We have not the high opinion of Mr. Depew that we once had.

We publish elsewhere a Washington special to the New Orleans Picayune which states that an effort will probably be made by friends of E. A. Burke to raise enough mency to pay back to the State the amount he stole and effect a actilement that will permit his return to this country without fear of prosecution. We doubt if Burke has enough friends left to raise so large an amount for it will be remembered that he victimized friend and foe alike, but even if he had we do and foe alike, but even if he had we do not believe any such settlement could be made with the State. Burke sys-tematically robbed her for years while all the time being honored by her and she should not rest until she has him behind prison bars.

Pittaburg Post: The figures show that all the conditions being favorable for a great colorization movement, it would be entirely practicable to send to Africa annually a number of 'ramigrants equality,' the annual natural increase of the colored race. If that could be done, the race questions are of the colored race. If that could be done, the race questions are of the colored race.

The case of Rev. J. V. Penn came up for a hearing befere the Methodist Conference at Crystal Springs, on Saturday, and the result of the trial is given below in a special telegram from that place.

"The committee appointed Wednesday to investigate the charges against Rev. J. V. Penn notified the conference that they were ready to report. The report is about as follows: We find him guilty of the points in the first four specifications with the extenuating circumstances of temporary insanity covering a part of this time, and on the fifth specification we find guilty of impropriety. The penalty was fixed at suspension from all ministerial privileges for one year. It is thought by all to be a fair and impartial verdict, giving justice to both the church and Mr. Penn.

A number of competent electricians have examined the invention and are sure that it can be successfully operated at much less rates than the present system. A trial of the new inattument was pocently made between this city and Washington and was antistactory in overy respect. As the system requires no skilled telegraper, is so inexpensive in other respects, and is so rapid and simple, its general adoption seems certain.
