THE NEXT STATE ELECTION.

Several Names Mentioned as Possible Candidates for High Offices.

It is reported from Baton Rouge that considerable gossip is in circulation regarding the personnel of the candidates for high offices in the next state campaign.

Politicians from sections of the state where the Klan is said to have a large membership express the opinion that the Ku Klux would devote special attention to the next Legislature and that either members of the order or their sympathizers would be supported in every parish or senatorial district.

It is said that a number of friends and admirers of J. Y. Sanders want him to enter the race for United States senator in opposition to Senator Jos. E. Ransdell.

State Fourth in Parade.

Louisiana members of the American Legion will occupy fourth place in the national convention parade in New Orleans next month. A gain of 1313 members during the five-day drive which closed Saturday, raised the national standing of the Louisiana department from eleventh to fourth place. Enrollment in the state is 9047, an increase of 2204, or 31 per cent during the year.

The Wall Street Journal recently made the assertion that Henry Ford is the richest man in the world. This title was long believed to be held by John D. Rockefeller, the oil magnate. There is evidently big profits in the manufacture of Ford cars.

YOM KIPPUR.

Holiest Day of Jewish Calendar to Be Fittingly Observed Here.

Divine services in honor of Yom Kippur, Day of Atonement, will be held at the Jewish synagogue in this city tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock and next Monday morning at 10 o'clock, and memorial services at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The services will be conducted by Raphael Singer, Walter Lemann and Solomon Klotz. The choir will be assisted by Pierre Blanchard.

The following interesting explanation of Yom Kippur, prepared by the Jewish Holidays Press Notice Bureau, was furnished The Chief by Raphael Singer:

"Sunday evening, October 1, inaugurates with great solemnity the Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur, the holiest day of the synagogue. On that evening and again on Monday, from morning till evening, the Jewish people will forego their worship in their several synagogues in all parts of the world. Those removed from their families will endeavor to be among the family circle on this solemn occasion. Soldiers and sailors of Jewish faith are granted furloughs in order to observe appropriately this holiday. Whenever the Jewish people happen to be, whether few or many, they will cease from worldly concerns and give themselves wholly to thoughts of repentance.

"More than any other holiday of the Synagogue, Yom Kippur revives the confidence of the Jew in the ultimate triumph of his love and justice. However sadly he has fared, despite misfortune and world affliction, he repairs to his synagogue on the Day of Atonement hopeful of God's way and trusting that in the later days none of earth's children shall hurt nor destroy in all His mountain for the earth shall be full of the Lord as the waters cover the sea.

"The outward form of observance practiced by the Jewish people on this day is abstention from food and drink. The intent of the ceremony is to afflict the soul, in order that the worshiper be better disciplined to exercise self-control and direct his actions for the upbuilding and betterment of humanity.

"The Day of Atonement can be traced back to ancient days in the long career of the Jewish people. It has undergone many transformations.

"When it is first noted in the Bible Code it is a day when the high priest in the Temple expiated the sins of the people. The mass of the people were to observe the day from evening to evening as a Sabbath, and a fast day to obtain pardon for their sins. In Leviticus 15:2-34 the elaborate priestly ritual of "making atonement for the holy place and because of the uncleanness of the children of Israel and because of their transgressions, even all their sins" is described. The high priest was the central figure of the ritual. He sought forgiveness for his own sins and those of his household and then for all the people. A very primitive rite which was revived for use on the Day of Atonement of this very ancient period was the sacrifice of two goats, one of which was to be sent to the demon of the wilderness, to bear away the sins of the people, while the other was to be offered to the Lord as a sacrifice.

"In contrast to the priestly monopoly of service with its archaic forms of expiation, the founders of the Synagogue invested the Day of Atonement with a more spiritual meaning and one that was more in accord with the prophets of Israel who associated with God the attributes of love and mercy.

"According to these teachers of Judaism repentance could not be obtained through any other mediation than the personal effort of the sinner to purge himself of his evil thoughts and to mend his evil ways by his own personal effort and the stout resolve to cleave unto God and walk in His ways. Confessing his sins before God with a contrite heart combined with practical efforts to harmonize his deeds with those laws of love and life proclaimed by God, constituted the true repentance and lifted man up from his low estate to sit among princes. Forgiveness is sought not only for Jew but for all mankind.

"In modern times a memorial service is included. This service reminds the worshipper that death is a consummation of life and that no one has lived worthily is forgotten nor his life's efforts void. The memorial service is crowded with tender memories and utilizes the solemn moments to impress on the congregation the imperative need of duty and service to God and country."

Women Must Naturalize.

According to the announcement made by John F. Jackson, chief federal naturalization officer at New Orleans a few days ago alien women who wish to become American citizens must now file separate naturalization papers and undergo separate examinations both in case of married and single women, as a result of the new citizenship law passed by congress. Mr. Jackson said that American women who marry foreigners in the future and have in the past, may, under the new act, stand an examination and if they are successful may regain their citizenship. Formerly when an American woman married an alien she automatically lost her citizenship. Under the old law when the husband became naturalized his wife automatically became a citizen.

In an address delivered at Cleveland, Ohio, a few days ago, James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio and Democratic candidate for president in 1920, declared that the people this year will be asked to elect a congress which will undo the tariff recently enacted into law by the Republican party which he termed a monstrosity.

The parish of Calcasieu should be in good shape financially judging from the size of its assessments. The rolls for 1922 recently completed by the assessor, show a total of $49,000,000; over $40,000,000 more than the total for Ascension parish.

RECESS.

Ladies, gentlemen and fellow Citizens of remote, My hand on the bible, these Planters got my goat.

We will take recess from "A Dream," "Reality," Terms" and "Results." The next we will call up the witnesses, To see our whereabouts.

When we get our witnesses All placed on the stand, We will then know Whether or not he is a man.

We will call up each And every one in turn So as to see from them What can we learn.

This thing of calling out For help to begin, Then sending a veterinarian To the four winds.

It shows poor citizenship And should not exist, Thanks to the honest class They are not guilty of this.

We will next begin by Calling number one, To avoid this let him Come up with the mon'.

As he has already Put in the bid It is entirely up to him Not to let me fall.

Unless he happens to be A terribly big lummox, You can promise your back. It takes cash for your stomach.

There is one thing in life Which is hard to understand, Why is it a man does not Pay off when he can.

He is not on earth, Remember, always to stay, He brought nothing with him Nor can he take anything away.

Why not, while he is here, An agreeable visit spend, Show himself up to be With the royal leading men.

When uncontrollable circumstances And hard luck is in his path, Then only must he Hold that eagle fast.

The recess period is now over, My regards to you many; Our next issue will be in lieu To bills cancelled prior to March, 1920.

GIVEN CONTROL OF OUTLETS.

River Commission Has Power of Mississippi Tributaries Under New Act.

The river and harbor bill recently signed by President Harding, gives authority to the Mississippi River Commission over the tributaries and outlets which are affected by the flood waters of the Mississippi. The rivers affected by this legislation are the Atchafalaya, Ouachita, Black, Yazoo, Arkansas, White and St. Francis.

It is expected later to obtain an appropriation of $30,000,000 to levee these streams as far as they are affected by high water in the Mississippi. It is said that the extension of the jurisdiction of the Mississippi river commission to cover the lower stretches of these rivers will serve a useful purpose prior to the time that the levee appropriation will become available. In that such flood control as now is in progress can be unified. In the case of high water this unified control will make it possible to conduct protective efforts in a systematic way.

SOUTH LOUISIANA FAIR.

Larger Exhibits of Live Stock and Farm Products Expected This Year.

The prevailing fair weather and the good crops and improved prices over last year in the parishes composing the South Louisiana Fair Association have created a much more optimistic feeling on the part of the farmers with the result that exhibits of live stock and agriculture will greatly exceed those of last year both in quantity and quality at the tenth annual show and exposition which will be held in Donaldsonville from October 7 to 15 inclusive.

Entries of show herds of beef and dairy cattle have already been received from a number of parishes throughout the state, including Ascension, Lafourche, Terrebonne, East Baton Rouge, West Feliciana and Tangipahoa. The display of fine livestock will be second only to that of Shreveport and will be the most numerous in the history of the South Louisiana Fair Association. The premiums in this department amount to more than $2000 and competition is limited only to the State of Louisiana. The superintendent is E. H. Benton of Elm Park, West Feliciana parish, who is a breeder and farmer of wide experience.

Some ten parishes will be represented in the agricultural building with complete exhibits of farm products. Included in this number are the parishes of Assumption, St. John, Lafourche, Terrebonne, East Baton Rouge, St. James, Point Coupee, Iberville, West Baton Rouge and Ascension. In addition to the parish exhibits there will be exhibits from agricultural high schools— notably Oak Grove and Dutchtown in Ascension parish and Reserve and Edgard in St. John. Another interesting and instructive exhibit in the Agricultural Building will be the U. S. Forestry exhibit which will be in charge of government demonstrators.

The agricultural department of the fair is under the superintendency of W. B. Stuart of Belle Helene, Ascension parish, who is president of the police jury and one of the leading farmers in the parish.

The chief point of interest in this department lies in the competition and rivalry between the different parishes for the capital premium of $250 cash which is awarded for the best exhibit represented. The number of premiums won, the total cash value of the premiums won and the general appearance of the parish booth. This premium was awarded last year to Lafourche parish with Iberville a close second. This year, in addition to the above, Terrebonne, St. John and East Baton Rouge will be strong contenders.

A premium of $100 for first prize, $75 for second and $25 for third is also offered for the best exhibit of farm products grown on one farm or plantation during the year 1922 except sugar cane products which are eligible from the crop of 1921. This premium was won last year by the Bowie farm in Lafourche parish. A handsome trophy cup is awarded to the individual exhibitor—a firm or corporation also being eligible to compete—who totals the greatest number of points as represented by cash prizes won in the various departments of the fair, which may include agriculture, cattle, horses, sheep, goats, and poultry. Provided he is the bona fide owner of each exhibit. This cup was won last year by the Estate of H. C. Minor, Terrebonne parish.

The parish of Evangeline school board has awarded a contract to Thurston McKinney, Opelousas contractor for the erection of a new modern school building, at Mamou. The building will cost $75,000. Evangeline boasts of three modern thoroughly equipped school buildings erected in one year.

SUGAR INTERESTS MERGE.

Louisiana Planters and Manufacturers Form American Sugar Cane League.

A large number of representatives of the three important sugar cane organizations in the state, met at the St. Charles Hotel in New Orleans Thursday, and merged the three associations into one under the name of the American Sugar Cane League. The bodies which were merged were the Louisiana Sugar Planters' Association, which has existed as an incorporated body since 1888 and of which Andrew H. Gay of Iberville is president; the American Cane Growers Association of which Henry N. Barr of Iberia, is president, and the Producers' and Manufacturers' Protective Organization of which J. C. LeBourgeois of New Orleans is head. The Louisiana Sugar Planters' Association has devoted its activities chiefly to industrial and scientific matters; the American Cane Growers' Association to tariff, and the Producers' and Manufacturers' Protective Organization to freight rate matters. Under the consolidation all lines of work hitherto performed will be carried on and others added, the amalgamated organization working through committees on scientific and industrial work, tariff, freight rates, etc. The Louisiana sugar industry and that of all the states where sugar cane is grown, will have in the American Sugar Cane League a very powerful organization and the sugar industry will, it is believed, be taken care of in every direction more effectively than has heretofore been possible.

"WHEN DAWN CAME."

Unusual Photodrama Coming to the Community Theatre.

A solar plexus blow to your thoughts; "When Dawn Came" is that and more. This mighty production is announced as the attraction at the Community Theatre next Thursday. You may be satisfied with yourself, but what is that great barrier between you and happiness? The great bridge of sighs and despair looms up in everyone's life sooner or later. Man's greatest problem is which way to turn at the old crossroads. Have you followed the dictates of your own heart, or have you merely drifted in line with the slipping masses?

Hugh E. Derker's drama "When Dawn Came," unfolds a story of a man who didn't know which way to turn when trouble came his way. He whipped himself when he gave up and became an outcast and a burden to society. He had every requisite for a successful life, but matter over mind weakened it. It is your duty to see "When Dawn Came," and to know how John Brandon came to know himself.

Cane Crops Late.

The cane crops in this section are somewhat late this season, and the stand on many plantations is far below the average. With the opening of the grinding season at hand the cane has not reached that stage of maturity usual at this time nor is it believed that it can catch up during the brief period of time, which will elapse before the beginning of grinding operations. This condition is attributed to the unusually early spring which prevailed during the spring which made cultivation difficult if not impossible, and the high water which cast gloom among the planters and caused them to hesitate to spend money for the poorer workings of the crops, and in the meantime the cane suffered. When the danger from the high water had passed away rain set in and precluded the possibility of proper cultivation on many farms. The sugar market is good, however, and the planters are hopeful of obtaining fair prices for their products, which will in a measure make up for the reduced yield due to unfavorable conditions.

According to reports of the state board of health there is considerable dengue fever in some parts of the state mainly in Shreveport, Jeanerette, Lafayette, Houma, Thibodaux, Morgan City and Plaquemine. The fever is said to be of a mild type and no alarm is felt. The disease is said to be similar to influenza and malaria and mosquitos are credited by the state board of health with its spread.

PROCLAMATION!

The tenth Annual Fair of the South Louisiana Fair Association will be held in Donaldsonville beginning Saturday, October 7 (day of preparation); opening day—New Orleans Day—Sunday, October 8, and will close Sunday, October 15. This last day has been designated as Legion Day in honor of the American Legion.

The fair this year promises to be the most successful one ever held. Unusual interest has been shown by exhibitors from afar, and the fair management has spared nothing to make the coming fair a success.

Now whereas, the success of this fair will depend in large measure upon the co-operation and help on the part of the citizens of Donaldsonville.

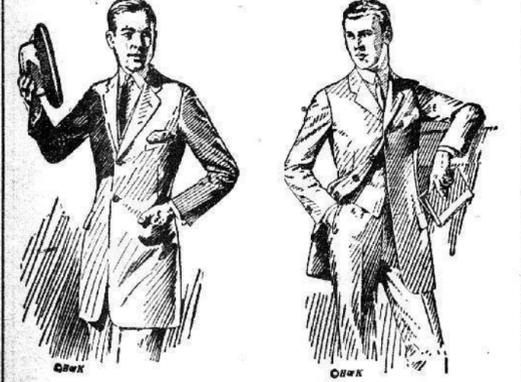

Now therefore, do I, Joseph N. Gisclard, mayor and commissioner of public health and safety, in and for the city of Donaldsonville, hereby publicly proclaim October 7 to 15 as Fair Week for Donaldsonville. I do hereby call upon every citizen to give liberally of his time to the fair, not only by attending at the grounds each day and night, but also by assisting the fair management in every way possible.

From Friday, October 13 to 15, there will be here the Cruiser Birmingham and Seaplanes with its officers and men. In honor of the fair and the many visitors who will come to Donaldsonville during the fair week, I do hereby request every householder and place of business to DECORATE THEIR RESPECTIVE HOMES AND PLACES OF BUSINESS.

Let everything else be set aside, and everyone bend every effort towards making the coming fair a splendid success. In testimony whereof, witness my signature, and the great seal of the city of Donaldsonville, this 29th day of September, 1922.

JOS. N. GISCLARD, Mayor.

WHY IT PAYS TO BE WELL DRESSED

Most men do not pay enough attention to clothes—they don't get enough style and quality.

Good style makes them look better, feel better, take greater pride in themselves.

Fine quality gives them long wear—keeps the style looking right—saves their money.
