

W. H. SMITH, Editor. TRAP JONES, Editor. Office—No. 16 Broad Street. FOR PRESIDENT, JOHN BELL, of Tennessee. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1860.

We trust none of our readers will fail to give the progress of the Opposition State Convention, which we give in full this morning, a careful perusal—especially the Address and Resolutions. We will hereafter refer to the spirit which pervaded the Convention.

Opposition State Convention. The Convention was called to order by Col. W. L. MARTIN, of Wilson, and Col. STOKES, from the Committee on organization appointed at the preliminary meeting, reported the following officers:

Hon. JERK CLEMENS, of Shelby, For Vice President, SAM'L N. FAIN, of Jefferson, DEBRY MORRELL, of Wayne, JOHN CALDWELL, of Polk, HENRY C. GIBBS, of Polk, SAM'L T. MOTLEY, of Wilson, MATT. MARTIN, of Bedford, JOHN B. BRADLEY, of Polk, J. C. STARK, of Robertson, W. H. WARRER, of Henderson, ROBERT S. SANDERS, of Tipton.

The course of the Opposition papers in the State present were requested to act as Secretaries. Col. CLEMENS not being present, motion a committee of three was appointed to wait upon him.

Pending the action of the committee, Col. J. G. PICKETT, was loudly called upon, and entertained the large assembly with a stirring, eloquent and enthusiastic speech. The large Representative Hall crowded to its utmost capacity, and galleries.

Hon. JERK CLEMENS followed in response to repeated calls. His remarks were received with great applause.

Hon. JERK CLEMENS here appeared, assumed his seat, and addressed the Convention, tendering his acknowledgments for the honor assigned him and proceeded, at length, to give his views of the political state of the country.

After he had concluded, on motion of Col. THOS. T. SMILEY, Jacob Galloway, of Kentucky, was invited to a seat in the Convention, and a committee of three, consisting of Thomas C. Trimble, Jordan Stokes, and E. H. East, Jr., appointed to apprise him of the fact.

On motion, the delegates from the various counties were requested to report themselves to the Secretaries, and the following were reported:

- LIST OF DELEGATES. EAST TENNESSEE. Anderson—Neill S. Brown, W. G. Brown, Love, Wm. Cross, Wm. Wallace and David K. Young. Blount—Dr. Samuel Pridie and Samuel T. Bicknell. Bradley—D. C. Trewitt, A. Caldwell and F. W. Forrest, N. S. Brown, proxy. Campbell—R. V. Nash. Carter—R. M. Butler and R. H. Armstrong. Claiborne—John W. Kincaid and M. Y. Nash. Cole—D. V. Stokely and T. S. Gorman. Crittendon—D. Morris, M. C. Nash and D. W. C. Senter. Hamilton—D. C. Trewitt, G. R. Halford, John Anderson, R. H. Croft, F. G. Blackall, G. T. Thomas, S. Campbell, R. H. Black and Wilson Hixon. Hancock—W. M. Bradford, Geo. O. Cate, W. Stone, G. E. H. H. Callender, James Jefferson, Col. S. N. Fain, Wm. M. Bradford, Col. Wm. Brazleton, Jr., and R. D. Scruggs, Dr. A. A. Caldwell and S. M. McCampbell. Johnson—R. R. Butler. Knox—W. G. Brownlow, George M. Brantley, Robert West, James O'Connor, James S. Boyd, John Williams and R. H. Armstrong. McMinn—A. Caldwell and W. D. Van Hook. Meigs—Dr. J. W. Gillespie, proxy. Marion—James S. Hlavron. Monroe—A. Caldwell, A. L. Greene and Morgan. Morgan—T. H. Callender, proxy. Sumner—T. H. Callender, proxy. Todd—D. C. Trewitt, proxy. Union—Dr. J. W. Gillespie and Col. W. T. Gase. Roane—Austin L. Greene. Scott—D. C. Trewitt and J. W. Gillespie, proxies. Sevier—R. H. Blackall, proxy. Sullivan—Wm. Clark. Taylor—R. H. Blackall, proxy. Sevier—R. H. Blackall, proxy. Union—Dr. J. W. Gillespie and Col. W. T. Gase. Roane—Austin L. Greene. Scott—D. C. Trewitt and J. W. Gillespie, proxies. Sevier—R. H. Blackall, proxy. Sullivan—Wm. Clark. Taylor—R. H. Blackall, proxy.

Col. Stokes, from the Committee on Resolutions, reported the following ADDRESS AND RESOLUTIONS: The members of this Convention, chosen in primary meetings of the people in the respective counties, and representing the sentiments and opinions of all those, whether Whigs, Democrats, or Americans in times of peace, have met in this Convention, not out of alarm, the present political condition of the country, have convened for the purpose of taking counsel together, and to awaken the sleeping powers and arouse the indifference to a sense of the impending dangers, and to unite their energies to save the country from the disorganizing and revolutionary spirit of the times. They believe that the time has come when the people of this State should be united in a common purpose, and that the principles of our Government which all history shows are the parents and forefathers of our country, should be maintained, if they cannot be eradicated.

That we may not be accused of exaggerating the extent of the existing abuses and disorders in the body politic, and of overrating their disastrous and baneful consequences, a brief enumeration and description of the same, in the presence of the people, was submitted to the judgment of the people, who can apply a remedy.

Little more than two years ago the editor of a newspaper in New Hampshire, who had rudely assailed the character of a Secretary of State, was denied the publication of his article, and the editor of the paper in value, which had been accorded to him under previous administrations. This was a most singular and unprecedented instance of an act of tyranny and abuse of executive patronage—an attack upon the freedom of the press—upon liberty itself, in poisoning the minds of the people, and in bringing frequently bestowed upon the proprietors and editors of public journals in the interests of the administration, and jobs and contracts meted out to them on the ground of their political opinions.

Under the maxims and teachings of Jefferson, confirmed by the practice of Madison, Monroe and J. Q. Adams, the freedom of political opinion, and the right of free discussion, are now a thing of the past. The press is now a mere tool in the hands of the Executive, and the rights of the citizen are sacrificed to the interests of the Executive.

But soon after the close of the period of the late administration, James Buchanan and his immediate successors upon their important subjects, lost much of their force, and the people were enabled to see the true character of the Executive.

The first departure from them by the popular Chief of a new Administration found in the Executive, in the distribution of patronage, made upon his private character by his opponents in the canvass which had terminated in his election; and justification in the special circumstances of each case.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

But in time, under various plausible pretences, particularly that which assumed that the public interest required it, the Executive, in the hands of his friends and supporters, the functions of Jefferson were assumed, and the Executive patronage was used to secure the election of his friends.

that they are political partisans and supporters of the party in power, but form no just ground of complaint. But when hon. men are called to the aid of the people, and others who have no adequate qualifications for the office or duties to which they are assigned, the people are misled, and the Government is weakened, and the public interest is sacrificed.

Whatever well founded objections may exist to the maxim that "to the victors belong the spoils," it has been too long acquiesced in, and too firmly engrained, to be suddenly changed. If ever changed, it must be a work of time, and the people must be educated to the principle.

But the correction of the various abuses in the administration of the government, important as it is to the honor and welfare of the country, sinks into comparative insignificance when we turn to the overshadowing evil of the present administration, which is the most corrupt and dishonest in the history of the country.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

It is a question concerning the existence of the Union, and the National Union Convention, which is the only remedy for the present state of affairs.

Philadelphia, on each early day in the month of May next. Hon. G. A. Henry, of Montgomery, was loudly called for, and his appearance upon the stand was greeted by thousands of applauding voices. He addressed the Convention at length in one of the most eloquent, graceful and patriotic speeches it has ever heard. He depicted its inestimable blessings, and most forcibly and pointedly pointed out the evils which would result from its disruption.

After Maj. Henry had concluded, Hon. Wm. Zwing moved that Hon. Balle Peyton, G. H. Healy and N. G. Taylor be added to the delegates from the State at large to the National Union Convention, which motion prevailed unanimously.

Dr. Brownlow offered the following resolution, which was adopted unanimously: Resolved, That the seven Opposition Members of Congress from Tennessee be added to our delegation to the National Union Convention, viz: Messrs. Nelson, Maynard, Bradford, Stokes, Hatton, Quarles and Kirtledge.

On motion of James D. Porter, Jr., of Henry, a committee of three was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Porter, Balle Peyton and Dr. Brownlow, to wait upon Hon. John Bell and notify him of his nomination by this Convention as its choice for the Presidency, and invite him to address the Convention at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Richardson, of Rutherford, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That an Executive Committee of five from each division of the State be appointed, whose duty it shall be to assemble at Nashville as soon as possible after the adjournment of this Convention, and to publish an address to the people of Tennessee in relation to the subject of their coming together for the purpose of electing a President and Vice President.

H. K. Walker offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That this Convention heartily approve of the course pursued by the Opposition members of Congress from Tennessee during the recent protracted struggle for Speaker in the House of Representatives, and that we have the utmost confidence in their ability to discharge their duties as representatives of their State and the Union.

W. Brazleton, Jr., offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That the delegates to our National Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

S. S. Stanton offered the following, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Philadelphia, on each early day in the month of May next. Hon. G. A. Henry, of Montgomery, was loudly called for, and his appearance upon the stand was greeted by thousands of applauding voices. He addressed the Convention at length in one of the most eloquent, graceful and patriotic speeches it has ever heard. He depicted its inestimable blessings, and most forcibly and pointedly pointed out the evils which would result from its disruption.

After Maj. Henry had concluded, Hon. Wm. Zwing moved that Hon. Balle Peyton, G. H. Healy and N. G. Taylor be added to the delegates from the State at large to the National Union Convention, which motion prevailed unanimously.

Dr. Brownlow offered the following resolution, which was adopted unanimously: Resolved, That the seven Opposition Members of Congress from Tennessee be added to our delegation to the National Union Convention, viz: Messrs. Nelson, Maynard, Bradford, Stokes, Hatton, Quarles and Kirtledge.

On motion of James D. Porter, Jr., of Henry, a committee of three was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Porter, Balle Peyton and Dr. Brownlow, to wait upon Hon. John Bell and notify him of his nomination by this Convention as its choice for the Presidency, and invite him to address the Convention at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Richardson, of Rutherford, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That an Executive Committee of five from each division of the State be appointed, whose duty it shall be to assemble at Nashville as soon as possible after the adjournment of this Convention, and to publish an address to the people of Tennessee in relation to the subject of their coming together for the purpose of electing a President and Vice President.

H. K. Walker offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That this Convention heartily approve of the course pursued by the Opposition members of Congress from Tennessee during the recent protracted struggle for Speaker in the House of Representatives, and that we have the utmost confidence in their ability to discharge their duties as representatives of their State and the Union.

W. Brazleton, Jr., offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That the delegates to our National Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

S. S. Stanton offered the following, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to urge upon the President and Vice President of the United States the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of the Constitution.

Resolved, That the National Union Convention be and are hereby instructed to