Each and Every One a Speed Shell

The speed that breaks your targets nearer the trap. That's why Remington-UMC Steel Lined Shells have won 13 out of the 15 Handicaps held in the last three years.

The speed that gets that mile-a-minute "duck" with a shorter lead—that's why it takes over 50,000 dealers to handle the demand for Remington-UMC Steel Lined Shells.

The Shooting fraternity are speed wise. They know loose smokeless powder won't drive shot. They know that the drive depends on the compression.

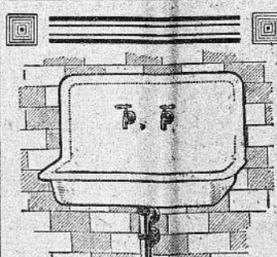

The powder charge in Remington-UMC shells is gripped in steel. This lining is designed to give the exact compression necessary to send the load to the mark quickest. It insures speed—the same speed in every shell.

The steel lining is moisture proof—no dampness can get through. Jar proof—no powder can get out. Waste proof—no energy is lost.

In his messages to congress vetoing the wool and steel bills President Taft stood pat for protection to American industries and claimed that the reductions contemplated by the bills were violative of that principle.

The president also criticized the ways and means committee for refusing a public hearing on the steel bill. The house of representatives voted to pass both bills over the veto, but a like attempt failed in the senate, hence the tariff duties on imported wool and steel remain unchanged.

CLARK ON THE STUMP.

Tariff is the Chief Issue—How the Parties Stand On It—Democrats for Revenue, Republicans for Protection—Prophecy of Democratic Victory.

Hon. Champ Clark, speaker of the national house of representatives, made his opening speech in the Maine campaign at Rockland, August 29, and the following extracts, as reported by the Associated Press, will be read with general interest:

"History demonstrates beyond all question the fact that in a country whose institutions are based on suffrage by parties, or as Mr. Speaker Cannon is fond of putting it, 'by majorities.' It does not make a particle of difference whether we want it that way or not; that is the way it is and the way it always will be."

"At the present time at least five parties are in the field with candidates for the presidency. Each of these parties has formulated and published a platform of principles which it proposes to enact into law if it gets the chance."

"What is a platform anyway? It ought to be a plain and honest statement of what those who make it intend to do if they are given the power to legislate. It ought to be, not merely a contrivance to get in on, but a thing to stand on after the victory is won. It ought to be not merely a device to use during the campaign for the purpose of catching votes, but should set forth the serious intentions of its framers."

"Pledges made to win an election should be religiously carried out after the election. That is the only rule of political conduct that will do to live by or to die by. There is no reason why a man should be dishonest and a double dealer in politics any more than in the other relations of life."

"While the platforms discuss and refer to a multitude of things, some of great importance, all of more or less importance, the American public is formed on such a plan that it will not seriously consider more than one or two issues simultaneously. Both Governor Wilson and President Taft in their speeches of acceptance have made the tariff their chief topic of thought in the minds of the voters of the land. Col. Roosevelt in his speeches also attaches great importance to the subject, and has a plan of his own for handling it. All men are agreed that it is a question of great importance to every human being living under the flag."

"Harris for the present Colonel Roosevelt's scheme of settlement, the position of the two great parties may be succinctly stated in this way: The Democrats are in favor of a tariff for revenue only; the Republicans are in favor of a tariff for protection. Upon this question the platforms are explicit. In the tariff plank of all the Democratic platforms the idea of revenue only has been found, not always expressed in the same language, but always expressing the same idea. Likewise, the Republican platforms all declare for a protective tariff."

"It will be observed that both platforms declare that the present tariff rates are too high, and ought to be reduced, but if the taxpayers really want the tariff reduced, they had better remember what happened in very recent times. In 1908 the Republicans promised to revise the tariff downward. On that promise they won. Without that promise they could not have won. Instead of reducing the tariff rates as they had promised to do, they proceeded to increase them, and because they increased them, contrary to their promise, at the election in 1910 the people elected a Democratic house of representatives."

"The Democratic house proceeded with as much expedition as possible under the circumstances to pass certain tariff bills, which would have reduced the amount of money extracted from the people's pockets by the tariff laws by something approximating $500,000,000 yearly, and at the same time would have provided ample revenue to run the government, for it should never be forgotten that where Uncle Sam gets one dollar out of the tariff system, the tariff barons get at least five. By doing so the Democrats kept the faith of the people."

"In this contest, remembering these things, which one of the two parties will the taxpayers believe in tends to carry out its promises made in its platform this year to reduce the tariff? Will the taxpayers believe the party which violated its promise on this subject or will they believe the party which performed its promise?"

"The Democrats declare in favor of reducing the tariff gradually, so as not to disturb the legitimate business of the country, for it is a thing incredible that any sane man should desire to injure—even in the estimation of a fair—any legitimate business of the country. The charge so often made by the standpat Republicans that Democrats, for some unaccountable reason, desire to injure the legitimate industries of the country, is so preposterous as to be proof conclusive that even those who make the charge most vociferously do not believe a word of it."

"Democratic prospects have not been so bright since 1892. As a matter of fact they are brighter now than

THE CHIEF COMPLIMENTED.

Remarks of Esteemed Exchanges Anent Our Forty-first Birthday Anniversary—Fraternal Words in Kindness Spoken.

The Chief takes sincere pleasure in quoting some of the many nice things said by its Louisiana contemporaries in connection with the recent completion of its forty-first year of existence, and cordially thanks these partial friends for their cordial expressions of appreciation and goodwill.

Modern Sugar Planter, New Orleans: Our esteemed contemporary, the Donaldsonville Chief, has entered its 42d year of publication, on which interesting event congratulations are extended. The Donaldsonville Chief was established in 1870 by L. B. Bentley, the year following the founding of this paper, then known as The Sugar Bowl, and the Chief stands forth as one of the oldest weeklies in Louisiana. It has the further distinction of being one of the widest read of the weekly papers in the parishes, and deservedly so, for its columns are always new, witty and generally most reliable. With such qualifications, and with a flavoring of wisdom that comes with long existence in the publication business, it is a pleasure to note the Chief's entry into its 42d volume with such apparent evidence of prosperity.

In one respect particularly is the Donaldsonville Chief to be commended, for published in the heart of the sugar belt as it is, the aim has ever been to give its readers news of the crops and plantations; and of all the parish paper exchanges that come to this office, it stands pre-eminently to the fore in planting personalities, comment on the crops, etc. This no doubt has had much to do with the popularity of the Chief in the various river and Bayou Lafourche parishes where it circulates. Considering the opportunity that all the papers in the sugar belt have of securing weekly crop news by the presence of telephone facilities, it is surprising that more of the other publishers in the country towns and cities do not follow suit and create a greater degree of popularity thereby.

Jena Times: Not many Louisiana newspapers enjoy the distinction which has just come to the Donaldsonville Chief. This excellent journal celebrated its forty-first birthday with the last issue and enters upon another milestone of life full of vim and vigor with no apparent showing of age. Here's to the Chief! Long may she live.

Southern Vindicator, Hammond: The Donaldsonville Chief entered upon the forty-second year of its existence last week. The Chief is numbered among our best exchanges, and we wish it prosperity for many years to come.

Roseland Herald: The Donaldsonville Chief entered upon the forty-second year of its existence last week. The Chief is numbered among our best exchanges, and the Bentley family are all talented writers. We hope the Chief will be on our list for years to come.

When quality and price are the considerations, we believe it is to your interest to let us figure on your printing.

The Piquevine Champion was four years old on the 12th of August and entertains hopes of throwing Methusalem's record of longevity way into the shade. At least we judge so from the concluding sentence of our esteemed contemporary's birthday salutory: "The Champion expects to keep up its fight until the law is supreme in Louisiana and every man stands on an equal footing beneath the broad aegis of the American flag."

Has That Been Your Experience Taking Calomel for Constipation? Try Dodson's Liver-Tone Next Time.

Many people take calomel to cure constipation, and it does cure it for one day, but two or three days later they are sicker than ever. That is one of the after-effects of calomel.

This is the reason why the X-Ray Pharmacy will not guarantee calomel to be harmless. But we do guarantee Dodson's Liver-Tone to be a perfect substitute for calomel. Dodson's Liver-Tone will cure constipation and bilious attacks and keep them cured, by stimulating and toning up the liver to do its best work. It is a vegetable liquid with a pleasant taste and is harmless to children as well as to grown people. It lives up the liver by natural methods, does not act so strongly as to weaken the body, but is safe and sure just the same. You can buy a bottle today from the X-Ray Pharmacy with the assurance of your money back if it fails in your case.

Rev. William Booth, the venerable commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, died at his home near London, England, August 20, aged 83 years. He underwent an operation for the removal of a cataract from the left eye twelve weeks before his death and was confined to bed until the end came. He will be succeeded as head of the Salvation Army by his son, Bramwell Booth, who has been his father's chief of staff for years.
