Dear Sir: The question of what the people of this section are to do with their surplus cattle is so serious that a strenuous effort is being made to take the necessary steps to lift the quarantine against them.
In line with this movement a big tick eradication meeting and barbecue will be held in Natchitoches, Tuesday, September 26th.
This is your invitation to attend this meeting. A similar one is being sent to every police jury member in the eight parishes adjoining Natchitoches. Invite all cattle owners, bankers and business men who have the welfare of this section of the country at heart to attend this meeting. We are enclosing a postcard for you and a friend to sign, letting us know that you will attend. Send us the names of anybody else you know will come, so we will know how much "barbecue" to prepare.
This will be a great "Get Together" meeting. Let's talk things over.
All will assemble at the Natchitoches High School Auditorium, at eleven o'clock. The discussions will then take place, after which we will enjoy a good old-fashioned barbecue.
Don't forget the place, the date or the purpose.

Vocational Training Limit.

The sub-district office of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, Shreveport, is calling attention to the time limit for training applications. The law provides that the last date for receiving applications for vocational training is December 16th of this year.
Any person who has a disability which entitled him or her to take vocational training under the direction of the Bureau is urged to do so within the prescribed time.
Attention is further called that if any person has received notice that he or she is eligible for training and has not yet actually entered a course, they must do so within twelve months of said notice. The law so prescribes.
All agents of the Bureau and all persons interested in the interests of the disabled are requested to spread broadcast this information.

The Church as the Only Cure For Ills of Capital and Labor

A clipping of timely interest from the Colfax Chronicle, contributed to that paper by Rev. S. S. Bogan, reads:
"It is peculiarly unfortunate that Capital and Labor are so untractable in their mutual attitude one to the other and so refractory toward their mutual interest. It seems that these two component parts that are so closely related, mutually dependent and necessary to their industrial and economic life, would recognize their mutual dependency and regard the interest of the one as necessary to the best interest of the other.
"The prop and stay of our boasted civilization as sustained and expressed in our social, industrial and economic life cannot stand if either of her main pillars—Labor or Capital—is overthrown. And it is certain that neither capital nor labor can stand alone independently of the other. Human life, with its innate bias and selfish tendencies insists upon an individuality that is more imaginary than apparent. Labor as a co-operate body, with its splendid powers and potential forces, is absolutely dependent upon Capital for actual results, and Capital, with its boasted powers and flaunted independence, can neither move a wheel of industry nor sustain itself at par, to say nothing of growth and accumulative interest apart from Capital.
"There can be no question but that Capital and Labor stand or fall together. For these mutually dependent bodies to be antagonistic in interest and actuated by animosity is highly detrimental to the best interests of both; while it creates and fosters elements of destructive forces that will finally overthrow and destroy both—and in the fall and crash goes down to ruin everything that the one hundred per cent American prizes most and loves best.
"The bent of mind and intellectual mold and moral turpitude that characterizes our social, industrial and economic life of to-day, is not only unsafe and unreasonable, but pugnacious and deficient. It is always ready and willing to take, but never to give. The law of reciprocity is not only discredited, but really discarded, and covetousness and selfishness reign supreme and control absolutely the actual and potential forces of life.

"The golden rule may be sneered at by the worldly wise and appraised as mere cant and pious nonsense; nevertheless, if the world's social, economic and industrial problems are ever solved, and peace and harmony established, it will be when men recognize and practice this rule in life's activities and learn to set moral value above material gains.
"Capital, divorced from the recognition of God and a moral consciousness, is a menace to any nation and people and tends to imperial absolutism. On the other hand, Labor, in its socialistic tendencies to deny God and condemn the Church, is equally menacing to the uplift and betterment of human conditions and tends to communism and absolute anarchy. The Church, with all its faults, short-comings and seeming impotency, is man's best friend and most ardent supporter. In the teachings of Jesus Christ are to be found the only true and lasting solution of all our social, industrial and economic problems.
"There can be no adjustment of these highly irreconcilable claims and interest of Labor and Capital, so long as they persist in ignoring and discrediting the Church and denying God. The Bible is and must be the last word in prohibitive laws and measures for the suppression of crime and wickedness and the restraint and punishment of the lawless, as well as the measure and standard of all moral and spiritual perfection and the highest wellbeing of man from any standpoint of life."

Remember October 11th

THAT is the day our PARISH FAIR opens—and let's make it one of the very best ever held in the parish. Send me everything you have for the fair—on the 10th, if forwarded to Bossier City, or earlier, if sent to Benton. I will look after your exhibits for you. ## Program by the "Daughters."

The 113th birthday anniversary of one of the South's departed heroes will occur Wednesday of next week. We have in mind, Admiral Raphael Semmes, that intrepid naval officer who passed away during 1877. That he should be locally honored and memory of his valiant deeds revived, as is planned, is fitting.
We have been asked to announce a program to be given in commemoration of Admiral Semmes by the local chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy at the School House Friday afternoon of next week. The date named has been selected upon so as not to interfere with the teaching of the school. Four o'clock is given as the hour for the first number on the program. The Banner is also requested to say that the general public is invited to be present.

An Unfortunate Accident.

A most deplorable accident occurred in Shreveport Tuesday morning, when Mr. James O. Hardy, an elderly man, was struck by a car driven by Mrs. William H. Wilkerson and so badly injured that he died shortly after being taken to a hospital. Mrs. Wilkerson, who, it is said, is subject to some form of heart trouble, became excited and lost control of her machine and was unable to stop it in time to avoid the accident. She was overcome by the shock and was taken to a sanitarium, but was later removed to her home in Bossier City, where she was still under the care of a physician the following day.

From Benton High School.

In the list of beginner pupils last week there should have appeared the name of Mary Louise Wallace. She, however, is in the first grade.
Miss Clara Buhenszer, of the Shreveport branch of the Red Cross, was a visitor Monday. She stated that she expected to be back in the course of a few days and again make a health survey of the school, as was done last year about this time. We were pleased to have Miss Buhenszer state that Benton High School made the highest and best health per cent of any school in the two parishes—Caddo and Bossier—last year.
