SATURDAY, MARCH 29, 1913.

The only good fly is the dead fly.

The best fly is the fly that never was born.

New let's hurry and build that race track.

The house fly is the poorest of scavengers and one of the most dangerous of man's enemies—a veritable wolf in sheep's clothing.

The New Iberia Enterprise, one of our most valued Louisiana exchanges, celebrated its twenty-ninth birthday anniversary on the 8th of March. M. W. Fisher, editor and proprietor, has been in control of the paper for the past eleven years, and as a fisher of news items, pat and pithy editorials and paying ads he is a pupil of Isaac Walton who has his patron beat a basketful.

Joaquin Miller, the venerable "Poet of the Sierras," has crossed the Great Divide. The picturesque old gentleman passed through Donaldsonville about fifteen years ago, and the then editor of The Chief had the pleasant privilege of a half-hour's chat with the distinguished visitor, culminating in an exchange of civilities at the bar of the Nicholls Hotel after the manner of the Far West.

Seems like the Jena Times flounders a bit when it characterizes Senator Foster as "a political barnacle who fastened his tentacles on the public feed trough ages ago," and then adds, "There are other Democrats just as good, just as brainy and just as deserving." What's the answer? That all the other fellows are barnacles, or that Senator Foster is good, brainy and deserving?

The LaSalle Ledger, published at Jena, La., has a new manager in the person of T. W. Farrah, who has been its man and assistant manager of the paper for the past two years. The retiring editor and manager, W. P. Robinson, gives his successor a good send-off and generously expresses the belief that the Ledger will be improved under the new management. The Chief speaks the parting editor and welcomes the new.

The Evangeline Banner remarks that "No man in the last fifty years of Louisiana history has occupied a more conspicuous place in public affairs than Senator Foster, and while he has not always been right, the times he has been wrong can be counted on the fingers of one hand. He will make a splendid collector, and the Banner is pleased to know that he is practically sure of the appointment." Clear the stage, boys, and let the baker's dozen of dissenters throw a few more flip-flaps.

A family of Italians consisting of Antonio Musica, his three sons, George, Arthur and Philip, and two daughters, were arrested in New Orleans last week as they were about to take passage on one of the United Fruit Company's steamships for Central America. The prisoners are charged with swindling New York banks to the extent of a million dollars by obtaining advances on greatly over-valued importations of human hair. Nearly $60,000 in cash was taken from the fugitives, one of the girls having $18,000 on her person.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels is to visit the navy yards and naval stations in the southern states within the next few weeks in order to familiarize himself with their status and to form an opinion as to the policy of abolition and contraction set in motion by his predecessor, Secretary Meyer. It is confidently anticipated this policy will surely be reversed so far as the station at New Orleans is concerned, and that under the new administration some use will be made of the fine facilities provided there for the repair and coaling of Uncle Sam's ships.

"GLORY ENOUGH FOR ONE DAY."

Tuesday, March twenty-fifth, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, should prove memorable in the future chronicles of Donaldsonville.

For it came to pass on that day that both the propositions submitted to the qualified voters of the municipality—one providing for the adoption of the commission form of government, the other vesting the police jury of the parish with authority to issue bonds on which to obtain funds for the building of good roads—were approved by very decisive majorities. The returns are given elsewhere in today's Chief, and the figures show that the commission government question was decided in the affirmative by more than two-thirds of the qualified voters participating in the election, while the good roads proposition came within a hair's breadth, so to speak, of being accorded unanimous indorsement, only three ballots having been cast against it.

Donaldsonville will be the principal beneficiary of these measures. The commission government matter appertains exclusively to the municipal corporation, and our country neighbors are concerned therein only to the extent of the indirect beneficial influence that will be exerted upon their localities by the improved condition and increasing prosperity of the adjacent town. All the inhabitants of the first road district have a direct and very material interest in the construction of roads that will be good at all times, in wet as well as dry weather, but the townspeople will reap the greater share of benefit from this improvement for the reason that all the contemplated good roads of the district will lead to Donaldsonville.

It is creditable to the intelligence and good judgment of the voters of the first, second and fourth wards of the parish, that they vied with their fellow citizens of the Donaldsonville ward in supporting the plan that affords practicable means of providing this section of Ascension with good public roads, than which nothing is more urgently needed.

There is "glory enough for one day" in this gratifying victory, and "glory enough for us all!"

TERRIBLE STORM CALAMITIES.

Many states of the Union have been visited by destructive wind and rain storms during the past two weeks, resulting in great loss of life and enormous destruction of property. Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska have been the principal sufferers from these visitations, and the accounts of the fearful calamities with which the daily newspapers teem are gruesome and heartrending in the extreme.

At Dayton, Ohio, it seems certain that upwards of 1200 lives have been lost in the flood that swept through that beautiful city, submerging a large area of its business and residential sections to depths varying from six to twenty feet and swallowing up property values aggregating millions of dollars. The horrors of hunger, thirst and fire have been added to those of the flood itself, and it is feared that many of the people who sought safety from the water in the upper stories of buildings have been burned to death.

Hamilton, Ohio, Peru, Ind., and a number of other towns in both those states are passing through the same terrible ordeal. At Omaha more than 200 houses were destroyed by a tornado, and scores of localities in Iowa and Nebraska report losses of life and property from a similar cause.

Storms of lesser magnitude have prevailed in the region of country extending from Texas to New York, adding their quota to a record of calamity and destruction that has not been equaled in the United States for many years.

President Wilson and the governors of Ohio and Indiana have issued proclamations calling upon the people to come to the relief of the sufferers, and Gov. Hall of our own state adds his official voice to the appeal.

That the response will be quick and generous there can be no doubt.

We Never Did It!

The esteemed Plaquemine Champion is so terribly in earnest, and takes itself so seriously in opposing the appointment of Senator Foster for collector of customs at New Orleans, that it confounds other people's facetiousness and good-natured bantering with ridicule and biting sarcasm, as witness its statement that the Chief "has on several occasions ridiculed the opposition" to Senator Foster's preferment. With a combination of compliment and criticism our contemporary further says: "You are not always 'wrong,' Bentley. Most of the time we commend the editorials of your excellent journal, but in urging the appointment of Senator Foster as collector of customs, you are applauding to veraciousity an act that does not meet with the approval of the progressive people and press of the state."

No sir-ree, we never did it! Perhaps we might bear with equanimity the imputation that our temper is ferocious or our appetite for opposition voracious—we might possibly pass over in silent disdain a suggestion that we are not unexceptionably veracious—but we'll fight a world champion, let alone an Iberville one, sooner than confess to any such breach of the public peace as "applauding to veraciousity," whatever that is. We never did it anyway, and we hurl the baseless accusation back up the river and defy Ms. author to his store teeth to prove it!

It is said the Turks never abuse animals, are polite to women, and are invariably kind to children. This distinguishes them from civilized people.—Ray's Tribune.

FEDERAL APPOINTMENTS FOR LOUISIANA.

According to recent publications in the New Orleans press, it is practically settled that the appointment of retiring United States Senator Murphy J. Foster as collector of customs at the port of New Orleans will be recommended to President Wilson by the unanimous approval of the Louisiana congressional delegation, together with the indorsement of National Committee-men Robert Ewing and other prominent Democrats whose voices are presumably influential in party councils in this state.

It is also announced there will be no opposition to the claims of ex-State Senator Jos. Voegtle to the New Orleans postmastership. State Senator Wm. H. Byrnes of the tenth ward of New Orleans—Col. Ewing's ballwick—is believed to have the inside track for United States Attorney Charlton R. Beattie's succession, but several other aspirants are in the race. Among the contenders are our genial and popular Assumption neighbor, Hon. John Marks, and if he and his friends make an earnest fight for the place, the other candidates will at least know there was a "scrap."

There are several reputed candidates for the post of United States marshal for the eastern district, including Chas. K. Fuqua of Baton Rouge, M. J. Rooney of New Orleans and Adam Estopinal of St. Bernard. Former Sheriff Kirkpatrick of Claiborne parish is thought to have the best chance for the marshalship of the western district.

Sheriff Jack Parker of Ouachita parish has been considered the most promising candidate for naval officer of customs, but Representative J. Martain Hamley of Lake Providence, Senator Ransdell's home town, is after the place and may prove a formidable competitor of the popular young Ouachita sheriff.

The friends of ex-Sheriff Louis LeBourgeois of St. James are hopeful that his nomination for collector of internal revenue, which lapsed with the close of the Taft administration because it had not been confirmed by the senate, will be renewed by President Wilson. There are other aspirants for the place, however, including J. S. Y. Fauntleroy, Senator Ransdell's secretary and campaign manager, and it remains to be seen whether the heavyweight St. James entry will distance them. He is reported to have the backing of Congressman and Senator-elect Robt. F. Broussard, and that surely ought to help some.

There are at least three Louisiana applicants for appointment in the diplomatic service—Col. T. Sambola Jones of Baton Rouge, who is likely to be recommended for United States minister to Cuba or consul general at Havana; Hon. Henri L. Guendal of Vermilion parish, who is strongly indorsed for minister to Guatemala, and Judson Harris of Jennings, who is accredited with a desire to fill some Spanish consulsip.

If the Wilson administration follows the precedent set by the Cleveland, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft regimes, and permits efficient and reputable officers to fill out their pending terms, there will be few changes in the state for some time to come. With the exception of United States Attorney Beattie, whose term has expired, and Internal Revenue Collector Walter Y. Kemper, who resigned by request to give the opportunity to President Taft to nominate his Yale classmate, Mr. LeBourgeois, the present incumbents of the federal offices have from one to three years tenure yet to their credit. Inasmuch as President Wilson has always been classed as an earnest advocate and supporter of the merit system as applied to the civil service, and in view of the course he pursued as governor of New Jersey, it is generally believed that he will decline to displace for party or personal considerations capable and worthy Republican office-holders before the expiration of the terms for which they were respectively appointed.

Twenty-three for Roy's Voice.

The St. Bernard Voice turned twenty-three in January and is now headed towards its two-dozen annual milestone. The present editor and proprietor, Hon. Wm. F. Roy, was one of the two founders of the paper and has been actively connected with its management during the entire twenty-three years of its existence. The Voice is one of our most interesting and valued exchanges, and the general esteem in which its genial and able conductor is held by his brethren of the state newspaper cult is indicated by the fact that he is president of the Louisiana Press Association, while his popularity with the people of St. Bernard is shown by his unanimous election and re-election as their representative in the general assembly. "Rah for Roy and viva his Voice!" Long may they be the peoples' choice!

King of Greece Assassinated.

King George of Greece was shot and killed on the streets of Saloniki, March 18, by a Greek degenerate named Aleko Schinas, evidently a weak-minded anarchist who cherishes a hatred for all rulers and governments. Crown Prince Constantine, who has distinguished himself at the head of the Greek armies engaged in the war with Turkey, has succeeded to the throne and promises to be a popular king. The assassin of King George was captured and is in prison awaiting trial for his dastardly crime.

The sparkling Lake Charles Daily Times, with genial John Marshall as its president and editor, launched into its third year last week. May the Times sail on through many more years of good times with John presiding and editing!

GOOD ROADS AND COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

Both Propositions Adopted at Elections Held Last Tuesday—Road Tax Carries by Almost Unanimous Vote—New System of Municipal Administration for Donaldsonville.

The special election held Tuesday throughout the first road district of Ascension parish resulted in the adoption of the proposition to authorize the police jury to issue bonds to the amount of $35,000, bearing 5 per cent interest payable semi-annually, and running not longer than twenty years, for the purpose of constructing solid and permanent gravel roads along the river on the west bank from the lower Iberville to the upper St. James line, and from Donaldsonville and Port Barrow to the Assumption line on both sides of Bayou Lafourche. These bonds will be secured by a special tax of one and one-half mills for twenty years, the levying of which was the object of Tuesday's election.

Polls were located at E. P. Dominique's and E. P. Melancon's stores, in the first ward; Cassard's warehouse, in the second ward; the Donaldsonville courthouse, in the third ward; and Esnault & Boston's sawmill, in the fourth ward. Majorities in favor of the proposition were returned in all precincts, the detailed vote being as follows:

Dominique's store—For, 9 in number and $76,600 in amount; against, 2 in number and $1410 in amount.

Melancon's store—For, 41 in number and $9750 in amount; against, 1 in number and $200 in amount.

Cassard's warehouse—For, 12 in number and $4663.33 in amount; against, none.

Courthouse—For, 118 in number and $217,583.32 in amount; against, 3 in number and $2540 in amount.

Esnault & Boston sawmill—For, 17 in number and $74,651 in amount; against, 2 in number and $1269.50 in amount.

Totals—For, 197 in number and $382,617.65 in amount; against, 8 in number and $5419.50 in amount.

The big majority in favor of the proposition, both in number and amount, is highly gratifying, and indicates that the public-spirited and progressive citizens of the first road district are fully alive to the necessity and value of good roads.

The Indian in Song and Story.

Next Friday evening, Nicholas Bauer, assistant superintendent of the New Orleans public schools, will deliver at the school auditorium his well-known address on "The Indian in Song and Story." Mr. Bauer will illustrate his description of the aborigines of this country with beautiful stereopticon views. All who have ever had the good fortune to hear Mr. Bauer in this, the most noted of his lectures, are unanimous in declaring it is intensely interesting as well as instructive from start to finish.

Proceeding and following this principal feature of the evening's entertainment, the high school glee club will render musical selections. A vocal solo by a well-known society leader will bring the entertainment to a close. The tickets for admission will be 10 cents for pupils and children, and 25 cents for adults. The proceeds are for the benefit of the high school, which is in need of maps and charts, and Mr. Bauer has kindly consented at the request of the high school principal, a former classmate at Tulane University, to make this special trip to Donaldsonville to aid the school in its efforts to raise some money. It is hoped the people of Donaldsonville and vicinity will also do their part in such a worthy cause by liberally patronizing the entertainment.

Cuprocoba Sowing Well.

The sale of Cuprocoba in large quantities is reported by Karl Spahr, who is distributing the preparation in this country, and it seems that the success achieved by the compound in Germany, where it was originated, will be duplicated here. Mr. Spahr states that in the Klotzville neighborhood on both sides of Bayou Lafourche, where rats had begun to devastate the newly-planted corn, Cuprocoba was used by a number of planters with excellent results, and it was found that seed corn treated with the preparation was not molested by the rodents. Mr. Spahr has sold some of the compound in every parish in the state, and has yet to hear of an instance where it failed to do what is claimed for it. One rather unique testimonial was received from a planter in the Lironia section of Pointe Coupee parish, who wrote that Cuprocoba is saving him a tidy sum in seed corn furnished to tenants, by reason of the fact that corn so treated will not be eaten by chickens, and hence the supply distributed to his tenants goes into the fields as intended instead of being fed to their poultry. Which brings to light another virtue possessed by this excellent preparation.

The rice acreage in Ascension has been considerably increased, and if the season is favorable a record crop should be produced this year. Tracts of land in the Darrow neighborhood comprising several hundred acres, which have been lying idle for the past few years, have been cleared and planted in rice, and the acreage on the places where the cereal has heretofore been cultivated has been materially enlarged.

Candidates Announce.

In the proper column of today's Chief will be found the announcements of Charles Maurin, for commissioner of public health and safety, and A. J. Schroeder, for commissioner of parks and streets of the city of Donaldsonville, under the commission form of government. Owing to the late hour at which the cards were received, comment upon the candidacy of these gentlemen is deferred until our next issue.

Solomon Klotz, of Napoleonville, was here Tuesday on business.

The police jury met yesterday to canvass the returns and promulgate the result, and as soon as the sale of the bonds is arranged, which will probably be in the near future, work on the roads will be started. Approximately $50,000 will be required, and the balance of $15,000 will be obtained by capitalizing an annual appropriation of $2000 for ten years to be made by the police jury from the general fund.

Commission Plan a Winner.

Donaldsonville adopted the commission form of government Tuesday by a vote of 151 for to 88 against. Much interest was manifested in the outcome of the election, and in view of the fact that only the question of the adoption or rejection of the commission system was being balloted upon, (the candidates for the various commissionerships having previously announced the withdrawal of their nominations), the vote polled is considered surprisingly large. Advocates of the commission form are jubilant over the result of the election, and predict a marked improvement in the administration of the business affairs of the city under the operation of the new system.

The vote by precincts was as follows:

Courthouse—For 45, against 27.

Market—For 39, against 23.

Lemann stable—For 67, against 38.

Elsewhere in today's Chief will be found Mayor Maurin's official promulgation of the result of the election, and also his proclamation of the first regular city election under the provisions of the legislative enactment creating the commission form of government. The election will be held Saturday, May 3, and a meeting of the Democratic City Executive Committee will be called shortly to order a Democratic primary for the nomination of candidates for the three commissionerships.

From present indications there will be a number of aspirants for the various offices.

Weather and Crop Notes.

High southerly winds prevailed here during the early part of the week, attaining unusual velocity at times, and in view of the reports in the daily press of atmospheric disturbances occurring in various parts of the country, apprehension was felt that perhaps Donaldsonville and vicinity would be visited by another hurricane like that which caused such damage throughout this section on Sept. 20, 1909. The windy period terminated Wednesday afternoon, however, when a torrential rain fell, following which the temperature dropped rapidly. Wednesday night the mercury reached the 40-degree mark, and Thursday night a temperature of 38 degrees was recorded, light frost being observed in the interior by early risers Friday morning. The cold weather will check the growth of cane and delay the germination of newly-planted corn. Garden and truck crops have been seriously damaged, and replanting will be necessary in many instances.

The heavy rainfall was welcomed by the rice planters, but was not needed for corn and cane. At that, it didn't do any particular harm, and in many localities was thankfully received because it served to lay the dust, which had become very disagreeable.

The rice acreage in Ascension has been considerably increased, and if the season is favorable a record crop should be produced this year. Tracts of land in the Darrow neighborhood comprising several hundred acres, which have been lying idle for the past few years, have been cleared and planted in rice, and the acreage on the places where the cereal has heretofore been cultivated has been materially enlarged.

'The voters will then be able on Tuesday to vote on the single proposition whether the commission form of government should be adopted. Experience has demonstrated that wherever this form of government has been tried the very best results have been obtained. A better understanding of the needs of the community whose business they have to administer is given the commissioners, and there results from this knowledge efficiency and economy in the administration of the city. 'The eyes of the entire state are upon us, and we should all, setting aside all questions of self, unite as one to the end that a new form of government may be assured for our community. 'Yours very truly, 'WALTER LEMANN.'"
