

POWDERLY EXPLAINS HIS PROTECTION LAW ARTICLE.

He Tries to Read Off the Democrats in Making Use of His Attack on the Republican Protective Law.

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—The Journal of the Knights of Labor of the 23rd instant has a special article from the pen of T. V. Powderly regarding an abstract taken from a New York letter in the Philadelphia Ledger of the 16th. The abstract is as follows:

The Democratic National Commission is distributing as a campaign document parts of T. V. Powderly's article on "Labor and Protection," in the North American Review.

The letter does not say just what part of my "North American Review" article is quoted, but I presume it must be the following:

The Carnegie Steel Company, and like concerns owe their prosperity to the protective laws of the United States. These laws were passed in the interest of labor.

CAPITAL PROTECTION. During the discussion of the tariff laws it was never advanced as a reason why they should be passed that they would be protected—the arguments were always that they should be protected.

The Carnegie Steel Company, and like concerns owe their prosperity to the protective laws of the United States. These laws were passed in the interest of labor.

Our Government has enacted protective legislation in the interest of labor, it is true, but it has not done so in the interest of the American workman.

FOWDERLY'S EXPLANATION. In my North American Review article I have not discussed the merits of protection, one phase of it alone is referred to, and in saying that it does not adequately protect the American workman.

When a national committee will make use of a man's words and statements it should be in possession of sufficient honesty to assert that it intends to carry out the intention of the author.

More work both ways. I believe it is right to place a duty on the manufacture of articles of iron or steel to protect the workman on this side of the Atlantic.

OLD POINT PROPERTY.

ONE HOTEL IS ON VIRGINIA SOIL

Commodore Parks Says the Order to Vacate Was a Repetition of an Order to the Same Effect Forty Years Ago.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 23.—Special.—I had a talk with Commodore Marshall Parks, of this city, whose father owned the Hygeia Hotel at Old Point fifty years ago. The hotel was then much smaller than the present building. Mr. Parks says the order to comply with certain sanitary conditions or vacate is no new thing, and that the same order was served on his father back in the fifties.

Mr. Parks also states that Chamberlain's Hotel is not on the property of the United States Government, but upon territory belonging to the State of Virginia. He says that the papers in the suit of French vs. Berkhead will eventually settle that question. The United States Government owns the hotel property, but it belongs to Virginia, and it is now stated that upon the property of the town of Old Point, including hotels, Virginia has the right to collect taxes; but this has never been done. The Attorney-General has looked into the matter, and this is his opinion. It is believed that the management of the hotel property is not in compliance with the requirements, rather than to enter into any kind of litigation.

Hon. D. Gardner Tyler, who spoke last night in Huntersville, and Mr. M. Glennan and Captain R. C. Marocco, of the 2nd Cavalry, were in the hall to a large audience, in the city. He was introduced by the Mayor. The speaker was on the platform for two or three occasions has been the Democratic nominee himself.

The bulletins announcing the completion of the Norfolk and Western to Columbus, Ohio, have been read with great interest here. To be handled with the requirements of a very large electric business from Chicago and Lauder's Point. The empty grain cars back to the West will carry vegetables and truck. A very considerable business of this kind has already been established.

Dr. W. H. H. Hunter, who went from Cape Charles, is again in charge of the Cape Charles station. A pretty marriage took place at St. Luke's Protestant Episcopal church yesterday afternoon at 5:15. The contracting parties were Mr. Felix Francois Marocco, a prominent real estate man, and Miss Sallie Preston Bugg, daughter of Mr. W. P. Bugg, of this city.

A. G. A. R. Man Draggod. Gordonsville, Sept. 23.—Special.—A veteran of the G. A. R. returning from the camp yesterday off to purchase a lunch at this place and in the attempt to board the train lost his footing and was dragged some distance before his perilous position was discovered and the train stopped. Fortunately no serious damage was done to the place and the surrounding country are highly pleased that Mr. J. Howell Kent, of Georgia, with six years' experience in the newspaper business, has purchased the outfit and will resume the publication of the Gordonsville Gazette and Standard.

PANIC IN A SYNAGOGUE.

FOUR WOMEN TRAMPLED TO DEATH

And Several Other Persons Fatally Injured—All On Account of a Useless Cry of "Fire"—The Killed and Injured.

New York, Sept. 23.—During service in one of the four synagogues in the tenement house, No. 27 Ludlow street, this morning, some one raised a cry of fire. Immediately there was a panic and a mad rush was made for the door. The fire was speedily extinguished and very little damage was done, but in the panic that ensued four women were trampled to death and a dozen people seriously injured.

From what can be learned from some of the worshippers it would appear that the panic first began in the rooms on the second floor used as the synagogue of the Sons of Aaron. It was caused by a candle falling on the black cloth tabernacle. Rabbi Hertz, while leading the singing of the hymn, accidentally touched the tabernacle and upset the candle. In a moment the draperies were ablaze, but were immediately thrown out of the window, but however, before several women shouted fire and were frantically making their way towards the door. Every one followed the rabbi's lead and rushed to the congregation to keep their seats, assuring them there was no danger.

SHOOTING, STAMMING BOB. In a few minutes the assembly became a shouting, straggling mob of men, women and children all intent on getting out of the place, where there were 400 people on the floor, and all surged through the doors into the narrow hallways and down two flights of steep stairs. One woman, Mrs. Anna Spawlowitz, who led the fight, stumbled, and before she could regain her footing she was held in such a position that she could not move. The weight of the hundreds of people behind her was so great that several other of the women were thrown down and trampled upon. The frantic cries raised in the other synagogues led the worshippers in the other synagogues into the already jammed hallways.

At this juncture a couple of policemen appeared on the scene. They bent back the forehead of the crowd and succeeded in extricating the woman Spawlowitz. This relieved the jam, and a faint fire alarm had been sent out and calls for ambulances. The fire escapes of the building were filled with frantic women, who with difficulty were restrained from jumping. One of them, a Mrs. Gossett, did jump from the third story, but she miraculously escaped with only slight injuries.

A WILD SCENE ENACTED. In the vicinity of Governor's hospital, the nearest to the scene of disaster and where most of the wounded were taken, a wild scene was enacted. An immense crowd had gathered, most of whom were friends of the injured, and they scrambled and fought to obtain the latest information with regard to the injured.

The ordinary police force on duty aided by several others, could do nothing to keep the fighting mass, and it was necessary to call out the police reserves to keep back the crowd.

The building in which the synagogues are situated is an ordinary tenement altered to meet the requirements of the religious meetings.

It is stated that in addition to those of the streets and sidewalks that led to the hospital, there were a score of others who were taken to
