called his name John Cook, but his real name is John Cook, which will be found on his blanket. The above reward will be paid on the delivery of said horse to Mrs. Mary A. Patterson, ten miles south of Nashville, near the Nolichucky Turnpike. N. B.—Says he belongs to the 47th or 54th Indiana Regiment. June 11-1m

DR. KING'S DISPENSARY FOR PRIVATE DISEASES. DR. KING, formerly of New York, is the last four years of Louisville, Ky., and who has devoted his attention to the treatment of private diseases for 20 years, father himself, having attended to a practice for so many years, and cured so many diseases, so that he is enabled to cure all diseases of private nature, so that they may be free from injudicious medical treatment or from neglect of them. Dr. King's Dispensary, No. 23 Deaderick street, between Cherry and the 2nd street; where he cures all diseases of a private nature.

Persons cured without anxious medicines or experience with treatment. Stricture of old or recent date, actually cured a few days, by an operation which causes no pain. Where a stricture exists health cannot be enjoyed. Perhaps no disease causes more suffering and renders the constitution so much. Syphilis, with all the diseases of the skin, arising out of neglect or bad treatment, can be actually cured in a few days. Seminal Weakness—Particular attention having been given to this disease, and all the consequences growing out of it, brought on in many cases by the destructive habits of dissipated youth, and excessive indulgence of the passions, a neglect of which will ruin the business or society, and endanger the subject and his family who may be laboring with any difficulty of the Womb may rest assured immediate relief. Persons residing abroad, by writing and stating their case, with a few enclosed, directed to Dr. A. King, No. 23 Deaderick street, Nashville, Tenn., will have the necessary medicine sent to their address. Office hours 9 o'clock in the morning until 9 in the evening. my 10-1w
