The Van Buren County Medical Society will meet at Lawrence on Tuesday next.

A new artisan in town. He is a Mason and father.

Mrs. Prater has added to her fine assortment of pictures, card frames, etc., a nice lot of birthday cards. Call and see them.

The Courier man is in error. There is no "econ" connected with the Northerner. This paper is run and controlled by a Tycoon.

"High Jinks" now in the Northerner of-ice. The editor is off on a "bin" to the White Mountains. Come and see us boys, and g— hold on, our wife may see this item.

tion in this village.

Bloomingdale farm.

The school board has re-engaged all the under teachers except Miss Mary Rice, who has resigned.

R. C. Nash was one of the list of Notaries

Public confirmed by the Senate at its last executive session.

The annual school meeting will take place on Monday evening, July 11th. Let there be a full attendance.

Riley Bangs lost his cane one day last week in this village. The finder will confer a favor by leaving it at this office.

We failed to receive a copy of Miss Grace Anderson's essay, "Higher Education of Women," which accounts for its non-appearance.

The physical ability of The Northerner was "braced up" by a "mess" of delicious string beans from the garden of Mrs. Henry La-Grave.

Master Orlo LaGrave has sent to this offe the first large egg of the season,—not quite as large as the comet, but measuring 8x6½ inches.

The Business Committee of the Van Buren

County Agricultural Society will meet at the Secretary's office, in this village, to-morrow (Saturday) at 10 a. m.

"Rufe" Nash, our foreman, has purchased the summer mansion of B. F. Heckert, Esq., on Niles street. We understand that Mrs.

Heckert felt very badly at parting with it.

Officer McCabe "run in" John Jarvis on Tuesday last. He is charged with forging a promissory note against E. W. Green, of Antwerp. His examination is set down for today (Friday). Mr. Green is not a man who has notes out.

Our town had a little experience with the gentle breeze on Wednesday morning last about 5 o'clock. The principal damage done was the destruction of "Willard's tower" on Prospect Hill, which was blown over and converted into a mass of first-class kindling wood. The tower fell in an easterly direction, so that no monuments or grave-stones were injured. The structure was broken off about twenty feet above the base and was blown about forty feet before striking the ground.

Great was the fall thereof, but its destruction is no particular loss to any one.

The severe and uncalled-for criticism of the editor of the Courier on the oration of Mr. Douglass at the graduating exercises of the high school last week, has justly aroused the indignation of the members of the school and many of the older citizens of the village.

The criticism shows the narrow, contracted mind of the editor and is conclusive proof that he cannot raise above the plane of political prejudice, even while discussing the relative merits of school-boys' orations. Had

Mr. Douglass selected Jeff. Davis instead of Zach. Chandler for his theme it no doubt would have received the approval and approbation of Mr. Blackman. We have been credibly informed that Mr. Douglass had prepared an oration upon another subject which, when compared with that written by Mr.

Jones, was found to run so nearly in the same line of thought that it was decided to give one of them up, and it fell to Mr. Douglass to write another. Considering the time in which he had to accomplish it, his production was very creditable indeed.

It is a small matter, perhaps,—only $54 in the aggregate; but the people of the county have a right to inquire whether it is necessary for a Board of Supervisors to adjourn at night, after a day's session which the record does not show to have been specially overburdened with business, then meet again in the morning just long enough to allow their own accounts and adjourn the session thus adding another day to session, and another three dollars a day to the compensation of each.—Courier.

As will be seen by the above, the Courier man has been again indulging in those low, paltry insinuations of dishonesty in others, for which he is so contemptibly characteristic. This time it is the Board of Supervisors which is the subject of his slanderous attack. A large portion of the members of the present Board of Supervisors in this county, have held the office in their respective townships for a number of terms, and are men whose integrity and honor are unquestioned. No insinuations of the Courier man will lead anyone to believe that the Board unnecessarily prolonged its session for the purpose of adding the paltry sum of $3 to each of their coffers. Quite frequently the business of the Board is so crowded towards the close of the session that the clerk is unable to complete the record until the next day, and it cannot adjourn until the record is completed and approved. Besides, could they have completed the business, as Mr. Blackman infers, it would be nothing more than just to receive pay for the following day, as it would require nearly all that day for the members to reach their respective houses.

Jiminy Dunning was in town over Sunday.

The equalized valuation of Cass county is $14,280,000.

Mrs. W. H. Duncan, of Omaha, is visiting her brother, Eli Bierce.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, of Kalamazoo, are visiting at Frank W. Sellick's.

W. P. Sutton, U. S. Consul at Matamoros,

Mexico, is visiting his friends in Hartford.

We publish this week the remainder of the orations and essays of the graduating class.

The Paw Paw boys beat the Decatur nine on our fair grounds last Saturday, by a score of 28 to 18.

Abner Mack, an old and highly respected citizen of Prairie Ronde, died at his residence early Monday morning.
