

Local and Personal

News of a Week as Told by the Banner Reporters

—Mayhaws are in season.
—Mrs. L. G. Smith is visiting relatives in Shreveport this week.
—Mrs. W. J. Shipchoy, who has been quite ill for a week past, is reported to be improving.
—Miss Evie Lawson, of Shreveport, was a week-end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hill.
—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Chance motored up from Mooringsport Sunday to spend the day with Mrs. Chance's mother, Mrs. Alice Helfner.
—Mrs. Anna Martin left Monday, after spending two or three days in Benton as a guest of her old friend, Mrs. B. A. Kelly, sr.
—The steel-frame bridge across Cypress Bayou at Hughes Spur was washed away by Monday night's big rain. Also, the dirt approaches at each end of the bridge were partially washed out, so reported.

—Misses Ruth Smith and Gretchen Page, students in Benton High School, spent the past week-end as guests of their schoolmate, Miss Valerie Teague, at the country home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Teague.
—A Rocky Mount reader has written the Banner to say: "The Rocky Mount team defeated the Linton base ball team here last Saturday. The score was 13 to 3. Batteries: For the visitors, Shackelford and Jones; for the local team, Zeigler and Hoffmann."
—Tom Smith, who last Saturday night killed Boss Moore (both colored) is now in the Parish Jail here, being arrested and brought in the following day by Mr. W. G. Burt. Both negroes were tenants on Mr. Burt's Kingston plantation, but they fought in the public road fronting the South Riverside plantation. Jealously over a woman prompted the quarrel and fight and the weapon that killed the vanquished one was a pocket knife.

—Rev. G. C. Dennis filled his regular appointments at the Baptist Church Sunday.
—Mr. A. H. Montgomery left Monday for Eldorado, Ark., where he has teams at work.
—Miss Mayme T. Burt returned yesterday from Baton Rouge, where she spent several weeks with relatives and friends.
—Again this week more heavy rains have come. The rainfall, Monday night and Tuesday morning amounted to just about five inches.
—Miss Thelma Wilson, of Ivan, is a new pupil in Benton High School. She is stopping with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wilson.
—Miss Olga Gleason, now a student in Benton High School, spent the past week-end with her cousin, Miss Emma Lou Perry, whose home is near Hughes Spur.
—Miss Juanita Brame came in last Saturday from Ivan, where she has been teaching. While in Benton she is a guest of Mrs. J. M. Henderson. Miss Brame was also accompanied by her sister, Miss Tad Brame, who has since proceeded to her home in Lewisville, Ark.
—Old friends have been busy for some days past congratulating Mr. R. O. Stillman, who one day last week was united in marriage to Miss Eloise Sanders, from Crestview, Fla., the ceremony being said by Justice of Peace J. H. Montgomery. Best wishes, air-best wishes to both of you.
—Being pressed for time to-day and the Banner's columns being somewhat crowded, we have not made the usual full comment in connection with the clippings carried in the retrospective department. It would have been a pleasure to have devoted at least two additional hours to the department.
—We have been wondering if the oil mill at Bossier City could not make use of a lot of velvet beans next fall. We note that some of the mills are advertising for beans for fall delivery, so the matter might well be looked into here at home. Our farmers are going to need other money crops aside from cotton this season.
—Miss Jewell Tally, who some time since united with the Baptist Church, was baptized by Rev. Dennis Sunday afternoon in Mr. T. W. W. Stinson's artificial lake. A number of her friends were present to witness the ceremony. Miss Tally's home is in South Bossier, but she has for some months been here as a student in Benton High School.

The Automobile is the deadliest machine in America. It is the greatest single cause of accidents.
The mortality report of the Census Bureau and statistics received daily indicate that AUTOMOBILE accidents are resulting in approximately one-half the number of deaths caused by industrial accidents of all sorts.
There are more people killed and injured by AUTOMOBILES than through any other cause but war.
To fill the demand for a special, high-grade, full-coverage policy insuring against loss of time, life or limb from automobile accidents, we offer a

Special Automobile Accident Policy

According to the roster as published sixty years ago A. Boon, W. J. Holley, F. M. Malone, E. Tinnon, Albert Walker and Sidney Walker volunteered from Bossier Parish. We are told that several of the others named, among them J. F. Steel, must have been from this parish.

A card signed by W. G. Arons and addressed, "To my friends, J. H. Lofton, E. Edwards, Charles Chaffee, Philo Alden, W. H. Scanlan, A. A. Abney, R. J. Hancock, E. Mahne and Anstus Miller," reads:

"Gentlemen: I acknowledge the receipt of the several sums you have contributed to me on my starting to join the army in defense of our country—for which you will please accept the thanks of a sincere heart. I shall endeavor to make good use of the means and my time in faithfully discharging my duty as a true Southern soldier."

Mr. Arons was, so we are told, perhaps about thirty-five years of age sixty years ago. His calling was the making of pictures—daguerotypes and ambrotypes. It is thought he did not return to Bellevue following the war.

"On page one we publish a list of the names of the officers and the privates of the Shreveport Grays and Caddo Rifles. Both companies have left Shreveport for the seat of war. In both companies we find the names of many of our true friends—superiors in age, and many of our youthful associates with whom we have mingled in the social walks of life for the past several years. With all the officers we are acquainted; and some of them are our most intimate friends, and it is with pleasure that we can testify to their patriotism and chivalry. God speed you, friends, in your magnanimous spirit of defense, and may you come back unscathed, and if not with laurels with the still nobler consolation that you have acted well your part, is our heartfelt prayer."

The roster of the Shreveport Grays was given in last week's issue of the Banner. The roll of the Caddo Rifles shows at least four members from Bossier Parish—W. G. Arons; Ed A. Lowry; M. O. Tallaferro and T. J. Vance.

The following two paragraphs taken from the Police Jury proceedings of sixty years ago will be found of interest:

Fifty Years Ago.
The Banner of April 22, 1871—Bellevue.]

Under the heading "Murder and Robbery" there appears a news story of leight that reads, in part, as follows:
"Our community has been thrown into great excitement by the discovery on the 20th instant, of the body of a murdered man in the woods some two miles from Bellevue, near the Minden road.
"Mr. F. M. Braden was hunting his stock hogs on the 19th instant and came upon a covered wagon in the woods. He reported the fact, which, coming to the ears of Col. R. W. Turner, led the latter to believe the wagon might belong to one of his debtors, lately absconded. The Colonel and Mr. Braden, on the forenoon of the 20th, went to the spot where the wagon stood, and soon discovered that a crime had been committed, there being blood on the wagon, and trunks therein broken open. They followed back the wagon tracks and in about a hundred yards the body of a dead man was found.

"As soon as possible they reported the facts in Bellevue. The deputy Coroner, and a dozen men, went out to view the body, held an inquest, and examined the surroundings. The body was that of a white man low stature, with black hair, but was so much decomposed that the features were not distinguishable. The breeches pockets were turned wrong side out. In a pocket of the vest or coat, was found a bill of sale of a wagon and two horses—by H. Kruse, of Waco, Texas, to John Nachensohn. In the wagon was found a pair of pants, with the same name on them; also, what was called a cash book, with Nachensohn, Silverstein & Company written on the outside of the cover. The body of the book is written in Hebrew characters, and two other books and several letters in that character were found. From these facts, and letters and cards found, it appears that the deceased was a Jew, from Hamburg, named John Nachensohn, and that he had resided in Inverness, Scotland, and in Houston, Breham and Waco, Texas.

Three wounds made by a large knife, were found in the right side of the corpse, under the breastbone; the left side of the jawbone was also broken, as if by a pistol shot in the mouth.

"It is evident the deceased was a peddler, and was killed for his money. If the cash book is any guide, the murdered man was in possession of about four thousand dollars. The nature of the wounds indicate that the murderer was riding in the wagon when the deed was committed.

"Besides what we have already described, there was found, in the wagon, a trunk, valise and jewelry-box, broken open, and a trunk still locked. This latter contained little else besides clothing for a man, low of stature. . . . A bloody, small pasteboard box, with paper wrapped around it, was found, torn open. From all appearances in this box the deceased carried his money. . . .

This unfortunate old peddler was doubtless killed and robbed by his companion, who the report of the affair describes as a "tall American" and who it was thought was perhaps acting as a guide. No arrests were ever made and the matter remains a mystery to this day. As a boy we remember to have had the scene of the crime pointed out. It is just at the east rim of what we Bellevue people called the First Prairie.

Just a Few Minutes Time Required
Some people have the idea that in order to have light from a Delco-Light plant it is necessary to have the engine running all the time the light is on. This is wrong. Under ordinary conditions you run the engine to charge your battery and then take your lights from the battery. As the engine starts by pressing a lever and stops automatically, it is not necessary to devote more than a few minutes' attention to Delco-Light each week in order to have continuous electric current for lights and power.
