BURROWS LEADS IN CANVASS

Detroit Information Says Senior Senator Will Be Returned.

MAKES GREAT IMPRESSION

Townsend Weakens Cause by Speeches—Senator Burrows Gives Lie to Old Age Charge by Campaigning With the Vigor of Youth.

Detroit—While election predictions can never be very definite, it is possible to obtain an excellent line on sentiment by personal inquiry in the various sections, and the result of a careful canvass of every county of the state indicates that Senator J. C. Burrows will be nominated for senator in the Republican primary by a majority of from 25,000 to 50,000. A careful weighing of the figures secured places his probable majority at 35,000.

This great gain in strength is due to two reasons, primarily, although many things enter into the switch in sentiment, for even the most enthusiastic of the senator's supporters will acknowledge that three months back, owing to the character of the campaign being waged against Senator Burrows, the result was in doubt. One of the principal campaign weapons of the opponents of Senator Burrows has been his age. The people have been told that he was too old to perform the duties of an office; that he was on the verge of a physical breakdown. Senator Burrows is 72 years old, but he has proven anything but a broken down old man, as he has gone through the campaign thus far in a way to break down the younger members of his party. He has shown the vigor and fire of youth in his speeches and has told the people squarely where he stood on every question.

The other principal point made against Senator Burrows was that he has always been "regular" in the senate. Instead of denying this, the senator has met the issue head-on and has told the people that he stood by his record, and that if he had it to do over again that he would not change a vote. This manly stand has made its appeal to thinking people and, compared with the vacillating course of his opponent on every big issue, has served greatly to strengthen the senator.

Situation in the State.

Taking up the canvass made in the state, it is certain that Senator Burrows will carry Wayne county, the Third, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Twelfth congressional districts, with an excellent vote in the Fifth. An analysis of the vote of the districts mentioned will show that three-fifths of the vote of the state is in the districts which Senator Burrows will carry. As yet the senator has not spoken in the Tenth district, and his visits to the Fifth, Ninth and Eleventh districts have been few. The Second is conceded to Mr. Townsend, but the indications are all that Senator Burrows will be far better supported in Kalamazoo than Mr. Townsend will be in Jackson.

Wayne For Burrows.

Townsend men have gone so far as to claim Wayne, but this is nonsense. Mr. Townsend will receive a fair vote in Wyandotte, which is in his congressional district, but aside from this he will have no support in the big county of the state. The city of Detroit alone will give a majority for Burrows of from 10,000 to 15,000, because the senator is receiving the solid support of the business and professional men of the city.

He is even stronger in the upper peninsula, which has the greatest population of any congressional district in the state and a Republican enrollment for the fall primary of 44,800. The senator has just completed a tour through that section and it was like the triumphal march of a great leader. Every city visited vied with its neighbor in doing honor to the senior Michigan senator, and he was assured the united support of the Republicans of that section. The same is true of the Saginaw valley and of the Third and Fourth congressional districts, which Senator Burrows represented in the lower house before they were divided.

Here in Detroit it is taken as an accepted fact that Senator Burrows will be returned, and money for betting purposes is going begging in several places.

Burrows Not An Oratorical Star.

Senator Burrows is not a star on the Chautauqua circuit. His fame rests on the same and faithful performance of his public duty, not on spectacular eruptions that give joy to the Democracy.—Hesperia Journal.

HOSPITALITY OF PORTUGUESE

Courteous Welcome That a Traveler Received From a Farmer and His Family.

All travelers know that the Portuguese are a courteous people. No better example of delicate and generous hospitality could be given than the experience of John Labouche, told in his "Travels in Portugal." The author was taking a horseback trip in that country, and riding toward Vianna the nightfall overtook him at quite a distance from the city.

I entered into a friendly conversation with a farmer who was riding my way, and asked him if he could tell me where I could get shelter for the night. He good humoredly laughed at the idea of my putting up at any place short of Vianna. I told him that I was not very particular and that my guide's horse was too tired for further traveling. He looked hard at me and then said:

"There is a house about one mile from here. You will get poor fare and poor shelter, but there is none better, I think, this side of Vianna. I will show you the way."

So we trotted on, and soon turning aside from the main road he guided us along a vile ox cart path, the worst of all roads to ride on in a bad night. We went about a mile up the valley. Presently the narrow way opened out into a square walled enclosure, embowered with vines running over rafters of wood supported by the walls and stone pillars. It was like a huge room, the ceiling of which was vines. It was the courtyard of a good sized farmhouse. The farmer stopped.

"Why," said I, "this is a private house."

"It is the house of your excellency," replied the farmer, standing uncovered, with the true courteous hospitality of all old-fashioned Portuguese. It was, in truth, this man's house, and he and his wife, children and dog stood to welcome us.

"Cea! Cea!" called out the farmer, cheerily, which, being interpreted, is "Supper!" "Here is one who has not eaten since he was in Spau!"

The Kaffir Day Off.

When the South African Kaffir has a "day off" and sets about enjoying himself one of his greatest pleasures is to dress himself up in some extraordinary fashion and generally play the fool. The "day umbrella" and sundry curious forms of headgear are brought forth. Several hold up candles, although it is daylight, to show how civilized and up to date they are. Crude musical instruments—anything that will make a noise—are greatly to the fore on such occasions as these.—Wide World.
