TEXAS SWEEP BY ROARING FLOOD

about thirty, living just below the dam in tents, were seen at their habitations before the dam broke, and have not yet been accounted for since. It is generally believed that all of them were swept away. One man in attempting to cross the river just as the big wave rolled down, was caught and he and his horse and buggy went down with the torrent, and were heard of no more.

A family of six negroes living in the valley south of the city are known to have been drowned. It is estimated that more than one hundred houses have been destroyed, and the loss to property will be great, in point of the light and powerful engine and a half million dollars. The breaking of the dam engulfed the old water company's plant below the city, and it is to-night lying fifteen feet under water while the city is in darkness and without water.

Reports from points below here are to the effect that the flood has been more disastrous and the breaking of the dam has occasioned many thousands of dollars worth of loss to property. The surface of the river throughout the day has been dotted by small houses or fragments of houses and drowned animals, along with trees and debris, all of which bear testimony to the ravages of the flood in the mountainous region above Austin.

TRAIN WRECKED. In addition to the losses here, the International and Great Northern Railway and the Austin and Northwestern Railway, both entering this city, have suffered severely, the first named having a serious wreck by reason of the floods this morning. The South-bound Cannon-ball train from St. Louis on the International and Great Northern, due at 4 o'clock this morning, was wrecked at McNeil, nine miles above here, as a result of a washout. The engine and cars plunged into a culvert, demolishing the engine, the mail, baggage car, two day coaches and one sleeper. The cars left the track and rolled over on their sides in four feet of water, but fortunately no lives were lost, nor were any of the passengers badly hurt. This is attributable to the fact that there were not many on the train, and it was running slowly at the time owing to the bad track. The mail clerk, Carl Davis, of San Antonio, was seriously bruised, and Engineer P. F. Mayhann, of San Antonio, and Fireman C. M. Stanley were slightly injured.

The Austin and Northwestern Road operated no trains to-day, due to the fact that five of their bridges were washed away during the night.

EXPLODING LAMP INJURES A LADY

Mrs. Charles Tucker of Church Hill is Dangerously Burned.

THE FLAMES EXTINGUISHED. Was About to Retire When the Accident Occurred—Dr. Garcia Summoned—The Lady May Not Recover.

An accident occurred last night about 9 o'clock when Mrs. Charles Tucker, of No. 1213 North Twenty-seventh Street, was very seriously burned by the explosion of a kerosene lamp.

Mrs. Tucker had a lamp in her hand, and was about to retire, when by some accident she let it fall. As it struck the floor the lamp exploded, and the burning fluid was thrown over her entire person, setting fire to her clothing in many places. Her husband, who was present at the time, ran to her rescue, and by the aid of wraps and blankets finally extinguished the flames.

BADLY BURNED. She was very seriously burned almost over her entire person except her face, and Dr. Ransom D. Garcia was hastily summoned. The physician did all in his power to relieve her sufferings, but her condition is very serious. Dr. Garcia says that he thinks she will hardly recover.

Mrs. Tucker was in her twenty-fifth year and greatly beloved by her friends. She has two small children, a boy and a girl, who were in the room at the time of the accident, but escaped the fire. Her husband, who was present at the time, ran to her rescue, and by the aid of wraps and blankets finally extinguished the flames.

Mr. Tucker is a pressman on the Richmond Dispatch.
