

CILMAN'S MEN NOT IN IT.

THE CHERRUBS GO UP HIGHER ON THE PENNANT LADDER.

Jake Wells' Boys Playing Great Ball and the Flag is Getting Within Reach.

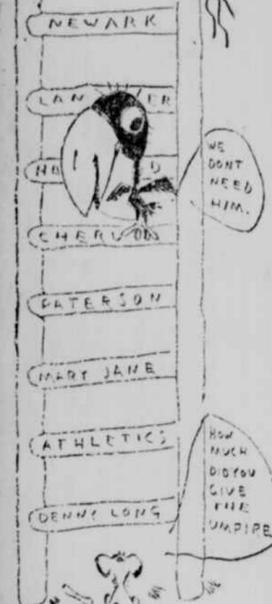

The Silk Weavers put up a hot game yesterday in the presence of about 1500 people, but the Cherubs put up a hotter one, and if the locals continue to play the ball they are now doing, the pennant will probably float in the breezes at Broad Street Park.

Every game that is won by the Cherubs is just that much toward the championship, and to continue along the winning streak it is necessary for the fans to get together and help the thing out in true base-ball fashion.

The Crew of the Mary Jane stands no show of getting a place in the race, and old Virginia must be upheld by the Cherubs.

JUMPED RIGHT IN.

The locals jumped into the game on the start yesterday with Chesbro in the box.

and Foster behind, while the visitors had up Smith and Westlake.

The Cherubs went to bat first, and Barry Kahn took the ash again, going in for the first time since his sickness. The first man up was hit out for two bags and Barry was heartily cheered.

In the second inning Foster was hit with a pitched ball, and limped to first. He never got up, and was scooped on the way out to Heidrick.

It was one, two, three in the third, and again sounded for a ball's eye and then more runs were added to the score.

Chesbro, the first man up, put it out for two bags and went to third on Eley's hit, scoring later on Conroy's error. Stuart got a free pass to first, and Heidrick, while Eley reached third on the Brownie's hit and scored while Eilberfeld was being run down at first.

To the score in the sixth, McDonald reached first on Hock's error, and was limped to second on Chesbro's error. He scored on Foster's hit and a choice, and that was all.

It was seven gloomy dismal, lonesome innings for Patterson before a run was made. In those seven innings but twenty-five men went out, and Captain Gilman dived several homepikes in the neighborhood of second sack in his nervous anxiety.

Only once in all that time did a man reach third. Gilman was in the sixth on an error by McDonald, and went to third on Haddock's error.

In the eighth inning things began to assume an interesting character. Smith got out to Chesbro's throw for a homer away out in center field. That it would have been a homer had it not been for Chesbro's error, Hargrove and Eley, handled the ball. Smith was going around the circuit like a streak of lightning.

For the first time in the game, a runner was spied on towards his own threshold.

But when within ten feet of the plate the ball from Eley's hand dropped into those of Foster and he tapped Smith on the shoulder and said, "Go home."

But circumstances were beginning to favor the visitors and several more error players were sent to Chesbro's kinks, and to top it all McDonald made another error, which cost a run, and Foster threw wild, and allowed another runner to cross over.

Heidrick hit a hot one to Mac, who fumbled, and the runner was safe, and he scored on Chesbro's error. Haddock hit safe and stole second, and in trying to head him at second, Reddy drew wild and Chesbro scored with Haddock's hook third, and scored later on Groves's hit.

Base-Ball Notes. What looked like a piece of dumb play in the sixth inning, was really something that caused Chesbro to feel that he had a grounder to short which was fielded all right and he was killed at first. Foster was out third on Chesbro's error. When the ball was hit Chesbro, thinking Foster would attempt to make home run down to third, but Foster didn't take the chance and Chesbro didn't feel that he had until he had forced Foster who was then put out on the path.

Patterson again hit Chesbro, and the Cherubs promise to take another game from him. McDonald is credited with two errors in the fatal hit in also credited with making several excellent stops.

Selley Pitched a Good Game for the Browns—A Small Crowd.

READING, Pa., July 29.—Special.—The Philadelphia club being home the instance of the week, the three games scheduled with the Athletics could not be played in that city, and the first was pulled off here this afternoon. It had been announced that one of the games would be played at Allentown, the second at Harrisburg, and the third here on Saturday, and this accounted for the very small attendance at the game today, only about a hundred witnesses. It was, however, well repaid, for the game proved a very interesting one.

Selley was in the box for the Browns, and his delivery at times puzzled the visitors, striking three men out, but the visitors succeeded in getting a total of 12, but at the time needed. The field work of the home team was perfect and the question was frequently asked, "Why can't they do so when away from home?" The score was as follows:
