Pyrene Saves "Peace Ship."

The value of a fire extinguisher that can be instantly brought into use was effectively demonstrated when one of these devices was employed to put out a fire that had started in a Ford automobile belonging to James Black, of the Newman Farm. Upon coming out of the Lemann store in this city, Tuesday morning, Mr. Black discovered that one of the cushion seats of his car, which he had parked in the street in front of the store, was ablaze. He was attempting to extinguish the flames by beating them out, when Whitney Comstock, one of the clerks of the Lemann establishment, brought into play a Pyrene extinguisher and had the fire out in a jiffy.

At the time of his arrest the negro had in his possession a sack containing 18 pairs of shoes and 12 1/2 pound cans of coffee, and this property was subsequently identified as part of a shipment of such goods which was looted while in the St. James depot awaiting delivery to the respective consignees. Fred Douglas, alias "Snookums," believed to have been implicated with Liferidge in the St. James robbery, was arrested at Plaquemine on the same day the latter negro was taken into custody here, and has since been brought to Donaldsonville and placed in the local jail.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS.

Institutional and Student Activities Interestingly Reported.

By ROLAND BINNING. The Junior Literary Society, which is composed of the seventh and eighth grades, will hold its regular semi-monthly meeting Friday, March 10, at 2:40 p. m. The following program will be rendered: Recitation, Florence Bertin. Debate, "Resolved, that the levee only system for protecting the lower Mississippi valley is a failure." Affirmative—Clyde Warrick, Elda Saffir, Sam. Campagna, Odette Richard, Negative—Myrtle LeBlanc, Leon Gaudin, Vincent Landry, Mania Martin, Duet, Erna Gisclair and Thelma Hill. Dialogue, "The Unhappy Home," Leonard LeBlanc, Stanley Brasset, Craig Chapman, Bobbie Stuart, Fannie Templett, Clarence Peltier. Editor's paper, Lamar Lowrey. Critic, Miss Israel.

Judging from the "pep" exhibited by the Junior Literary Society at its recent meetings, next Friday's session will exceed any heretofore held. The debate at the last meeting was an especially interesting one and would have reflected credit on the Senior Society, which is composed of the ninth, tenth and eleventh grades. The quotation contest, though a new feature, showed that it can be profitable and will be used on future programs. This number was suggested by Supt. H. P. Broussard, who is a frequent and most welcome visitor.

To have the grand jury visit us when to the high school Wednesday afternoon and visited all the rooms and also the library. All commented upon the latter and said it was one of the best school libraries in the state, and that the students should be proud of it and co-operate in maintaining its present standard. We are sure this standard will rank among the highest, with our diligent and progressive librarian at its head. We should like to have the grand jury visit us when they stay can be longer, so that they may appreciate the good work of the high school.

The jitney dance given Friday night, Feb. 25, was attended by a large crowd and proved a success financially and socially. Music was furnished by Clairborne's orchestra. Last night's dance was also a grand success, proving that these affairs give popularity to the school are extremely popular. The excellent music rendered by Moller's "No Name" orchestra was an important factor in the success of the dance. High school students who are conditioned in any subject are not allowed to attend these entertainments, as the faculty does not wish for such affairs to interfere with school work.

A series of talks on "How to Study" and "The Value of Study" will soon be given by the teachers of the high school on their respective subjects. These talks will be given during morning exercises. Mr. Vickers introduced the series by discussing "The Value of Study and an Education."

The program for the next Senior Literary Society Meeting, which will be held Friday, March 17, will be published in The Chief of March 11.

NIGHT PROWLER NABBED.

Former Convict Arrested by Officer Acosta on Burglary Charge.

Albert Soulnay, a negro ex-convict, was arrested at 10 o'clock Sunday morning by Officers Lucien Acosta, Jr., and John Ramirez, charged with breaking into the residence of C. O. Peltier. One of Mr. Peltier's daughters, who had been suffering from toothache, was awakened at about 1:30 o'clock and saw a man standing in the hall. She called to her father, but before he could respond the intruder had run out of the house and disappeared. Officer Acosta, who was in the vicinity at the time, was notified and obtained an excellent description of the man from Miss Peltier, and a short while later he picked up Soulnay near the Moore garage in Railroad avenue, a couple of blocks from the scene of the attempted robbery.

The suspect is a pronounced octo-roon, being so light in color, in fact that he looks like a white man, which exactly fits the description furnished by Miss Peltier. A pocketbook containing $3.10 is supposed to have been stolen from the Peltier residence, but this was not found on Soulnay when he was taken into custody.

The man was sent to the penitentiary from New Orleans, being sentenced to two years imprisonment on the count of breaking and entering in the night-time, and one year for petty larceny. He was received at the penitentiary Feb. 16, 1914, and was discharged on Feb. 16 last from levee force No. 1 at Krotz Springs. He came to Donaldsonville at the invitation of a fellow convict, Sadum Johnson, a local negro who is now serving a term in the penitentiary, and since arriving here had been living with Johnson's father, Bud Johnson, at the latter's premises were thoroughly searched Sunday morning, but no loot or incriminating evidence of any kind was found.

The residence of Hon. R. N. Sims was ransacked Thursday night of last week, and on the following night the Catholic presbytery and the home of Dr. W. M. McCalliard were entered. An article used by the priest in administering extreme unction was stolen from the Catholic presbytery, but nothing of value was taken. It is from the other places entered. It is believed that Soulnay was the intruder in each of these instances.

Late Sunday afternoon the prisoner was positively identified by Miss Peltier as the man wanted. The young woman had a good look at the intruder when he turned on an electric light in the hall, and is confident the nocturnal visitor and Soulnay are one and the same. The would-be burglar started to enter the room occupied by Miss Peltier, but was frightened away when she screamed to her father. Soulnay denies his guilt, but Sheriff Hanson is confident he is the right man and is diligently working up evidence against him.

We learn from the Thibodeaux Comet that Dr. James P. Fortier, who has been located in the Lafourche metropolis for the past six years, departed Wednesday with his family for Baton Rouge, where he will practice henceforth.

Karl Geist, of Hohen Solms, was in the burg yesterday on business and dropped in for a brief chat with the editor.

DISTRICT COURT.

Criminal Term Convened and New Grand Jury Impaneled.

A regular term of criminal district court for Ascension parish was convened Monday forenoon, with Judge Charles T. Wortham on the bench and all court officers present. The following grand jury was impaneled to serve for the ensuing six months: M. F. Bloomenstiel, A. E. Ayne, A. R. Landry, Cale T. Chapman, Frank C. Ayraud, A. W. Brande, M. B. Gauthreaux, Dennis Cassard, Edgar Templett, Achille Blanchard, L. H. Kern and L. H. Kios. Judge Wortham appointed Mr. Bloomenstiel to act as foreman of the jury, and delivered the usual charge to the inquisitorial body. He supplemented his instructions by reading a letter from Dr. Oscar Dowling, president of the Louisiana Board of Health, urging a rigid enforcement of the health laws of the state, and particularly those referring to the registration of vital statistics, promulgations spitting in public places, and the prevention of communicable diseases by the observance of proper sanitary precautions.

The grand jury made a partial report of its findings Monday afternoon, and on Wednesday afternoon submitted its final report and was discharged until further notice. The following true bills were returned: Albert Thomas, murderer; Zebby James, breaking and entering in the night-time with intent to steal, two charges; Walden Deletre, larceny; Mack Ganel, wilfully shooting at; Henry Brykoff, carrying concealed weapon; Celina Johnson, striking with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill; Ed. Roddy, Desmond Roddy, William Hodgson, Sid Hodgson and Hughie Stephens, buying and selling fresh water fish without a license; William Clay, murderer; Peter and Selby Sevario, disturbing a peaceable assembly.

No indictments were found in the following cases: George Seale, practicing veterinary medicine without a license; Louis Hubbard, lying in wait; E. E. Reynolds, larceny; Burl Barrow, larceny.

Mack Ganel, charged with wilfully shooting at, pleaded guilty and was remanded, sentence being deferred on the statement of counsel for the accused that there were certain extenuating circumstances which he desired to call to the attention of the court. Walden Deletre, accused of the theft of a watch valued at $7, entered a plea of not guilty and was remanded for trial.

Albert Thomas, indicted for murder, pleaded not guilty, and the case was fixed for Wednesday, March 8. Attorneys S. A. Marchand and Karl Leche were appointed by the court to defend the accused.

A plea of not guilty was entered by Celina Johnson, indicted for striking with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill, and trial of the case was fixed for Monday, March 6.

Zebby James, against whom two indictments were found for breaking and entering in the night-time with intent to steal, was arraigned, pleaded not guilty, and his trial fixed for March 10.

William Clay, charged with murder, entered a plea of not guilty, and will be tried March 9.

Peter and Selby Sevario, accused of disturbing a peaceable assembly, entered a disclaimer to the charge and will come up for trial March 13. Defaults were entered in the following civil suits: Gauthreaux vs. Hebert, Kenner vs. Thibaut, Star Development Co. vs. Roufnac, and Hart vs. Raphael.

The damage suit of Ayoub Jacob vs. the city of Donaldsonville was fixed for trial Friday, March 10. Jacob, who is a Syrian peddler, was severely burned on one of his hands when he attempted to push aside an electric light wire that was hanging over the sidewalk from the shed of a building at the corner of Clairborne and Houmas streets, and which had become loosened in the big storm of Sept. 30 last.

The exception to the jurisdiction of the district court, in the suit of Western Union Telegraph Co. vs. J. A. Dalferes et als, was fixed for trial March 9.

At the conclusion of Wednesday's session, court adjourned to 10 o'clock a. m. next Monday.

Miss Rosina Singer returned recently to Jones, Morehouse parish, to resume her position as teacher of the public school at that place, after spending several weeks at home. Her school was closed for the period stated on account of overflow from backwater of the White and Arkansas rivers.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Chief is not responsible for views expressed by correspondents.

Are the Churches Narrow on the Dance Question?

People whose spiritual perceptions are of a very limited scope sometimes accuse the representatives of the christian church as being narrow in opposing the modern dance. And while those taking such a position are never rebuked by the religious world as authority on spiritual things, still there are sometimes those who give a nod of assent to this criticism, and we wish to offer some reasons as to why it is not just.

All the moral and spiritual tenets of the church to stand must be supported by the sacred scriptures, the unchangeable word of the living God, and when thus fortified, to assail them is to assail the Bible itself, and in most instances our critics would not dare to do that. One who sets aside the word of God and substitutes his own word on a spiritual question is an anti-Christ, just like one would be an anarchist who would set aside civil law and substitute his own law on a civil question. So then "what saith the law and the prophets?"

While the modern "bunny hug" dance is of modern invention that it could not possibly have been referred to in the direct language of the scriptures when they were written, still there are ample passages that cover principles involved in this form of modern worldliness, and we suggest the following as being sufficient to show the teaching of the Bible at this point, the principles stated covering the questions involved in the dance. In Galatians 5 we are told in the 17th to the 21st verses we have these words: "Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these: Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, revellings, and such like; of which I tell you before hand, that they that do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God. But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, goodness, self control. And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with its passions and desires." Again in the eighth chapter of the Romans in the fifth verse we have: "For they that are living according to the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are living according to the Spirit do mind the things of the Spirit. For the minding of the flesh is death, but the minding of the Spirit is life and peace." Here the divine writer contrasted the regenerated spiritual life with that of the unregenerated "fleshy" life so as to show that they were separate and apart, the one from the other, and that all such revellings as the modern dance are "of the flesh," and therefore impossible in the genuine christian life.

Another scripture passage of equal force is the first epistle of John, second chapter and the 15th verse: "If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof; but he that doth the will of God abideth forever." Here a special form of "worldliness" called "the lust of the flesh and the lust of the eyes," is said to be "not of the Father, but of the world." Accordingly a genuine christian would not engage in the dance if he could, and could not and keep his piety if he would. This last scripture seems to be an almost perfect portrayal of the present day France, thus resulting in both "the lust of the flesh" and "of the eyes," which is "not of the Father, but of the world."

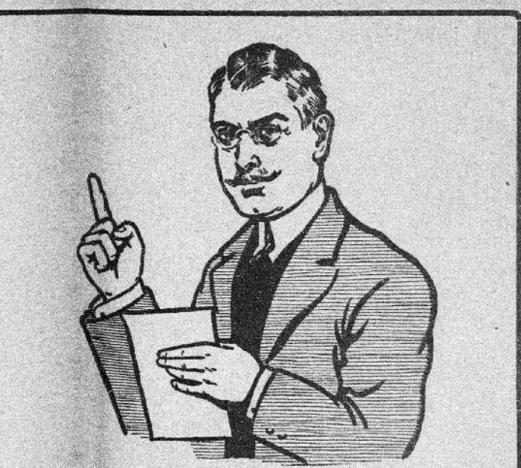

Thus we see that if the church is "narrow" in opposing such forms of worldly amusement as develop "the lust of the flesh and the pride of life," then the Bible is also "narrow," and the Almighty is the one to quarrel with. The church and its ministers are only servants of God who are sent to declare and to teach his will, and have no authority to color in the least, as "thus saith the Lord."

But if it should be found that the Bible and the laws of the spiritual life allow modern dancing, the pastor should not stand in the way of any pleasure that belongs to their people, nor themselves abstain from what would be a legitimate and pleasant pastime; but they should get their parishioners together for a "tango," or a "fox trot," or a "grizzly bear," without unnecessary delay, and take partners from their parishioners' wives, or from among the lasses of their congregations, and enjoy with the members of their flocks this innocent form of pleasant pastime! But if the reader should take the position that his minister, his Sunday School teacher or the teacher of his children in the day school, should not be party to such a program, then he is self condemned in his criticism of the church as being "narrow" in condemning it as unchristian and worldly.

In some subsequent articles we hope to give other reasons than those above stated as to why the church, in all of its different denominations, is an enemy of the modern dance, just as it is of the whiskey saloon and the gambling table. In the meantime we trust that the reader will refer to the passages of scripture named above.

should be demanded in a table beverage. Coffee—for example—may possess a pleasing flavour for some, but it contains a most harmful element—caffeine, a subtle, cumulative drug, the continued use of which frequently leads to various diseases of kidneys, liver and other vital organs, and sometimes to premature old age. Among the symptoms of caffeine poisoning are headache, nervousness, biliousness, sleeplessness, heart-flutter, "brain-fag," and so on.
