Wolf Hunting in Russia.

Wolf hunting is probably the most dangerous sport there is. With a serf and a couple of fast horses attached to a sleigh, I have gone out and baited the ground for the brutes on numerous occasions. A fat hog tied to a tree never failed to collect a pack. The trouble was that it drew too many. The wolves would gather to the number of 20 or 30 and devour the pig. Then we would dash upon the scene and the fun would commence. They are as fleet as deer. To say that they are as fleet as wolves would be more like it. They can outrun the horses every time, and if they are not picked off as fast as they come up, you might as well give up the fight and permit yourself to be devoured.

The Happiest Part.

Who drives the horses of the sun Shall find it but a day. Better the lowly deed were done, And kept the humble way. The rust will find the sword of fame; The dust will hide the crown; Ay, none shall nail so high his name, Time will not tear it down. The happiest heart that ever beat Was in some quiet breast That found the common daylight sweet And left to heaven the rest. Harper's Magazine.

THE FIGHT IN THE TENTH

HARRY TUCKER AROUSING THE DEMOCRATS UP THERE. Fitz, Lee in the District—A Maryland Fur-nace Investigating the Rockbridge Iron Ores—The New Game Law.

LEXINGTON, VA., Oct. 27.—Special.—The political campaign in this section of the Tenth congressional district is waxing warm. Both sides are at work night and day in educating the voters on the tariff and other national issues.

Mr. Greeley D. Letcher, the Democratic county chairman, has a number of local speakers all over the county, in addition to Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, ex-Governor Fitzhugh Lee and Hon. John Randolph Tucker, and other gentlemen of State and national reputation, who are to speak in this county. Hon. Harry Tucker has been in this county during the past week, and has spoken twice and three times each day. The voters are being aroused, the general enthusiasm, and the people in general enthused. If the work continues, as it will, by the day of election this entire section will have been covered, and a good, heavy vote may be expected. The county committee is sending out the large quantity of public documents and other literature. At the November court day (November 20th) Hon. Jacob Vest, the Republican candidate for Congress in this district, with Colonel W. F. Craig, the Republican canvasser, are announced to speak on the same day the Democrats with Captain Thomas Whitehead, Commissioner of Agriculture, and one or more able men on the stand. It will be a regular political day. Mr. Samuel J. Pritchard, of Norfolk, in a guest of his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. W. McDowell. Mr. W. P. Moffitt, of this county, now connected with the United States Interior Department at Washington, is at home. Mr. M. M. Sterrett, of this county, who has been appointed by the Governor as superintendent of the penitentiary farm in Gooseland county, is one of the best and most highly-respected citizens of this county, and a man who enjoys a wide reputation as a practical farmer. Cards are out for the marriage in St. Paul, Minn., on the 20th instant, of Miss Edith LeRoy Jett, daughter of Judge J. B. Jett, of that city, to Mr. R. Kuffin, of the Northern Pacific railroad. Mr. Kuffin is a Virginian, and Miss Jett is well known in this county, where she resided some few years ago.

THE NEW GAME LAW. The last Legislature passed a game law for this county, making it unlawful to kill or trap partridges for two years from Jan. 5, 1894, with a penalty of $10 for each offence, half to go to the informer. The sportsmen are determined to see that this law is rigidly enforced, and every violation will be promptly prosecuted. The chances are that there will be a number of violators in the county. Mr. William H. White broke his arm this week under strange circumstances. He was throwing rocks into the top of a chestnut tree and broke his right arm above the elbow. Mr. Houston Wilkerson, chief clerk in the Lexington postoffice, was married this week at Goschen to Miss Nora M. Watson, daughter of L. L. Watson. The bride and groom were the recipients of many very valuable presents, among them a handsome token of remembrance from the railway mail clerks on the railroad running into this place. The Shenandoah Valley division of the Norfolk and Western railroad trains passing through this county are hauling a large quantity of fat cattle, sheep, and hogs to the northern market. Richmond College, booked to play the Virginia Military Institute a game of football Friday afternoon, failed to show up for some cause or other, which was a great disappointment to the lovers of the many sport. Miss Alice Spencer, a popular young lady of this county, died the past week of typhoid fever, after a lingering illness of several weeks. Her father was carried off by the same disease about a month ago. Rev. D. C. Waller, pastor of the Falling Springs Presbyterian church, in this county, has purchased for $200 a farm in Augusta county, containing 150 acres. Intelligence from Glasgow, Ky., announces the death of John, the fourteen-year-old son of the Rev. F. G. Bailey, well-known in Virginia. Since the Wilson tariff bill went into effect, it is said, the large iron furnace plant at Sparrow Point, Md., after a long shut down, will resume operations, with a view of securing ores here. For every ton of the imported ore they use three of the American ore, and if ours fill the bill many of them run as high as 50 per cent. pure metal. The development of our ore beds would prove a great item in the business of this section.

MORISON IN TAZEWELL. TAZEWELL, VA., Oct. 27.—Special.—Judge H. S. K. Morison and Judge B. F. Hutton addressed the voters of this place yesterday in the court-house. The house was full and a large number of ladies honored the occasion with their presence. Judge Morison spoke for two hours, and held the crowd spellbound. His speech was plain, sensible, and impressive, and as an evidence of the esteem in which he is held here a number of the most influential Republicans were present and remained through his discourse. The ladies presented him with numerous bouquets of flowers, for which he thanked them in words of deep appreciation and gratitude. He remained here two nights, and was tendered a reception on Wednesday night at Mr. G. W. Dook's, and last night at Colonel H. C. Alderson's. General Hunton's Good Work. STUYVESANT, VA., Oct. 27.—Special.—General Hunton, United States senator from Virginia, and Hon. D. Gardner Tyler, Democratic candidate for Congress from the second congressional district of Virginia, spoke at Wheeling, Nansmond county, to-day. A heavy rain prevented a larger crowd, but there was a good attendance. The Populists of this county will support T. F. Edwards almost to a man, so that the Republicans will not get the help they expected from that side. General Hunton and Mr. Tyler always do good work in this county, and the effect of their speeches will be an increased Democratic majority.

McKee in the Valley. WINCHESTER, VA., Oct. 27.—Special.—A large political meeting was held here last night by the Republicans. Some enthusiasm was manifested and considerable interest was shown by the audience in the arguments of the speakers. The meeting was addressed by Mr. Robert J. Walker, Republican candidate for Congress from this district, and Thomas Hudson McKee, secretary of the National Congressional Republican Committee. Mr. Walker opened with a speech of one hour. He had no hard words for the enemy, but he did use hard words to do so, whether he could use worse epithets than they themselves had used against one another. He was followed by Mr. McKee in a speech of one hour and a half. This gentleman is a pleasant and forcible speaker, and whilst he did not make a logical argument of the issues of the day, he has much tact and sarcasm in putting things in a light not at all favorable to a Democratic view of the situation. Judge Flournoy at Ashland. ASHLAND, VA., Oct. 27.—Special.—Hon. Henry W. Flournoy addressed an intelligent and appreciative gathering here to-night, reviewing the effects of republican misrule and setting forth Democratic principles. Taking individual candidates in the field, he paid high tribute to Colonel Ellett. His speech was clear and forcible. Democrats of Meeklenburg Aroused. Public speaking at the following times and places by local Democrats: La Cross, October 28th (2 P. M.). W. H. Morris Store, October 20th (night). Falmes Springs (Jackson's Store), October 20th (2 P. M.). Kent's, October 20th (night). Stony Cross, October 21st (2 P. M.). North View, October 21st (night). Wightman, November 1st (2 P. M.). Chase City, November 1st (night). Haskerville, November 2d (2 P. M.). Edmondson's Store near George Land's, November 2d (night). Smith's Cross Roads, November 3d (2 P. M.). Jefferson Junction, November 3d (night).

The Advanced Woman. It is hard to say just what woman is meant by the phrase, "the advanced woman." With a certain type of a man of the world it seems to mean a woman who uses her brains at all and is anything more than a well-dressed plaything of the Turkish kind. With the average man and woman it probably means simply the being who advocates suffrage for her sex and who likes to speak on the platform. The English literary man apparently bestows the name upon that sister of the pen who chooses to discuss in a novel with modern frankness the question of matrimony and the sentimental ways of marking. The editor of the "Idler" taking this view of the matter, has after pondering the question, "How to Court the advanced woman," determined to ask these feminine novelists to answer it. Their response has been prompt. George Sperton, the author of "Keynotes," boldly advances the opinion that man is inferior, that his superiority has always been purely an economic one. He believes that the particularly intelligent woman can marry an average man of honorable character and no overplus of brains with a fair prospect of happiness. "Woman at her best," she says, "will always be attracted by many qualities in a man and if the average man is only prepared to give as well as take, to be contented, she rather thinks that the average man ought to keep in mind the coming girl, for whom the advanced woman is only preparing the way. The coming girl is described by Mrs. Caryn as a sane and simple ruler over men's hearts, a creature of tempered knowledge and sweet serenity, of pity, loving kindness and humor. Truly a charming young lady for the average man to court. Sarah Grand's answer is short and to the point. She declares that she has "very little to say on the subject, the answer seems to me to be such a simple one. There is only one way to court a woman, and that is with respect. So long as a man and a woman respect each other individually, neither can have any just cause of complaint." Commercial Advertiser.

To say that they are as fleet as wolves would be more like it. They can outrun the horses every time, and if they are not picked off as fast as they come up, you might as well give up the fight and permit yourself to be devoured.

Imagine yourself making a running fight with a band of 300 hungry, maddened wolves and with no knowledge that if one of the fleet little brutes reaches your horse you are a dead man, and you can possibly imagine what a nerve-shock it is. It requires a cool head and a good eye. If you miss your mark, you're gone. Your only chance of safety is in keeping your horses up, it is generally a long fight. You look back and see the carcasses of the animals dotting the snow for a mile or two in your wake, and still they pursue you in great numbers. Slowly the pack thins out. Many have dropped bleeding to the ground. Others stop to devour the carcasses. The more slowly to devour the carcasses. The more that fall the more timid the rest become. When you finally outdistance the pack you have been through the most trying ordeal that the most ardent sportsman could wish. I consider wolf hunting the most dangerous sport there is. Tiger hunting in India is tame beside it. If you go into the jungles of India to shoot a tiger, you are accompanied by a long retinue. You shoot your prey from the howdah of an elephant. If you miss your victim, there are twenty bullets ready for him before he springs. A person might as well go tiger hunting in a menagerie. The only unsatisfactory part of the sport which wolves afford is that after you are all through you haven't anything to show for your efforts. But it is great sport.—San Francisco Chronicle.
