spent at his house about two years ago, and shall be pleased to return his visit, some day.
Gil is a good fellow, although a "little off" this year on the congressional question.

is Judge Willis?

interest in the Kilburn & Hudson store building to Mrs. J. G. Hudson, who is now the sole owner of the property.

By an oversight of ours, the name of Aaron Van Anken, one of the school trustees, was not attached to the resolutions of the board, in reference to Judge Richards' death.

The members of the County Examining Board keep on file the papers of all applicants for certificates, and would be glad to have any dissatisfied ones call and investigate.

personal property, will start in a few days in Iowa.

est calico dress, gets a fifteen dollar set of

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Mosier, of Bergen, N. Y., are visiting their relatives and friends here.
Ed. is an uncle of Charley and Wells and a brother of Harrison Mosier. He is a jolly fellow at all times.

There will be a National Agricultural Convention held in Chicago, beginning Dec. 12, 1882, and continuing four days. The M. C.
R. L. will carry visitors to the convention for two cents per mile each way.

We inadvertently omitted, last week, to call attention to Sellick's new "ad." But then everybody knows they always have a lot of new and nobby goods, and they always advertise them in the NORTHERNER.

Charlie Jacobs is getting rich out in Nebraska. He writes: "A black-eyed girl, weighing only nine pounds, came to us the 3rd of November, wanting a home. Guess we will keep her, and call her Ethel."

Married, Nov. 29th, 1882, by Rev. E. D.
Lewis, Mr. Orin Harmon, of Bloomingdale, and Miss Nellie Hyames, of Almena. Also on the same day, by the same minister, Mr.
Rolla Bush, of Waverly, to Miss Nettie Niles, of Bloomingdale.

A chap up near White Oak tried a little slight of hand performance, the other day, with a silver half dollar. He slipped it into his mouth, but did not Gage it right, and it went on down. He did not lose it, however, for he knows where it is.

On the 12th day of last month, H. H. Mc-Lain, Esq., of Porter, had the misfortune to lose his infant son, Lee McLain, aged six years, eleven months and twenty-six days.
The child's death was caused by inflammation of the bowels and gastric fever.

Rumor says that Rody, the remarkable tape puller at Sellick's, run down and caught a full grown rabbit, one day in the front part of the week. Rody is a good (w)one, he never made a bark or a skip, and caught the hairy bird, just as he was going in his hole.

By the death of the Rev. Dr. Schetky which took place on the 19th ult., the Episcopal church lost one of its able pillars. The Dr. had won many warm friends while a resident of this place, and the news of his death, while not unexpected, was received with a feeling of deep sorrow.

The lecture upon "Iceland," at the Opera House on Saturday evening last, was highly entertaining and instructive. President Durgin is thoroughly conversant with the affairs of that barren little isle, and gave an account of his travels in a very genial manner, while the paintings and relics which he exhibited helped to make real the strange life of which he spoke.

Last Sunday morning a very interesting memorial service was held at the Presbyterian church, in honor of the late Chandler Richards. The Rev. Dr. Bradley, of Richland, an old friend of Mr. Richards, was expected to assist in the service, but being unable to come, he sent a friendly, sympathetic letter, which was read by Mr. Harvey. The discourses delivered by Revs. Harvey and Marsh, which appear elsewhere in our columns, were of more than ordinary merit, and the solemnity of the occasion was very much increased by the excellence of the singing. Indeed, we think the members of this choir deserve much praise at all times, for the manner in which they conduct this feature of the services.

Mr. Elmer Darling has returned to Hillsdale.

Pres. Durgin was the guest of his old friend and schoolmate, Judge Lawton, Monday night.

Hon. R. L. Warren, of Decatur, representative elect from this district, has been appointed by Supt. of Public Instruction, V. B.
Cochran, as one of the State visitors to the German American Seminary, at Detroit.
The other visitors appointed, are Prof. Ferris Felch, of Pontiac, and Franklin Moore, Esq., of St. Clair.

Last week we quoted in our local columns, the following question, from the history questions used at the teachers examination at Bangor, "When and by whom was the American flag first flung to the breeze?" A gentleman from Lawrence sends us the following reply. Do you agree with him?

"By Benedict Arnold, on the snow capped mountains of Northern New Hampshire while, as a Lieutenant, he was leading a detachment of troops from New England to join the Naval forces in the investment of Quebec, during the French and Indian war, preceding the war of the Revolution. The device of the stars and stripes, (13 stars and 13 stripes, to represent the colonies) was at-terwards adopted by the Continental Congress as the National Banner; changed subsequently so as to admit of an additional star for each State added to the Union—the stripes remaining thirteen, as displayed on the original."

Observer's Observations.

We had a Dakota blizzard last Monday.
Diphtheria and scarlatina are abroad in the land.

The turkeys can have a little rest for a few days.

The Lawrence Times has turned up its little toes.

Last Monday was pension day for Uncle Sam's folks.

The cock-fighting season is near at hand.
Bangor, beware.

It is now hog killing time in all its glory.
Pass the pinclads.

Several of our young fellow citizens are having the mumps.

Skating has opened up finely and the boys are having jolly times.

How many of you let your pumps freeze up? Don't all speak at once.

The game season is partially closed. Be careful how you shoot after this.

One of Paw Paw's fair widows has picked over 130 bushels of beans this season.

A chiropodist was in town the other day looking over the scented feet of some of our city people.

Dr. Lucas won half a hog on election.
The loser handed it over last Saturday and the Doctor is happy.

Joe, the butcher, had two big bucks, killed by Dick Glenson, hung up in front of his market on Saturday last.

One of our colored chaps went to Matti-wan, to a Thanksgiving dance and got a shanty put over his eye.—No cards.

The late freeze-up and the little snow we had, made it very slippery and the blacksmiths have been reaping a harvest.

While up north, Eden Engle shot a bear weighing 200 pounds, which was retailed at 15 cts. per pound at Warner's market, during the week.

Sam Holmes and family have taken the rooms in the Landphere block, recently fitted up by Mr. Searles, the owner, and they make a very nice place to live.

Henry Edward Hinrod, the gentleman whom Joe, the butcher, joined in the bonds of matrimony, last winter, to Jimmy Smith, who personated the fair bride, was in town last week.

A Waverly lady applied to one of our magistrates, the other day for a warrant to arrest a female acquaintance of hers, for calling her bad names, and wanted to know if she could not be made to prove it. The names used, sounded a good deal like one of those things we ran a boat with, and the magistrate told her that it would leave her in no very enviable light to have it proved, and advised her to let it drop. We guess it has dropped.

Andrew Snyder lately mortgaged to Seward Hawkins, his horses, wagon, and harness.
Just before the mortgage came due, Andrew had business which called him to Indiana post haste. About the same time Seward had business to collect his mortgage post haste, and he began to think that the "r" in Andrew's last name ought to have been omitted. So he got a warrant from Justice Galligan and placed it in the hands of the wild Irishman, (not John Galligan) who soon had the wilful Andrew in limbo. His trial is set for next Monday at 10 a. m.
