

BAZAAR PREPARATIONS.

THE CHAIRMEN OF SEVERAL COMMITTEES IN SESSION.

Reports as to the Various Booths—Some of the Souvenirs to be Sold—The Ladies Are All at Work.

Yesterday was a field day for the ladies of the memorial bazaar, and the Young Men's Christian Association Hall was the scene of action.

The chairman of the several committees, who act as an executive committee, met at 11:30 A. M. and decided on a number of matters which were further discussed at the general meeting at noon, which was largely attended by the members of the various tents.

The chairman of the booths made reports of their plans and the success of their efforts, all of which were of the most encouraging nature.

The arrangements for the music for the bazaar was referred to a committee of which Colonel John H. Cary is chairman.

It was decided to have each booth decorated with illuminated shields bearing the coat-of-arms of their respective states. Every booth will have an attractive souvenir of some kind for sale.

Florida will have several of rare interest, such as a silver spoon, which bears on the top of the handle the Virginia and Confederate battle-flags in colors and a picture of the "Memento" of the battle of Gettysburg, which will be put on sale before the bazaar is open. The first lot is expected in two weeks, and about fifty are already bespoken.

Another very unique and rare design will be a fac simile of Stonewall Jackson's last order, of which the ladies hold the original inclosed in a wooden frame made from the spokes of the carriage in which General Jackson used to ride.

The frames will be made ready for sale by boys at the Miller Manual Labor School.

They will also have for sale a book composed of heretofore unpublished pieces by Southern authors. The book is the property of the Massachusetts pottery establishment at a barrel of the clay thrown up by the explosion of the crater, at Petersburg, to be made into souvenirs. This is generously offered to make them without cost.

The young ladies of the Solid South table have arranged to have a pretty souvenir fan in the shape of a silver pin. The Arkansas committee will have a painted silver comb.

The Camp Ladies are making hand-painted Confederate flags, and will also have souvenir tumblers for sale.

The Alabama table will offer autograph signatures of general officers and all the officers will have souvenirs of unique and attractive design.

A music lantern entertainment will be given next Saturday at the residence of Mrs. James R. Worth, 314 east Main street, for the benefit of the Solid South table.

Extracts were read from Missouri and Tennessee newspapers. One of these was a call by Mrs. Keller Anderson, president of the Ladies' Confederate Memorial Association of Tennessee, to the ladies of the bazaar, calling them to meet in the interest of the bazaar. The call, which was published in the Memphis Appeal-Avalanche, is as follows:

"Daughters of Tennessee—Ladies' Confederate Memorial Association, Confederate Historical Association, and All others friendly to the Cause: Your attention is called to the earnest efforts of the women of Richmond to complete a monument in course of erection in that city, dedicated to the memory of the brave soldiers and sailors of the Confederacy, and also for the benefit of the Confederate museum, to be established in the house formerly used as a residence by John Jefferson Davis. It is needful to get the position of the monument done by a private soldier and sailor in the erection of at least, one such testimonial of appreciation of their sacrifice on the altar of duty. Were they not, each in his way, as much martyrs to duty as the greatest of chieftains among them? Shall we not prove by such book-marks in the history of time our abiding faith in the justice of our lost cause? It is but a natural result that the losing side should enjoy a small place in history, and we need not write ours in enduring bronze and stone.

"This Memorial Bazaar" is a movement which appeals equally to every Southern State. Shall not Tennessee come forward in aid of this most worthy cause, and may she not claim a place of honor by a creditable donation?"

The ladies of the various tables are active in their efforts.

The Virginia committee will meet at 10:30 east Franklin street, Friday at noon.

The North Carolina committee will meet every Monday at 12 M., at No. 316 east Main street; the Maryland committee every Friday at the same hour at the C. O. B. Cowardin's, No. 199 east Franklin street; the Army and Navy committee meets Mondays at noon at 1012 east Marshall street; the Kentucky committee holds their meetings every Thursday at noon at No. 32 east Main street; the Mississippi committee meets at 5:30 P. M. Mondays at Central Hall; the Alabama committee meets every Friday at 8 P. M. at the residence of Miss Mary Lewis Jones; the young ladies assistants at this table meet at the same place on Saturday afternoons at 5 P. M.
