The Republic and the Farmer.

The work of the Grange and other like societies has not always been successful on certain of its original aims, but it has accomplished all that could be desired in the education of its members and of public opinion. The feeling of the agricultural interest, on every subject that has received thorough consideration, is respected. The committee of the National Grange had no difficulty in securing the adjustment of the tariff on agricultural products in the McKinley bill, exactly as it proposed. The Republicans have always honored the agricultural interest. Lincoln was a farmer's boy. Grant was a farmer. An agricultural organization recently claimed them both as Farmer Lincoln and Farmer Grant. Garfield carried on a farm at Mentor during his later years and put in his spare time in the field when not occupied by his public duties. In Michigan, the farmer Governor honors our state at home and abroad. The last legislature had 43 members in the House who owned and carried on farms, and 7 in the Senate. Of these 43 Representatives, 35 were elected by the Republicans. The manufacturers of the state, who are a large and influential class, had only 13 in the House and one in the Senate, counting two labor men and also the representatives of the mining and lumbering interests. The same class of journals which is angry because farmers vote on their own judgment and support Republican principles, ridicules this body as the "hawback legislature"—an epithet of contempt for the farmer. It was, nevertheless, a conservative body, and labored for the welfare of the state. The farming interest has contributed many of the ablest leaders of the Republican party, and is at the present time bringing forward more men like them.

Mr. Burrows and the Farmer.

It will be in order now for the Democratic papers of this congressional district to parade Mr. Yapple as the friend and champion of the farmer, and attempt to demonstrate that he is such by his free trade speeches—quoting, of course, only such portions of his public utterances as can be tortured into seeming accord with the interests of the agricultural classes. But here is an extract from one of his speeches which it is safe to say, these papers will not quote:

"I did vote for FREE WOOL, and, by the Eternal, I will do so again if I have an opportunity!"

Indeed, it will be "pulling hard against the stream" to induce an intelligent farmer to vote for a man whose pet theory is diametrically opposed to the material welfare of the American farmer.

On the other hand, Mr. Burrows embraces and puts to account every opportunity to enhance these interests, by voice and vote; on the floor of the House, in the committee room and in his public utterances everywhere. As evidence of the appreciation of his efforts in this behalf by the ablest farmers in the land, we append a letter written to Mr. Burrows by Hon. J. H. Brigham, Master of the National Grange P. of H.:

DELTA, OHIO, Sept. 1, '90. HON. J. C. BURROWS, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir—I desire to thank you personally for your efforts in committee and on the floor of the House in favor of just and equitable protection for the American farmer. The McKinley bill is the first tariff measure in which an honest effort has been made to deal fairly with the agricultural interests; and, while there are some items which are not altogether satisfactory, I am sure that the bill as a whole will be very popular among our thoughtful and intelligent farmers. Time will disclose the defects in the law, and I feel sure that the men who sought to deal fairly with all interests, and discriminate against none, can be safely trusted to cure them as they shall appear. Yours, truly, J. H. BRIGHAM.

Canada Wagons.

A short time ago I was told that wagons cost twenty dollars a piece more in Michigan than they do in Canada. A few days since I was in Canada and learned prices and found that I had been misled.

A "factory-made" lumber wagon with double box, spring seat, neck yoke, and whiffletrees, can be bought in Windsor for seventy dollars; and a similar wagon, but "shop-made," can be bought there for eighty-five dollars.

The best "shop-made" lumber wagon with double box, spring seat, neck yoke, and whiffletrees, can be bought in Paw Paw for sixty dollars, and one nearly as good for fifty-five.

MARVIN FOSDICK.

ED. NORTHERNER—On Tuesday last was enacted, two miles east of Lawton another of those disgraceful scenes which have caused so much talk and made the chief actor notorious. While the commissioners were at work on the road which is the west boundary of lands owned by Joseph Allard, and were engaged in taking gravel from the center of the highway, they were attacked by Allard, who was armed with an axe, and who threatened to split the head of the first man who took another shovelful of earth. More than one had a narrow escape from feeling cold steel, and thinking discretion the better part of valor they beat a graceful retreat at the time, but soon resumed their work. AN EYE-WITNESS.

Interesting Items.

Chicago is to have the largest exclusively mercantile building in the world. It is to be erected by "The Fair" who now occupy a very unpretentious building on the corner of State and Adams streets. The new building will have a frontage of 190 feet on State street, 330 on Adams street and 190 feet on Dearborn street. The plans have been changed considerably from the original idea, which called for a twelve story building at a cost of $2,000,000. The plans now are for a sixteen story building to cost at least $3,000,000, to be constructed of steel, terra cotta and stone. The building will occupy the entire half-block, consisting of 66,500 square feet of land, bounded on three sides by broad streets and on the fourth by an ample alley. Each one of the sixteen floors will cover a space of 64,800 square feet making a grand total of 1,036,800 square feet. It will be the largest building devoted to mercantile use in the world. The present building on that site will be torn down in sections, and the new building put up so as not to interfere with the continuance of business. It will require three years to complete this structure, which will have 43 elevators and is to be fireproof throughout.

AS EACH new state falls into the Republican column, the center of political gravity is moved westward, and New York correspondingly loses its place as the key to the situation. The last of the new states to come in—Wyoming—has declared her allegiance to the Republican faith by a large majority, considering the light vote of so new a state.

Is Consumption Incurable? Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscesses of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jessie Middlewatt, Deatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of lung troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at Dr. J. D. Hamilton's drug store.

MONTANA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON.

The Northern Pacific Railroad passing through Minnesota, Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington was the first line to bring the region occupied by these states into communication with the east. Its main line and branches penetrate all sections of these states, reaching nine tenths of the chief cities. It is the shortest line to Helena and Butte, Montana; Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore., and the only line running through train service from the east through the states of Montana and Washington. Pullman Sleepers and furnished Tourist Sleeping Cars are run via the Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific, and Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars via Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Northern Pacific, from Chicago through to the Pacific Coast without change. This is the Dimming Car and Yellowstone Park route.

The large travel on the Northern Pacific line necessitated the inauguration in June 1890, of a second through train to the Pacific Coast, thus enabling this road to offer the public the advantage of two through trains daily to Montana and points in the Pacific Northwest, carrying complete service of sleeping cars, dining cars, and regular day coaches. The train leaving St. Paul in the morning runs via the recently completed Air Line of the Northern Pacific through Butte, Mont., making this the shortest line to the latter point by 210 miles.

Colonists for Washington, Oregon and British Columbia points should take no other line than the Northern Pacific, as by this one only can all portions of the state of Washington be reached. Stopovers are allowed on second class tickets at Spokane Falls and all points west, enabling the tourist to inspect the country without extra expense.
