Mr. Wyatt Abernathy's watch was not in the hands of a thief, but in the possession of an honest man, "the noblest work of God," who found and returned it to the owner.

Saved From the Fire.

The Coffee Man's cigar is a 10c one, sold for 5c.

Mr. Steele, the new proprietor, has been busily engaged since he took charge of the S. L. Giles cleaning up the premises and has improved the appearance of things considerably.

I would do violence to my feelings were I to fail to return my sincere thanks to the brave friends who risked so much in rescuing my goods from the fire Tuesday night. To their heroic and unselfish efforts I am indebted for the comparatively small loss I have sustained, and I am earnest in expressing my profoundest thanks. C. OSBORN.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. May and their lovely daughter, Miss Bettie, were in Nashville and returned Saturday night, accompanied by the charming and attractive daughter of Dr. W. M. Leftwich, Miss Alice, who will spend only a few days before returning home. She is universally and specially loved and admired in Pulaski.

When the awning in front of Gibson & Gilbert was cut down it fell on a negro man and knocked him down, but he rose with his load of goods and carried them to the other side of the street and continued to work.

$1,200 per year can be easily made by advertising for E. G. Bidcott & Co., 10 Barclay Street, New York. Send for their catalogue and full particulars. -sett7-ly

It is said it is unprecedented—the decision in circuit court Tuesday in favor of the railroads. Railroads always pay damages for this as they railroad. Giles takes the lead in this, as in all new departures.

DO YOU OWE ME?

To my friends and customers that owe me: If you can possibly raise the money please cut down in full. Money is always in demand at this time. I need it. Your Friend, W. H. CRAIG.

The Fishers will start April 6th—Boreo volente.

Mules to Pasture.

I want pasture for 30 young mules—clover preferred. Apply to H. M. GIBBSBY.

At prayer meeting to-night Dr. Wright will lecture on one of the heathen countries to which the missionaries are sent, and will show what progress the good work is making. After the services a meeting of the Sunday school teachers will be held.

To promote a vigorous growth of the hair, use Parker's Hair Balsam. It restores the youthful color to gray hair, removes dandruff, and cures itching of the scalp. mar23-4.

A postoffice is to be established at Reynolds's station to be called Dr. Ray. The necessary papers have been prepared and forwarded and the office will be opened shortly with Mr. W. P. Hart as postmaster. It meets a very large necessity there.

Wanted.

To sell cheap on easy terms or exchange for land in town or for land near town either one of two large brick residences—one of them just completed. Jan19-1. L. W. McCORD.

Martha Purlin, colored, has been arrested, tried and found guilty of stealing the property lost at Martin College some time since. Valuable to the amount of one hundred dollars were lost at two different times, and she was found in possession of some of both lots.

It is useless to deny that the brightest and fairest fall easy victims to consumption, and equally fruitless to ignore the fact that decline has its origin in many cases in neglected catarrh. Sanfor's Catarrh Cure is a pure, sweet, balsamic specific.

Mrs. S. S. Culley returned Tuesday from Louisville, whither she went to add to her millinery stock. She was accompanied upon her return by Miss Blanche McKenzie, a beautiful young lady and niece of Mr. Culley, of Indiana, who will remain for some time as her guest.

A Card of Thanks.

I desire to express my gratitude to those who came to my aid so manfully at the fire Tuesday night. To their heroic efforts I am indebted for the comparatively small loss I have sustained, and I am earnest in expressing my profoundest thanks. C. OSBORN.

Mr. T. T. Lovell near Gibsonville reports a curious flock of sheep nature. One of his ewes gave birth to four lambs about two weeks ago—a very rare occurrence—and they were nurtured from four teats, each affording milk. A sheep udder never has but two teats, we learn. The lambs were all good size and healthy, but two have died.

New Spring Goods.

Dry Goods, Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Mens and Boys' Hats, Ladies and Misses' Hats, Carpeting, Oil Cloth and Matting. Agents for Butterick patterns.

We buy our goods direct from manufacturers and importers for cash, and will sell as low as any house in the country. ABERNATHY & BRANNAN.

PULASKI'S FATE

Again Overtakes Her With Fire and Destruction.

Five Negroes Buried Under the Falling Walls and Bally Mangled.

The alarm of fire was given at about 1 o'clock yesterday morning by the ringing of the alarm bell, and Pulaskians assembled around another of our periodical house-warnings. This time it was the south-east corner, and within two hours the walls had fallen in upon the stores of L. Hanneberg and W. R. Craig. When first discovered the fire was bursting out of the ceiling windows where about sixty bales of cotton were stored under Hanneberg's store. The clerks, Isaac Goldberg and the two Davidoffs, were sleeping upstairs and barely escaped with their lives by jumping from the front windows upon the awning in front. They were awakened by the dense smoke in their room and their bed was on fire, and before they could escape their hair was singed and their faces burned. They came down in their night clothes and not a thing was saved from the entire stock of goods in Hanneberg's house.

Messrs. H. E. Thompson and Charles A. Kirksey were sleeping above Craig's store and the alarm given them was the dense smoke and fire itself, and they made their exit by the awning also, but escaped being burned. The houses were built together and there were but a few moments left to carry out any goods from Craig's store. Some of the stock near the front door was saved, but the bulk of it entirely lost. The next house was Gibson & Gilbert and was saved only by the most heroic effort. The awning was torn away and the double brick wall alone saved the house. It would have burned anyway if it had not been for Capt. Arrowsmith and a colored man, whose name we would gladly couple in this connection, who alone ventured up-stairs and extinguished the window-frames, and Hanneberg's entire stock was lost, estimated at about $8,000. His insurance was $6,000.

Craig's stock was estimated at about $6,000. He was insured for $3,000 and saved $1,500. Gibson & Gilbert's loss was $1,500. The damage of removal and is fully covered by insurance.

Mr. Osborn's loss to property and damage to furniture will reach about $1,000.

J. H. Taylor, saloon; J. N. Matthews, saddlery; Owen Callahan, boot and shoe shop; the telegraph office, and the Linden House, each sustained light damages in moving and stacking.

The cotton in the cellar caught fire from the fire several months ago. It may have caught the same way this time, but it is not known. Mr. Hanneberg has been in Alabama several days.

The houses burned belonged to Capt. J. D. Flaunt and Mrs. Marion Childress and were insured for $5,000. The loss above that will probably be about $2,000.

The law offices in the rear were damaged by the rear wall of the store falling in upon the roof. They are owned by Capt. Flaunt and Col. S. E. Rose. The first was occupied by Taliaferro & Allen and the next by Rose & Timmon. Their books and papers were damaged in removing. The damage to the building is all about $200.

The walls of the burning buildings all fell in within two hours except the south wall. About 7 o'clock yesterday morning it fell in with a sudden crash, injuring the following persons, all colored, who were proving among the ruins and indifferently exposing themselves:

Tom Bell, boy, skull broken and dangerously wounded.

Bud Bell, boy, slightly bruised. Will Carlon, boy, bruised.

Levi Isaac, young man, both legs broken below the knee and otherwise severely bruised.

Jackson Hobbs, man, badly battered about the body and legs.

It was reported that one or two others were under the bricks but it is not verified.

The fire engine was not disturbed in its silent, rusty repose in the little house around the corner. We could mention names of several who did heroic work, but we would omit some perhaps. There were willing and brave men at all necessary points, but there is an apathy growing gradually upon the nerves of some of those who have often, and thanked, risked their lives battling the flames.

Craig moved two doors further south and is still "second door from the corner." The business of the street is uninterrupted, save the complete holocaust to Mr. Hanneberg. Mr. Skillern suffered some damage to furniture but is now in full repair.

There was more than ordinary stealing going on around much of the damage, outside of Hanneberg and Craig, came from deprecators.

Many incidents could be related of good work done and curious conduct. One man jerked the red-hot Litten office stove down. Another took deliberate aim with a bed-lad and saved a costly chandelier. The truck of the fish-hook and step-ladder brigade was hauled out and carefully placed where the fire could not reach it and later suspended around it to keep persons from soiling the paint.

Following is a list of the cotton in Hanneberg's cellar, the owners and insurances:

I. Goldberg & Co., -bales 4000 ins. R. M. Smith 15 " 350 "

E. H. Gibson 10 " 200 "

T. B. Harwell 7 " 300 "

M. R. Parsons 2 " "

Mrs. S. L. Fogg 2 " "

Mr. Osborn was carrying $11,500 on his buildings, including hotel, Gibson & Gilbert, loss $800—insured for $1500. Messrs. Kirksey and Thompson lost their trunks and nearly all their clothing. Craig's safe was gotten out about 12 o'clock and the books and papers all found intact. Mr. J. A. Cayce had a box containing twenty-five watches in the safe. They had the oil warmed in them but were not damaged.

Workington.

Before you begin your heavy spring work after a winter of relaxation, your system needs cleansing and strengthening to prevent an attack of ague, bilious or spring fever, or some other spring sickness that will unfit you for a season's work. You will save time, much sickness and great expense if you will use one bottle of Hop Bitters in your family this month. Don't wait—Burlington Hawkeye.

FIRST AND LAST NOTICE.

All persons indebted to me by account for 1881 who do not pay or make satisfactory settlement with me by the 10th of April will be warranted without exceptions I mean what I say. F. M. BUNCH. mar23-1.

The criminal docket will be taken up next Monday.

Mrs. Tulley Brown of Nashville is visiting relatives at this place.

Maj. W. J. Sykes has been in Pulaski this week at circuit court.

Miss Maude Beasley of Lester's Station is visiting in town this week.

Mr. Atha Baugh returned to town Tuesday. He has not been sick much.

That will be a blessed day when the new turpentine company complete the improvements they propose making on the pike between Elkton and this place.

Since the last issue of the Citizen the state debt has increased $31,643.78. It goes on $4,520.54 a day building up wrath against us and hedging us in with a wall of debt.

There are twenty-five persons in the county jail at present, all colored but three. Mr. Arrowsmith, the jailor, thinks he is getting rid of about a dozen of them this term of the court.

Mr. W. R. Craig moved into the house two doors further up the street from his old stand yesterday morning, with the remnant of his stock left from the fire and is still "second door from the corner."

At the Methodist church next Sunday at 11 o'clock the pastor will preach in the interest of the Woman's Missionary Society, on the subject: "The Necessity for Woman's Work in our Mission Fields." At 7 1/2 o'clock a church conference.

Mr. Newton White carried out of Craig's at the fire a sack of coffee under each arm—270 pounds! He had an inspiration upon him, having just returned from a call upon a young lady and her mother, who had been for Capt. Arrowsmith and a colored man, whose name we would gladly couple in this connection, who alone ventured up-stairs and extinguished the window-frames, and Hanneberg's entire stock was lost, estimated at about $8,000. Co operative Manufacturing.

The article upon our outside by Col. Colyar embodies points of vast importance to the people of Giles county if put into shape. Suppose our farmers would put their surplus capital into a co-operative manufacturing plant, and start a plow factory or a wagon factory or something of the kind, the result would be that they would make a large per cent. on their capital; they would get the implements or articles manufactured at a greatly reduced price without freight; it would advance the business interests of the county and make lands and property worth more; it would stimulate other industries of like kind which in turn would yield like benefits; it would furnish employment to many of our mechanics and laborers; it would bring money into the country and keep at home that we already have; it would create a closer business relation between our people and induce them to work more into each other's hands; it would attract attention abroad and induce active men from other countries to come and invest. The tendency would be toward. We believe the scheme could be materialized if a leader could be found. The suggestion has already been made by capitalists to manufacture plows and wagons at home in Pulaski. Suppose a gentleman of the business sagacity and reliability of Mr. Joseph B. Childers would lead in the enterprise, open stock, and when a sufficient amount is taken, call a meeting of stockholders, elect directors, employ workmen and machinists and a superintendent and go to work. We are not yet ready to say anything definite about it, but it is a possibility. Will Mr. Childers lead in the enterprise?

Since the above was in type we are sorry to inform that the material suggested has already been made into a definite shape. Mr. Ep. Tarple
