We understand that Mrs. Elvira Hendrick is on her way home from California, expecting to arrive here the first of June. Mrs. Hogmire, a sister of N. D. Richardson, who has been in California the past two years, is also coming.

The other day Mr. B. Hyames, of Almena, left at our house some potatoes of the new variety known as the Late Rose, which we find to be of very good quality. Persons wishing to raise this variety can procure the seed of Mr. Hyames.

Last Thursday evening, I. W. Willard's dam gave way and let the water of the pond down on the railroad bridge. Slight damage was done to the bridge, which caused the trains to stop on the further side of the stream. They now cross the bridge regularly.

This bird may be regarded as a fair sample of the rooster who attempted to deal us a squarer, in last week's Courier. From the remarks, we are enabled to state that it represents the condition of that writer very fairly. We will mention, however, that the photograph was not taken by Prater.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Thaddeus W. Melcher, the well-known jeweler, died at his residence in this village of typhoid fever. Mr. Melcher was fifty-three years old and had been a resident of this place about thirty years. He leaves a widow and three sons, who have all grown to manhood. The deceased has been an active and enterprising citizen for the greater portion of his residence here, always taking a lively interest in the growth and prosperity of the town.

In another place in this issue of the TRUE NORTHERNER will be found the new advertisement of Messrs. Koons & Rosseau, manufacturers and dealers in harness, trunks, traveling bags, whips and all articles usually kept by dealers in their line of merchandise. Their stock is very complete, and prices just as low as justice to themselves and their customers will warrant. We commend them to all who may need anything in their line as gentlemen who will at all times do the fair thing by a customer, and render an equivalent for the money received.

The largest tree in Michigan, according to Prof. Beal, is a sycamore or buttonwood tree in or near Adrian. One foot from the ground it measures 28 feet and 8 inches in circumference, and six feet up it measures 26 feet 10 inches. It is 147 feet high.

"Are you married, my dear?" asked an old gentleman of a pretty girl with whom he chanced to be sitting in a railway carriage. "No," said she, "but I've used a fellow for breach of promise."

Some public debates on the question of "The Bible in the Public Schools," at Ypsilanti, have had a great deal of personal feeling. Some "big men" have been drawn into the fight, and the end is not yet.

Grand Rapids has a dozen young lady notary publics, and the bewitching manner in which they speak the words "You do solemnly swear" etc., will perhaps account for the hoary smack susceptible young men given to the holy book as they finish "so help me God?"—Post.

Adrian has a ladies' benevolent society that looks after the ragged urchins of that city. The day after election a little chap who was to receive new clothes was observed with a pair of new boots. "Where did you get them?" inquired the lady manager. "Oh, my father voted yesterday," was the quiet reply.

While in conversation with a lady a few days since, she remarked that she was often puzzled by her little daughter (a bright little fairy of five summers) who asked so many questions that it was quite impossible to answer, and if she attempted to do so she soon found herself cornered. To illustrate: Not long since Lutie says, "Mamma, has God got a wife?" Mamma answers, "No." "Isn't Jesus the son of God?" "Yes." "Didn't Jesus have a mother?" "Yes." "What was her name?" "Mary." "Well, isn't Mary God's wife?"

On Wednesday last, a shooting affray occurred on the farm of Ira Stillwell, in the township of Porter, and about three miles south of the village of Lawton. The parties to the affray were two men named Snead, father and son, or nephew, as some have it, on the one hand and Lafayette Love and Marion Robinson on the other, both colored men—Clubs and like missiles were used to begin the affray with and then revolvers. The younger got two shots and the elder Snead one, neither hurt fatally. It would seem that the fuel is of long standing, and frequent affrays have grown out of the difficulty between the parties. The elder Snead is a Canadian white man, whose wife is a colored woman.

Robinson and Love were taken before Esq. Morrill, of Lawton, and waving an examination, were held for trial at the Circuit Court in the sum of one thousand dollars each.

News Gleanings.

Plainwell, Allegan county, has a woman dentist.—The Detroit pin factory employs ten men and forty girls.—Leut.-Gov. Holt has returned from his European trip.—Hon. Allen Potter, of Kalamazoo, absolutely refuses to be a candidate for re-election to Congress.—One thousand trees were planted in Kalamazoo last Saturday.—The State Pioneer society will hold its annual reunion in Ann Arbor, June 7.—A horse fair will be held at Kalamazoo the first week in June.—The next meeting of the State Pomological Society will be held in Detroit June 26, 27 and 28.—The Coldwater public schools planted an even 100 trees last Saturday.

We understand that our fellow townsman, O. D. Glidden, Esq., is making arrangements to enter into the newspaper business at Big Rapids, where a very excellent opening exists, and where the establishment of one will fill an existing want.

Mr. Glidden is unacquainted with the business of making a newspaper, and we hope he will not consider it out of the way if we volunteer just the least bit of advice. Firstly, never cut under, but stick to your price. Secondly, procure a copy of the latest edition of and be sure to verify the spelling of every doubtful word by it. Thirdly, use the pen very sparingly, [a lead pencil may be used to a limited extent.] Fourthly, procure a strong pair of like these, and then use them with diligence and good judgment, and success will surely attend you in this new venture. And finally, as this bit of advice costs you nothing, you need not follow it unless you choose to do so.

DECATUR LOCALS.

John B. Upton and family have removed to Big Rapids, which place they will make their future residence.

Thomas Drownbridge, Esq., has just set mechanics at work to frame his new barn, which will be, when finished, most complete in all its arrangements and will be a large and fine looking building.

The case of Jane M. Steele vs. John Steele, Van Buren circuit, in chancery, was tried last week before his honor, Judge Hawes, in open court at the office of Messrs. Foster & Parkhurst. Mr. John J. Sherman reported the case phonographically, and eleven witnesses were sworn and examined, finishing the case in one day with the exception of two witnesses who were too ill to attend. This is a divorce case of some little local celebrity, with the particulars of which every person who has lived in Decatur for the past three years must be quite familiar.

Centennial tree-day has come and gone, and Decatur has probably five hundred more shade trees than previously. The day was very generally observed by all property owners, and the loads of young maples, elms, etc., that came into town that day found ready sale. The character of the Decatur soil, unlike that of Paw Paw, renders it difficult to grow maples and in consequence the shade trees are scarce in this village, notwithstanding the fact that the people have perseveringly continued to set them out in large numbers every spring and autumn. The elm, however, thrives here—a rather remarkable fact, but a fact nevertheless—and if people would set out this very beautiful tree in place of the maple we might in a few years have superbly shaded streets and the beauty of the village very much enhanced.—Few villages have such magnificent rows of shade trees as your own of Paw Paw, and not all can hope to have, but there is no village in the State which might not be greatly improved and beautified if intelligent effort is made in planting shade trees.

We have another sad and fatal accident to chronicle this week. Henry Taylor, a stevedore of Mr. J. D. Kingston, was driving a load of wood through the woods on his father's farm when he was thrown from the load and the wheel passed over him, crushing the right arm above the elbow and also injuring his breast and lungs so severely that he died within an hour. Henry was a bright, intelligent boy of fifteen years, of a pleasant, genial temper, and was a general favorite in the village among old and young. The accident happened on Wednesday forenoon and the funeral took place at the house on Thursday, Elder Harper conducting the services. The sad event has caused a feeling of sorrow throughout the village.—Bangor Reflector.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, April 18th.

EDITOR TRUE NORTHERNER: It has been so cold that nothing has been done, as yet, in the sowing of seeds or transplanting out of doors. The work on the farm has been mostly chopping, and in preparing centennial specimens. The specimens were sent last Saturday.

Several of the students have the measles.—The Professor of Agriculture, Mr. Gulley, is sick and unable to be here.

The regular lecture last Wednesday afternoon was by Dr. Kedzie, on "A Bar of Iron." The Rev. Mr. Lewis, of Jackson, gave a lecture before the Hamilton Lyceum last Friday evening. Subject, "The Orator's Ladder."

Prof. Beal thinks most of the fruit buds are in good condition. Every farmer should send and get Prof. Cook's pamphlet on "Injurious Insects," free to all who will send for it and read it.

Judge Richards, of Paw Paw, was in town last week.

Items for the Ladies.

A Wisconsin girl went into a poor neighborhood to teach school. She found that her nice dresses made the other girls feel bad, and she burned them up. Some rich man will read this item and at once seek out and marry that girl.—M. Quad.

There are 7,214 women tax-payers in Boston alone, whose aggregate taxes are $1,296,663 annually. These women should be exempted from the payment of any part of the sum expended in celebrating rights of which they are deprived.—Woman's Journal.

Mrs. Harriet Gaston has taken a house in Philadelphia for seven months, for the accommodation of woman suffragists and temperation women during the Centennial. It is 1,926 N. B. street. Mrs. Gaston is a member of the Brooklyn Woman Suffrage association.

George Fawcett Rowe says: "While highly esteeming the solid charms of English women, their virtues and domesticity, I must say that I do not find in them the perfect triumph of womanhood. Refinement of culture and brilliancy of disposition are never discovered perfectly blended except in the ladies of America."

Under a new law allowing women to vote for school officers in Minnesota, about 250 of that sex went to the polls at a school election in Minneapolis last week Tuesday. They were very courteously treated by the men in attendance, and the ballot boxes were decorated with flowers to celebrate the first exercise of their new political privileges.

Jennie June has discovered in New York a Miss Manners, who owns a press of her own and has for a long time been in the habit of printing the illuminated monograms so much in vogue for stationers; but so avoid prejudice and facilitate her work, she found it best to be known as Mr. Manners, and has so been addressed and recognized by her employers.

But, while woman's individuality is merged in his who represents her, and her position measured by his influence, she must and will be what man wishes her to be. Until the incentive is given her to stand upon her own merits—until these false estimates, that blind her to that which is of more worth, are torn away—the world will be full of Mrs. Belknap, great and small, as society may develop them.

The third examination for women by Harvard University will be held in Boston or Cambridge as may be determined, in the latter part of May, under the charge of Woman's Educational Association of Boston, and will be of two grades—a general or preliminary examination for young women not less than seventeen years old, and an advanced examination for young women who have passed the preliminary examination and are not less than eighteen years old.

The old Quaker practice of allowing women an equal voice with the men, is likely to invade other denominations. Especially in Connecticut the principle of female suffrage is taking deep root in the Congregational churches.—Twenty years ago it would have been considered akin to heresy to have broached the subject of women voting in the church meetings of the denomination, but now it is done without reproach in more than half the Congregational churches in the State, the matter was discussed with considerable earnestness at a recent meeting of the Old Litchfield church, and in order to ascertain the usage of the churches respecting it, George M. Woodruff, Esq., addressed a circular letter to them, inquiring whether their female members were allowed to vote in the church meetings or not. Two hundred and thirty-two churches responded to the question, of which 127 answered in the affirmative and 105 in the negative, but with qualifications. This gives a fair majority of 22 churches where female suffrage is freely exercised.

St. Nicholas for May.—With its May number, St. Nicholas begins a new serial story, The Cat and the Countess, translated from the French by Thomas Bailey Aldrich, and illustrated with allegories by Hopkins. The illustrations to this story are a novel and stirring feature for St. Nicholas, and can hardly fail to make a sensation among the boys and girls.

As for miscellaneous attractions, the large number of them forbids even the mention of all; but among the first are Mrs. Olphand's second paper on Windsor Castle; Susan Coolidge's Talk with Gile on Healy for Europe; and the two beautiful poems, The Palace of Gondoforn by H. H. and Snow-Flakes by Mrs. Dodge. The stories of Clough's Top-Knot and The Dotters' Luck are excellent; and the rhyme of The King of the Hobbies, by Mrs. Little School-um, is a feature in itself. Mrs. Abby Morton Diaz contributes a May-Day play; Marion Macdonald has another Little House Keeper's Page, with the illustration; and the department for Very Little Folks is accompanied with a charming poem, The Fate of a Granger Bread Man, with little pictures by M. Woolf.

Jack-in-the-Pulpit is as brilliant as ever. The Little School-um am awards several prizes, and Deacon Green offers several more. The Letter Box and Riddle Box are crowded with good things.

The River and Harbor Appropriation Bill was reported from the Committee on Commerce to the House of Representatives on Monday last, and was passed under a suspension of the rules, without debate, by a vote of 171 to 50. The total amount appropriated is $6,872,850. The following are the appropriations for Michigan: Ontonagon.... $15,000 St. Joseph.... $12,000 Eagle Harbor.... 15,000 South Haven.... 10,000 Marquette.... 5,000 St. Mary river Frankfort.... 5,000 and St. Mar's Manistee.... 15,000 Fall Canal 200,000 Ludington.... 10,000 Cheboygan.... 10,000 Pentwater.... 10,000 An Sable River.... 2,500 White River.... 15,000 Saginaw River.... 11,000 Muskegon.... 15,000 Monroe.... 7,000 Grand Haven.... 15,000 Charlevoix.... 10,000 Black Lake.... 15,000 Thunder Bay.... 15,000 Saugatuck.... 3,000 McCarrae's Cove.... 15,000

A NEW AMUSEMENT.—The latest amusement is termed The Printer's Delight, and is performed in the following manner: Take a sheet of note paper, fold it up carefully and enclose a bank note sufficiently large to pay up all arrears and a year in advance. And what adds immensely to the feat is to send along the name of a new subscriber, with the cash to balance. Keep your eyes on the printer and if you detect a smile the trick is a success. Try it.

The Night Hawk colt, THUNDER TURTLE, will be found, for the season, at Bush's stable in Gobleville from Monday noon till Tuesday noon; Tuesday to Wednesday noon, at Bloomington; Thursdays at Streator's in Waverly; Fridays and Saturdays, at the stable of Jerome Hopkins, in Paw Paw, opposite Snow's Foundry; commencing May 1, and ending June 1.

Young Tilton was sired by old Night Hawk of Paw Paw, and was foaled July 8, 1872; is 15 1/2 hands high, and is as black as Night and Hawk both. His dam was a noted high tier, well known in Allegan for her beauty, very high speed and endurance, and is now owned in Battle Creek. I have not been able to trace her pedigree. I understand that certain parties owning Night Hawk stock are denying the pedigree of this colt. Any one wanting to use him and is not satisfied as to his pedigree or looking him over, will please make enquiry of his keeper, Mr. Hopkins.
