E. M. Snow is in Detroit, as a delegate to the Grand Encampment, I. O. O. F.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blaisdell, of Arlington, visited in town a day or two last week.
Frank Clancy has moved his family into the house he recently purchased of Henry Holt.
Mrs. Ray Wheeler and children left for the east last Thursday, to remain until spring.
Chas. Bathrick, of Battle Creek, is visiting in town, a guest at the home of H. W. McCabe.
The Grand Encampment and Grand Cantonment, I. O. O. F., is now in session at Detroit.
The half-fare rates to Chicago every Tuesday continues to draw many visitors to that city.
Mrs. John Walker returned last Friday from a ten days' visit with friends at Quincy, Mich.
Henry Shaefer is painting and putting in repair his residence, recently purchased of C. C. Searis.
Ollie Lawton, first assistant in the state geological survey, is home on a two weeks' visit, the first in a year.
J. D. Monroe has leased the residence of A. Shultz, formerly occupied by Rev. Boynton, and has taken possession of it.

J. K. Rosevelt, of Keeler, made us a friendly call yesterday.

Mrs. Markley, widow of the late John Markley, died Monday night.

Will D. Davis has an uncalced letter at the Paw Paw postoffice.

Attention is called to notice of "great stock auction sale," in another column.

Col. W. R. Hawkins and Mrs. J. M. Longwell are visiting friends at Cadillac.

A number of young believers in the "Chautauque idea" have formed a circle here.

The Ladies' Aid society of Almaena will meet with Mrs. Charles Failing, Friday afternoon, Oct. 18th.

Harry Showerman is now nicely settled in his new store, and would like to have his friends drop in and look him over.

Mr. Geo. W. Koons was confined to his house the greater part of last week by a bilious attack, but is all right again now.

Frank Millington wears his north eye in a sling, and when asked regarding it he says you ought to see the other fellow's eyes.

The B. S. Pedestrian club is requested to meet at the home of the captain next Friday evening at seven o'clock. Bring cans. Auf wiedersehen.

Sam George, of this place, was thrown from a horse in Kalamazoo last Thursday, and so seriously injured that his life was despaired of at latest accounts.

C. E. Galligan's trotting horse Jim Lane will arrive home to day from Detroit, where he has been under the management of G. W. Voorhis, a noted horseman.

E. L. Peck will sell a lot of stock and farm implements at auction, at his farm four miles north-west of town, on Tuesday of next week, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m.

Mrs. Lucy Popper, of Prospect Lake, left at this office on the 3d inst. a limb, cut from an apple tree in her orchard, which was literally loaded with blossoms and buds.

Of course there will be throngs of people in town the balance of this week, and no one should go home without having visited Broughton's great all-around store.

Old observers say that we are to have an early winter and a hard one—based these predictions on the fact that migratory birds are massing and some flocks have already moved southward.

The Snow Bros. are kept hustling now-a-days to fill orders for their hot air furnaces. "Comfort and economy" is the motto adopted by our people now when fitting up their homes.

Broughton takes a section of the fair ground fence for a bill-board this week, but there is such a rush for "red school house shoes" that the boys don't stop to read his adv. It is a fine production.

In the circuit court yesterday the case of Chas. O. Hills vs. James Richards resulted in a judgment for plaintiff for fifty cents. On trial as we go to press the ejectment suit of Gibson vs. Van Sickle.

E. Bilsborrow left a potato at this office, Monday, which weighed three pounds six and a-half ounces. It is of the James Vick variety, and Mr. B. says this is but a slight exaggeration on his whole crop.

The Hartford Day Spring last week completed its 18th year. This journal, under the careful management of Mr. Phillips, has improved materially, and is now one of the brightest local papers in the county.

Bartram & Millington offer as a special premium to the family exhibiting the four best looking daughters, between the ages of 8 and 20 years, at the fair this week, a set of Dickens' works, 15 volumes, beautifully bound.

Rev. Dr. Mead, of Appleton, Wis., agent of the American Bible society, occupied the pulpit of the M. E. church last Sunday morning, and that of the Disciple church in the evening, delivering on each occasion a powerful sermon.

John Mahard, of Lawton, was in town Monday evening, and if he had tried hard he might have found better company than that in which he passed his time. He claims that he was "touched" for his pocket-book and $25 cash.

Hon. Thos. Mars, master of the state grange, and Jason Woodman, lecturer, dedicated a grange hall at Flushing, Mich., yesterday. Mr. Woodman then went to Gratiot county, where he will lecture before the several granges the balance of the week.

John Rae, from the northwestern part of the county somewhere, got drunk last Sunday and made an egregious ass of himself generally. McFarlin locked him up on general principles, but allowed him to depart Monday on a promise of behaving himself.

The thirteenth session of the Porter, Antwerp and Almaena Sunday school institute will be held at the M. E. church in Lawton on Saturday of this week, the first session at 10 a. m. Rev. W. J. Hathaway, of the M. E. church of this place, delivers an address before the institute in the evening.

Roswell W. Brown, a well known citizen, died at his home a mile and-a-half east of Lawton, last Thursday night, after a brief illness. The funeral was from the Baptist church, in Lawton, Sunday, conducted under the auspices of the G. A. R., of which organization deceased was a member.

The Atlantic and the Pacific express trains, east and west respectively on the Central, made the same dismal failure in an attempt to pass each other on the same track, at Mattawan Sunday morning, as has characterized all similar efforts. All of the Atlantic but two sleepers was on the siding. These were thrown from their trucks, one overturned and took fire, which was speedily extinguished, yet, strange to say, no one was injured.

A little 3-years-old girl of Mr. Chas. Needham, living near Scott lake, died one day last week from lock-jaw, produced by running a rusty nail in the hollow of her foot while at play around a pile of old lumber.

Rev. G. W. Taft, son of Rev. H. B. Taft, of this place, accompanied by his wife, left Monday for their field of missionary labor in Japan. They will sail from San Francisco on the 17th inst. for Yokohama.

Hank McCabe was quite seriously injured Monday, at Jackson, while selling horses there at auction. A wild fellow, which Hank was handling, threw him violently against the gate of the corral, cutting and bruising him considerably. He came home for repairs.

The firm name of E. G. Butler, so long and favorably known to the people of this vicinity, is no more. The firm that succeeds the old house will be known as E. G. Butler & Co., and the business will be carried on at the old stand, with old-time deference to the tastes and wishes of their customers.

Ben. Cooley, whom all the old-time residents of Paw Paw well remember, died at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Zila Vickery, in Schoolcraft, on the 29th ult. Mr. C. was a son of Anthony Cooley, a residence of this place for many years and at one time of the drug firm of Cooley & Barrett. Deceased was a portrait painter of some note.

By strict economy and a close attention to business for lo! these many years, Chris. Allison, of the Cassopolis Democrat, had hoarded up a pair of shoes, a watch and eight dollars in cash. But now comes along a bold and daring thief and gathers to himself all this wealth at one fell swoop, as it were. Let's restore the death penalty, now.

Our long time friend and neighbor, Hon. David Woodman, was united in marriage yesterday afternoon to Mrs. Elvira J. Abbott, of Kalamazoo, the ceremony occurring at the residence of E. A. Crane, Esq., the knot being tied by Elder H. A. Fallister, pastor of the Christian church. We heartily congratulate both the contracting parties and wish them all possible happiness.

L. C. Whitney, president of the State Business Men's association, has been made state lecturer of that organization. He is expected to visit this place on or about the 28th inst. when he will deliver two lectures—one to the public generally, explaining the purposes and usefulness of local associations, and the other to members of the association only, upon matters peculiar to their interest.

D. W. Brodhead, of Decatur, was lodged in jail here last Friday in default of $300, in which sum he was held to the circuit court to answer a charge of conspiracy, in personating an officer, making a supposititious arrest and getting $15 out of his victim. Rob't Oaks, jr., who was arrested with Brodhead and on the same complaint, gave the officer the slip while "looking for bail," and is still looking.

The following claimants for pensions were made happy through Galligan's agency for the week ending Oct. 5th: Calvin Hall, Paw Paw; James N. Crutchfield, Arkansas City, Kansas; Edwin Thompson, Petoskey; Lewis June, Volinia; Ellen M. Hall, Wallingford, Ct.; Sebra G. Inlay, Paw Paw; Nelson P. Woodruff, Goldenville; James Deal, Racine, Wis.; E. E. Colburn, Paw Paw; John Wood, Logansport, Ill.

The board of supervisors convene next Monday, Oct. 14th. The political complexion of the board is eleven republicans to seven opposition. While we believe that the deliberations of the board should not be colored by party bias, we just as firmly believe that it is proper that its organization should be made in accordance with the political views of its members. The republicans have a majority on the board; let them perfect its organization, and then let the people of the county hold that party responsible for the conduct of its servants.

Last Monday morning was such an one as would fill the soul of anything this side of a toad with poetry. A hard frost had fallen Sunday night, and as the bright, warm sun came out and rested upon the foliage of the trees, they seemed to be undergoing a process of dyeing in which every color known was being used. As the frosted leaves became warmed they lost their grip on the branches and a perfect kaleidoscopic shower of "falling leaves" filled the air and carpeted the earth with a robe such as would have made "Solomon, in all his glory," wild with envy.

The managers of the fair have expected a large exhibit of horses, but the entries are surprising them. The races are filled far enough to warrant them in saying that every race will be started, and the only trouble they are liable to have in that direction is to be able to get the races all on in the time they will have. In the other departments the horses are being entered as never before. The stalls on the ground are all taken, tents put up, and barns outside leased to furnish room for the horses on exhibition. There will be a better display of horses than was ever before at any fair in south-western Michigan.

The patriotic offer of the Detroit Tribune to pay half the expense of an American flag for each of the public schools of that city has been accepted by thirty-four of the schools already. The Tribune has effected an arrangement with the manufacturers by which these flags are furnished at just half the list price, and it seems as though every school in the state would soon have one. The NORTHERNER is desirous of seeing "old glory" floating from the dome of our public school building, and reiterates the offer of paying one half the cost if the scholars will pay the balance—only $3.25. This gets a flag 18x10 feet, best quality of American hunting.
