Job printing in the highest style of the art at New Orleans prices. Leave your orders at the Chief office.

Postmasters are authorized and requested to act as agents for the Chief.

The Chief is received by all subscribers POSTAGE FREE.

Saturday, June 4, 1881.

Mr. Edmund Maurin of New Orleans is authorized to act as general agent and representative of the Chief, to solicit advertisements and subscriptions, and receipt for payment therefor.

John R. Ditch was shot and dangerously wounded at Berwick City, La., by his stepfather, Charles Brown.

Mrs. President Garfield has been very ill, and grave doubts of her recovery were entertained. The crisis in the disease has passed, however, and she is now convalescent.

A severe hailstorm destroyed the cotton and corn crops on four plantations belonging to Col. Ed. Richardson, near Skipwith, Miss., May 22. Hogs and cattle were killed outright by the hailstones.

Miss Pritch, daughter of Mr. Thomas Pritch, of Caldwell parish, La., had her clothes catch fire while she was superintending the cooking of a meal, and was so badly injured that death resulted in a few hours.

Ballooning for United States Senators to succeed Messrs. Conkling and Platt has begun in the New York Legislature. The Administration men have developed unexpected strength and the prospect is that neither of the resigning Senators can be re-elected.

The Supreme Court has decided that, under the operation of the constitution of 1870, the monopoly feature of the New Orleans Slaughterhouse Company is abolished. Another slaughterhouse is to be erected by the Butchers' Benevolent Association.

Our valued and brilliant contemporary, the St. Bernard Eagle, kindly remarks that—

Linden E. Bentley, Esq., of the Donaldsonville Chief, is said to be a candidate for the nomination of Collector of Internal Revenue. We should be pleased to see Louisiana journalism so worthily represented as it would be in the event of his success.

When the appointments of officials for the Western Judicial District of Louisiana were sent in by the President, the list included the name of Major Ross Wilkinson of Calde parish for Marshal. The following day intelligence of the death of Major Wilkinson was received, and his name was substituted by that of Mr. J. C. Weeks of Morehouse.

The West Baton Rouge Sugar Planter declares that the people of that parish are determined that their Sunday law shall be maintained in one form or another, notwithstanding the decision of the Supreme Court pronouncing Act No. 54 of 1878 unconstitutional. The beneficial effects of the law have been so apparent that public opinion in its favor is very strong.

Jessie and Richard Lott, sons of Hon. H. R. Lott of West Carroll parish, were killed by L. Sage in a street shooting affray at Floyd, La., on the 24th of May. According to the account published by the Lake Providence Herald, the Lotts were the aggressors and began the shooting. Both were young married men, with interesting families. Sage mounted his horse and left immediately after the killing.

Hon. Blanche K. Bruce, the distinguished colored ex-Senator from Mississippi, has been appointed by President Garfield to the important post of Register of the Treasury. The President's selection in this instance is warmly commended throughout the country, not only by the organs of colored sentiment, but by the press and people generally. Mr. Bruce is an able and a clean man, whose honorable record reflects credit upon himself and the colored race.

No action having been taken by the Senate upon the nomination of Hon. O. H. Browner to be Surveyor General of the Land Office for this State, it is stated that another appointment will be made by the President. The most prominent name mentioned in connection with the position is that of State Senator Jacques A. G. of East Carroll parish, and a better selection could not have been made. Mr. G. is one of the wealthiest and most respected representatives of the colored people of Louisiana; his record is without a blemish, and he enjoys the esteem and confidence not only of the people of his parish and district, but of all who know him. His appointment would be a fitting acknowledgment of the services of colored people and a fitting recognition of the progress of the colored race.

James A. H. of the State of Louisiana is authorized to act as general agent and representative of the Chief, to solicit advertisements and subscriptions, and receipt for payment therefor.

COL. D. F. BOYD.

In our last number we noted the fact that Col. Boyd had satisfactorily adjusted his accounts with the new Board of the Louisiana State University and Agricultural College, and hence that it was a matter of just pride not only to his friends but to the entire State with which he is so honorably identified that the severance of his official connection with the University was not accompanied by the faintest imputation on his personal integrity.

Col. D. F. Boyd has been connected with the Louisiana State University from its foundation at Alexandria to its removal to Baton Rouge after fire had destroyed its beautiful buildings in the pine woods near Alexandria. He was its head and life during the eventful reconstruction period; and to his energy, faithfulness and unrivalled personal magnetism, the State owes the preservation of the Seminary fund and its application to the same policy and traditions that governed it when Gen. Sherman organized it and started it on its career.

It is well known that some of the ultra men of the radical school, during the administration of Govs. Warmoth and Kellogg, sought to make this a mixed institution, the effect of which would have been, owing to race prejudices, to drive out the white boys and make it an exclusively colored University. To prevent this and to preserve this institution for the benefit of the white race, Col. Boyd made a struggle which, though in a small arena, is unsurpassed by anything in the civil history of our State.

He made his struggle almost single-handed, in the midst of an epoch when the rights and prejudices of the colored people were more regarded than the wishes of the whites; and without undertaking here to express our approval or disapproval of his policy, we have no hesitation in saying that but for the fact, energy and the personal influence of Col. Boyd, colored cadets would have become State beneficiaries and the whole Seminary fund would have been practically dedicated to the exclusive benefit of the colored people. Of course Col. Boyd found help and assistance among the conservative Republicans, including some of the colored leaders, and it was in part in grateful recollection of these services that a powerful influence was successfully exerted upon the Constitutional Convention of 1870, overwhelmingly white and Democratic as it was, to make liberal provisions that it did to endow a University exclusively for colored students. But the Convention found little difficulty in adopting a provision so fair to the colored people, for it must be said, to the credit of the Democratic party of this State, that it has, in the matter of education, dealt fairly and liberally with the colored people.

During his long connection with the University Col. Boyd has endeavored himself to almost all the boys who have received their education within its precincts. These boys have been daily witnesses of his earnest and unselfish devotion to their real interest, and now grown to man's estate, in nearly every parish of the State they testify by their good conduct, their honorable positions and their learning, to the beneficial influence under which they were trained. To all others there are exceptions, but the cases are rare and few where the young men educated under Col. Boyd's direction do not regard him with reverent affection and admiration.

In our opinion, formed from such facts as have fallen under our observation, we hold Col. Boyd to be the best educator in the South, and regard his career as honorable to himself and of vast benefit to the State. While we regret his separation from the University we have the kindest wishes for the success of Col. Preston Johnson, his successor. We can only hope that his career may encounter fewer difficulties and accomplish as much good as the administration of Col. Boyd.

Public Schools.—If the teachers of the public schools will occasionally favor the Chief with reports of the condition and progress of the schools under their charge, we shall be glad to publish them for the information of our readers.

Mr. Conditus D. C. Bryan, teacher of the Washington school, in the fifth Police Jury ward, informs us that he has 765 pupils on his roster, with an average daily attendance of 83. This is entirely too large a number of children for one teacher to instruct and manage properly, and the School Board should provide Mr. Bryan with an assistant. Saturday before last a fair was given at the school house for the purpose of raising funds to make some essential improvements about the buildings and grounds. The entertainment proved quite successful, but a small balance being still required to complete the necessary fund, the teacher contributed it out of his salary and the desired improvements have been effected.

At the L'Assomption school, in the fourth ward, there are 42 pupils in attendance, a majority of whom have never been to school prior to the present term. Under the tuition of Mr. James H. Proffitt they are making rapid advancement in mastering the rudimentary branches and sounding the depths of the rivulets that flow from the Pierian spring.

A boiler explosion at the saw mill of Mr. John H. Burberry, ten miles from Clinton, La., fatally wounded the proprietor, and destroyed the mill. The boiler was of the old-fashioned type, and had been in use for many years.

Hon. W. Jasper Blacklock, formerly a prominent journalist in this State, is to be appointed editor of a daily Republican paper about to be established at Little Rock, Arkansas.

CROP AND MARKET REPORTS.

The total receipts of the staple at New Orleans up to the 1st of June, according to the statement furnished by Messrs. Deberry & Purves, were as follows:

1880	1881
Hogheads.....148,885	162,630
Barrels.....6,122	46,423

Thus, the receipts of 1881 show an excess over those of 1880 of 25,774 hogheads and 33,901 barrels. Messrs. A. Thomson & Co., in their monthly circular of the 1st inst., estimate that there are 10,000 hogheads of sugar and 8,000 barrels of molasses yet to come forward. Prices range from 6 3/4 for dry common, to 2 1/2 for choice, open kettle, 12 per cent. rate, 7 1/2 for centrifugal seconds to 2 1/2 for choice white clarified, actual rate. Says the circular:

In this sweet, since our last monthly report there has been a marked advance, more especially in all grades of clarified, which continue scarce and in request. The visible supply at all points being lighter than held at this time the preceding year, together with an increasing demand, we can see no good reason for sugar to recede in the near future from the strong position it has now assumed.

Concerning the growing crop it is said that the cane during the past month has continued to improve and the weather is now favorable. The most liberal estimate made of the prospective crop is 10,000 hogheads, against 220,000 for the past season.

MOULASSES.—The arrivals of sound, merchantable grades at New Orleans being nearly exhausted, a quiet but steady market at unchanged prices has resulted. The demand is active for city refined and boiled, which keep well for summer use. Prices range from 20 1/2 for common and inferior, 22 1/2 for good common, 25 1/2 for fair, to 42 1/2 for prime. For the city refined and boiled brands the following prices are quoted: Common H, 25; Bright Champion, 35; common Pelican, 20; fair Chalmere, 31; prime Louisiana, 39; clear Orleans, 42; choice bouquet syrup, 50.

RICE.—The total receipts of this cereal to the 1st of the month are set down at 213,112 barrels, against 26,770 at the same date last year. The demand for the better grades is good, with a very limited supply. Messrs. Thomson & Co. say: "Owing to the inclement weather of the past winter, most of the rough rice, which was held in warehouses to make choice and prime, turned out more or less 'stack-burnt' and inferior in quality, consequently filling the market with low grades, which are neglected, and are now being offered freely at very figures." Prices vary from 5 1/2 for No. 2, 3 1/2 for common, 4 1/2 for fair, to 6 1/2 for prime, with no choice in the market. Advances relative to the growing crop are not making.

FATAL SHOOTING AT PLACEMINE.—A shooting affray occurred at the steamboat landing in Plaquemine, Wednesday evening about half-past 8 o'clock, between a colored restaurant-keeper by the name of "Bully," and young Millard Bradford of Donaldsonville, familiarly known as "Yea" Bradford, which resulted in the fatal wounding of "Bully." The circumstances, as reported by eye-witnesses, are favorable to young Bradford, and seem to clearly establish that he acted in self-defense. It seems that the two men traveled from Donaldsonville to Plaquemine on deck passengers on the steamer Eudora, Bradford going up to his work on Monday's flatboat, and "Bully" to meet the Laura Lee, upon which boat he was engaged as a constable. On the way, Bradford was robbed of a pocket knife and several other articles. After reaching Plaquemine he saw the knife in "Bully's" possession, and asking to see it and finding it to be his own, put it in his pocket. "Bully" was very abusive, but went away for the time, returning at night with three or four companions, who advised him to jump on Bradford and pound him. The latter walked towards the flatboat and was in the act of crossing the stage plank to go aboard when "Bully" drew a revolver and snapped it at Bradford, some witnesses say once, others twice. Bradford then fired and "Bully" was discharged almost at the same instant. "Bully" fell to the ground with a fatal wound, the ball having passed through his liver. Although not dead at last accounts, the attending physician pronounced his case hopeless. Bradford at once surrendered himself and is in jail at Plaquemine. He is a steady, sober, hard working young man, while his antagonist bears the reputation of a desperado, being a bully both by name and nature.

Mr. D. S. Morse, Superintendent, and Mr. M. R. Spelman, General Freight and Ticket Agent of the New Orleans division of the N. O. Pacific railway, accompanied the base ball excursion train to this place Sunday before last. We were pleased to make the acquaintance of Mr. Spelman, who, like Mr. Morse and all the other gentlemen connected with the railroad named whom we have met, is genial, courteous and seems to possess special requirements fitting him for the position he holds. Under the direction of such officials as these, the New Orleans Pacific can not fail to become a popular route of travel with the public.

Further Proceedings in the Echeverria Case.

Going to the United States Supreme Court on a Writ of Error.

Judge R. N. Sims, of counsel for defendant in the celebrated case of the State ex rel. W. E. Howell, District Attorney pro tem., vs. A. J. Echeverria—wherein the Supreme Court of the State last week rendered a decision against defendant, declaring the office of Sheriff of Assumption parish vacant—telegraphed from New Orleans to his client, Thursday evening, that his application for a writ of error to the Supreme Court of the United States had been granted. This will not only delay a final decision in the case for a considerable period—perhaps two or three years—but will have the effect of leaving the defendant in undisturbed possession of his office until such a decision is rendered.

Mr. Echeverria and his friends are naturally jubilant over the success of his counsel in winning this important victory in the contest that has been so vigorously waged to deprive him of his office, and the sympathy with the defendant, who is a Republican, seems by no means confined to party lines.

A reporter of that consistent Democratic journal, the New Orleans Evening States, characterizes the alleged indignity of Mr. Echeverria as merely resting upon a technicality, and favorably mentions the fact that he has held the Sheriff's and other offices in Assumption parish "through the support of a great majority of the people of both parties."

In the next issue of the Chief we shall endeavor to present a synopsis of the decision of the Supreme Court in this case, and also of the grounds upon which the writ of error to the United States Supreme Court has been granted.

At the solicitation of the municipal authorities and a number of prominent merchants of our New Capital, one of the new steamboats being built for the New Orleans Anchor Line will be named "City of Baton Rouge." The boat is ready for business by the middle of September.

Capt. Geo. L. Kouns, an old Red river steamboatman, died of heart disease at his residence in Algiers week before last.

The water at Absinthe crasse is falling steadily and the flow through the break is not over five feet deep.

The Assumption will next week resume her semi-weekly trips to Thibodaux. Capt. Charlet, who has been quite ill, is convalescing rapidly. Simultaneous with the appearance of the Assumption, the Belle of the Bayou will discontinue her trips down Baton Lafourche, and will run tri-weekly between New Orleans and Donaldsonville.

A new steamboat, the Gem City, has just been built for the Kookuk Packet Company, at St. Louis, that is expected to be the swiftest craft on the Mississippi. She has a beautiful model and more power in comparison with her displacement than any boat on the river, not excepting the J. M. White.

Mr. Amos S. Collins, formerly editor of the Louisiana State Register, a brilliant independent Republican journal published at Carrollton, died suddenly in a railroad depot at Cincinnati, while en route to Kansas on a trip for his health. He was a native of Pennsylvania, 46 years of age, attained the rank of Second Lieutenant in the thirty-second Iowa regiment during the late war and of First Lieutenant in the eighth regiment of the Veteran Reserve Corps after the conflict had closed. His remains were brought to New Orleans and interred in Chalmette Cemetery.
