Potato Bugs

are troubled with a queer, nauseated, dizzy feeling when treated to paris green. All "so-called" paris green does not have this affect, as it is often adulterated with lime, plaster-of-paris etc. All such substances make rich red blood for potato bugs. Our supply of this death dealing poison to bugs is fresh and selling at 25c per pound. We also have Blue Vitrol and can furnish the same in any amount. Other names for Blue Vitrol are Blue Stone, Roman Vitrol, Cupric Sulphate, Copper Sulphate, and Cuprum Vitrolatum.

BEAUTIFUL PAW PAW AS SEEN BY OTHERS.

Not In "Sack Cloth and Ashes." But Has Entered Upon the Era of Prosperity.

"Beautiful Paw Paw" has recently been the willing recipient of a large degree of publicity through the columns of the daily press of the state, notably by the Gazette and the Telegraph of our neighboring city of Kalamazoo, in whose prosperity our people take a degree of interest second only to the towns of our own county.

Each of the two papers mentioned have lately devoted several columns of their valuable space to this town and its advantages, and to the beauty of the place and its surroundings. We feel sure, however, that Paw Paw is well entitled to all the compliments that have been paid to her and justly merits all the good things that have been said of her, and that her citizens will not be slow to deserve future commendation at the hands of her friends and neighbors who have so generously manifested their good will and appreciation of the town.

We think, however, that the Telegraph in its "write up" of our village failed to some extent in grasping the true situation. From a perusal of its article a stranger might possibly infer that Paw Paw was still mourning past lost opportunities, still "living under the shadow of a big 'if,'" still solacing itself with what "might have been." Such an idea, however, is very far from the truth. Whatever may have been true of a past generation, Paw Paw is now inhabited and controlled by men who live in the present, by men who look confidently to future improvements and prosperity instead of lamenting over untoward events which have passed into history.

It is true that the town has heretofore been handicapped by its lack of transportation facilities, but this disadvantage is being overcome, and with the new fruit belt line giving us direct communication with what bids fair soon to be and which in some respects now is Michigan's third city, and a prospect of speedy connection, by the same line, with Van Buren's "city by the lake," it is but fair to presume that, however quiet Paw Paw may have been in the past, she has entered upon an era of growth and prosperity which will render her still more worthy of being the capital of the best agricultural and horticultural county in the best state of the greatest country on the whole round earth.

Paw Paw, figuratively speaking, doffs its hat to its good friends of the celery city, the handsomest and best town in Michigan—"present company excepted."

To our Kalamazoo brethren of the press, we hereby extend a friendly "Shake, and accept a cordial invitation to visit "Beautiful Paw Paw."

You Can Depend On It.

We have had the privilege the past few days of visiting every retail establishment in the village, and while we were aware that unusually large and varied stocks were carried by our merchants we were actually surprised at the real magnitude of the stocks displayed. Our citizens have for their inspection stocks not usually found in cities of less than 10,000 and 15,000 population, and containing goods which in quality are more than the equal, dollar for dollar, of the city stock. And the nice thing about it is, that behind each of them is the individual, some friend or neighbor, in whom you can put dependence; some man on whom you can rely for correction of errors, in case they occur.

A Farewell Reception.

A few of the many friends of Rev. C. M. Keene, wishing to manifest their appreciation of his labors among them, their regard for himself and family and their regret at their departure, met at the home of Geo. Styles and gave them a farewell reception Tuesday evening. Rev. Keene is a man of ability and energy and preaches the gospel of Jesus Christ fearlessly and earnestly. He goes to Owosso, a larger field of labor, and we bespeak for him a grand future. His high standard of true religion and his undaunted courage have brought the church up to a better moral standing. Through his efforts many have been added to the church.

Would Delight the Fans.

Why not schedule a few games of base ball? We have a strong high school team, second to none in the state, the game at Ludington notwithstanding. There are also several of the old stars here. We can have a team strong enough to cope with any team in the county, if not any independent team in southern Michigan. We must have several games home coming week, and think it would be a fine idea and a delight to the "fans" to see our base ball players in action at least for one game a week.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF A MATRIMONIAL PAPER.

A Portland, Maine, Parson Duped by Boys After Long Journey to Michigan.

An old gentleman, giving the name of Rev. Immanuel Allen and his home as Portland, Maine, arrived in Bangor about 10 days ago after walking the entire distance. His story is pathetic. He claims to have answered an advertisement in a matrimonial paper about a year ago and started a correspondence with a Bangor widow. It was agreed that he should come in the early summer of 1906 to Bangor and meet his fair charmer. Accordingly he started Bangorward about three months ago. On arriving at the home of his fiancée he was disappointed to find that she did not know him and had never written to him. She denied firmly the photograph that he had fondly carried over his suspender buckle, somewhere in the region of his heart. She was not in the marriageable class, either, and would not change her mind, so there now! Nothing to do but return, the old gentleman proceeded to do so, traveling on foot as he came. Regarding the affair the Bangor Advance says: "It is barely possible that the old man was the victim of a practical joke and that the widow was honest in denying that she had corresponded with him—such things have been known to happen—but it is not likely. The old man, in spite of his apparent abject poverty, brought with him a gold watch and chain which he intended giving to his bride. He also claimed he had $1,000 in a Portland bank."

Ludington vs. Paw Paw.

In fairness to our high school base ball team, and in view of the recent controversy over the game played at Ludington, we publish herewith a letter from a well known commercial traveler, who was a spectator at the game and a disinterested party:

This is to certify that I attended the ball game played this afternoon between the above mentioned teams, and feel called upon to express my indignation at the decision of the umpire in many instances. But to specify more clearly, one instance in particular was his calling the runner (Paw Paw) out at third base in the eighth inning. The runner slid into third and was safe on the bag even before the ball had been caught by the Ludington third baseman, who at that time was some feet off the base. I am an entirely disinterested party and write this as a lover of fair play.

The Newspaper is Mighty.

The Bangor Advance regrets the loss of a valued correspondent at Lacota. In notifying Mr. Russell that no more items would be forthcoming, the correspondent wrote: "I cannot correspond for your paper any more. God has saved my soul and I feel my time belongs to Him." In regard to this, we, with Brother Russell, find it exceedingly difficult to believe that the newspaper is the work of the devil. In numberless instances the newspaper has aided most effectively in moral purification of municipalities as well as social life. The interests of the people are the interest of the newspaper.

A Professional Crook.

Officer Fred Leitz of South Haven brought Frank Cuba to this place last Friday, and gave him into the care of Sheriff Britton for 60 days on a charge of larceny. After service of this sentence he will be tried for breaking jail. Cuba, or Joe Caba, as he later gave his name, broke jail at South Haven the Saturday previous, and escaped to Chicago. Chief McGregor went to the city and located his man on south Kedzie street, securing his information with the aid of the proprietor of a factory in which Caba's brother is working. The man is thought to be a professional crook.

Will Kill Rose Bugs.

Dr. Morris of Keeler states that he has discovered a compound that will kill rose bugs. He claims that it will be but little more expensive than the usual method of spraying fruit. It is his intention to put the compound upon the market as soon as copyright has been secured. Should it prove all he claims for it, it will certainly be a boon to fruit-growers, as rose bugs are the worst pest the grape-grower has had to contend with for a number of years, oftentimes threatening the destruction of entire vineyards.

Former Resident Weds.

The following announcement has been received at this office: "Mr. and Mrs. Leroy W. Osborne announce the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Maud, to Mr. Edward Ernest Kirkham, Saturday evening, June 16, 1906, at New Orleans. At home after July 1, 1418 Eighth street." Mr. and Mrs. Osborne and daughter will be remembered as former residents of Paw Paw, Mr. Osborne at one time being in business in this village.
