AN ARRAIGNMENT.

Governor Parker's arraignment, in a recent speech, of the rank and file of American citizens for their flagrant neglect of their civic duties was timely. There is continuous denunciation of administrations and officials in this country from the President to the parish dignitaries, yet most of the people are too engrossed with their private affairs and the achievements of their personal ambitions to undertake any service for the betterment of conditions.

Our patriotism and our civic responsibilities are frequently left to chance opportunity and the manipulation of selfish interests.

Governor Parker asked this particular audience to name the state officials of Louisiana. No one answered out of an aggregation of alert business men, in one of the largest cities of the country.

The incident might happen anywhere. It illustrates one of the greatest dangers of the existence of a liberal government. It is certain that if these men were ignorant of the names of the officials of the state government they must be equally ignorant of their personalities, tendencies and characters.

Yet one of the most cherished privileges of a democracy is the license to criticize, or condemn, those temporarily in the seats of the mighty.

History shows that a truly representative government is the best form of civil administration yet devised by man. All the failures of representative government under a system like ours can be traced directly to the indifference, or sheer folly of the people themselves. The representative form guards alike against the passion of the mob and the autocracy of the ambitious tyrant.

But tyrants and demagogues are found under all systems and in all ages. Unless the citizens take the same interest in choosing those who are to administer to their government that they do in selecting their clerks or their servants, they have no right to complain of the injustice, theopathy or the lack of ability on the part of these men.

Public officers are truly public servants, but if the masters are too indolent, or too busy in pursuing other interests to exercise time and thought

POSTAL EMPLOYEES HOLD FINE MEET

Discuss Handling of Mail During Big Christmas Week Rush.

Discussion of the best ways and means whereby to handle the expected big Christmas rush of mail, in the postoffice of the parish, was the principal topic at the meeting, of the postmasters and clerks of the Ascension Welfare Council, of the postoffice department, held in the Masonic temple last Sunday. The meeting was splendidly attended, almost all of the postmasters of the parish being present and a large majority of the clerks.

Many ideas were exchanged between the members and much good will resulted from the meeting, in the opinion expressed by those attending. The postmasters and clerks are ready for the big Christmas rush, but they warn the public not to wait till the last moment before mailing Xmas presents but mail same at once, and thereby relieve the expected congestion.

Another matter of importance discussed was the redemption of war savings stamps, which will begin on January 1. Plans for handling this branch of the department were made and will be announced before the beginning of the year.

Gonzales, was selected as the next meeting place of the council, which will be on the first Sunday in March. Refreshments were served the visiting guests by the employees of the local postoffice.

The Surety of Purity

There are no miracles in cooking. What goes into the food must inevitably come out.

Even the baking perfection that results from the use of Royal Baking Powder is no miracle.

It is simply the result of absolute purity entering the food—and emerging again.

HAPPENINGS AT PARISH CAPITAL

Business will begin to pick up around the courthouse next Monday, when the regular term of the district court will open. The court will sit for two weeks. There are not many cases on the docket, however, but some of considerable interest will be heard by the court.

In a few days the parish courthouse can very appropriately be called the "White House" of the parish. Work was begun Thursday on putting on a pure white coat of paint on the building. Some of the upper portions has been completed and present a very handsome appearance. As soon as the entire building is painted it will hardly be recognized as the old courthouse. Work on repairs in the interior is progressing nicely and contractor J. L. Messina expects to finish the entire work in a few weeks. Much delay has been caused by reason of inability to get material through the car shortage, but some of the necessary material has just arrived and it is thought the work can be speeded up to some extent.

Collection of taxes is progressing very fairly, according to chief deputy LeBlanc of the sheriff's office. More taxpayers are coming in early to pay their taxes this year than last year and it is expected there will be many less delinquents judging from the way the payments are now being received.

Philip Ward, an insane negro, who lived in the upper end of the Port Barrow section, and who has been confined in the parish jail for some time, was sent to Jackson by Sheriff Richard last Tuesday. A colored woman named Missouri Robertson, from the seventh ward, was brought to the jail this week. She was adjudged insane in 1913, but was let out of the insane asylum, it being thought she had recovered her mental powers, but recently she has become violent again and was brought to the jail for safe keeping. She will probably be sent to Jackson during the coming week.

William Killain, Marshal Clover all colored, were charged in an affidavit sworn out by R. L. Fridge with stealing 400 pounds of cotton at Acy postoffice. The accused made bond and are held over to the February term of court.

Argue Damage Suit.

Judge Charles T. Wortham and Judge Edmund Maurin of this city, attended a session of the district court in Napoleonville last Thursday, as attorneys for Florence Reynaud, a daughter of James Plaisance, who was killed last year while employed as a bricklayer in the construction of the ice house then being built by contractor Corbin in Napoleonville. The plaintiff is a child of the deceased and is suing Mr. Corbin and the Maryland Surety Co., as surety for Mr. Corbin, under the compensation laws of this state for damages resulting from the death of her father. Testimony had been previously taken in Donaldsonville and concluded in Napoleonville and the case argued. Judge Sam A. LeBlanc took the case under advisement and in the meanwhile requested the lawyers in the case to submit authorities in support of their respective contentions.

DEATH OF VETERAN, ARTHUR F. L'BLANC

Old Citizen Passes to Great Beyond Last Wednesday Afternoon.

Arthur F. LeBlanc, aged 78 years and 6 months, departed this life last Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, at the residence of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Solar. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with services at the Catholic church, Rev. Father Chambon officiating. A large concourse of sorrowing friends attended the last rites, deceased having been for many years a prominent citizen in this community and was held in the highest respect by the people of this section.

Deceased was a native of Ascension parish and has always made it his home, he is survived by two sons, Albert LeBlanc of this city, and Aramis LeBlanc of New Orleans, and one daughter, Mrs. Joseph Solar of this city. At the time of his death he was filling a second term of office as one of the justices of the peace of the third (Donaldsonville) ward. He was a member of Olive Camp No. 1, Woodmen of the World, and of Major Victor Maurin Camp, No. 38, U. C. V.

In the great war for southern independence between the north and the south, deceased enlisted in Company E. 28th Louisiana regiment of the Confederate army. He was then seventeen years of age. The officers of Company E, were Captain E. Lauve, lieutenants, Edward Vives and Philip Gilbert. The company was recruited in the parishes of Assumption, Ascension and Iberville. It was a part of the 28th Louisiana, commanded, first by Colonel Allen Thomas, afterwards promoted to brigadier general. Colonel Thomas was succeeded by Colonel Octave Landry, who, after the war was prominent in state politics.

The 28th Louisiana regiment participated in the operations of the Trans-Mississippi department and finally reached Vicksburg, where one of the bloodiest battles of the war was fought. The siege of Vicksburg lasted forty days and veteran LeBlanc participated in the military operations there, notably in the battle of Chicaw Bayou, where General Lee, a distant relative of the famous General R. E. Lee defeated the federal army. Overcome by numerical majority, the confederate forces finally surrendered and were paroled. Veteran LeBlanc being among the paroled prisoners of war returned home.

After the war he engaged in the printing business and was employed for years on The Chief, then owned by L. E. Bentley. The veteran afterwards conducted a printing shop of his own, first in the Krieger building, which stood on the site of the present Elks' club, and then on the corner of Railroad avenue and Opelousas street, where now stands the Ferro garage. Judge LeBlanc finally sold his printing business and was elected one of the justices of the peace of the third ward. He was noted as an interesting raconteur and in his early years was a participant in many minstrel shows, in which he displayed much talent.

His body was laid to rest beside that of his comrade Maurin, in the veterans' tomb of Camp Major Victor Maurin of the Confederate Veterans, in the Catholic cemetery.

Taking Desperate Chances.

It is true that many contract severe colds and recover from them without taking any precaution for treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others to take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, makes the system less able to withstand each succeeding attack and paves the way for the more serious diseases. Can you afford to take such desperate chances when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds may be had for a trifle? (Adv.)

The store occupied by Jules Weil in Railroad avenue will be sold at public auction on Saturday, December 16, by Sheriff Richard under an order of the district court issued in the cases of L. Herzog and Brother Dry Good Company and Marks Brothers dry goods company vs. Jules Weil. The lease runs from June 12, 1922 to July 31, 1923 and was executed by Dominique Saoua to Jules Weil. A notice of the sale appears in another column of this issue of The Chief.
